made; and to invite the reſt of the Allies into ſuch Guaranty: All which Matters and Tranſactions being previous to the 7th of December 1711, her Majeſty might juſtly regard the aforeſaid authentick Acts, and Aſſurances, as greater Proofs of the Confidence the States had in her, and of their Readineſs to concur with her, than any Repreſentations or Reports before that time; and that the ſaid Declaration of her Majeſty from the Throne was founded upon the ſtricteſt Truth: And the ſaid Earl believes, that every one, who impartially conſiders the Steps taken in the late Negotiations of Peace; the Length of the Treaty; the ſeveral Letters from One of her Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State to her Plenipotentiaries at Utrecht; the Ratification of the Engagement, ſigned by her Miniſters, and Monſieur Buys, the 18th of December 1711; and her exhorting the States to ratify the ſame; her preſſing Inſtances to the Princes and States of the Empire; and the many other Acts which were done by her Majeſty's Orders, during that Tranſaction, for the Service and Satisfaction of her Allies; will readily acknowlege, that her Majeſty did her utmoſt to procure, for her Allies, and, in particular, for his Imperial Majeſty, all reaſonable Satisfaction; and to unite, with them, in the ſtricteſt Engagements, to render the Peace ſecure and laſting, agreeable to her Speech of the ſaid 7th Day of December, and her Meſſage of the 17th of January following, in this Article mentioned: And if, by any extraordinary Demands, or groundleſs Jealouſies, of any of the Allies, or other Accidents, her Majeſty was not able to obtain for them all the Advantages ſhe deſired, this will not derogate from the Truth and Sincerity of her Majeſty's Expreſſions: And it is evident, her Majeſty did procure them ſo great Satisfaction, that the Allies did all ſign the Peace at the ſame time with her Majeſty, excepting only the Emperor; and even his Intereſts were ſo far adjuſted, that what remained in Diſpute was not thought of Conſequence ſufficient to delay ſo great and good a Work; and it is well known, the Emperors of Germany have frequently declined ſigning their Treaties of Peace at the ſame time with their Allies: But that her Majeſty was induced, by any Influence of the ſaid Earl, to enter into any Negotiation with France, excluſive of her Allies; or that the ſaid Earl carried on any ſuch Negotiation; or that the Intereſt of the ſaid Allies, or, in particular, of the Emperor, were, by any Practices of his, given up to France; he utterly denies: And when it is conſidered, that much Britiſh Blood and Treaſure had been ſpent, to recover Spain, and the Weſt-Indies, from the Houſe of Bourbon; that an expenſive War had for many Years continued, which her Majeſty ſtill ſupplied with new Recruits, and redoubled Expence; that her Armies, and thoſe of the Allies, had been beaten in Spain; that Prince Eugene had declared, that Forty thouſand Men, and Four Millions of Crowns per Annum, would be neceſſary for carrying on that War; and that his Maſter could ſupply no more than a Fourth-part of that Charge; that it was found, by long Experience, how averſe the People of Spain in general were to ſubmit themſelves to the Houſe of Auſtria; that her Majeſty diſcerned, the Charge of renewing the War in Spain would be a Burden too great for her Subjects; and that there was little Probability of its being ſucceſsful; that the Hereditary Countries were then, by the Death of the Emperor Joſeph, fallen to King Charles, who was ſoon after choſen Emperor (by which Event, the Intereſt of the Princes and States of Europe were changed); it cannot be doubted, but that her late Majeſty had, at the time when ſhe made the aforeſaid Declaration, done her utmoſt to recover Spain, and the Weſt-Indies, by Force of Arms; and the moſt ſhe could do afterwards was, by way of Negotiation; wherein ſhe inſiſted with that Earneſtneſs on King Philip's quitting Spain, that France complied with her Majeſty's Propoſals; but when King Philip could not be prevailed on to give up Spain, her Majeſty thought his Renunciation of the Crown of France, as Circumſtances then ſtood, the moſt practicable, if not the only, Method left, to prevent the Union of theſe Two Monarchies: But the ſaid Earl doth not think it probable, that the leaving Spain, and the Weſt-Indies, to the Houſe of Bourbon, was the Foundation of the Preliminary Articles ſigned by Monſieur Meſnager, and of the Declaration annexed, which had been ſigned by the Lord Dartmouth, and Mr. St. John, with her Majeſty's Conſent (and which, the ſaid Earl ſuppoſes, is what is called the private Treaty in this Article); ſince he believes, it was then thought more likely, that the Crown of Spain might fall to ſome other Prince: And the ſaid Earl doth not obſerve, how her Majeſty can be charged with uttering any Falſity in her Meſſage of the 17th Day of January; wherein ſhe takes Notice, how groundleſs the Reports were, that had been ſpread, of a ſeparate Peace being treated; for which Report there was not then, nor at any other time, the leaſt Foundation; ſince only ſome few Points were adjuſted, relating to the particular Intereſt of her own Kingdoms; and even thoſe were to have no Effect, but upon the Concluſion of a general Peace; and were likewiſe, before ſuch Concluſion, communicated to the Allies: And the ſaid Earl denies, that thenceforth, or at any time, there were carried on by him any ſeparate Meaſures with the Miniſters of France: Nor doth he conceive, that the Propoſal about the Renunciation was merely ſpeculative; but that it was of ſuch a Nature as would execute itſelf, and keeps the Crowns of France and Spain more effectually divided than ever; if it be conſidered, that it did not conſiſt only in a Renunciation to be made by Philip, then in the Poſſeſſion of the Crown of Spain, of his contingent Right to that of France; but that there was a Title to the Crown of France thereby given to the Duke of Orleans, and, after him, to the reſt of the Princes of the Houſe of Bourbon; who could not be preſumed to want the Will, nor would be likely to want the Power, to take Poſſeſſion of the Crown of France, by virtue of ſuch Title, in Oppoſition to a Prince at ſuch a Diſtance, and who had ſolemnly renounced all his Pretenſions to it: Nor can the ſaid Earl think the Declaration of any Miniſter of France againſt ſuch Expedient (if any ſuch was made) a ſufficient Ground for her Majeſty to decline it: The ſaid Earl, therefore, muſt beg Leave to repeat, That he is not able to diſcover, from any thing that appears in thoſe Speeches, that, in the Particulars afore-mentioned, or any other, the eſſential Points relating to Peace and Commerce, or which concerned the Intereſts either of her Allies, or Great Britain, were miſrepreſented by her Majeſty: Nor doth he know, or believe, that any Inſtance can be given, wherein he abuſed the Favour of his Royal Miſtreſs; to whom he did always bear, and pay, the moſt ſincere Veneration and Duty; or wherein he did miſlead her Parliament into any groundleſs or fatal Reſolution; or prevented their Advice to her Majeſty; or obtained their Approbation to any dangerous Practices, or whereby her Majeſty could be ever deprived of the Confidence of her Allies, or expoſed to Contempt.

In Anſwer to the Sixteenth Article; the ſaid Earl doth inſiſt, That, by the Laws and Conſtitution of this Realm, it is the undoubted Right and Prerogative of the Sovereign, who is the Fountain of Honour, to create Peers of this Realm, as well in time of Parliament as when there is no Parliament ſitting, or in being; and that the Exerciſe of this Branch of the Prerogative is declared, in the Form or Preamble of all Patents of Honour, to proceed ex mero motu, as an Act of mere Grace and Favour; and that ſuch Acts are not done, as many other Acts of a publick Nature are, by and with the Advice of the Privy-Council; or as Acts of Pardon uſually run, upon a favourable Repreſentation of ſeveral Circumſtances; or upon Reports from the Attorney-General, or other Officers, That ſuch Acts are lawful, or expedient, or for the Safety or Advantage of the Crown; but flows intirely from the beneficent and gracious Diſpoſition of the Sovereign: He farther ſays, That neither the Warrants for Patents of Honour, the Bills, or other Ingroſſments of ſuch Patents, are, at any time, communicated to the Council, or the Treaſury, as ſeveral other Patents are: And therefore the ſaid Earl, either as High Treaſurer, or Privy-Counſellor, could not have any Knowlege of the ſame: Nevertheleſs, if her late Sacred Majeſty had thought fit to acquaint him with her moſt gracious Intentions of creating any Number of Peers of this Realm; and had aſked his Opinion, whether the Perſons whom ſhe then intended to create were Perſons proper to have been promoted to that Dignity; he does believe, he ſhould have highly approved her Majeſty's Choice; and does not apprehend, that, in ſo doing, he had been guilty of any Breach of his Duty, or Violation of the Truſt in him repoſed, ſince they were all Perſons of Honour, and diſtinguiſhed Merit; and the Peerage thereby was not greatly increaſed, conſidering ſome of thoſe created would have been Peers by Deſcent, and many noble Families were then lately extinct: And the ſaid Earl believes, many Inſtances may be given, where this Prerogative hath been exerciſed by former Princes of this Realm, in as extenſive a manner; and, particularly, in the Reigns of King Henry the Eighth, King James the Firſt, and his late Majeſty King William: The ſaid Earl begs Leave to add, That, in the whole Courſe of his Life, he hath always loved the eſtabliſhed Conſtitution; and in his private Capacity, as well as in all publick Stations, when he had the Honour to be employed, has ever done his utmoſt to preſerve it, and ſhall always continue ſo to do.

In Anſwer to the further Articles of Impeachment exhibited againſt the ſaid Earl: As to the Firſt of thoſe Articles; he ſaith, That he believes, in or about the Month of January 1710, an Expedition was projected for making a Conqueſt of the City Quebeck, on the River of St. Lawrence, Canada, or other Poſſeſſions of the French King, in North America; but denies, he adviſed her Majeſty either to conſent to the making ſuch Expedition, or to give Orders for detaching any Battalions of the Forces in her Majeſty's Service in Flanders, or to ſend any ſuch Battalions, or any Squadron of Men of War, on the ſaid Enterprize: But, having heard, that the ſaid Project, or ſome Expedition of the like Nature, had been, ſome time before, conſidered in a Committee of Council, and afterwards laid aſide for that time; and not being fully appriſed of the whole Project, nor ſo well verſed in the Affairs of that Part of the World, as others who had more Opportunity of knowing them; and leſt the Expedition might not, at that time, prove ſo feaſible, or advantageous, as others, of better Knowlege in thoſe Matters than himſelf, did expect; he did all that, he apprehends, his Duty required, to prevent the putting the ſame in Execution; and expreſſed his Concern at it to ſome Perſons about the Queen: And, having ſo far ſhewn his Opinion of the ſaid Deſign at that time, believes, it would not have been thought proper for him to have appeared at the Meetings, where the Methods, only, of carrying on the Expedition, were to be adjuſted; of which Meetings there had been but few, before a Misfortune befel him, which confined him to his Bed: But the ſaid Earl denies, that he knew the ſaid Expedition was dangerous or deſtructive; nor did he hear, that it was laid aſide, formerly, by a Committee of Council, as dangerous, or impracticable; but, only, as improper in the Circumſtances of Affairs at that time: Nor doth the ſaid Earl know, or believe, the ſaid Expedition was ſet on foot with any Deſign to promote the Intereſt of the French King, or to weaken the Confederate Army in Flanders, or to diſſipate the Naval Forces of this Kingdom: And when others of her Majeſty's Council, better acquainted with that Affair, did judge it to be proper, and practicable, he did not think it became him, upon the Strength of his own ſingle Judgment, further to oppoſe an Expedition, which, if it had ſucceeded, moſt certainly would have given a great and ſenſible Blow to the Settlements and Trade of France in that Part of the World: And the ſaid Earl, with good Reaſon, is perſuaded, your Lordſhips will not think it unfit, that her Majeſty ſhould take the Opinion of thoſe who better underſtood Affairs of that Nature; or that your Lordſhips can judge the ſaid Earl, in that reſpect, to have been any way wanting in his Duty to her Majeſty; but hopes, it will be rather an Evidence of his Fidelity to the Queen, and his Country, that he ſo far diſcouraged what, in his own Judgment, he was diffident of: However, he is ſatisfied, that thoſe of her Majeſty's Council, who did approve the Expedition, acted therein with a ſincere Deſire for the publick Good, notwithſtanding the ill Succeſs it was attended with; which might chiefly be owing to Delays by contrary Winds, and other unforeſeen Accidents: And he doth not believe, that her Majeſty's Allies did ſuffer any Prejudice, or the common Enemy receive any Advantage, by the Detaching of Forces from Flanders to ſerve on this Enterprize; and is informed, That, to prevent any ſuch Danger, her Majeſty's General who commanded at that time in Flanders had Orders for providing other Forces in their place, if he judged it neceſſary: And the ſaid Earl doth acknowlege, that the Sum of Twenty-eight thouſand Pounds, or thereabouts, was demanded at the Treaſury, about June 1711, on Account of Arms, Accoutrements, Goods, and Merchandize, ſaid to be ſent on the ſaid Expedition to Canada: But he ſaith, That he was ſo far from adviſing her late Majeſty, that the ſaid Sum ſhould be iſſued and paid, that, on the contrary, he put a Stop to the Payment of the ſame, until he had done all he could, at that time, to examine into the Expenditure of the ſaid Money; But, being then High Treaſurer of Great Britain, and having received her Majeſty's Orders to pay the ſaid Sum, and not being able, with his utmoſt Precaution, then to diſcover any juſt Cauſe why it ſhould not be paid, he did afterwards, in Obedience to thoſe Orders, and according to the Duty of his Place, counterſign a Warrant to the Paymaſter of her Majeſty's Forces, for the Payment of the ſame; purſuant to which, he believes, the ſame was iſſued and received. And, as to that Part of the ſaid Article, which charges the ſaid Earl with employing his Arts, or Credit, to keep the Houſe of Commons from examining that Affair, he begs Leave to ſay, That, whatever Sulpicions he might entertain in his own Mind, he did not, upon Examination, find, that there was ſufficient Proof to juſtify the laying them before either Houſe of Parliament: And although he hath been informed, that the Papers relating to that Expedition were laid before the laſt, and have been all along in the Power of the preſent Houſe of Commons; yet he hath not heard, that any Fraud hath been made out in that Affair; notwithſtanding the Gentlemen who had them under their Inſpection neither wanted Ability to make the utmoſt Diſcoveries, nor could be ſuppoſed to be prevented therein by any Influence of the ſaid Earl: And he hopes, it will not be imputed to him as a Fault, if he had uſed any Skill, or Credit, to keep the Houſe of Commons from examining this Affair at that Juncture, when, by any unſeaſonable Inquiry, before a proper Proof could be had, the Fraud, if any ſuch there were, would be likely, for ever, to eſcape unpuniſhed: But the ſaid Earl denies, that he ever exerciſed, or had, any arbitrary Power, or Influence, either in her Majeſty's private Council, or the great Council of the Nation, or entertained any Deſign to prevent the Juſtice due to the Queen, or the Nation; or that any Diſcovery had been made to him, further than what might give Suſpicion to one who was always jealous (as became him) of any Miſapplication of the publick Treaſure: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, That he is not conſcious, that, by any Letter or Memorial to her Majeſty, he hath acted contrary to his Duty; but humbly hopes, he may be allowed to obſerve, that it would be a Matter of particular Hardſhip, and what ſeems to him inconſiſtent with the Rules of Honour and Decency, if the moſt ſecret and intimate Papers and Letters, wrote to that moſt renowned and pious Princeſs, her late Majeſty, by her own ſpecial Command, and for her own private Peruſal, ſhould be imputed to any as a Crime: And if any Quotation from any ſuch Letter or Paper could be alleged againſt the ſaid Earl, he doubts not but there might appear, from other of her Majeſty's private Papers, what would juſtify him in many Particulars wherewith he is charged; and would give further Proof, if it were needful, how tender and affectionate her Majeſty was to all her Subjects.

In Anſwer to the Second additional Article; the ſaid Earl doth admit, That, about October 1711, her late Majeſty jeſty did ſign a Warrant, directed to him, then her Treaſurer of Great Britain, for the Iſſuing and Payment of the Sum of 13,000 l. to John Drummond Eſquire, in the Article named; and that, on or about the 24th of November following, in purſuance of the ſaid Warrant under her Majeſty's Sign Manual, he the ſaid Earl did ſign a Warrant for the Payment of the ſaid 13,000 l.; but, for more Certainty, begs Leave to refer to the ſaid ſeveral Warrants, when the ſame ſhall be produced: And the ſaid Earl takes the Words "for ſpecial Services of the War" to have been inſerted by Miſtake of the Clerks; for he abſolutely denies, that he gave any Direction for thoſe Words, or any other of like Import, to be inſerted; and he believes, all the Clerks of the Treaſury know, that the Monies which aroſe from the Sale of Tin was the Queen's proper Money, for the Support of her Houſhold, and ſuch Occaſions as ſhe ſhould pleaſe to direct, and not appropriated to the Services of the War; although ſometimes it hath been practiſed, that Loans have been taken upon Tin-Tallies, for the Services of the War, and other publick Services, and afterwards repaid to the Civil Liſt; which might poſſibly give Occaſion for ſuch Miſtake: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, that, having been acquainted with the Services the ſaid Mr. Drummond had performed, by Order of the late Earl of Godolphin, in borrowing Money upon Tin at a low Intereſt, the ſaid Earl aſked Mr. Drummond's Conſent, that a Sum, in Tin-Tallies, might be ſtruck in his Name; and, with ſuch Conſent, did direct, that Orders, amounting to the Sum of 13,000 l. ſhould be charged, in the Regiſter of the Exchequer, on the Monies ariſing by the Sale of Tin, in the Name of the ſaid Mr. Drummond; who afterwards, before his going to Holland, indorſed the ſaid Orders, at the ſaid Earl's Requeſt, and left them in the Treaſury; but how long it was before the ſaid Orders were indorſed, or how long they remained afterwards in the Treaſury, the ſaid Earl doth not particularly remember; but doth acknowlege, that the ſaid Orders and Tallies came afterwards to his own Hands, and were diſpoſed for his own Uſe: But, in order to lay the true State of this Affair before your Lordſhips, the ſaid Earl humbly repreſents, That, upon attending the late Queen after his being wounded, her Majeſty had the Goodneſs to tell him, That ſhe deſigned him a Sum of Money: Upon which, he repreſented to her Majeſty the bad Condition of her Civil Liſt: But, ſeveral times after, her Majeſty aſked him, Why he did not find a Way for receiving Money ſhe intended him, and bring the neceſſary Warrants for that Purpoſe? He ſtill urged the ſame Reaſon againſt it; and, for near Six Months, made no Step in it; till at laſt her Majeſty was pleaſed to ſay, She was reſolved to have it done; and, as her Majeſty had, in Matters of her Bounty, made uſe of Tin-Tallies for other Perſons, ſhe was pleaſed to mention the ſame herſelf; and ordered proper Warrants to be prepared for the Sum, which her Majeſty, of her Royal Bounty, intended him: That, after her Majeſty had ſo poſitively ſignified her Royal Pleaſure to beſtow ſuch Mark of her Favour upon the ſaid Earl, the ſaid Tallies and Orders were ſtruck in Mr. Drummond's Name, with her Majeſty's Knowlege, and at the ſaid Earl's Nomination; and, from that time, the ſame were kept under the ſaid Earl's Direction, for his Uſe; and the ſaid Earl was adviſed, that nothing further was requiſite to be done, after the Aſſignment of the ſaid Mr. Drummond, for ſecuring the ſaid Earl's Intereſt in the ſaid Tallies, till an Accident happened, which made it neceſſary, for further Security, to have the ſaid Warrant as a Declaration of Truſt; which was accordingly ſigned by her Majeſty; and is to the Effect following;

ANNE R.

Whereas, in the Year of our Lord One thouſand Seven hundred and Eleven, in Conſideration of the many good, faithful, and acceptable, Services, which, before that time, had been performed unto us by our Right Truſty and Right Well-beloved Couſin and Counſellor Robert Earl of Oxford, then and now our High Treaſurer of Great Britain; which Services have tended to the Quiet, Safety, and Proſperity, of us, and our Realms; though the ſame were accompanied with great Difficulties upon himſelf, and Hazards to him, and his Family; and particularly reflecting upon the impious Attempt made upon his Life; we did then fully reſolve, as a particular Mark of our Favour, and of our gracious Acceptance of the ſaid Earl's Services, to beſtow upon him a Sum in ready Money: But, the ſaid Earl repreſenting to us, that the Arrears then due to our Servants, and Tradeſmen, chargeable upon our Civil Liſt, were very great and preſſing;

We did therefore agree and determine, that the ſaid Earl ſhould have, to his own Uſe, the ſeveral Sums, amounting to Thirteen thouſand Pounds, compriſed in certain Orders of Loan, bearing Date on or about the Eleventh Day of December One thouſand Seven hundred and Eleven, in your Name, and charged upon the Regiſter in our Exchequer, on the Monies ariſing by Sale of our Tin; which Orders are not yet in Courſe of Payment:

Now, we do hereby declare, and make known, That the ſaid ſeveral Sums, amounting to Thirteen thouſand Pounds, contained in the ſaid Orders, and the Intereſt thereof due, and to be due, are, and ſhall be, the proper Monies of the ſaid Earl of Oxford:

And we do hereby direct and authorize you to transfer and aſſign the ſaid Orders, and the whole Right and Benefit thereof, to the ſaid Earl, and his Aſſigns, or to ſuch Perſon or Perſons as he ſhall appoint in that behalf:

And in caſe any the Monies due, or to be due, or payable, upon the ſaid Orders, ſhall come to your Hands; in ſuch Caſe, our Pleaſure is, that you forthwith pay over the ſame to the ſaid Earl, his Executors, Adminiſtrators, or Aſſigns, to his and their own Uſe and Behoof, without any Account to be therefore rendered to us, our Heirs or Succeſſors: And this our Warrant, or an atteſted Copy thereof, ſhall be your ſufficient Warrant, and Diſcharge, for ſo doing.

Given at our Court at Windſor-Caſtle, the Fourteenth Day of December, in the Twelfth Year of our Reign, Annoque Dom. 1713.

To our Truſty and Well beloved
John Drummond Eſq.

And the ſaid Earl believes the ſaid Warrant was drawn by Mr. Lowndes, Secretary to the Treaſury; and by what means the ſame was omitted to be entered in the Treaſury, he knows not; but, upon hearing there was a Diſcourſe about the ſaid 13,000 l. in Tin-Tallies, he ſent a Copy of the ſaid Warrant to the Officers of the Treaſury, without ſignifying any Deſire to have the ſame entered; well knowing it received its Authority from the Sign Manual, which wanted no additional Force from an Entry thereof in the Treaſury-Books: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, That her Majeſty was pleaſed, of her mere Goodneſs and Bounty, and of her own free Will, to give him the ſaid Sum of Money, in Reward of his faithful Services, and for his Sufferings in her Service: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, That the ſaid Grant, according to the Diſcount upon thoſe Tallies at that time, amounted to the Sum of 10,000 l. or thereabouts; wherein he acknowlegeth the great Bounty of her Majeſty; and takes notice, that Grants much larger have been made from the Crown to other Miniſters of State, while the Neceſſities of the Crown have been equally preſſing: And the ſaid Earl doth not know, that, in this, or any other, Part of his Adminiſtration, he ever was guilty of any Corruption, or any Breach of his Oath, or Truſt, as High Treaſurer of Great Britain; or that he did, in any manner, abuſe her Majeſty's Goodneſs, or make an ill Uſe of his Acceſs to her Majeſty, or embezzle the publick Treaſure, or did, at any time, knowingly injure or oppreſs her Majeſty's Subjects; but, on the contrary, the ſaid Earl ſaith, That he managed the publick Money in the moſt frugal manner, in order to leſſen, as much as might be, the Charge of the War; and to eaſe, if he could, the Commons of Great Britain from all grievous Taxes: And, in further Vindication of himſelf againſt all the Imputation putation of Avarice, or Corruption, inſinuated in this Article, the ſaid Earl ſaith, That, in every Employment to which he was called by her Majeſty's Favour, he was always contented with the accuſtomed Incomes and Profits of the ſaid Employment, without endeavouring to increaſe his Gain by any unwarrantable or extraordinary Perquiſites; that, whilſt he was in any Office of Truſt about her late Majeſty, he never abuſed that Truſt, in making any manner of Profit or Advantage to himſelf, either by the Diſpoſal of Places in his own Gift, or by the Recommendation of Perſons to her Majeſty for ſuch as were granted immediately by herſelf; that, neither in, or out of Place, did he ever receive any Penſion from the Crown; that as he came with clean Hands into her Majeſty's Service, ſo went not only with clean, but almoſt empty, Hands out of it; having ſpent therein moſt Part of the Profits which accrued to him from the Places he enjoyed; ſo that, at this time, notwithſtanding all the Advantages he received from them, and the extraordinary Bounty of the Queen to him, in this Article mentioned, he can, with great Truth, affirm, that his private Fortune hath thereby received very inconſiderable Addition.

In Anſwer to the Third additional Article; the ſaid Earl ſays, That, Matthew Prior Eſquire being employed by her late Majeſty at the Court of France, Warrants were ſigned, in the uſual Form, for Payment of ſeveral Sums of Money to the ſaid Mr. Prior, which, he believes, from the 27th of Auguſt 1712 to the 10th of July 1714, might amount to the Sum of Twelve thouſand Three hundred and Sixty Pounds, as in the ſaid Article is ſet forth; and, he believes, he did pay, or cauſe to be paid, at ſeveral times, the ſaid Sums, purſuant to the Authority he had from her late Majeſty for that Purpoſe; which, he conceives, was not only lawful, but a Duty incumbent on him: He further ſaith, That he doth not know, that, by any Law, there ought to be certain Appointments, or Allowances, for the Maintenance and Support of Ambaſſadors, Envoys, Plenipotentiaries, or other publick Miniſters of the Crown, in foreign Courts; but that her Majeſty was at Liberty to vary ſuch Appointments, and the Manner of paying them, as ſhe in her Wiſdom ſhould think fit, out of any Funds appropriated to the Civil Liſt: He does believe, that there are ſeveral Inſtances, where Perſons employed to negotiate Matters of Importance, as Ambaſſadors, or Plenipotentiaries, have been allowed One thouſand Five hundred Pounds for their Equipage; One hundred Pounds a Week for their ordinary Entertainment; and One thouſand Six hundred Pounds for Extraordinaries; and likewiſe further Sums for Services performed by ſpecial Order; and, if the ſaid Mr. Prior had been paid upon that Foot, he would have been intitled to a greater Sum from the Crown, for the Time wherein he was employed by her Majeſty, as aforeſaid, over and above all Diſburſements for ſpecial Services: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, That he takes the ſaid Matthew Prior to have been ſent by her Majeſty into France for her Majeſty's Service, and in order to carry on the Negotiations of a general Peace: But denies, that he was any Creature of the ſaid Earl; or ſent by the ſaid Earl into France; or that he carried on any Negotiations of the ſaid Earl; or that her Majeſty was prevailed on, by his Counſels, to ſend the ſaid Matthew Prior as her Plenipotentiary to the French King, without the Privity of, or any Communication with, her Allies; or that the ſaid Earl uſed the leaſt Contrivance for carrying on, or did carry on, or promote, any dangerous Practices with the Miniſters of France, or the Enemies of her Majeſty, or her Kingdoms; or that he did, at any time, combine with the ſaid Matthew Prior to defraud her Majeſty of any Sum of Money whatſoever, under colour of his Employment; or that the ſaid Matthew Prior was ſent into France with the Character aforeſaid, or without any ſettled Appointment, or Allowance, for any ſuch End; or that he the ſaid Earl did give the ſaid Matthew Prior an unlimited Credit; or promiſed to pay him any Bills whatſoever, other than what he ſhould be duly authorized to pay; or that any Bills of Exchange, in the ſaid Article mentioned, were drawn in purſuance of any ſuch Contrivance: The ſaid Earl ſaith, That, Thomas Harley Eſquire having been twice ſent by her late Majeſty to the Court of Hannover, he the ſaid Earl, being then High Treaſurer of Great Britain, paid, or cauſed to be paid, to the ſaid Mr. Harley, the Sum of Five thouſand Five hundred and Sixty Pounds, or thereabouts, by Authority from her Majeſty, and according to the Duty of his Office, out of Monies appropriated to the Uſe of the Civil Liſt: And he believes, that, if Mr. Harley had received an Allowance in proportion to what hath been paid to Ambaſſadors, it would have amounted to a greater Sum: But denies, that the ſaid Sum of Five thouſand Five hundred and Sixty Pounds, or any Part of it, was paid without Authority, or for promoting any wicked Purpoſes of the ſaid Earl; or that he did, either illegally, or fraudulently, iſſue or direct, or adviſe the Direction or Payment of, any Sum or Sums of Money out of her Majeſty's Treaſury to any Perſon whatſoever; or that he ever entered into any Combination with the Perſons above-mentioned, or any other Perſon whatſoever, to defraud her Majeſty of any of the publick Money which .. was entruſted with the Management of.

In Anſwer to the Fourth additional Article; the ſaid Earl denies, that he ever held any Correſpondence with Mary the late Conſort of the late King James IId, either by the means of Mr. Prior, or by any other Means whatſoever; or that he ever intended, or had the leaſt Deſign, any way to promote the Intereſt of the Pretender: Nor doth the ſaid Earl know, or believe, that Monſieur Gaultier, in the ſaid Article named, was entruſted, or employed, as an Agent between any of the Miniſters of Great Britain and France, in tranſacting any Affairs relating to the Pretender: And denies, that he the ſaid Earl had any Conferences with him the ſaid Mr. Gaultier on that Subject: Nor doth the ſaid Earl know, or believe, that he the ſaid Mr. Gaultier was impowered to concert with him the ſaid Earl particularly the ſettling any Payment, or Remittance, of the Annuities hereafter mentioned, or any other yearly Sum to be paid, or remitted, out of her Majeſty's Treaſury, into France; neither had the ſaid Earl the leaſt Deſign, that any of the Fruits, or Advantages, of the Peace ſhould be made an Offering to any Adherent of the Pretender; nor did he agree, or undertake, to procure the Payment of the yearly Sum of Forty-ſeven thouſand Pounds, or any other yearly Sum, to the Uſe of the ſaid late Conſort, during her Life: But the ſaid Earl doth admit, That the late King James the IId, by Letters Patents, under the Great Seal of England, bearing Date on or about the 28th Day of Auguſt in the Year 1685, granted unto Laurence Earl of Rocheſter, Henry Earl of Peterborough, Sidney Lord Godolphin, Robert Worden Eſquire, and Sir Edward Herbert Knight, who are all ſince deceaſed, divers Annuities, or yearly Sums of Money, amounting to Thirty-ſeven thouſand Three hundred Twenty-eight Pounds Thirteen Shillings and Seven Pence, payable out of the Hereditary Duty of Exciſe, and the Poſt-Office, and other Revenues, in the ſaid Letters Patents mentioned, to hold to them, and their Heirs, during the Life of the ſaid Conſort, in Truſt for her; and, by other Letters Patents, bearing Date on or about the 3d Day of December in the Year 1686, alſo granted unto the ſaid Conſort a further Penſion, or yearly Sum, of Ten thouſand Pounds, to hold during her natural Life; whereby the ſaid Revenues, ariſeing from the Hereditary Exciſe, and Poſt-Office, and other the Revenues in the ſaid Letters Patents mentioned, became charged with, and were liable to, the ſaid Annuities, or yearly Sums, as in this Article is mentioned: And the ſaid Earl doth admit, That the ſaid Revenues were, by ſeveral Acts of Parliament, granted and ſettled, during the Life of his late Majeſty King William the Third, for the Uſe and Service of his Houſhold and Family, and for other his neceſſary Expences and Occaſions; and, after his Demiſe, during the Life of her late Majeſty Queen Anne, were appointed to be for the Support of her Houſhold, and of the Honour and Dignity of the Crown: But ſaith, That, in the ſame Act of Parliament, whereby the ſaid Revenues are ſo appointed, there is a general Saving to all and every Perſon and Perſons, of all ſuch Rights, Titles, Eſtates, Intereſts, Intereſts, Claims, and Demands, whatſoever, of, in, or to, or out of, the ſaid Revenues and Hereditaments, or any of them, as they, or any of them, had, or ought to have had, before the making the ſaid Act, as fully, to all Intents and Purpoſes, as if the ſaid Act had never been made: And the ſaid Earl doth admit, That an Act of Parliament was made in the Twelfth Year of her late Majeſty's Reign, whereby the Sum of Five hundred thouſand Pounds, for the Cauſes therein mentioned, was to be applied, in Aid of the Revenues, or Branches, which were appointed for the Support of her Majeſty's Houſhold, and the Honour and Dignity of the Crown, for or towards the Paying of ſuch Arrears of Salaries, Wages, Diet-money, and other Allowances, and ſuch Debts for Emptions, Proviſions, and other Cauſes, as ſhould appear to be due and owing to her Majeſty's Servants, Tradeſmen, and others: But the ſaid Earl ſaith, He hath heard, That the ſaid late Conſort of the late King James the IId, eſteeming herſelf to be intitled, by the Laws of England, by virtue of the ſaid Letters Patents, to the ſeveral yearly Sums of Money therein mentioned, did, by Letter of Attorney, impower and authorize the ſaid Mr. Gaultier to demand and receive, for her only Uſe, Benefit, and Behoof, all Sums of Money, which, from and after the Feaſt of the Annunciation of the Bleſſed Virgin 1713, were become due and payable upon the ſaid ſeveral Annuities, amounting to Thirty-ſeven thouſand Three hundred Twenty-eight Pounds Thirteen Shillings and Seven Pence, and the other Annuity, or yearly Sum, of Ten thouſand Pounds; and to give Acquittances and Diſcharges for the Monies he ſhould ſo receive to her only Uſe and Behoof, as aforeſaid; and that thereupon he the ſaid Mr. Gaultier applied himſelf to her Majeſty for the Payment of the Monies which were incurred, or grown due, on the ſaid ſeveral Annuities, from the ſaid 25th Day of March 1713; and that her Majeſty was pleaſed to ſign a Warrant, directed to him the ſaid Earl, being then her Majeſty's High Treaſurer, or to the High Treaſurer, or Commiſſioners of the Treaſury, for the Time being, in the Words, or to the Effect, in the ſaid Article ſet forth; but, for more Certainty, refers himſelf to the ſaid Warrant, when the ſame ſhall be produced: And that, in Obedience to her Majeſty's Commands, ſignified by the ſaid Warrant, he the ſaid Earl did direct Two ſeveral Warrants to the Auditor of the Receipt of the Exchequer, to the Effect in the ſaid Article ſet forth; but, for more Certainty, refers to the ſaid ſeveral Warrants, when the ſame ſhall be produced: But he denies he adviſed her Majeſty to ſign the ſaid Warrant, of the 23d of December 1713; but when ſuch Warrant was brought to him, and he knew, that the Jointure of the ſaid Conſort had been confirmed by Act of Parliament; and had heard, that, by ſome private Article, or Agreement, at the Treaty of Ryſwick, Proviſion had been made in relation to it; and the Legality of the Demand not being doubted by her Majeſty's Counſel learned in the Law, the ſaid Earl thought it his Duty to pay Obedience to it; and the Sum of Five hundred thouſand Pounds, intended to be raiſed by the ſaid Act of the 12th Year of her Majeſty's Reign, together with a great additional Sum in Tallies, being deſigned for Diſcharge of her Majeſty's Debts, the ſaid Earl thought himſelf ſufficiently authorized to direct, that the ſaid Sum of Money, mentioned in the ſaid Warrants, which, he was adviſed, was a Debt from her Majeſty, ſhould be paid out of the ſaid Five hundred thouſand Pounds; yet the Sum in the ſaid Warrants mentioned, or any Part thereof, was not paid out of the ſaid appropriated Sum of Five hundred thouſand Pounds, or otherwiſe; but the whole Sum of Five hundred thouſand Pounds was applied to other Uſes, for which it was appropriated: And the ſaid Earl humbly hopes, that he hath not hereby betrayed the Honour of her late Majeſty, or the Imperial Crown of theſe Realms, or acted contrary to his Duty: And the ſaid Earl doth acknowlege, That, the ſaid Mr. Gaultier coming into England with Letters of Credence from the French King to her late Majeſty, after having reſided ſome time in England, her Majeſty was pleaſed, before his Departure hence, to direct a Preſent ſhould be made to the ſaid Mr. Gaultier, as hath been uſual, in like Caſes, to publick Miniſters; and he believes her ſaid Majeſty was the rather inclined to make ſuch Preſent to the ſaid Mr. Gaultier, becauſe the ſaid Earl hath heard, and takes it to be true, that the ſaid Gaultier had been inſtrumental with the French King to obtain the Delivery and Releaſe of thoſe poor Proteſtants who had ſuffered aboard the Gallies, on account of their Religion; whoſe Reſcue from Slavery her Majeſty, out of her known Zeal to the Proteſtant Religion, and out of her wonted Piety and Compaſſion to the Confeſſors in ſo good a Cauſe, had much at Heart; and had prevailed therein beyond Expectation; it being what by his Majeſty King William had been attempted in vain, and was thought, by many, impoſſible ever to be obtained; and the good Offices of the ſaid Gaultier, in that Affair, having been very acceptable to her Majeſty, ſhe was pleaſed to increaſe his Preſent, in reſpect thereof; and therefore ordered it to be paid in the ſame manner as had been done to others, whoſe Preſents her Majeſty thought fit to augment; and, for this End, her Majeſty, about the time in this Article mentioned, did ſign a Warrant, directing the Payment of One thouſand Pounds Sterling to Daniel Arthur Eſquire, in the ſame Article mentioned, to the Intent it might be paid to the ſaid Mr. Gaultier on the Account aforeſaid: And the ſaid Earl believes the ſaid Monies were iſſued and paid accordingly; and doth not apprehend he hath therein acted contrary to his Duty.

In Anſwer to the Fifth additional Article; the ſaid Earl doth admit the Sovereign of this Realm may refuſe to receive any natural-born Subject, who hath committed, and is under the Guilt of, High Treaſon, as a publick Miniſter, or with any Character, from any foreign Prince, State, or Potentate; and that, where ſuch Perſon is known to be guilty of ſuch Crime, it may, in moſt Caſes, be fit ſo to do: But he the ſaid Earl apprehends, that the Sovereign is the proper Judge whom to refuſe, or receive, with ſuch Character: The ſaid Earl believes, that a Perſon, ſtiling himſelf, or commonly known by the Name of, Lilcott, or Lawleſs, did, about the Year 1712, or 1713, come into England with Letters of Credence to her Majeſty from the King and late Queen of Spain, and Authority to treat about carrying Britiſh Merchandizes to the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies; and that her Majeſty was pleaſed to admit ſuch Perſon with ſuch Letters of Credence; and, before his Return to Spain, was pleaſed to order, for the Uſe of ſuch Perſon, the Sum of One thouſand Pounds, to be paid out of the Monies appropriated to the Civil Liſt; which the ſaid Earl, in Obedience to ſuch Orders, cauſed to be paid; and humbly apprehends, it was his Duty ſo to do: But the ſaid Earl believes, that when the ſaid Lilcot, or Lawleſs, was ſo admitted, he was generally thought to be a natural Spaniard; and that, from the Advantages of thoſe Licences which he brought for carrying the Britiſh Merchandizes to the Weſt-Indies, he expected a much larger Preſent: However, the ſaid Earl denies, that he knew, or was informed, before the Arrival of the ſaid Lawleſs in England, any thing of his coming hither; nor, after his Arrival, did he ſee him, or know of his being here, before he had been introduced to her Majeſty; it being uſual for publick Miniſters to be introduced by thoſe Servants of her Majeſty to whoſe Office it belongs, as Matter of Duty, and common Diſpatch, without conſulting therein other Miniſters of State: And, upon the Notice taken of this Affair formerly in the Houſe of Peers, it appeared, that the Noble Lord who introduced the ſaid Lawleſs to the Queen, by virtue of his Office, did it as of Courſe; and did not then know he was other than a Native of Spain: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, That, of a long time after he had been ſo introduced, the ſaid Earl neither knew, nor heard, that he was other than a natural Spaniard; but, when the ſaid Perſon had continued in England a conſiderable time, there was a Rumour, and the ſaid Earl was afterwards informed, he was a Native of Ireland, and departed out of that Kingdom in his Youth, and had ſince been in the Spaniſh Service; but doth not know, nor was informed, that he had committed, or been guilty of, High

Treaſon;

Treaſon; or that he had ſerved the late King James the IId, in the War in Ireland, againſt King William the IIId; or had followed the ſaid King James the IId into France, or been in his Intereſt or Service; or had been in Rebellion againſt King William; or in Arms againſt the late Queen: And the ſaid Earl, having no Notice of the ſaid Perſon's Arrival, before his being admitted to her Majeſty, nor any Knowlege of any Crime he was guilty of, ſubmits, whether it ſhall be imputed to him as any want of Duty, that he did not adviſe her Majeſty againſt admitting or receiving him in the Character aforeſaid; or that he did, by her Majeſty's Authority, meet, confer, or negotiate, with him, concerning any Affairs, about which he was authorized to treat, in caſe he had ſo done, which, however, the ſaid Earl doth not admit; or that, by Authority from her Majeſty, he paid the ſaid Sum of One thouſand Pounds to the ſaid Daniel Arthur, which after came to his Uſe: But the ſaid Earl doth deny, that he adviſed her Majeſty to ſign the Warrant for Payment of the ſaid One thouſand Pounds; or gave any Directions for Payment thereof, contrary to what was intended by her Majeſty: And the ſaid Earl admits, That ſome other Sums of Monies, which might amount in the Whole to Nine hundred and Fifteen Pounds, or thereabouts, were paid in Satisfaction of Monies advanced to the ſaid Lawleſs, as Part of the Monies agreed to be advanced to his Catholick Majeſty by the Aſſiento Contract: But denies, that he directed the Payment of any other Monies whatſoever, out of her Majeſty's Treaſury, to the ſaid Lileſh, alias Lawleſs; or knows, that any other Monies were paid to him, beſide the aforementioned Sum of One thouſand Pounds, and the Monies paid in Satisfaction of what was advanced to him, towards the Part due to his Catholick Majeſty by the ſaid Aſſiento Contract: And the ſaid Earl never aſſumed the ſupreme Direction in her Majeſty's Councils; neither was he adviſing, that the ſaid Perſon ſhould be introduced to her Majeſty, or ſhould be received, or treated, by her Miniſters, under the diſguiſed Name of Don Carlo Moro, or ſhould at all be received as a publick Miniſter here: And the ſaid Earl doth acknowlege, That the Houſe of Lords, with commendable Zeal, made ſuch Addreſs, and came to ſuch Reſolution, and that her Majeſty made ſuch Anſwer, and iſſued ſuch Proclamation, as in the ſaid Article is mentioned: And as the ſaid Earl had always the higheſt Regard to the Safety of her Majeſty's Perſon, the Security of the Proteſtant Succeſſion, and Advice and Reſolutions of the Houſe of Peers; ſo he denies, that he had the leaſt Knowlege that the ſaid Lileſh, alias Lawleſs, had ever been Miniſter, or Agent, of the Pretender at the Court of Madrid; or the leaſt Suſpicion, that he was ſent into England to promote the Intereſt of the Pretender in theſe Kingdoms: Nor is he conſcious to himſelf, that he hath done any thing to expoſe the Perſon of her moſt Sacred Majeſty; to enervate, or render ineffectual, the Advice of Parliament, or her Majeſty's Declarations; to countenance any Emiſſary of the Pretender, or encourage his Adherents, to the Danger of the Proteſtant Succeſſion, as by Law eſtabliſhed, in the Serene Houſe of Hannover; but, on the contrary, is perſuaded, his Conduct in that Affair is ſo well known, as not to need any further Juſtification; but, if it ſhould at any time be thought neceſſary, he is able to produce thoſe Proofs of it, which are the beſt Authority in the World for his Vindication.

In Anſwer to the Sixth additional Article; the ſaid Earl hath been informed, and doth believe it may be true, That, after ſeveral unſucceſsful Attempts by her late Majeſty, in Conjunction with her Allies, to eſtabliſh his preſent Imperial Majeſty upon the Throne of Spain, Inſtructions, in Writing, were given to Mitford Crow Eſquire, about the 7th Day of March 1705, taking notice, That her Majeſty had been informed, the People of Catalonia were inclined to caſt off the Yoke impoſed on them by the French, and to return to the Obedience of the Houſe of Auſtria; and that her Majeſty, deſiring to maintain and improve that good Diſpoſition in them, and to induce them to put the ſame ſpeedily in Execution, had made choice of him to carry on ſo great a Work, for the Advantage of her Service, and the Good of the common Cauſe, as was the making a Treaty with the Catalans, or any other People of Spain, for the Purpoſes aforeſaid; and that the ſaid Mitford Crow was thereby impowered to give the Catalans, or other Spaniards, Aſſurances of her Majeſty's utmoſt Endeavours to procure the Eſtabliſhment of all ſuch Rights and Immunities as they had formerly enjoyed under the Houſe of Auſtria, and the Confirmation of ſuch Titles as had been conferred on any of them by the Duke of Anjou; and that, for their further Satisfaction, her Majeſty had ſent to King Charles the Third for Powers for confirming the ſame to them; and was willing, if they inſiſted on it, to become Guarantee that it ſhould be done: And the ſaid Earl hath been likewiſe informed, That her Majeſty, in a Commiſſion granted to the ſaid Mitford Crow, expreſſed, That ſhe thought fit to enter into a Treaty with the Principality of Catalonia, or any other Province of Spain, on Condition they would acknowlege, and receive, Charles the Third as lawful King of Spain, and utterly abdicate the Houſe of Bourbon, and join their Forces with her Majeſty's; and that her Majeſty was pleaſed alſo to ſign, and deliver to the ſaid Mitford Crow, Credential Letters, directed to the Nobility, Magiſtracy, and other Officers, of Catalonia, or any other Province of Spain, deſiring them to give Faith to every thing the ſaid Mitford Crow ſhould tell them in her Majeſty's Name; and that Inſtructions were likewiſe given to the Earl of Peterborough, and Sir Cloudeſly Shovel, about the Time, and to the Effect, in the ſaid Article mentioned; and that a Manifeſto, or Declaration, was afterwards publiſhed by the ſaid Earl of Peterborough, to the Effect in the ſaid Article ſet forth: But the ſaid Earl denies, that ſuch Manifeſto, or Declaration, was prepared by his Advice, or Privity: And the ſaid Earl believes it may be true, that ſome Part of the Nobility, Clergy, and Inhabitants, of the Principality of Catalonia, and alſo of the Inhabitants of the Iſland of Majorca, did afterwards acknowlege King Charles the Third, now Emperor, for their lawful Sovereign; and did join their Arms with thoſe of her Majeſty, and her Allies, againſt the preſent King of Spain; but, by what Motives they were induced thereunto, the ſaid Earl does not know: And the ſaid Earl does acknowlege, that, for ſome time, the Arms of her Majeſty, and her Allies, in Spain, were attended with conſiderable Succeſſes, in which the Bravery of the Catalans appeared; and the Forces of the Confederates twice entered the capital City of that Kingdom; by which ſignal Conqueſts, and the great Supplies that have been granted by Parliament for their Aſſiſtance, the ſaid People were under the higheſt Obligations of Gratitude to her Majeſty: But, the Advantages thoſe Succeſſes had given King Charles the Third being loſt, her Majeſty found the Burden of that War very heavy to her Subjects; the Conqueſt of Spain for the preſent Emperor impracticable; and, after the Acceſſion of the Empire, and Deſcent of the Hereditary Countries to him, eſteemed inconſiſtent with the Intereſts of many of her Allies; and therefore thought it neceſſary, for the Good of her People, and the Tranquillity of Europe, to enter into Negotiations for a general Peace: But the ſaid Earl denies, that he entered into any Conſpiracy for ſubjecting the Spaniſh Monarchy to the Houſe of Bourbon; or ever had the leaſt Deſign of the Ruin or Deſtruction of any of the Rights, Liberties, or Privileges, of the Catalans; or that he ever formed any Contrivance for abandoning them to the Fury or Revenge of the Duke of Anjou, or his Adherents; or for the Extirpation of any of their Rights, Liberties, or Privileges; or that he adviſed her Majeſty to give Directions to the Lord Lexington to acknowlege the Duke of Anjou King of Spain, before any Negotiation of Peace was ſet on foot, in due Form of Law, between the Crowns of Great Britain and Spain: On the contrary, the ſaid Earl ſaith, That, by Letters and Papers ſent by One of her Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State to the Lord Lexington, it will appear, that, after her Majeſty had hearkened to the Propoſals for a general Peace, for the Good of her own People, and her Allies, ſhe uſed her beſt Endeavours for obtaining the Liberties of the Catalans, at the Concluſion ſion of the Peace; and that his Lordſhip was directed, peremptorily and abſolutely, to inſiſt thereon: Nor doth the ſaid Earl know, or believe, that any Orders were ever ſent from, or given by, her Majeſty, to any of her Miniſters, to recede from that Demand; or that the ſaid Lord Lexington ever deſiſted from making the utmoſt Efforts he could for obtaining it: And if, from any Meaſures of the Catalans, or of his Imperial Majeſty, or from any other Cauſe, her Majeſty's Endeavours had not their full Effect, the ſaid Earl conceives it cannot be imputed to any Neglect of her Majeſty, or any Want of Duty in him the ſaid Earl: He believes, that, about the time in the ſaid Article mentioned, his Imperial Majeſty did enter into a Convention, or Agreement, for evacuating Catalonia; and that her Majeſty, out of Inclination to perform her beſt Offices to the Emperor, was prevailed on to become One of the Guarantees thereof; but denies, that his Imperial Majeſty was neceſſitated, by any Practices of the ſaid Earl, to make any ſuch Convention; and is ignorant, for what Cauſes his Imperial Majeſty, whom it moſt concerned, omitted, in ſuch Convention, to make expreſs and poſitive Stipulations for the Liberties of the Catalans: If it proceeded from any Dependence upon the Declaration of her Majeſty, to interpoſe her beſt Offices on their behalf; and the Promiſes of the French King to join his Endeavours therein; he is confident it will appear, her Majeſty's beſt Offices were employed in that Affair, when it is conſidered what repeated Inſtances ſhe made, by her Miniſters, and in the moſt pathetick Manner, to obtain for them the Privileges they deſired; and that her Majeſty, by her earneſt Interpoſition, did obtain a Grant, and Confirmation, to all the Inhabitants of Catalonia, of a perpetual Amneſty, and Oblivion, of all that was done in the late War; the full Poſſeſſion of all their Eſtates and Honours; and a farther Grant of all the Privileges, which the Inhabitants of both Caſtiles, who, of all the Spaniards, were moſt dear to the King of Spain, enjoyed, or might, at any time after, have or enjoy; whereby the Catalans, if they obtained not all the ancient Privileges they pretended to, received, however, in Compenſation thereof, the Advantage of trading directly to the Weſt Indies, and other Privileges, to which they were never before intitled: And the Houſe of Peers, upon Conſideration of ſeveral Papers, laid before them, relating to this Affair, in purſuance of their Addreſs to her Majeſty in that behalf, expreſſed their utmoſt Thankfulneſs, and Satisfaction, for her Majeſty's repeated and earneſt Endeavours for preſerving to the Catalans the full Enjoyment of all their juſt and ancient Liberties: And it is probable, her Majeſty had prevailed to obtain for them their ancient Privileges and Liberties, in the largeſt Extent, if they had waited the Event of her gracious Interpoſitions in their favour, and not determined to carry on the War by themſelves againſt King Philip, after the Emperor had ſigned the Convention for evacuating their Country; which incenſed the King of Spain in the higheſt Degree, and was looked upon by him as the moſt obſtinate Rebellion: However, the ſaid Earl ſaith, he never amuſed the Catalans with any Expectations whatſoever; nor, in any Degree, contributed to engage them in any obſtinate Defence againſt the Duke of Anjou; nor adviſed her Majeſty to conclude a Peace with Spain, without Security for the ancient Rights, Liberties, and Privileges, of that People; or to ſend Sir James Wiſhart, with a Squadron of Men of War, for the Purpoſes in the ſaid Article mentioned; but believes, her Majeſty might think herſelf obliged, by being Guarantee to the ſaid Convention for the Evacuating of Catalonia, to ſend the ſaid Sir James Wiſhart into the Mediterranean, with a Squadron of Men of War; although he knows not the Orders, or Inſtructions, given on that Occaſion; and humbly apprehends, that he cannot in Juſtice be charged with any Conſequences from that unhappy People's Refuſal to comply, in their Submiſſion to the King of Spain, upon the Terms her Majeſty had ſtipulated for them.

Thus the ſaid Earl has laid his Caſe before your Lordſhips; wherein, he hopes, he hath fully anſwered the ſeveral Articles exhibited againſt him: Yet, leſt there ſhould be any Omiſſion in his Anſwer, which may be made uſe of to his Prejudice, he ſays, he is not guilty of all or any the Matters contained in the ſaid Articles, or any of them, in Manner and Form as they are therein charged againſt him; and humbly hopes, that your Lordſhips will excuſe any Imperfections, or Defects, in the ſaid Anſwer, with regard to Expreſſion or Form; and impute whatever of that kind may appear to the great Weakneſs of Body, and ill State of Health, which the ſaid Earl now labours, and hath for ſome Months paſt laboured, under; and that your Lordſhips will be induced to make all further due Allowances in his favour, from the following Conſiderations, which relate to the Nature of the Charge in general, and the Difficulties with which his Defence of himſelf, againſt the Particulars contained in that Charge, is, and muſt be, attended: Moſt of the Articles, with which he ſtands charged, relate intirely to the Negotiations of the Peace lately concluded at Utrecht: He doubts not but your Lordſhips will conſider, that he muſt, of Neceſſity, be under great Difficulties in giving a full and particular Account of ſuch a great Variety of Facts, as are contained in theſe Articles: That ſeveral of thoſe Facts concern Tranſactions with the Miniſters of foreign States, who cannot be produced as Witneſſes in his Defence, be their Teſtimony never ſo material: That many Steps and Proceedings, in an Affair of this Nature, where the Intereſts of ſeveral Parties, not only ſeparate from, but ſome of them alſo contrary to, each other, are to be adjuſted, do require great Secrecy and Addreſs in the Management; and that, in Treaties between Enemies, ſuch Terms are often propoſed, and ſuch Arguments uſed, as carry a different Appearance from the real Intentions of thoſe that treat: Upon which Accounts, it muſt be very difficult to ſet every thing that paſſed in the late Negotiations, with regard to the Enemy, and to the Allies, in a clear Light; and to juſtify every Step that was taken towards conducting them to the End propoſed; eſpecially, ſince the Account of thoſe Tranſactions, and of the Reaſons on which they were founded, cannot, as he conceives, be duly cleared, but by inſpecting the intire Series of Letters and Papers which paſſed during the Continuance of thoſe Tranſactions; and by comparing together ſuch Paſſages in them, as might give Light to each other, and to the Whole: All which Letters and Papers are, as he is informed, now in the Poſſeſſion of the Honourable Houſe of Commons; nor was it thought fit, upon his humble Application to your Lordſhips, that he ſhould be indulged with a Copy of any of them: He hopes, it may not misbecome him, on this Occaſion, to obſerve to your Lordſhips, That the Houſe of Commons, by being poſſeſſed of thoſe Papers, have a fuller View of the whole Progreſs, and of all the ſecret Steps, of that Negotiation, than perhaps was ever, in the like Caſe, imparted to any Houſe of Parliament: And they have therefore all the Advantage poſſible towards forming the Charge againſt him, upon the Articles of his Impeachment; whereas he the ſaid Earl, being deſtitute of all Aſſiſtance from thoſe Papers, is under great and particular Diſadvantages towards making his Defence in the Points whereof he there ſtands accuſed: And he is therefore humbly aſſured, that as your Lordſhips, on the one Side, will not expect from him any ſuch Proofs of his Innocence, as can only be drawn from a Peruſal of thoſe Papers; ſo, on the other, you will not admit of all or any of thoſe Articles, as made good againſt him, unleſs the Accuſations therein contained be ſupported by the cleareſt and moſt unqueſtionable Evidence of which the Nature of the Facts is capable: He ſubmits it likewiſe to your Lordſhips Conſideration, whether, in a Negotiation drawn out into a great Length, where the Advice of all thoſe in high Truſt about her Majeſty was to be taken, and where ſeveral Perſons were to be entruſted with the Management of what was agreed upon, he can, with any Colour of Equity, be made anſwerable for adviſing and conducting the Whole: He deſires alſo farther to obſerve, That every thing, with which he is charged, was done in the Reign of a gracious Princeſs, ceſs, now deceaſed; who, by reaſon of the perfect Knowlege ſhe had of the ill State of Affairs at home; of the Advances made towards Peace from abroad; and of the Commands which ſhe had ſeveral times laid on her Servants; had been the beſt, and, indeed, could be the only competent, Judge, whether ſhe was fraudulently dealt with; led, by ill Advice, into Meaſures which ſhe did not direct and approve; or made any Inſtrument of ſacrificeing the Intereſts of her Kingdoms to the Enemy: It is with great Grief that he finds ſuch Things ſuggeſted, as ſeems to lay a Stain upon the Character of ſo excellent a Queen, whoſe Memory, he is confident, will be for ever dear to this Country: And therefore he takes Leave, in the moſt ſolemn manner, to aſſure your Lordſhips, That, as far as he knows, or can remember, every thing relating to the Tranſactions of Peace was communicated to her late Majeſty, and maturely conſidered by her, before any thing was determined thereupon; nor was any Step taken, but in purſuance of ſuch Determination. As to the Peace in general, he the ſaid Earl thinks he has very good Reaſon to ſay, That the Queen had nothing more at heart than to procure ſo great a Bleſſing for her People; and that, when it was obtained, ſhe had this Satisfaction in herſelf, That ſhe had taken the moſt proper Meaſures to juſtify her Conduct, both towards her Allies, and toward her own Subjects; for, upon a Review of her Majeſty's whole Proceeding in relation to War and Peace, he believes it will appear, and hath in Part appeared by the Anſwer of the ſaid Earl to the ſaid Articles, That, as her Majeſty entered further into the War than ſhe was obliged by any Treaties ſubſiſting at the time of her Acceſſion to the Throne; ſo ſhe contributed more Men and Money towards the carrying it on afterwards than ſhe was engaged to provide by any ſubſequent Treaties: That her earneſt Deſires of Peace being twice fruſtrated, when ſuch Conditions might have been obtained as would have fully anſwered all the Ends for which War was at firſt declared; that all our Succeſſes and Victories ending in the annual Increaſe of the Charge of England, without any further Aſſiſtance from our Allies; and her Kingdoms being exhauſted to ſuch a Degree, notwithſtanding the great Advantages obtained by her Arms, that ſhe was not able to continue the War, upon the Foot it then ſtood, one Year longer, whilſt her Allies refuſed to continue it upon thoſe equal Conditions to which they were by Treaties obliged; ſhe was at laſt conſtrained, in Compaſſion to her People, to hearken to the Overtures of Peace then made her from France, without relying farther on the vain Hopes of gaining more advantageous Terms, by protracting the War a Year longer: She had carried it on, for ſome time, under that Proſpect, without reaping the Benefits propoſed, even at Junctures that ſeemed moſt favourable to her Demands, and to the Pretenſions of her Allies: She had indeed, by that means, raiſed the Glory of her Arms; but ſhe could not think this a ſufficient Recompence for the increaſing Miſeries of her People; and therefore reſolved to lay hold of the Opportunity then offered to her, of ending the War by a Peace, if it might be obtained upon Terms every way juſt, ſafe, and honourable; and thoſe who were then employed in her Majeſty's Councils, thought themſelves obliged to ſecond her good Intentions in this Caſe, and to obey her Commands with all Readineſs: The ſaid Earl preſumes, on this Occaſion, to mention to your Lordſhips the Saying of as wiſe a Man, and as great a General, as the laſt Age produced, the Duke of Parma; when France was in a far lower Condition than now, being almoſt equally divided between Two contending Parties, and Spain was at the Height of its Glory, and he himſelf at the Head of a Spaniſh Army, ſupporting One of thoſe Parties; after Paris itſelf had been beſieged by the other; it was his Opinion (and the Advice he gave to his Majeſty the King of Spain was grounded upon it), That, if France were to be got only by reducing its Towns, the World would be ſooner at an End than ſuch a War: The Queen ſeemed, at this time, with better Reaſon, to frame the like Judgment: And it was therefore her Pleaſure, and a great Inſtance, as the ſaid Earl conceives, of her Wiſdom and Goodneſs, to think of ſecuring a Peace, while ſhe appeared able to carry on the War, her Armies being full and numerous; and before the exhauſted Condition of her Kingdoms, and the Impoſſibility, on her Side, of maintaining ſo diſproportioned an Expence, was diſcovered by her Enemies: At this Juncture, the Queen entered upon a Negotiation of Peace, with Circumſtances of great Honour to herſelf; France applying to her firſt on this Account, previouſly owning her Title, and acknowleging the Right of the Proteſtant Succeſſion; Two chief Grounds upon which the Declaration of the laſt War was built. As to the Allies, it was conducted in the ſame manner as all Treaties of Peace in Confederacies have ever been, and according to the known Laws of Nations in ſuch Caſes; the Firſt Motion, and the ſeveral Steps, of it, as faſt as they ripened into Propoſals fit for Conſideration, being, without Delay, communicated to the States-General: By the Terms of this Peace, as all reaſonable Satisfaction, and Security, due to any of the Allies by Treaty, were obtained for them by the Queen, and their juſt Pretenſions effectually ſupported; ſo larger Advantages were actually procured for Great Britain, in particular, than ever had been demanded before in any Treaty or Negotiation between this and any other foreign State. The ſaid Earl craves Leave, on this Occaſion, to appeal to your Lordſhips, whether all the Ends, for which the War was entered into, have not, by this Treaty, been fully attained; whether it does not appear by the beſt . . Proofs, Experience, That the Kingdoms of France and Spain are, by the Conventions of this Treaty, moſt effectually ſeparated; and whether any other Expedient could have been ſo ſucceſsful to this Purpoſe, as that whereby it is now happily brought about; whether the Balance of Power in Europe be not now upon a better Foot than it has been for an Hundred Years paſt; whether the Advantages that have accrued to Great Britain by this Treaty, do not appear, and have not appeared, in the Security of the Proteſtant Succeſſion, and in his Majeſty's peaceable Acceſſion to the Throne, with the univerſal Applauſe of his Subjects; in the Additions made to our Wealth, by the great Quantities of Bullion lately coined at the Mint; by the vaſt Increaſe of Shipping employed ſince the Peace in the Fiſhery, and in Merchandize; and by the remarkable Riſe of the Cuſtoms upon Import; and of our Manufacture, and the Growth, of our Country, upon Export: For the Proof of which Particulars, he refers himſelf to thoſe Offices and Books wherein an authentick Account of them is contained. And as the Terms of the Peace were, in theſe and other reſpects, manifeſtly profitable to Great Britain; ſo the ſaid Earl begs Leave humbly to remind your Lordſhips, That they were communicated to the Parliament, and, with their Concurrence, agreed on: That the Peace, thus concluded, was afterwards highly approved by both Houſes: That ſolemn Thanks were rendered to God for it in all our Churches, as well as in the Churches of the United Provinces; and that her Majeſty received, on this Subject, the hearty and unfeigned Congratulations of her People from all Parts of her Dominions.

Theſe being the real Effects, and this a true Repreſentation, of her Majeſty's Conduct in the Affairs both of War and Peace, the ſaid Earl ſees not how he, or any others then in her Majeſty's Service, can be juſtly charged with betraying the Intereſts of their own Country, and of the Allies, by negotiating, and promoting, that Peace, which then was, and, as he has good Grounds to believe, ſtill continues to be, very acceptable and advantageous to theſe Kingdoms: And if the Peace itſelf be not condemned, and it be not even charged upon the ſaid Earl as a Crime, That he adviſed her Majeſty to conclude that Peace (neither of which appear to him from the ſaid Articles), he humbly conceives, it is a particular and extraordinary Hardſhip upon him, that rough Draughts and Eſſays towards a Peace, with other preliminary Steps in a Negotiation, all leading to an End which he looks upon to be juſt and profitable, and which is not, in any of the Articles, alleged to be otherwiſe, ſhould be brought into ſo many diſtinct Heads of Accuſation againſt him: For, ſuppoſing, that in the Proceſs of ſo nice and difficult an Affair, ſubject to divers unforeſeen Obſtructions and Events, any improper Steps had been taken; which the ſaid Earl doth not admit, but altogether on his Part denies; yet, if Things were at laſt conducted to a right Iſſue, and ended in an honourable and advantageous Peace, there can be, as he conceives, no juſt Ground to find fault with the Meaſures made uſe of to compaſs it, becauſe they ſeemed, before the Accompliſhment, to have a different Tendency; eſpecially if it be conſidered, that ſcarce any Peace hath been made by a Confederacy where leſs Occaſion was adminiſtred for Jealouſy among the ſeveral Parties, and leſs Reaſon given to complain, that every Nicety, required by the Letter of ſuch an Alliance, was not ſtrictly obſerved: And therefore he humbly hopes, that no Steps taken for obtaining a Peace, approved by the Wiſdom of former Parliaments, ſhall, by any ſucceeding Parliament, be accounted criminal, unleſs it can be made appear, that thoſe Steps were taken contrary to the Queen's Orders, or upon corrupt Views of private Advantage: But that no Charge of this Nature can be made good againſt him, he preſumes to affirm with great Aſſurance; nor does he know of any other Perſons juſtly chargeable upon either of theſe Accounts. And, as a farther Proof, that thoſe who had the Honour to ſerve her Majeſty in the Negotiations of Peace acted with upright Views and Intentions, and without being conſcious to themſelves of any Failure in their Duty, either to their Queen, or their Country, the ſaid Earl craves Leave to obſerve to your Lordſhips, That they never attempted to cover their Actions from publick Cenſure, by any Pardon or Indemnity, though they had very good Reaſon to believe, that, had they judged or imagined themſelves to have wanted ſuch Security, it might, through the Goodneſs of the Queen, have eaſily been obtained: Nor can he think it an Obſervation unfit to be made, That, in few of the Articles which concern the Negotiations of Peace, the Charge is founded on any Breach of the Laws of Great Britain; but it is, in moſt of them, built chiefly on the ſuppoſed Infraction of certain Treaties and Alliances with foreign Princes, or States: And he conceives, that ſuch Infractions of publick Treaties, where they do not particularly affect the Intereſts of Great Britain, being cognizable by the Laws of Nations only, and not by thoſe of the Realm, are not wont to be examined into here at home, and proſecuted as criminal, but upon the Complaint of ſome Prince, or State, pretending, by that means, to be injured; and lodging ſuch Complaint, in ſome reaſonable time, with the Prince, by the Advice of whoſe Miniſters and Servants ſuch Injury is ſuppoſed to have been done: But he knows not, that any ſuch Steps have been taken ſince the Peace, by any of the Powers concerned; on the contrary, he believes, that all the Allies, except the Emperor, and Empire, made their Peace with the Enemy at the ſame time the Queen did; and that none of them did afterwards complain to her Majeſty, who ſurvived the ſaid Peace a Year, and almoſt Four Months, of any Hardſhips impoſed upon them in it: That the Princes of the Empire, who contributed very little to the War, might have concluded their Peace, upon reaſonable Terms, at the ſame time the other Allies did; and would probably have done it, if the Emperor, on his Part, had been willing to ſign together with them; which, he is informed, at the Concluſion of any general Peace, has been ſeldom done; and, particularly, at the ſeveral Concluſions of the Peace of Munſter, that of Nimeguen, and that of Ryſwick, was not practiſed: And he ſubmits it to your Lordſhips Conſideration, whether the Emperor, having had all reaſonable and equitable Satisfaction made him for his Pretenſions to the Succeſſion of the Spaniſh Monarchy, according to the Terms of the Grand Alliance, could have any juſt Reaſon to complain of the Queen's Miniſters, or thoſe of her Allies, for concluding a Peace without inſiſting, on his Account, upon impoſſible Conditions; eſpecially, when no Proviſion was made, or offered to be made, to reimburſe her Majeſty any Part of thoſe vaſt Sums ſhe had already expended in Support of his Pretenſions, whilſt he failed of ſupplying his Quota almoſt in every Part of the War, notwithſtanding his new and great Acquiſitions: But whether the Emperor, or any other of the Allies, had any juſt Ground of Complaint, or not, ſtill the ſaid Earl preſumes to inſiſt, That it ought to have been ſignified to the Queen; who, upon ſuch Complaint, had ſhe found any of her Servants juſtly blameable, as diſobeying her Orders, or miſleading her, by their Advice, into unjuſtifiable and diſhonourable Meaſures, might have puniſhed them forthwith, as their Offences deſerved: But, nothing of this kind having been done, he humbly leaves it to be conſidered by your Lordſhips, whether the Silence of the Powers concerned doth not carry in it a ſtrong Preſumption, either that they had no real and juſt Ground of Complaint, in relation to the Terms of the Peace itſelf, or, at leaſt, did not look upon the Miniſters of the Queen as any-ways liable to blame on that Account: And therefore he muſt again beg Leave to expreſs to your Lordſhips his Concern, that he ſhould be charged, as a Criminal, by the Laws of this Land, for ſuppoſed Breaches of Treaties with foreign States, which never were complained of, as ſuch, by the States themſelves, during the Life of her Majeſty. He deſires farther to obſerve, to your Lordſhips, That wherever he is charged with carrying on a private and ſeparate Negotiation, it is all along underſtood with regard only to the States of the United Provinces; no Step that was communicated to them, being cenſured upon this Account: Whereas all the other Allies had, by virtue of their Treaties with the Queen, a like Right to a Communication of Councils; and her Majeſty was under no Stipulations to act more in Concert with any one than with all of them: He does, indeed, allow it to have been moſt agreeable to Reaſon, and to the Intereſts of State, that the Queen ſhould act in a cloſer Conjunction with Holland than with any other of her Allies; becauſe that, next to Great Britain, Holland bore the greateſt Share in the Charge of the War: But then he hopes it will be allowed alſo, That the States, being more intereſted in the Succeſs of the War than England; and that England having ſubmitted to a greater Share of the Burden, in order to procure not only a fitting Security for the States, but ſuch as brought great Advantages to them, though no Benefit to England; it was very reaſonable for the Queen to take care of the Intereſt of her own Kingdoms ſome other Way: And, ſince the Advantages ſhe demanded from the Enemy were ſuch as ſhe might obtain without any Prejudice to the States, it was as lawful for her to negotiate this Matter, without communicating it originally, and in the Firſt Riſe of it, to them, as it was for her and the States to concert their mutual Intereſts together, without the immediate and expreſs Participation of the other Allies; which, being known to be done without a Deſign to defeat any of the main Ends of the Alliance, was never complained of by any of the Confederates: And as for the Matters concerted previouſly with France for the particular Intereſt of England, without the original Intervention of Holland, the States were ſo far from proteſting againſt her Majeſty's Meaſures, and condemning her conduct in this reſpect, that their Miniſter proffered, ſeveral times, in their Name, to have led the Way, in the moſt difficult Part of the whole Negotiation; and to have done his utmoſt to facilitate the Concluſion of it; provided his Maſters might have a Share in the Aſſiento Contract, and Trade to the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies; one of thoſe Advantages which France had diſcovered its Willingneſs ſhould be allowed previouſly, and intirely, to England.

Theſe few general Obſervations the ſaid Earl has thought fit to add in the Cloſe of his Anſwer to the ſeveral Articles of his Impeachment, not only in his own neceſſary Vindication, but alſo in Defence of her late Majeſty's Conduct in the negotiating and concluding a Peace, the Perfecting of which ſhe eſteemed as the greateſt Happineſs of her Reign. Upon Review of the Two-and-twenty Articles with which he is charged; as he is not conſcious of any Offence committed by him with reſpect to any one of them; ſo it is with a particular Concern and Surprize, that he reflects on thoſe Two, wherein he is accuſed of High Treaſon, for endeavouring to procure Tournay to France, and ſo deprive the States of that intended Part of their Barrier; and for procuring Spain, and ... Weſt-Indies, to the Duke of Anjou, upon his Renunciation of the Crown of France: Referring himſelf to what he has ſaid in his Anſwer to both theſe Articles, he here further aſſures your Lordſhips, and thinks it is ſufficiently known both at Home and Abroad, that his Opinion and Endeavour, as Occaſion offered, always were for Tournay's remaining, as it now does, to the States-General: And, as to the latter, he doubts not, but that what has lately happened in France, is a convincing Proof to your Lordſhips, and to all the World, that the Renunciation was the beſt Expedient that could have been propoſed towards hindering the Two Kingdoms from being united under one and the ſame Monarch; that that Branch of the Treaty which relates to this Expedient has fully anſwered its End, and made good the Character given of it by the Queen, That it would execute itſelf; and, therefore, that whoever adviſed this Method of ſeparating the Two Crowns, was ſo far from being guilty of any traiterous Deſign, that he eminently promoted the Welfare of Great Britain, and the Good of Chriſtendom. The ſaid Earl, with all the Aſſurances of an innocent Man, begs Leave to repeat, That, as well in this as in all other Affairs of State in which he had the Honour to be employed by her late Majeſty, he ever acted according to the beſt of his Skill and Judgment, with ſincere Deſires and Intentions to ſerve the Publick, and without any View to his own private Advantage: As he was in ſeveral great Stations under her Majeſty, he came into all of them, by her own ſpecial Command, without his ſeeking or deſiring them; and he ſerved her, in all, with the utmoſt Reſpect, Zeal, and Faithfulneſs: And, while he continued in theſe Stations for many Years, it was with great Wonder and Pleaſure, that he obſerved how her Majeſty's whole Thoughts, Endeavours, and Time, were divided between her Duty to God, and her Love to her People; whoſe Good and Security ſhe preferred always to her own Eaſe; and often hazarded her Health, and Life itſelf, to procure it: He knew, that the moſt effectual Way for any one to recommend himſelf to her good Opinion, was, to act upon the ſame Principles of Juſtice, and Love to his Country, that ſhe did: And as ſhe abhorred the Thoughts of any thing burdenſome or injurious to her People; ſo ſhe often expreſſed herſelf with the greateſt Satisfaction and Delight, when ſhe reflected on the Advantages obtained by her for her own Subjects, and the Quiet and Repoſe ſhe had gained for Europe, by that juſt and honourable Peace: For which, as the preſent Age does, ſo Generations to come will, bleſs the Memory of that excellent and renowned Queen.

Mr. Walpole reported from the Committee appointed to draw up Articles of Impeachment, and prepare Evidence, againſt the impeached Lords, That they had, according to Order, drawn up a Replication to the Anſwer of the Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer to the Articles of Impeachment exhibited againſt him; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered it in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was twice read; and, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe; and is as followeth; viz.

The Commons Replication to the Anſwer of Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer.

THE Commons have conſidered the Anſwer of Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer to the Articles of Impeachment exhibited againſt him by the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled; and do, with Aſtoniſhment, obſerve, That the ſaid Earl, inſtead of giving a reaſonable and pertinent Anſwer to the juſt and heavy Charge brought againſt him by the Commons of Great Britain, has preſumed not only to deny his adviſing, and being concerned in, any Matters of State, in the Articles charged againſt him, though confeſſed to be done under an Adminiſtration wherein he was notoriouſly the Firſt Miniſter, and chief Director; but has alſo joined therewith a falſe and malicious Libel, laying upon his Royal Miſtreſs the Blame of every thing, which, by impoſing upon her, he had effected againſt her Honour, and the Good of his Country; thereby attempting to reflect upon the Honour and Juſtice of the Houſe of Commons, and to caſt an Odium upon their Proceedings againſt him, as tending to aſperſe the Memory of the late Queen:

But the Commons are of Opinion, That, if it were poſſible to add to the heavy Load of Guilt, in which the Treaſons, and other moſt flagitious Crimes, committed by the ſaid Earl, have already involved him, this baſe and ungrateful Attempt, to impute them to his Royal Miſtreſs, muſt bring ſuch a new Weight of Infamy upon him, and ſo juſtly provoke the Indignation of the Commons, that they might think themſelves obliged to demand your Lordſhips immediate Juſtice for this unwarranted Attempt upon the Honour of the late Queen, and the Proceedings of Parliament:

But the Commons being ſenſible, that the Treaſons, and other Crimes, whereof the ſaid Earl ſtands impeached, and the Neceſſity of bringing him to ſpeedy and exemplary Juſtice, require, that all Occaſions of Delay ſhould be avoided; and not doubting, that your Lordſhips will, in due time, vindicate the Honour of the late Queen, and the Commons of Great Britain, and the Juſtice of their Proceedings; the Commons do aver their Charge againſt the ſaid Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer, for High Treaſon, and other High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, to be true; and that the ſaid Earl is guilty of all and ſingular the Articles, and Charges, therein reſpectively contained, in ſuch manner as he ſtands impeached; and that the Commons will be ready to prove their Charge againſt him at ſuch convenient Time as ſhall be appointed for that Purpoſe.

Ordered, That the ſaid Replication be ingroſſed.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing a Knight of the Shire for the County of Kent, in the room of the Honourable Mildmay Fane Eſquire, deceaſed.

The Houſe proceeded to take into Conſideration the Amendments, made by the Lords, to the Bill, intituled, An Act for ſhortening the Time of the Yule Vacance, in that Part of Great Britain called Scotland:

And the ſame were twice read; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe; and are as follows; viz.

In the Bill, L. 12. Leave out "the Length of:"

L. 21. Leave out from "that" to the End of the Bill, and inſert "the aforeſaid Act, paſſed in the "10th Year of her late Majeſty Queen Anne, ſhall be, "and is hereby, repealed, and made void:"

In the Title of the Bill, L. 1ſt, Leave out from "for" to the End of the Title, and inſert "repealing an "Act, intituled, An Act for repealing Part of an Act, "paſſed in the Parliament of Scotland, intituled, An Act "for diſcharging the Yule Vacance."

Ordered, That Mr. Smith of Glaſgow do carry the Bill to the Lords, and acquaint them, That this Houſe hath agreed to the ſaid Amendments.

And then the Houſe adjourned till Monday Morning, Nine of the Clock.

THE ingroſſed Replication to the Anſwer of Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer to the Articles of Impeachment exhibited againſt him was read.

Ordered, That the Lord Coningsby do carry the ſaid Replication to the Lords.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

PRAYERS.

THE Lord Coningsby reported, That he had, according to Order, at the Bar of the Houſe of Lords, delivered to their Lordſhips the Replication of the Commons to the Anſwer of Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer to the Articles of Impeachment exhibited by the Commons againſt the ſaid Earl.

Mr. Walpole reported, from the Committee appointed to draw up Articles of Impeachment, and to prepare Evidence, againſt the impeached Lords, to whom it was referred to lay before the Houſe ſo much as they ſhould think proper of the Evidence of Mr. Prior; and alſo the State and Circumſtances of his Confinement; the Report which they had directed him to make to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as followeth; viz.

THAT, in the Peruſal and Examination of the ſeveral Books and Papers referred to the Committee of Secrecy, Mr. Prior appeared, through the whole Progreſs of the ſeparate and pernicious Negotiations carried on between the Miniſters of Great Britain and France, to have been principally concerned, as an Agent and Inſtrument of thoſe evil and traiterous Counſellors, ſome of which are already attainted, and others ſtand impeached, of High Treaſon, and other High Crimes and Miſdemeanors: And the Committee conceiving there were Matters contained in the Firſt general Report, from which Crimes of a very high Nature might be juſtly charged and imputed to the ſaid Mr. Prior, whenever the Houſe ſhould think proper to enter into that Conſideration; as likewiſe, that Mr. Prior was able to give great Lights into all thoſe dark and ſecret Tranſactions, when he ſhould be called upon by the Great Council of the Nation, or any Committee appointed by

by them, to give an Account of the Negotiations in which he was concerned as a publick Miniſter; the Houſe, upon a Motion from the Committee for that Purpoſe, was pleaſed to order, before the Report was made, That Mr. Prior ſhould be taken into Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms, to prevent his making his Eſcape upon Notice of what was contained in the Report:

That this Method of confining Mr. Prior is not only agreeable to former Precedents upon the like Occaſions, but neceſſary, and eſſential to that great Duty and Privilege of the Houſe of Commons, of redreſſing Grievances, and bringing great Offenders to Juſtice:

That the Committee did, ſome time after, purſuant to the Powers given them by the Houſe, proceed to examine Mr. Prior concerning ſeveral Matters, of which there can be no Doubt but he was fully appriſed, and acquainted with; in which Examination, Mr. Prior did behave himſelf with ſuch Contempt of the Authority of Parliament, and prevaricate in ſo groſs a manner, as moſt juſtly to deſerve the higheſt Diſpleaſure of the Houſe:

But, finding at laſt, after an Examination of ſeveral Hours, that it was impoſſible for him to diſguiſe, or conceal, ſome Facts that were before the Committee, he was induced to declare, upon Oath, ſome Truths, which will be very material Evidence upon the Tryals of the impeached Lords:

And the Committee, having Notice, That Mr. Prior had, during his Firſt Confinement, met, and conferred with, the Earl of Oxford, and his neareſt Relations and Dependents, which Mr. Prior confeſſed to be true, thought it their Duty to move the Houſe, That Mr. Prior might be committed to cloſer Cuſtody.

From this ſhort State of the Proceedings relating to Mr. Prior, the Committee ſubmits it to the Wiſdom of the Houſe, whether his Behaviour has ſo far merited the Favour and Mercy of the Houſe, as to make that Confinement more eaſy to him, which his Contempt of the Commons of Great Britain, and his notorious Prevarication, moſt juſtly brought him into: And it ſeems worthy of Conſideration, how far it may be thought adviſeable for the Houſe of Commons to ſet at Liberty a Perſon in their Cuſtody, and committed, according to the ancient Methods and Practice of Parliament, who is a material Evidence againſt high Offenders, under Proſecution of the Commons of Great Britain; and who, there is great Reaſon to apprehend, would immediately withdraw himſelf, and, as far as in him lay, defeat the Juſtice of the Nation.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to draw up Articles of Impeachment, and to prepare Evidence, againſt the impeached Lords, be impowered to ſit, notwithſtanding any Adjournment of the Houſe.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

PRAYERS.

Secretary Stanhope acquainted the Houſe, That he was commanded by the King to communicate to this Houſe, That his Majeſty, having juſt Cauſe to ſuſpect, that Sir William Wyndham, Sir John Packington, Mr. Edward Harvey ſenior, of Combe, Mr. Thomas Forſter junior, Mr. John Anſtis, and Mr. Corbet Kynaſton, are engaged in a Deſign to ſupport the intended Invaſion of this Kingdom, hath given Order for apprehending them: And his Majeſty deſires the Conſent of this Houſe, to his cauſing them to be committed, and detained, if he ſhall judge it neceſſary ſo to do, in purſuance of the late Act of Parliament for impowering his Majeſty to commit, and detain, ſuch Perſons as his Majeſty ſhall ſuſpect are conſpiring againſt his Perſon and Government.

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

Ordered, That the Report made Yeſterday, from the Committee appointed to draw up Articles of Impeachment, and to prepare Evidence againſt the impeached Lords, relating to the Confinement of Mr. Pryor, be printed.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Am perſuaded, you are all, by this time, very deſirous of ſome Receſs; and that it cannot be deferred longer, without great Inconvenience to your private Affairs.

But, before I can part with you, I muſt return you my moſt ſincere Thanks for your having finiſhed, with ſo much Wiſdom and Unanimity, what I recommended to your Care: And particularly I muſt thank you, Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons, for the Proviſion you have made, as well for the Support of the Honour and Dignity of the Crown, as for the other neceſſary Occaſions of the Publick; eſpecially for your having done it by means ſo little burdenſome to my People; which, I aſſure you, recommends the Supplies to me above any other Circumſtance whatſoever.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The open and declared Rebellion, which is now actually begun in Scotland, muſt convince all, who do not wiſh to ſee us given up into the Hands of a Popiſh Pretender, of the Dangers to which we have been, and are ſtill, expoſed. I thought it incumbent upon me to give you the earlieſt Notice of the Deſigns of our Enemies; and I cannot ſufficiently commend the Zeal and Diſpatch, with which you impowered me, at a time when the Nation was in ſo naked and defenceleſs a Condition, to make ſuch Preparations as I ſhould think neceſſary for our Security. You ſhall have no Reaſon to repent of the Truſt and Confidence you repoſe in me, which I ſhall never uſe to any other End, than for the Protection and Welfare of my People.

It was ſcarce to be imagined, that any of my Proteſtant Subjects, who have known and enjoyed the Benefits of our excellent Conſtitution, and have heard of the great Dangers they were wonderfully delivered from by the happy Revolution, ſhould, by any Arts and Management, be drawn into Meaſures, that muſt at once deſtroy their Religion and Liberties, and ſubject them to Popery, and arbitrary Power; but ſuch has been our Misfortune, that too many of my People have been deluded, and made inſtrumental to the Pretender's Deſigns, who had never dared to think of invading us, or raiſing a Rebellion, had he not been encouraged by the Succeſs his Emiſſaries and Adherents have already had in ſtirring up Riots and Tumults, and by the farther Hopes they entertain of raiſing Inſurrections in many Parts of my Kingdoms.

The endeavouring to perſuade my People, that the Church of England is in Danger under my Government, has been the main Artifice employed in carrying on this wicked and traiterous Deſign. This Inſinuation, after the ſolemn Aſſurances I have given, and my having laid hold on all Opportunities to do every thing that may tend to the Advantage of the Church of England, is both unjuſt and ungrateful; nor can I believe ſo groundleſs and malicious a Calumny can make any Impreſſion upon the Minds of my faithful Subjects; or that they can be ſo far miſled as to think, the Church of England is to be ſecured by ſetting a Popiſh Pretender on the Throne.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The Proofs this Parliament has given of their unſhaken Duty and Affection to me, and of their Love and Zeal for the Intereſt of their Country, will recommend you to the good Opinion and Eſteem of all, who have their Religion and Liberty truly at Heart, and has laid a laſting Obligation upon me; and I queſtion not, but, by your farther Aſſiſtance in the ſeveral Countries to which you are going, with the Bleſſing of Almighty God, who hath ſo frequently interpoſed in favour of this Nation, I ſhall be able to diſappoint and defeat the Deſigns of our Enemies.

Our meeting again to do Buſineſs early in the next Winter, will be uſeful on many Accounts; particularly, that the Sitting of Parliaments may be again brought into that Seaſon of the Year which is moſt convenient; and that as little Delay may be given as is poſſible to your judicial Proceedings: And I ſhall, at preſent, give ſuch Orders to my Lord Chancellor, as may not put it long out of my Power to meet you on any ſudden Occaſion.

And that afterwards the Lord Chancellor ſignified his Majeſty's Pleaſure, that both Houſes ſhould ſeverally adjourn until Thurſday the Sixth Day of October next.

And the Houſe accordingly adjourned till Thurſday the Sixth Day of October next, Nine of the Clock.

PRAYERS.

ORdered, Nemine contradicente, That Mr. Speaker's Speech, upon his preſenting the Money-Bills to his Majeſty, which paſſed the Royal Aſſent on the Twenty-firſt of September laſt, be entered upon the Journals of this Houſe: And the ſame is as follows;

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

YOUR Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled, have now finiſhed the Supplies granted to your Majeſty for the Service of this preſent Year. Your Commons had much ſooner offered theſe Supplies to your Majeſty, had not their Zeal for your Majeſty's Service, and the Duty they owe to their Country, led them into Inquiries, which have drawn this Seſſions to an unuſual Length.

But your Commons could not ſee, without the utmoſt Indignation, the Glories of her late Majeſty's Reign tarniſhed by a treacherous Ceſſation of Arms; the Faith of Treaties violated; that ancient Probity, for which the Engliſh Nation had been juſtly renowned throughout all Ages, expoſed to Scorn and Contempt; and the Trade of the Kingdom given up, by inſidious and precarious Treaties of Commerce; whilſt the People, amuſed with new Worlds explored, were contented to ſee the moſt advantageous Branches of their Commerce in Europe loſt or betrayed.

Such was the Condition of this Kingdom, when it pleaſed the Divine Providence to call your Majeſty to the Throne of your Anceſtors; under whoſe auſpicious Reign, your Commons, with Pleaſure, behold the Glories of the Plantagenets, your Majeſty's Royal Anceſtors, revive; and have an unbounded Proſpect of the Continuance of this Happineſs, even to the lateſt Poſterity, in a Race of Princes lineally deſcended from your Majeſty.

And that nothing might be wanting, on the Part of your Commons, to eſtabliſh your Majeſty's Throne on ſolid and laſting Foundations, they have applied themſelves, with unwearied Diligence, to vindicate the Honour of the Britiſh Nation, and to reſtore a mutual Confidence between this Kingdom and its ancient and faithful Allies, by detecting the Authors of theſe pernicious Counſels, and the Actors in theſe treacherous Deſigns, in order to bring them to Juſtice by the Judgment of their Peers, according to the Law of the Land, and the Uſage of Parliament.

It was not to be expected, but that the Enemies to the Nation's Peace would uſe their utmoſt Endeavours to obſtruct your Commons in theſe Inquiries; but, deſpairing of any Succeſs in the Repreſentative Body of the Kingdom, they fomented Tumults among the Dregs of the People at home, and ſpirited up the Pretender to an Invaſion from abroad. This gave your faithful Commons freſh Opportunities of ſhewing their Affection to your Majeſty's Perſon, and their Fidelity to your Government, by their unanimous Concurrence in granting ſuch Supplies, as were ſufficient to diſappoint the one; and by their paſſing ſuch Laws as were neceſſary to ſuppreſs the other; and, in every reſpect, to expreſs their Abhorrence of a Popiſh Pretender, concerning whom nothing remains unſuſpected, but his Bigotry to Superſtition, and his Hatred to our Holy Religion; for the Advancement of which, your Majeſty has expreſſed your pious Care, by recommending to your Commons the providing a Maintenance for the Miniſters who are to officiate in the new Churches. This your Commons readily complied with, truſting, that the Prayers, there offered to the Almighty, will bring down a Bleſſing on all your Majeſty's Undertakings; and not doubting, but that the Doctrines, there taught, will be a means to ſecure the Quiet of your Kingdoms, and the Obedience of your People.

The Revenues, ſet apart for the Uſes of the Civil Government, your Commons found ſo much entangled with Mortgages, and Anticipations, that what remained was far from being ſufficient to ſupport the Honour and Dignity of the Crown: This your Commons took into ſerious Conſideration; and, being truly ſenſible, that, on your Majeſty's Greatneſs, the Happineſs of your Subjects entirely depends, they have put the Civil Revenues into the ſame State in which they were granted to your Majeſty's Glorious Predeceſſor King Wm. of immortal Memory; and thereby enabled your Majeſty to make an ample Proviſion for the Prince of Wales, whoſe heroic Virtues are the beſt Security of your Majeſty's Throne, as his other perſonal Endowments are the Joy of all your faithful Subjects.

I ſhould but ill diſcharge the Truſt repoſed in me by the Commons, did I not lay before your Majeſty with what Chearfulneſs they received your Majeſty's gracious Intentions for her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs; and with how much Readineſs and Unanimity they enabled your Majeſty to ſettle a Revenue ſuitable to the Dignity of a Princeſs, whoſe Piety, and ſteady Adherence to the Proteſtant Religion, is the Glory of the preſent Age, and will be the Admiration of all future Generations.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

The Bills, which the Commons have prepared to complete the Supplies for this Year's Service, and for the other Purpoſes I have mentioned, are ſeverally intituled,

An Act to enable his Majeſty to ſettle a Revenue for ſupporting the Dignity of her Royal Highneſs, in caſe ſhe ſhall ſurvive his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales:

An Act for inlarging the capital Stock, and yearly Fund, of the South-Sea Company; and for ſupplying thereby 822,032 l. 4 s. 8 d. to publick Uſes; and for raiſing 169,000 l. for the like Uſes, by Sale of Annuities, upon divers Encouragements therein mentioned; and for appropriating ſeveral Supplies granted to his Majeſty:

An Act for making Proviſion for the Miniſters of the Fifty new Churches, which are to be built in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, and Suburbs thereof; and for rebuilding and finiſhing the Pariſh-Church of St. Mary Wolnoth, in the ſaid City of London:

Which they, with all Humility, now preſent to your Majeſty, for your Royal Aſſent.

Mr. Secretary Stanhope acquainted the Houſe, That it was his Majeſty's Pleaſure, That the Parliament ſhould be adjourned for a Fortnight: And therefore deſires, That this Houſe will adjourn itſelf until Thurſday the Twentieth of October inſtant.

And the Houſe accordingly adjourned till Thurſday the Twentieth of October inſtant.

PRAYERS.

A Meſſage from his Majeſty, by Sir Wm. Oldes, Gentleman-Uſher of the Black Rod:

Mr. Speaker,

The King commands this Honourable Houſe to attend his Majeſty, immediately, in the Houſe of Peers.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, with the Houſe, went up to attend his Majeſty.

And, being returned;

Mr. Speaker reported, That the Houſe had attended his Majeſty, in the Houſe of Peers: And that the Lord Chancellor acquainted both Houſes, That he had received his Majeſty's Commands, to declare his Majeſty's Reaſons for cauſing both Houſes to meet at this time to do Buſineſs, as they were contained in a Speech delivered into his Hands by his Majeſty from the Throne; which Speech the Lord Chancellor read to both Houſes: And that, to prevent Miſtakes, he had obtained a Copy thereof; which Mr. Speaker read to the Houſe; and is as follows; viz.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

THE Zeal and Affection to my Government, and the vigilant Care for the Safety of the Nation, which you have ſhewn in your reſpective Counties, have not only fully anſwered my Expectations, but give me Aſſurances, that you are met together, reſolved to act with a Spirit becoming a Time of common Danger, and with ſuch a Vigour as will end in the Confuſion of all thoſe who have openly engaged in this Rebellion, and in the Shame and Reproach of ſuch as, by ſecret and malicious Inſinuations, have fomented, or, by an avowed Indifference, encouraged, this traiterous Enterprize.

It is, I doubt not, a great Satisfaction to you to have obſerved, that the Powers you entruſted me with, for the Preſervation of the publick Safety, have been employed in the moſt proper and effectual Manner, and made ſtrictly ſubſervient to thoſe Purpoſes only, for which you intended them; and you muſt have had the Pleaſure to reflect, with me, that, as the Meaſures taken for our Defence have been juſt and neceſſary, ſo it has pleaſed the Divine Providence to bleſs them with a Series of ſuitable Succeſs: And I cannot but take this Opportunity of doing Juſtice to the Officers and Soldiers of the Army, whoſe brave and faithful Diſcharge of their Duty has diſappointed our Enemies, and contributed ſo much to the Safety of the Nation.

I did hope, the detecting, and preventing, the deſigned Inſurrections in ſome Parts of the Kingdom, and the defeating, in others, thoſe who had taken up Arms againſt me, would have put an End to this Rebellion: But it is plain, that our Enemies, animated by ſome ſecret Hopes of Aſſiſtance, are ſtill endeavouring to ſupport this deſperate Undertaking; and the Pretender, as I have Reaſon to believe, is now landed in Scotland.

It is, however, with Pleaſure I can acquaint you, That, notwithſtanding theſe inteſtine Commotions, Great Britain has, in ſome meaſure, recovered its Influence and Reputation abroad: The Treaty for ſettling the Barrier for the Netherlands is now fully concluded between the Emperor and the States-General, under my Guaranty: The King of Spain has agreed to a Treaty, by which that valuable Branch of our Commerce will be delivered from the new Impoſitions and Hardſhips, to which it was ſubjected by the late Treaties; and will ſtand ſettled, for the future, on a Foot more advantageous and certain than it ever did in the moſt flouriſhing Time of any of my Predeceſſors; and the Treaty for renewing all former Alliances between the Crown of Great Britain and the States-General is brought very near to its Concluſion.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I muſt rely on your Affection to me, and your Care and Concern for the Safety of the Nation, to grant me ſuch Supplies as may enable me to reſtore, and to ſecure, the Peace of the Kingdom; and I will order Eſtimates of the neceſſary Expences to be laid before you.

Among the many unavoidable ill Conſequences of this Rebellion, none affects me more ſenſibly, than that extraordinary Burden, which it has and muſt create to my faithful Subjects: To eaſe them as far as lies in my Power, I take this Firſt Opportunity of declaring, That I will freely give up all the Eſtates that ſhall become forfeited to the Crown by this Rebellion, to be applied towards defraying the extraordinary Expence incurred on this Occaſion.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It is Matter of the greateſt Uneaſineſs to me, That the Firſt Years of my Reign, the whole Courſe of which I wiſhed to have tranſmitted to Poſterity diſtinguiſhed by the fair and endearing Marks of Peace and Clemency, ſhould be clouded and overcaſt with ſo unnatural a Rebellion; which, however impotent and unſucceſsful a due Care may render it in all other reſpects, does moſt ſenſibly afflict me, by the Calamities it has brought on many of my faithful Subjects, and by thoſe indiſpenſable Returns of Severity, which their Sufferings, and the publick Safety, do moſt juſtly call for. Under this Concern, my greateſt Comfort is, that I cannot reproach myſelf with having given the leaſt Provocation to that Spirit of Diſcontent and Calumny that has been let looſe againſt me; or the leaſt Pretence for kindling the Flame of this Rebellion.

Let thoſe whoſe fatal Counſels laid the Foundation of all theſe Miſchiefs, and thoſe whoſe private Diſcontents and Diſappointments, diſguiſed under falſe Pretences, have betrayed great Numbers of deluded People into their own Deſtruction, anſwer for the Miſeries in which they have involved their Fellow-Subjects. I queſtion not, but that, with the Continuance of God's Bleſſing, who alone is able to form Good out of Evil, and with the chearful Aſſiſtance of my Parliament, we ſhall, in a ſhort time, ſee this Rebellion end, not only in reſtoring the Tranquillity of my Government, but in procuring a firm and laſting Eſtabliſhment of that excellent Conſtitution in Church and State, which it was manifeſtly deſigned to ſubvert; and that this open and flagrant Attempt in favour of Popery, will aboliſh all other Diſtinctions among us, but of ſuch as are zealous Aſſertors of the Liberties of their Country, the preſent Eſtabliſhment, and the Proteſtant Religion, and of ſuch as are endeavouring to ſubject the Nation to the Revenge and Tyranny of a Popiſh Pretender.

Reſolved, Nemine contradicente, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, to return him the Thanks of this Houſe for his moſt gracious Speech from the Throne; and for his tender Regard and Concern for the Peace and Tranquillity of the Nation: To expreſs our juſt Reſentment and Indignation at this unnatural Rebellion; and to aſſure his Majeſty, That this traiterous and deſperate Attempt of the Pretender, to invade his Dominions, ſhall have no other Effect on the Minds of his faithful Commons, but to incite in them ſuch a Spirit of Reſolution and Unanimity as may confound, and extirpate for ever, all future Hopes of the Pretender, his open and ſecret Abettors: That, in order to this, the Commons will grant his Majeſty ſuch Supplies as may effectually enable him to put an End to this Rebellion, and to ſecure the Peace and Quiet of the Kingdom: To thank his Majeſty for his great Grace and Goodneſs, in being willing to give up, in Eaſe of his People, all ſuch Eſtates as ſhall be forfeited by this Rebellion; and for his great Care in ſettling and concluding ſuch Alliances as were neceſſary for preſerving the Peace of Europe; and, in particular, for obtaining ſo advantageous a Treaty of Commerce with Spain: And to declare, That this Houſe, being ſenſible that the preſent Calamities are the neceſſary Conſequences of the late Mal-adminiſtration, will not only exert themſelves in bringing to ſpeedy and exemplary Juſtice the open and declared Inſtruments of this Rebellion, but will alſo purſue, in the moſt vigorous manner, the Authors of thoſe evil Counſels, which have drawn down theſe Miſeries upon their Country.

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to draw up an Addreſs, upon the ſaid Reſolution:

And it is referred to Mr. Edgcomb, Earl of Hertford, Mr. Hampden, Mr. Bayly, Mr. Pulteney, Mr. Plumptree, Lord Coningsby, Mr. Aiſlaby, Lord Wm. Powlet, Sir Gilbert Heathcot, Mr. Comptroller, Mr. Methwen, Mr. Secretary Stanhope, Mr. Craggs, Mr. Chancellor of Exchequer, Sir Joſ Jekyll, Mr. Lechmere, Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Smith, Mr. Micklethwait, Mr. Newport, Mr. Morris, Lord Finch, Mr. Molyneux, Mr. Cowper, Lord Stanhope, General Erle, Mr. Nevill, Mr. Lowther, Sir Jo. Ruſhout: And they are to meet this Afternoon at Five a Clock, in the Speaker's Chamber.

Ordered, That his Majeſty's Speech be referred to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That a Meſſage be ſent to the Lords, That this Houſe having Matters to communicate to them of great Conſequence to the King, and the Kingdom, they deſire that their Lordſhips will continue ſitting for ſome time.

Ordered, That Mr. Lechmere do carry the ſaid Meſſage to the Lords.

Mr. Lechmere reported, That he had delivered the ſaid Meſſage to the Lords: And that the Lords anſwered, That they do agree to continue ſitting ſome time, as is deſired.

WHEREAS, for many Years laſt, a moſt wicked Deſign and Contrivance has been formed, and carried on, to ſubvert the ancient and eſtabliſhed Government, and the good Laws, of theſe Kingdoms; to ſuppreſs the true Proteſtant Religion therein eſtabliſhed, and to extirpate and deſtroy its Profeſſors; and, inſtead thereof, to introduce and ſettle Popery, and arbitrary Power; in which unnatural and horrid Conſpiracy great Numbers of Perſons of different Degrees and Qualities have concerned themſelves, and acted, and have joined themſelves with profeſſed Papiſts; uniting their Endeavours to accompliſh and execute the aforeſaid wicked and traiterous Deſigns:

And whereas it pleaſed Almighty God, in his good Providence, and, in his great Mercy and Goodneſs to theſe Nations, to crown the unwearied Endeavours of his late Majeſty King William the Third, of ever-glorious Memory, by making him the Inſtrument to procure the Settlement of the Crown of theſe Realms in the illuſtrious Houſe of Hanover, as the only Means, under God, to preſerve our Religion, Laws, and Liberties, and to ſecure the Proteſtant Intereſt of Europe; ſince which happy Eſtabliſhment, the ſaid Conſpirators have been indefatigable in their Endeavours to deſtroy the ſame, and to make Way for the vain and groundleſs Hopes of a ſpurious Impoſtor, and Popiſh Pretender to the Imperial Crown of theſe Realms:

And, to accompliſh theſe Ends, the moſt immoral, irreligious, and unchriſtian-like, Methods have been taken; but more particularly in the laſt Years of the Reign of the late Queen Anne; during which time, all imaginable Endeavours were uſed, by the ſaid Conſpirators, to prejudice the Minds of the Subjects of this Realm againſt the Legality and Juſtice of the ſaid Settlement of the Crown; and, for that Purpoſe, the holy Scriptures were wreſted, and the moſt wholſome Doctrines of the Church of England perverted and abuſed, by Men in holy Orders, in the moſt publick and ſcandalous manner, in order to condemn the Juſtice of the late happy Revolution; and thereby to ſap and undermine the Foundation of the ſaid happy Eſtabliſhment; and the moſt notorious Inſtruments of theſe wicked Purpoſes were countenanced by particular Marks of publick Favour and Diſtinction; falſe and dangerous Notions of a ſole hereditary Right to the Imperial Crown of theſe Realms were propagated, and encouraged, by Perſons in the higheſt Truſt and Employments, contrary to the ancient, undoubted, and eſtabliſhed, Laws of theſe Kingdoms; Jeſuitical and ſcandalous Diſtinctions were invented, and publickly inculcated, to enervate the Force and Obligation of thoſe Oaths which have been contrived, in the plaineſt and ſtrongeſt Terms, by the Wiſdom of Parliament, for the Security of the ſaid Eſtabliſhment; and, to conceal their Deſigns, and thereby the better to enable them to carry on the ſame, great Numbers of the ſaid Conſpirators, of all Ranks and Conditions, pretending a Zeal for the Proteſtant Succeſſion, openly and voluntarily took the ſaid Oaths; groundleſs Fears of the Danger of the Church of England were fomented throughout theſe Kingdoms, to diſorder the Minds of well-diſpoſed Proteſtants:

By all which, and many other ſuch-like, ungodly Practices of the ſaid Conſpirators, the moſt cauſeleſs and dangerous Jealouſies and Diſſatisfactions were created in the Minds of the good People of this Kingdom; and great Numbers of well-meaning, but deluded, Proteſtants, were much diſquieted; but, nevertheleſs, theſe diſhoneſt Methods were purſued by the ſaid Conſpirators with indefatigable Induſtry, as the only Means to weaken the Foundations of the ſaid happy Eſtabliſhment:

And whereas the Diſſolution of the late glorious Confederacy againſt France, and the Loſs of the Balance of Power in Europe, were further Steps neceſſary to complete the Deſigns of the ſaid Conſpirators; and, the ſame being effected by the late ignominious Peace with France, the French King was rendered formidable, and the Proteſtant Succeſſion was thereby brought into the moſt imminent Danger; and, by theſe and other pernicious Meaſures, the Deſtruction, ſo long intended by the ſaid Conſpirators for theſe poor Nations, ſeemed near at hand:

At which time, and under which moſt deplorable Circumſtances, it pleaſed Almighty God, in his infinite Wiſdom, to call to himſelf the late Queen Anne; and, by a Concurrence of many moſt wonderful Providences, to give a quiet and peaceable Acceſſion to his preſent moſt gracious Majeſty to the Throne of his Anceſtors; to which he was received with one full Voice and Conſent of Tongue and Heart, and the united Joy and Acclamation of every good Subject, and good Proteſtant, as their only lawful and rightful Liege Lord: And although, from the Moment his Majeſty aſcended the Throne to this Day, his Reign has been one Series of Wiſdom, Juſtice, and Clemency; his Labours conſtant, unwearied, and ſucceſsful, to retrieve the Honour and Reputation of theſe Nations, to re-eſtabliſh the Trade, and recover the Wealth, of his Kingdoms; and although all imaginable Encouragement has been given to the Church of England, and all Tenderneſs ſhewn even to his Popiſh Subjects; and his conſtant Care has been to procure the univerſal Good of his People; nevertheleſs, the ſaid Conſpirators have, by the moſt vile and impious Methods, renewed their Endeavours to throw theſe Kingdoms into the utmoſt Confuſion, and to entail endleſs Miſeries on us, and our Poſterities: For theſe Ends, many of the above-mentioned moſt wicked and dangerous Practices have been repeated, with the utmoſt Induſtry and Inveteracy, to delude, diſorder, and corrupt, the Minds of his Majeſty's good Subjects; the moſt groundleſs Jealouſies have been fomented againſt his wiſe and happy Adminiſtration; and, in many Parts of his Kingdoms, the moſt unnatural, unexampled, Riots and Tumults, by the ſecret and malicious Endeavours of the ſaid Conſpirators, have been procured, ſtirred up, and encouraged, againſt his peaceable Proteſtant Subjects, under falſe Pretences of Zeal for the Church of England; and thereby more effectually to delude his good Subjects, and ſeduce them from their Allegiance, and prepare them for an open Rebellion:

And the ſaid Conſpirators having, at length, reſolved to deprive theſe Nations of the invaluable Bleſſings which they now enjoy, under the wiſe and gentle Reign of his preſent preſent moſt gracious Majeſty King George, and of the certain Proſpect of Happineſs, which they have for their Poſterity, in a Succeſſion of Princes derived from himſelf, did contrive, confederate, and reſolve, to put their moſt malicious, wicked, and traiterous, Deſigns into immediate Execution: For which Purpoſe, James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, William Earl of Nithiſdale, George Earl of Winton, Robert Earl of Carnwath, William Viſcount Kenmure, and William Lord Nairn, together with Thomas Forſter junior, the Lord Charles Murray, Edward Howard, Thomas Errington, John Clavering, William Shaftoe, Sir Francis Anderton, Ralph Standiſh, Richard Townley, Thomas Butler, Thomas Walton, Gabriel Heſket, Richard Gaſcoigne, and divers other Perſons, as falſe Traitors to his preſent moſt Sacred Majeſty King George, the only lawful and undoubted Sovereign of theſe Kingdoms, having withdrawn their Allegiance, and cordial Love, and true and due Obedience, which they, as good and faithful Subjects, owed to his ſaid Majeſty, did, in or about the Months of September, October, or November, laſt, moſt wickedly, maliciouſly, falſly, and traiterouſly, imagine and compaſs the Death of his ſaid moſt Sacred Majeſty:

And, for the accompliſhing and executing their ſaid traiterous Purpoſe, they the ſaid James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, William Earl of Nithiſdale, Geo. Earl of Winton, Robert Earl of Carnwath, William Viſcount Kenmure, and Wm. Lord Nairn, did, in or about the ſaid Months, or ſome of them, and at divers other Days and Times, and in divers Places within this Kingdom, wickedly and traiterouſly agree, confederate, conſpire, and reſolve, together with many other evil-diſpoſed Perſons, to raiſe, excite, and levy, within the Counties of Teviotdale, Northumberland, Cumberland, and the County Palatine of Lancaſter, and elſewhere within this Kingdom, a moſt cruel, bloody, and deſtructive, War againſt his Majeſty, in order to depoſe and murder his Sacred Majeſty, and to deprive him of his Royal State, Crown, and Dignity:

And the ſaid James Earl of Derwentwater, Wm. Lord Widdrington, Wm. Earl of Nithiſdale, George Earl of Winton, Robert Earl of Carnwath, Wm. Viſcount Kenmure, and Wm. Lord Nairn, Conſpirators, their Complices and Confederates, in or about the Months aforeſaid, in the Counties aforeſaid, or ſome of them, did gather together great Numbers of his Majeſty's Subjects; and, with them, did aſſemble in a warlike and traiterous manner, in order to raiſe Tumults and Rebellions within this Kingdom; and, having procured great Quantities of Arms, Ammunition, and warlike Inſtruments, at the Times and Places aforeſaid, or ſome of them, did form and compoſe, or did aſſiſt in the forming and compoſing, an Army of Men, conſiſting of his Majeſty's Liege Subjects, in order to wage War againſt his ſaid Majeſty, for and in behalf, and in favour, of the ſaid Pretender to the Crown of theſe Realms: And the ſaid laſt-mentioned Conſpirators, their Accomplices and Confederates, at the Time and Times and Places aforeſaid, and at divers other Times and Places within this Kingdom, did maliciouſly and traiterouſly make, levy, and raiſe, War and Rebellion againſt his moſt Sacred Majeſty; and, in a warlike and hoſtile manner, did march through, and invade, ſeveral Parts of this Kingdom; and did unlawfully take and ſeize the Horſes, and other the Goods and Chattels, of many of the peaceable and good Subjects of his Majeſty; and, in other Places, did take and ſeize from his Majeſty's faithful Subjects Guns, and other warlike Inſtruments, for the carrying on their traiterous Purpoſes:

And the ſaid laſt-mentioned Conſpirators, their Accomplices and Confederates, during their March and Invaſion aforeſaid, in open Defiance of his moſt Sacred Majeſty's juſt and undoubted Title to the Imperial Crown of theſe Realms, did wickedly and traiterouſly cauſe and procure the ſaid Pretender to be proclaimed, in the moſt publick and ſolemn manner, as King of theſe Realms; and in ſeveral Places in the Counties aforeſaid, or ſome of them, did unlawfully take and ſeize from his Majeſty's Officers of the Revenue the publick Money, for the Uſe and Service of the ſaid Pretender:

And though many of the ſaid Conſpirators are avowed Profeſſors of the Popiſh Religion; yet, the more effectually to cover and diſguiſe their moſt wicked and traiterous Deſigns, and to delude his Majeſty's Subjects, they did prevail on, and procure, ſeveral Men in holy Orders, Miniſters of the Church of England, and who had before that time abjured the ſaid Pretender, to accompany, countenance, and abet, the ſaid moſt traiterous Enterprize; and, in ſeveral Places in the Counties aforeſaid, where the ſaid Conſpirators, their Accomplices and Confederates, then were, to pray for the ſaid Pretender in the publick Churches, as King of theſe Realms:

And the ſaid laſt-mentioned Conſpirators, their Accomplices and Confederates, did, on or about the 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, or 13th, of November laſt, traiterouſly ſeize and poſſeſs themſelves of the Town of Preſton, in the County Palatine of Lancaſter, againſt his Majeſty; and did then and there, in a warlike and hoſtile manner, levy War, oppoſe, engage, and fight againſt his Majeſty's Forces; and did then and there cauſe and procure a miſerable and horrid Slaughter and Murder of many of his Majeſty's faithful Subjects:

All which Treaſons and Crimes above-mentioned were contrived, committed, perpetrated, acted, and done, by the ſaid James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, Wm. Earl of Nithiſdale, George Earl of Wintoun, Robert Earl of Carnwath, William Viſcount Kenmure, Wm. Lord Nairn, and other the Conſpirators aforeſaid, againſt our Sovereign Lord the King, his Crown, and Dignity, and againſt the Laws and Statutes of this Kingdom:

Of all which Treaſons and Crimes, the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled, do, in the Name of themſelves, and of all the Commons of Great Britain, impeach the ſaid James Earl of Derwentwater, Wm. Lord Widdrington, Wm. Earl of Nithiſdale, George Earl of Wintoun, Robert Earl of Carnwath, Wm. Viſcount Kenmure, Wm. Lord Nairn, and every of them.

Ordered, That the ſaid Articles be read a Second time, Paragraph by Paragraph.

And the Firſt Paragraph being read a Second time;

PRAYERS.

MR. Lechmere reported, That he did, Yeſterday, carry to the Lords, and leave with their Lordſhips, the ingroſſed Articles of Impeachment againſt James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, William Earl of Nithiſdale, George Earl of Winton, Robert Earl of Carnwath, William Viſcount Kenmure, and William Lord Nairn.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Berealſton, in the County of Devon, in the room of Laurence Carter Eſquire; who, ſince his Election for the ſaid Borough, hath accepted the Office of One of his Majeſty's Counſel learned in the Law.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for continuing the Act of this preſent Seſſion of Parliament, intituled, An Act to impower his Majeſty to ſecure and detain ſuch Perſons as his Majeſty ſhall ſuſpect are conſpiring againſt his Perſon and Government: And that Mr. Lechmere, Lord Coningsby, and Mr. Hampden, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Mr. Edgcomb reported from the Committee appointed, Yeſterday, to draw up an Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty, That they had drawn up an Addreſs accordingly; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament aſſembled, return your Majeſty our unfeigned Thanks for your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne.

We beg Leave moſt heartily to congratulate your Majeſty upon the Succeſs that has attended your Arms: And it is with the greateſt Satisfaction we obſerve, that the juſt and neceſſary Meaſures, taken for ſtrengthening your Majeſty's Hands, have had ſo good an Effect in preventing Inſurrections in ſeveral Parts of the Kingdom.

The wiſe and ſeaſonable Proviſion, which your Majeſty has made, both at home, and from abroad, for the Safety of the Nation; your Goodneſs in giving all ſuch Eſtates as ſhall be forfeited by this Rebellion in Eaſe of your People; and the tender Regard and Concern which you have been pleaſed to expreſs for their Sufferings; call for all the Returns of Duty, Zeal, and Affection, which faithful and loyal Subjects can owe, or pay, to the beſt of Kings.

This Rebellion, for which not the leaſt Colour of Provocation has been given, as it ought very juſtly to be the Object of your Majeſty's Contempt; ſo it raiſes in your truly loyal Commons the higheſt Reſentment and Indignation againſt thoſe ungrateful deſperate Rebels, whoſe pernicious Principles, private Diſcontents, and Diſappointments, have engaged them to involve their Country in Blood and Confuſion.

We look with Pity upon thoſe unhappy deluded People, who, by falſe Pretences, and malicious Inſinuations, have been betrayed into their own Deſtruction: But we deteſt, and will do our utmoſt to confound, the Devices of thoſe, who, profeſſing an unlimited Obedience, have ſtirred up a Rebellion againſt your Majeſty; and, under the Diſguiſe of the Danger of the Church, are endeavouring to introduce Popery: And when we reflect, that nothing leſs than our holy Religion, your Majeſty's Crown, and the Liberties of our Country, are concerned in the Event of this wicked Undertaking, we cannot but with Aſtoniſhment obſerve the Indifference of ſome in this great and important Juncture.

But

But your faithful Commons, with Hearts full of a due Senſe of the invaluable Bleſſings which they enjoy under your Majeſty's moſt auſpicious Government, offer their Lives and Fortunes in Defence of your undoubted Title to the Crown, in Support of the Proteſtant Religion, and in Maintenance of the Liberty and Property of the Subject; which, as they were wonderfully preſerved to us by your Majeſty's happy Acceſſion to the Throne, can only be ſecured to Poſterity by the Eye of Heaven watching over, and guarding, your Sacred Perſon, and your Royal Family.

And, that this Nation may long continue to be a Proteſtant and a free People, your moſt dutiful and loyal Commons do moſt readily promiſe to grant ſuch early and effectual Supplies, as may enable your Majeſty to put an End to this unnatural Rebellion; to confound, and extinguiſh for ever, all Hopes of the Pretender, his open and ſecret Abettors; and ſecure the future Peace and Tranquillity of your Kingdoms; being well aſſured, that your good People will think no Burden grievous, that is neceſſary for the Preſervation of all that is dear and valuable to them.

But your Majeſty's Care and Concern for the publick Welfare has not been confined to your own Kingdoms; and however your Enemies might flatter themſelves, that theſe inteſtine Commotions would leſſen the Influence of Great Britain in foreign Parts, your Commons with Admiration ſee, and with Gratitude acknowlege, the Effect of your Wiſdom, which has been able to ſurmount theſe Difficulties, in ſettling the Barrier-Treaty for the Netherlands between the Emperor and the States-General, under your Majeſty's Guaranty; in having made ſo great a Progreſs towards renewing all former Alliances between Great Britain and the States-General; and particularly in delivering that valuable Branch of our Commerce with Spain from thoſe grievous Impoſitions and Hardſhips, to which it was ſubjected by the Treachery of the late Mal-adminiſtration.

And as the ſame fatal and pernicious Counſels have been the Cauſe and Source of all the Miſchiefs and Calamities that muſt attend this unnatural Rebellion; and as your faithful Commons, deſirous to teſtify their Zeal and Duty to your Majeſty, and their Abhorrence of this treaſonable Enterprize, have already exerted themſelves in endeavouring to bring to ſpeedy and exemplary Juſtice the open and declared Inſtruments of this Rebellion; they think themſelves obliged, in Juſtice to their injured Country, to continue, in the moſt vigorous and impartial manner, to proſecute the Authors of thoſe evil and deſtructive Counſels, which have drawn down theſe Miſeries upon the Nation.

The ſaid Addreſs being read a Second time;

An Amendment was propoſed to be made therein, by inſerting, in the 2d Paragraph, after the Word "obſerve," theſe Words, "that the Officers and Soldiers of the Army have, by a brave and faithful Diſcharge of their Duty, deſerved your Majeſty's Approbation; and:"

And the ſaid Amendment was, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Reſolved, That this Houſe do agree with the Committee to the ſaid Addreſs, ſo amended, to be preſented to his Majeſty:

And the ſame is as followeth;

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Had Reaſon to believe, when I ſpoke laſt to you, that the Pretender was landed in Scotland: The Accounts I have received ſince do put it beyond all Doubt, that he is heading the Rebellion there, and does aſſume the Stile and Title of King of theſe Realms: His Adherents do likewiſe confidently affirm, That Aſſurances are given them of Support from abroad: This Parliament hath, on all Occaſions, expreſſed ſo much Duty to me, and ſo true a Regard for the Religious and Civil Rights of my People, that I am perſuaded this daring Preſumption of our Enemies will heighten your juſt Indignation againſt them, and beget ſuch further Reſolutions, as, with the Bleſſing of God, will enable me to defeat their Attempts.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

The moſt effectual Way to put a ſpeedy End to theſe Troubles will be, to make ſuch a Proviſion as may diſcourage any foreign Power from aſſiſting the Rebels: I do therefore hope, that every ſincere Proteſtant, and true Briton, will look upon the extraordinary Expence, which a timely Preparation may require, to be the beſt Husbandry; ſince it will, in all human Probability, prevent that Deſolation, and thoſe Calamities, which would unavoidably enſue, if the Rebellion ſhould be ſuffered to ſpread, and be ſupported by Popiſh Forces from abroad.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The World muſt be convinced, by all you have already done, that you have nothing but the Honour and Intereſt of your Country at heart: And, for my own Part, I rely intirely upon you; and doubt not, but you will take ſuch Reſolutions, at this Juncture, as will be moſt for the preſent Safety, and future Eaſe, of my People.

Reſolved, Nemine contradicente, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, to return the Thanks of this Houſe for his moſt gracious Speech from the Throne; and for his great Goodneſs in communicating thoſe Advices, which do ſo highly concern the Safety of theſe Kingdoms: That this Houſe has a grateful Senſe of his Majeſty's Care and Tenderneſs for his People on all Occaſions; and from the Experience they have of the happy Effects of the Confidence which this Houſe has already repoſed in his Majeſty's Wiſdom, for making ſuch Augmentation of Troops, as ſhould be neceſſary for the common Safety; by the juſt and prudent Diſtribution whereof, the Deſigns of our Enemies have been intirely fruſtrated in many Parts of this Kingdom, and the Peace and Tranquillity of theſe Nations, in a great meaſure, preſerved: That the Indignation of this Houſe is juſtly heightened at the daring Preſumption of the Enemies of this Kingdom: That this Houſe is reſolved to ſpare no Expence, and decline no Hazard, for the Preſervation of his Majeſty's Sacred Perſon, and Government; whereon all that is valuable to theſe Nations, under God, intirely depends; and doth moſt humbly beſeech his Majeſty, That he will be graciouſly pleaſed to give Directions, from time to time, for ſuch farther Augmentations of Troops, as the Exigency of Affairs ſhall render neceſſary; and to aſſure his Majeſty, That this Houſe will grant ſuch Supplies, as ſhall be ſufficient not only to maintain ſuch additional Forces, and to defeat all the Attempts of his Enemies both at home and abroad, and to prevent thoſe Calamities which muſt enſue, if this unnatural Rebellion ſhould be ſuffered to ſpread; but alſo to enable his Majeſty, with the Bleſſing of God, effectually to ſhew his Reſentment againſt any Power that ſhall be ſo audacious to diſturb the Peace of his Majeſty's Reign.

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to draw up an Addreſs, upon the ſaid Reſolution:

And it is referred to Mr. Comptroller, Mr. Moleſworth, Mr. Lechmere, Mr. Wallop, Mr. Smith, Mr. Nevill, Mr. Secretary Stanhope, General Erle, Lord Wm. Powlet, Mr. Baylie, Lord Coningsby, Mr. North, Mr. Newport, Mr. Chetwynd, Sir Gilbert Heathcote, Sir Joſeph Jekyll, Mr. Hungerford, Lord Stanhope, Lord Finch, Sir Wm. Turner, Sir Richard Farington, Mr. Recorder, Sir Wm. St. Quintin: And they are to meet this Afternoon at Five a Clock, in the Speaker's Chamber.

Ordered, That his Majeſty's Speech be referred to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for preventing Mutiny and Deſertion; and for the better Payment of the Army, and their Quarters: And that Mr. Pulteney, Mr. Nevill, and Mr. Cater, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Monday Morning next, demand Judgment againſt James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, William Earl of Nithiſdale, Robert Earl of Carnwath, William Viſcount Kenmure, and William Lord Nairn.

Ordered, That a Meſſage be ſent to the Lords, That the Commons, with their Speaker, do intend, immediately, to come to the Houſe of Lords, to demand Judgment againſt James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, William Earl of Nithiſdale, Robert Earl of Carnwath, William Viſcount Kenmure, and William Lord Nairn; and therefore deſire, that the Painted Chamber, and Paſſages to the Houſe of Lords, may be cleared.

Ordered, That the Lord Stanhope do carry the ſaid Meſſage to the Lords.

The Lord Stanhope reported, That he had delivered the ſaid Meſſage to the Lords; and that the Lords gave Anſwer, That they would give Orders, that the Painted Chamber, and the Paſſages to their Houſe, ſhould be cleared.

Mr. Speaker, with the Houſe, went to the Lords Houſe.

And, being returned;

Mr. Speaker reported, That the Houſe, with Mr. Speaker, and the Mace, had been at the Bar of the Houſe of Lords; where the Speaker, in the Name of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled, and of all the Commons of Great Britain, demanded Judgment of their Lordſhips againſt James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, William Earl of Nithiſdale, Robert Earl of Carnwath, Wm. Viſcount Kenmure, and William Lord Nairn, impeached by the Commons of High Treaſon; and of which they had confeſſed themſelves guilty.

Mr. Lechmere reported from the Committee appointed to draw up an Addreſs, upon the Reſolution of Saturday laſt, to be preſented to his Majeſty, That they had drawn up an Addreſs accordingly; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place; and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament aſſembled, do, with all Humility, return our unfeigned Thanks for your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne; and for your great Goodneſs in communicating to us thoſe important Advices, which ſo highly concern the immediate Safety of your Kingdoms.

We can never ſufficiently expreſs our grateful Senſe of your Majeſty's conſtant Care and Tenderneſs for your People, on every Occaſion, ſince your Acceſſion to the Throne of your Anceſtors: But it is with the utmoſt Satisfaction of Heart, that we now experience the happy Effects of that juſt Confidence, which your loyal and affectionate Commons have already repoſed in your great Wiſdom, for making ſuch Augmentation of Troops as your Majeſty ſhould find neceſſary for our common Safety:

And though the Growth of this Rebellion has already neceſſitated an Increaſe of Forces; yet we muſt ever acknowlege your wiſe and tender Concern for your People, in having made Proviſion for our Defence, in ſuch manner, at this time of common Danger, as muſt convince the World, that it is with the utmoſt Reluctancy to your Majeſty that any farther Burdens are brought on your Subjects; and that your Majeſty has nothing at heart but the Security and Welfare of your People.

Your dutiful Commons do likewiſe acknowlege, with the higheſt Gratitude to your Majeſty, that, to the prudent Diſpoſition of your Forces, not only the Deſigns of our Enemies to have raiſed Inſurrections in many Parts of the Kingdom have been intirely fruſtrated, and the Peace and Tranquillity of theſe Nations thereby, in a great meaſure, preſerved; but to that we owe, under God, thoſe ſignal Succeſſes, which have checked the Progreſs of the Rebellion, and which have given us, your faithful Commons, ſo early and juſt an Occaſion to exert ourſelves, in the moſt vigorous and effectual manner, for bringing ſome of the chief Actors in it to condign Puniſhment.

We are aſtoniſhed at the daring Preſumption of the Pretender, and his Adherents; and do moſt ſincerely and heartily aſſure your Majeſty, that our Indignation is thereby heightened againſt them; and that we cannot ſo far forget our Duty and Affection to your Majeſty, and our Concern for our Religion and Liberties, as not to take, at this critical Juncture, ſuch farther Reſolutions as will effectually enable your Majeſty, with the Bleſſing of God, to defeat their Deſigns.

Your faithful Commons, being therefore firmly and unalterably reſolved to ſpare no Expence, and to decline no Hazard, for the Support of your Majeſty's Title, and Government, whereon all that is dear and valuable to us, and our Poſterities, under God, intirely depends; and being moſt earneſtly deſirous to give all imaginable Proofs of our conſtant and unſhaken Zeal and Affection for your Sacred Perſon; and being thoroughly convinced, that we cannot more effectually conſult our own Security, than by teſtifying our intire Confidence in your Majeſty's known Juſtice, Wiſdom, and Goodneſs; do moſt humbly beſeech your Majeſty, That you will be graciouſly pleaſed to give Directions, from time to time, for ſuch further Augmentation of Troops, as the Exigency of Affairs ſhall render neceſſary:

And we do farther aſſure your Majeſty, That we will grant ſuch Supplies as ſhall be ſufficient, not only to maintain ſuch additional Forces, and to defeat all the Attempts of your Enemies both at home and abroad, and to prevent thoſe Calamities which muſt enſue, if this unnatural Rebellion ſhould be ſuffered to ſpread; but alſo to enable your Majeſty, with the Bleſſing of God, effectually to ſhew your Reſentment againſt any foreign Power that ſhall preſume, directly or indirectly, to abet or ſupport the Pretender, or his Adherents.

The ſaid Addreſs being read a Second time;

Reſolved, Nemine contradicente, That the Houſe do agree with the Committee in the ſaid Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty.

Reſolved, Nemine contradicente, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, That he will be graciouſly pleaſed to conſent, that the Two Third-parts of the Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments, Leaſes, and Farms, of all and every Perſon and Perſons, who is, are, or ſhall be, a Popiſh Recuſant, or Popiſh Recuſants, convict, which, by any the Laws and Statutes of this Realm now in Force, are or may be ſeized or taken into his Majeſty's Hands for ſuch Recuſancy, and the Rents, Iſſues, and Profits thereof, may be raiſed, levied, and applied, towards the Supply granted to his Majeſty for ſuppreſſing the preſent unnatural Rebellion, and re-eſtabliſhing the Peace and Tranquillity of this Kingdom.

And, being returned;

A Meſſage from the Lords, by Mr. Browning and Mr. Lovibond:

Mr. Speaker,

The Lords have commanded us to acquaint this Houſe, That George Earl of Winton hath put in his Anſwer to the Articles of Impeachment of High Treaſon exhibited againſt him by this Houſe; and, having thereby pleaded Not Guilty, and put himſelf upon his Tryal, their Lordſhips have likewiſe commanded them to leave a true Copy of the ſaid Anſwer with this Houſe.

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

Ordered, That the ſaid Anſwer be now read.

The ſaid Anſwer was read accordingly; and is as follows; viz.

The Anſwer of George Earl of Winton to the Articles of Impeachment exhibited againſt him by the Honourable Houſe of Commons for High Treaſon, and other High Crimes and Miſdemeanors.

THE ſaid Earl, ſaving to himſelf all Benefit of Exception to the Incertainties and Inſufficiencies in the ſaid Articles of Impeachment contained, and alſo all Advantages and Privileges belonging to him as a Peer of Great Britain; for Anſwer to the ſaid Articles ſays, That he cannot but eſteem it the greateſt Addition to his Afflictions, to fall under the Diſpleaſure of the Honourable Houſe of Commons: Yet as his Innocence, under theſe Misfortunes, is his Support; ſo he hopes it will be his Security: He, being taken with Perſons that were in Arms againſt the Government, might reaſonably be preſumed to be equally guilty, and to be juſtly joined with them in the ſame Impeachment: But, when it ſhall appear how much the Circumſtances of his Caſe differ from others, he does not doubt but your Lordſhips great Juſtice will diſtinguiſh him in Judgment; and that it will be as pleaſing to that Honourable Body, who are his Accuſers, to have an innocent Man acquitted, as one that is guilty condemned: He begs Leave to take Notice, That he is deſcended from a very ancient noble Family, in whoſe Blood the Streams of Loyalty were always pure, never corrupted or polluted with Treaſon or Sedition; and he never degenerated ſo much from his loyal Anceſtors, as to form or carry on any Deſign to ſubvert or alter the Conſtitution of theſe Kingdoms; but, for the Preſervation of it, was, upon all Occaſions, ready to ſacrifice his Fortune, and even his Life: He was ſo cautious to avoid giving Occaſion to be ſuſpected by the Government, that, about Eight Years ago, upon his Return from his Travels, he withdrew from all Converſation, and confined himſelf to his Houſe; never correſponded, by Letter, with any Perſon whatſoever; yet, to his great Misfortune, he could not be quiet or ſafe in his cloſeſt Retirement; for many Perſons, both Officers, and others, of the Militia of the Shire of Lothian, under the ſpecious Pretence of ſerving the Government, but, in Reality, actuated by private Pique and Revenge, ſeveral times, contrary to Law, forcibly entered, by Night, into his Dwelling-houſe, called Seaton Palace, rifled it, turned his Servants out of Doors, and carried away the Proviſions of his Family; the moſt ſacred Places did not eſcape their Fury and Reſentment; they broke into his Chapel; defaced the Monuments of his Anceſtors; took up the Stones of their Sepulchres; thruſt Irons through their Bodies; and treated them in a moſt barbarous, inhumane, and unchriſtian-like manner; Cannon and Mortars were brought to demoliſh his Houſe; and, ſeveral Troops of Dragoons having gotten the Poſſeſſion thereof, ſome of them kept Guard there; and, when they left it, many of the Militia entered, and kept Poſſeſſion thereof, till they were driven from thence by the Highlanders; by whom he was likewiſe very ill treated; he being the only Perſon that was plundered by them: By theſe, and many other Severities, the ſaid Earl was forced to leave his Houſe, and ſeek for Shelter among his Tenants and Neighbours, where he was purſued from Houſe to Houſe; and at laſt, very unfortunately, driven into the Company of ſome of the Gentlemen named in the Impeachment: He preſumes to affirm to your Lordſhips, that he did not join them with a traiterous or rebellious Deſign, but only with an Intention to preſerve himſelf from being inſulted, and aſſaſſinated; for he had been once before taken up, without any Warrant or Authority; and, having got from the Perſons in whoſe Cuſtody he was, they threatened, if they

they could retake him, to murder him; and had before embrued their Hands in the Blood of the Son of a neighbouring Gentleman: He never intended to have left his own Country; and, when ſome Gentlemen mentioned coming into England, he oppoſed it: He was far from aſſiſting, or encouraging, them in their Undertakings: He was not admitted into their Secrets, nor informed of their Deſigns; and was ſo much a Stranger to their Proceedings, that, when they marched towards Northumberland, he was told, they were going along the Skirts of the Hills in Scotland, to avoid General Carpenter; but afterwards diſcovered they were in England, when it was too late; and to return alone into Scotland was too hazardous; which he did not attempt, becauſe he had Reaſon to believe they would ſoon go back to Scotland.

Although he was conſtrained to keep the other Lords and Gentlemen Company, yet he never joined with them in any Act of Hoſtility; nor aſſiſted in taking any of the publick Money, or in ſeizing any Guns, or other warlike Inſtruments; or countenanced or abetted them therein: He did not at Preſton, or elſewhere, fire a Piſtol, offer Violence to any Perſon whatſoever, or, in any other manner, fight againſt, or reſiſt, his Majeſty's Forces; but, with the reſt, ſurrendered himſelf to General Wills.

The Honour of a Peer is more valuable than Life itſelf; and therefore he ought to be ſo much the more cautious, that it be not ſtained with the leaſt Imputation of Guilt. The ſaid Earl knows his Innocence; and hopes your Lordſhips will excuſe him, if, in Juſtice to himſelf, and for the Preſervation of his Honour, he does not take upon him the Guilt of Crimes, the very Thoughts of which were always Strangers to his Breaſt: And therefore, in Anſwer to the Impeachment, he ſays, That he is not guilty of the Treaſon, and other the Crimes and Miſdemeanors, mentioned in the ſaid Articles, or any of them, in Manner and Form as is therein alleged: And, for his Tryal, puts himſelf on your Lordſhips, who are his Peers; and begs your Lordſhips to believe, that this Anſwer proceeds from the Senſe he has of the Truth of it, and not from Obſtinacy, or any Inclination to give your Lordſhips, and the Honourable Houſe of Commons, any unneceſſary Trouble, or from the leaſt Doubt or Miſtruſt of his Majeſty's Clemency: But if, upon his Tryal, it ſhall appear, that he hath committed any Act, which, in the Rigour of the Law, may be conſtrued to amount to the Crime of High Treaſon, he hopes the Innocence of his Heart, and his Ignorance in the Law, will, by the Power of your Lordſhips Interceſſion, render him an Object of his Majeſty's Mercy; which he, and the reſt, at the time of ſurrendering themſelves, were encouraged, by his Majeſty's Officers, to depend upon. The ſaid Earl ſubmits his Caſe, thus circumſtanced, to your Lordſhips great Wiſdom and Judgment; and humbly prays your Lordſhips favourable Interpretation thereof, not doubting but to make his Innocence appear to your Lordſhips Satisfaction.

Wintoun.

Ordered, That the ſaid Anſwer be referred to the Committee appointed to draw up Articles of Impeachment, and prepare Evidence, againſt James Earl of Derwentwater, William Lord Widdrington, William Earl of Nithiſdale, George Earl of Winton, Robert Earl of Carnwath, William Viſcount Kenmure, and William Lord Nairn.

Ordered, That the Fourteen Gentlemen, named of the ſaid Committee, be declared to be a Committee of Secrecy.

Ordered, That Mr. Sollicitor-General be added to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. Vernon, of Worceſterſhire, be added to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. Recorder of London be added to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. Cowper be added to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That Sir Joſeph Jekyll be added to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. Serjeant Birch be added to the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. Denton be added to the ſaid Committee.

Mr. Speaker reported, That the Houſe did Yeſterday attend his Majeſty with their humble Addreſs: To which his Majeſty was pleaſed to give this moſt gracious Anſwer:

Gentlemen,

I Thank you heartily for this Addreſs. If any thing could add to the good Opinion this Houſe of Commons deſerves from me, it would be the Zeal and Unanimity you have ſhewn upon this Occaſion. You may depend upon my continuing always, as I have hitherto done, to make uſe of the Confidence and Powers you put in me, only for reſtoring and ſecuring the Peace and Quiet of my People.

Mr. Farrer, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom it was referred to conſider of Ways and Means for raiſing the Supply granted to his Majeſty, the Reſolution of the ſaid Committee; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as followeth; viz.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That, towards raiſing the Supply granted to his Majeſty, the Sum of Four Shillings in the Pound, and no more, be raiſed, in the Year 1716, upon all Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, Penſions, Offices, and perſonal Eſtates, in that Part of Great Britain called England, Wales, and Town of Berwick upon Tweed; and that a proportionable Ceſs, according to the 9th Article of the Treaty for the Union, be laid upon that Part of Great Britain called Scotland.

The ſaid Reſolution being read a Second time;

An Amendment was propoſed to be made therein, by leaving out "Four," and, inſtead thereof, to inſert "Three:"

And the Queſtion being put, That the Word "Four" ſtand Part of the ſaid Reſolution;

It was reſolved in the Affirmative.

Reſolved, That the Houſe do agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, That, towards raiſing the Supply granted to his Majeſty, the Sum of Four Shillings in the Pound, and no more, be raiſed, in the Year 1716, upon all Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, Penſions, Offices, and perſonal Eſtates, in that Part of Great Britain called England, Wales, and Town of Berwick upon Tweed; and that a proportionable Ceſs, according to the 9th Article of the Treaty for the Union, be laid upon that Part of Great Britain called Scotland.

Ordered, That a Bill be brought in upon the ſaid Reſolution: And that Mr. Farrer, Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Sollicitor-General, and Mr. Lowndes, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Mr. Lechmere, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill to attaint John Earl of Mar, William Murray Eſquire, commonly called Marquis of Tullibardine, James Earl of Linlithgow, and John Drummond Eſquire, commonly called Lord Drummond, of High Treaſon, was committed, the Amendments they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame were once read throughout; and then a Second time, one by one; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, with ſome Amendments, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the Bill, with the Amendments, be ingroſſed.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Friday next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of the Supply granted to his Majeſty.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Jovis, 26° die Januarii;

Ordered, That the ſaid Account and Eſtimate do lie upon the Table, to be peruſed by the Members of the Houſe.

Mr. Lechmere reported from the Committee of Secrecy, to whom the Anſwer of George Earl of Winton was referred, That they had conſidered the Anſwer of the ſaid Earl to the Articles of Impeachment of High Treaſon exhibited by this Houſe againſt him; and that they had alſo conſidered of a Replication to be made to the ſaid Anſwer; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place; and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and the Replication agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That Mr. Hampden do go up to the Bar of the Houſe of Lords, and make a Replication to the Anſwer of the Earl of Winton, to the Effect following; viz.

My Lords,

THE Commons have conſidered the Anſwer of George Earl of Winton to the Impeachment exhibited againſt him by the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, aſſembled in Parliament; and do aver their Charge againſt the ſaid George Earl of Winton for High Treaſon to be true; and that the ſaid Earl of Winton is guilty of the High Treaſon, in ſuch manner as he ſtands impeached: And that the Commons will be ready to prove their Charge againſt him, at ſuch convenient time as ſhall be appointed for that Purpoſe.

Mr. Hampden reported, That he had, at the Bar of the Houſe of Lords, made the Replication, directed by the Houſe, to the Anſwer of George Earl of Winton.

The Anſwer of the Earl of Strafford to the Articles of Impeachment for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors exhibited againſt him by this Houſe, was, according to Order, read; and is as follows; viz.

The Anſwer of Thomas Earl of Strafford to the Articles exhibited by the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled, in the Name of themſelves, and of all the Commons of Great Britain, in Maintenance of the Impeachment againſt him for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors ſuppoſed to have been by him committed.

THE ſaid Earl, ſaving to himſelf all Advantages of Exception to the ſaid Articles for the Uncertainty and Inſufficiency thereof, and of not being prejudiced by any Words, or Want of Form, in this his Anſwer; and alſo ſaving to himſelf all Rights and Privileges belonging to him as One of the Peers of this Realm; in Anſwer to the ſaid Articles, admits, That divers Treaties and Alliances were entered into by the Crown of Great Britain with the ſeveral Potentates mentioned in the Preamble to the ſaid Articles; but, for more Certainty as to the Contents thereof, the ſaid Earl refers to the ſaid Treaties themſelves; and, with the utmoſt Deference to the Memory of his late Royal Maſter King William the Third, doth acknowlege the great Wiſdom of that glorious Prince, who, by the Grand Alliance, formed a noble Deſign of ſettling a due Balance of Power in Europe; but humbly begs Leave to obſerve, That

That the Affront offered by France, in acknowleging the Pretender King of Great Britain, though juſtly mentioned by her late Majeſty Queen Anne, of ever-bleſſed Memory, as one Cauſe of the War, which, in May 1702, was by her declared againſt France and Spain, could not be any Inducement to the forming the Grand Alliance, as is ſuggeſted in the Preamble to the ſaid Articles; being ſubſequent to it, as moſt evidently appears; inaſmuch as that Alliance was not only formed, but concluded and ſigned at the Hague, during the Life-time of the late King James the Second: And the ſaid Earl admits, That the Emperor, and the States-General, did alſo, about May 1702, declare War againſt France and Spain; and that other Kings, Princes, and States, of Europe, ſoon after became Parties to the ſaid Confederate War; which having been carried on, for many Years, at a vaſt Expence of Blood and Treaſure, her ſaid late Majeſty, out of her tender Regard for the Good of her People, and from a ſincere and real Deſign to prevent the further Effuſion of Blood, and to eaſe her Subjects from the heavy Burden of Taxes, which they had ſo long endured, did hearken to Overtures of Peace from France, after former Negotiations had been rendered fruitleſs, and give Inſtructions to the then Lord Privy-Seal, now Biſhop of London, and him the ſaid Earl, to treat thereof at Utrecht, in Conjunction with the Miniſters of her Allies, in order to bring the ſame to an happy Concluſion; and, among ſuch Inſtructions, ſeveral Clauſes were interſperſed to the Effect in the ſaid Preamble ſet forth; but, for more Certainty, refers to his original Inſtructions; which, together with all his other Papers relating to his Negotiations in the Low Countries, were taken from him in the Beginning of January laſt, and, he ſuppoſes, may continue in the Hands of One of his Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State: But the ſaid Earl is totally ignorant of any treacherous Correſpondence with the Emiſſaries of France, or of any private or deſtructive Negotiation of Peace ſet on foot with the Intent to weaken, or diſſolve, the Confederacy between her ſaid late Majeſty and her Allies: And, for particular Anſwer to the ſeveral Matters wherewith he ſtands charged in the Firſt Article, the ſaid Earl ſaith, That, having been employed by his late Majeſty King William in the Army, during his whole Reign, and likewiſe in his Court for ſeveral Years next before his Death, and having alſo had the Honour to be ſent as his Majeſty's Miniſter to the King of Pruſſia, he was ſo happy as to reconcile ſome Differences, which had lately ariſen, between thoſe Two Princes; and, upon his Return, received his Royal Maſter's Approbation; her late Majeſty Queen Anne, ſoon after her Acceſſion to the Throne, was pleaſed to command him to leave his Poſt in the Army, and to go again to the ſaid Court of Pruſſia, in the Year 1702, where he had the Character of her Ambaſſador Extraordinary; and continued in that Quality till April 1711; at which time her Majeſty thought fit to appoint him her Ambaſſador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the States-General; and, in June following, her Majeſty was pleaſed to honour him with the Title of One of her Privy-Council; and, about December, in the ſame Year, to appoint him One of her Plenipotentiaries to treat, at Utrecht, with the Miniſters of France, of a general Peace: And the ſaid Earl thought it his Duty not to ſcruple any Danger or Pains for her Service; believing his Zeal therein was the beſt Evidence he could give of his hearty Affection to his Country; and he conſtantly did, with the utmoſt Sincerity, endeavour, according to his Abilities, to purſue the true Ends of his Commiſſion, and Powers; to promote the Honour and Safety of her Majeſty, and her Kingdoms; to anſwer the Engagements ſhe was under to her Allies; and to ſecure the common Liberties of Europe: But he muſt, with the utmoſt Deteſtation and Abhorrence, deny, that he was in the leaſt devoted to the Intereſt or Service of the French King; or that he ever acted in Defiance of any of the ſaid Treaties, or of the Advice of Parliament; or of any Declarations of her Majeſty from the Throne; or of her Aſſurances to the States-General, to act in Concert with them in making Peace, as in making War; or of her Inſtructions to him under her Sign Manual: The ſaid Earl admits, That, as he was a Privy-Counſellor, it was his Duty truly to have adviſed her Majeſty in all Matters treated of in Council, whilſt he was preſent; and had any thing, ſo treated of, appeared to him to have been to the Diſhonour of her Majeſty, or to the Prejudice of her People, the ſaid Earl would not have been wanting to adviſe againſt, and, with all Humility, to oppoſe, the ſame: But, as he was her Majeſty's Ambaſſador and Plenipotentiary, he looked upon himſelf as a miniſterial Officer, whoſe Duty it was to purſue ſuch Inſtructions as he ſhould, from time to time, receive; and ſince he could not doubt, but that all Orders, ſent him by her Majeſty's Directions, had been firſt maturely weighed and digeſted, he humbly apprehends, your Lordſhips will think it had been too great a Preſumption in him, to adviſe againſt, or oppoſe, ſuch Orders, which carried not in themſelves any apparent Illegality, when he knew not the Springs or Reaſons of them; and which, therefore, it became him to believe well warranted, and to have proceeded from juſt and proper Grounds and Motives: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, He was ſo far from adviſing or exhorting, that any private, ſeparate, diſhonourable, or deſtructive, Negotiation of Peace ſhould be continued, and carried on, between the Miniſters of Great Britain and France, without Communication thereof to her Majeſty's Allies, according to their Treaties; or from being inſtrumental in promoting any ſuch Negotiation, as in the ſaid Article is charged; that he did not know, or believe, that any ſuch Negotiation was entered into: And, for a plain Relation of the ſaid Earl's Proceeding in this Affair, he ſaith, That, about May 1711, being then her Majeſty's Ambaſſador and Plenipotentiary to the States-General, he received, from One of her Principal Secretaries of State, a Paper, ſuppoſed to be ſigned by Monſieur Torcy, containing ſome Propoſals for ſetting on foot a Negotiation of Peace, with Orders to communicate the ſame to the Penſionary of Holland, that his Sentiments might be known thereupon; and to aſſure that Miniſter, and others of that Republick, that the Queen was reſolved, in making Peace, as in makeing War, to act in Concert with the States: In purſuance of which Orders, he the ſaid Earl did immediately communicate the ſaid Propoſals to the Penſionary, and unto Two others of the States-General, who had formerly been employed in the Negotiations at Gertruydenberg, and whom the Penſionary thought the moſt proper to be entruſted with that Matter; and they, having conſidered the ſaid Propoſals, did pray the ſaid Earl to return her Majeſty Thanks, in the Name of the States, for her Confidence in them; declared themſelves weary of the War, and ready to join in any Meaſures her Majeſty ſhould think proper for obtaining a good Peace; and that they hoped her Majeſty would bring the French to explain more particularly the ſeveral Points contained in the abovementioned Propoſals: Of this the ſaid Earl ſent an Account to her Majeſty's Secretary of State; and, ſoon after, received her Commands to repair to England; and, on his Arrival here, acquainted her Majeſty with his Proceedings at the Hague; but being, by her gracious Permiſſion, allowed to follow ſome private Affairs of his own, he was often in the Country, and ſo much engaged, that he did not know of any of the Tranſactions with Monſieur Meſnager, or what was done in relation to the Explications the States had deſired her Majeſty to procure from France, upon the Points of Monſieur Torcy's Propoſal, till, in October following, he received Inſtructions, dated the Firſt of that Month; whereby he was required to return to Holland, and to communicate to the States ſome Propoſitions, which had been ſigned by the ſaid Monſieur Meſnager, the 27th Day of September before, as a Foundation for opening the Conferences of Peace with France; which he ſuppoſes to be the Inſtructions intended by thoſe mentioned in the Preamble to the Articles, as dated the 21ſt Day of October; none of that Date appearing amongſt the Copies of his own Papers he has been permitted to take: But the ſaid Earl never ſaw Monſieur Meſnager till he met him at Utrecht,

Utrecht, in January 171½; nor, during all the time of the ſaid Miniſter's Stay in England, was in the leaſt privy to, or made acquainted with, any Tranſaction between him and any of the Queen's Miniſters: The ſaid Earl, having received his ſaid Inſtructions, took his Journey for Holland; and, on his Arrival there, in purſuance thereof, imparted to the States-General the ſaid Propoſitions, and what had been communicated to him concerning any Tranſactions between Great Britain and France; and, at the ſame time, in further purſuance of his ſaid Inſtructions, declared to them, That if they did not think thoſe Propoſitions a ſufficient Ground to open the Conferences, but were deſirous to carry on the War, her Majeſty was willing to concur with them; but could no longer bear that diſproportionable Burden which had been yearly increaſed on her Subjects; nor that Deficiency her Allies had been guilty of in every Part of the War; and that therefore it was incumbent on them, if the War continued, to furniſh ſuch Quotas of Ships, and Forces, for the future, as they had to that time been wanting in: That this was what her Majeſty thought ſhe might juſtly inſiſt on, that they ſhould comply with her in War, or in Peace; ſince, in the former, ſhe required nothing but what it belonged to them to perform, and what was neceſſary to the Succeſs of their Arms; and ſince, in the latter, ſhe had done, and would continue to do, what was in her Power towards obtaining ſuch a Peace as might be to the Satisfaction of her Allies: Soon after this, the States-General ſent Monſieur Buys to England, as their Plenipotentiary, to confer with her late Majeſty's Miniſters, and inform himſelf of the Circumſtances of Affairs, and make Report thereof to his Maſters; who having continued here ſome time, and tranſmitted to Holland an Account of the Poſture of Affairs, the States-General conſented to open the Conferences for Peace, and to invite the other Allies to ſend their Miniſters to Utrecht, the Place agreed on for that Purpoſe; and, in order thereunto, granted Paſſports for the French Miniſters to repair thither: And the ſaid Earl is informed, that, amongſt other Tranſactions by the ſaid Monſieur Buys, whilſt in England, he ſigned a Treaty with her late Majeſty's Miniſters, who were impowered for that Purpoſe, dated the 18th Day of December 1711, O. S. for the carrying on the War, and the Negotiation of Peace, according to the mutual Engagements of former Treaties between England and Holland; which Treaty was ratified by her ſaid late Majeſty the Day after it was ſigned, and was ſent to Holland by the then Lord Privy-Seal; but the States-General, though their Miniſters were often called upon, never ratified the ſame: And the ſaid Earl admits, That the ſaid Lord Privy-Seal, and himſelf, were appointed to be her Majeſty's Plenipotentiaries at the ſaid Congreſs at Utrecht; and he can, with great Truth, affirm, that he acted, on all Occaſions, with the higheſt and moſt diſintereſted Zeal, for procuring a general Peace, for the mutual Advantage of her Majeſty's Subjects, and Allies, in purſuance of the Powers and Inſtructions received for that Purpoſe; and is firmly perſuaded his Collegue did the ſame: The ſaid Earl ſaith, That every one of the Confederates had their Miniſters at Utrecht, who all agreed in the Method and Manner of proceeding in the ſaid Negotiation; and had frequent Meetings and Conferences, to that End, among themſelves, in order to lay down a general Scheme for their Conduct; and, for the better concerting theſe Meaſures, it was thought fit to have Two Conferences a Week with all the Allies, Two with the Dutch apart, and Two with all the Allies with the French; and, in thoſe with the Dutch and the other Allies, what was to be propoſed on the Part of the Allies to the French was always previouſly ſettled: In the Firſt general Conference with the French Miniſters, they offered either to proceed to the Explanation of the general Points ſigned by Monſieur Meſnager (which they acknowleged were binding only to France, and not to the Allies), or that each of the Allies ſhould make their Demands: On Deliberation, it was inſiſted by the Allies, That the French ſhould firſt give in a ſpecifick Plan of the Offers of the King their Maſter to all and each of the Allies; and the French complied to give in ſuch ſpecifick Plan, in caſe the Allies would promiſe to return an Anſwer thereto, containing their ſeveral Demands; and, accordingly, the French Miniſters did give in ſuch Plan, in Writeing; and the Allies, in Anſwer, delivered in their Demands, alſo in Writing: The French, having thus given in their Conceſſions in Writing, and received the Demands of the Allies in like manner, thought fit to propoſe the entering into Debate upon the ſeveral Propoſitions mutually delivered in, agreeably to the Courſe of proceeding in former Treaties: But though ſome of the Allies thought there was no Neceſſity of inſiſting very much on any further written Anſwer; yet others preſſed it more vehemently. To which the French replied, That, both Sides having already explained themſelves in Writing, it was agreeable to the Method of all Negotiations to proceed to debate Matters; and, in ſuch Debates, ſpecifick Anſwers to each Demand of the Allies would occur; and all the Allies agreed in this Principle, That the Method moſt expeditious and ſafe, whether by Writing or otherwiſe, was fitteſt to be followed. Thus having given your Lordſhips a ſhort Narrative of the Proceedings, which might render his Anſwer to the ſeveral Particulars charged in this Article more intelligible: As to that Part which mentions his frequently concerting private and ſeparate Meaſures with the Miniſters of France, the ſaid Earl doth acknowlege, that, when the ſettling any particular Intereſt of Great Britain might require it, he and his Collegue might confer with the Miniſters of France, in the ſame manner as the Miniſters of each of the Allies conferred ſeparately with thoſe of France, touching their reſpective particular Intereſts; and the ſaid Earl apprehends, they were juſtified therein by their expreſs Orders from England for that Purpoſe; and ſometimes the ſaid Biſhop and Earl had ſeparate Conferences with the Miniſters of France, at the Requeſt, and on the behalf, of one or other of the Allies, whoſe Regard to her Majeſty made them often deſire the Interpoſition of her Miniſters, to ſupport their ſeveral Pretenſions; wherein the Zeal, and ſincere Endeavours, of the ſaid Biſhop and Earl, for the Intereſt of the Allies, always appeared to the Satisfaction of thoſe on whoſe behalf they acted: But he denies, that he did concert any private or ſeparate Meaſures with the Miniſters of France, in order to impoſe upon, or deceive, her Majeſty's Subjects or Allies, or tending to their Prejudice or Detriment: And as to that Part which charges him with commending the Prudence of the French Miniſters, in refuſing to anſwer in Writing, the ſaid Earl ſaith, That, after the written Propoſitions and Demands on each Side had been delivered in, he took it to be a Matter, in its own Nature, indifferent, whether there ſhould be any further Tranſaction thereupon in Writing, or not; and whether it were better to proceed by way of Writing, or by Conference, to adjuſt and ſettle the Terms of Peace upon the reſpective Offers and Demands which had been ſo given in: There was Variety of Opinions: Many of the Miniſters of the Allies declared it to be the moſt uſual and expeditious Method to proceed by way of Conference; which, they thought, gave better Opportunities of conſidering and explaining Matters; there being uſually ſeen a greater Stiffneſs and Obſtinacy in maintaining what is once put down in Writing; which oftentimes renders Negotiations tedious, and ſometimes clogs them with inſuperable Difficulties; and there ſeemed to be juſt Grounds for Suſpicion, that ſome, who were moſt preſſing for the Method of Writing, might have thoſe Ends in their View, which it became her Majeſty's Plenipotentiaries, as far as they could, to obviate and prevent: If, therefore, the ſaid Earl inclined, in his private Opinion, to the Sentiments of thoſe who thought the Way of Conference more expeditious, and equally ſafe; admitting he had been miſtaken therein, he hopes it will not be imputed to him as a Crime; much leſs can he apprehend your Lordſhips will eſteem it any Evidence of his encouraging the Enemy in any fallacious or unjuſtifiable Manner of Proceedings, if, in a Letter from the Hague to a Miniſter of the Queen, before this Matter had been fully conſidered, he intimated the Thoughts he then entertained of it; ſince he takes it to be very proper for a publick Miniſter abroad, in his Correſpondence with the more immediate Servants of the Crown at home, to give minute and particular Accounts of all Occurrences and Diſcourſes; to lay open his Thoughts; to ſuggeſt the Firſt Motions and Suſpicions that ariſe in his Mind; and to deſcant upon things without Reſerve; in order to receive more plain, full, and expreſs, Informations and Directions for his better proceeding: And the ſaid Earl believes it will appear, that if any Letter he intimated his Thoughts upon that Subject, he did not give any poſitive Judgment; but ſuſpended his Opinion therein till he ſhould have Opportunity of further conſidering it: And he ſaith, That when afterwards the Matter came to be more maturely debated among the Miniſters of the Allies, upon his Return to Utrecht, he did join in preſſing the Miniſters of France to give a further Anſwer in Writing: And as to that Part which chargeth the ſaid Earl with ſuggeſting Methods for France to make uſe of to create Diſſenſions among the Allies, and procure ſeparate Negotiations between each of the Allies and France; he ſaith, That it was generally thought moſt proper, that the reſpective Demands of the Allies, which were ſometimes claſhing, and contradictory to each other, ſhould be conſidered apart, and not at general Conferences with the French; which ſeemed the more requiſite, ſince no Prince or State had undertaken the Part of a Mediator, to reconcile the Differences which might happen to ariſe among them, as has been uſual in former Treaties: If therefore, in a Letter to a Miniſter of the Queen, from the Conſideration of the Poſſibility that ſome might be for the contrary Method, he intimated, that the Inconvenience of ſuch a Method would beſt appear by beginning in the Congreſs to argue on ſome Demand of One of the Allies; which would probably induce ſuch Ally to propoſe the debating ſeparately; he hopes this can never be conſtrued the ſuggeſting a Method for France to make uſe of to create Diſſenſions among the Allies, or which could have any Tendency to diſſolve the Confederacy; it ſeeming rather to him a likely means to prevent any ſuch unhappy Conſequence: Sure he is, that he ſincerely laboured to prevent it; and, for that End, employed his utmoſt Endeavours to obviate and diſcourage any fallacious or unjuſtifiable manner of tranſacting the Negotiation of Peace: And he denies, that he did, at any time, ſuggeſt any Method whatſoever for France to make uſe of to create Diſſenſions among the Allies, or ſeparate Negotiations between any of the Allies and France, thereby to diſſolve the Confederacy; and as he conſtantly oppoſed what he apprehended, or ſuſpected, to have any ſuch Tendency, ſo he never failed to ſupport, in the beſt manner he could, her Majeſty's Allies in their Demands againſt France: And denies, that in the Courſe of the Negotiation he was guilty of any treacherous Proceeding, or of any Practices whatſoever, whereby he could proſtitute the Honour of the Queen, or the Imperial Crown of theſe Realms; or whereby he did violate his Powers or Inſtructions; the Treaties her Majeſty ſtood engaged in to her Allies; or any Aſſurances he had given them by her Order, or in her Name; or whereby the Deſign of the Confederacy, or the Support expected from it, were rendered uſeleſs; or the Affairs of Europe given up into the Hands of France.

In Anſwer to the Second Article; the ſaid Earl ſaith, He always thought an Union and good Correſpondence between her late Majeſty and the illuſtrious Houſe of Hanover of the utmoſt Importance; and therefore uſed his beſt Endeavours to continue and improve it; and never had the leaſt Deſign to create or widen any Differences or Miſunderſtandings between them: He acknowleges, that the Parliament, with great Wiſdom, provided Laws for preſerving the Proteſtant Religion; eſtabliſhing the Proteſtant Succeſſion; and laying the Obligation of an Oath on the Subjects of theſe Realms to maintain the ſame: And the ſaid Earl humbly hopes, that he, in his Station, hath never been wanting in his faithful Endeavours for the Security thereof; and, to his great Honour, he hath frequently received from her late Electoral Highneſs the Princeſs Sophia, and from his preſent Majeſty, their Approbation of his Zeal for their Service: And he does, with great Pleaſure and Satisfaction, reflect on the happy Succeſs of his Endeavours in the late Treaty of Peace at Utrecht, by which France and Spain were brought to acknowlege our preſent Sovereign's Right of Succeſſion to the Imperial Crown of theſe Realms, and to engage never to oppoſe or diſturb the ſame, directly or indirectly; whereby his Majeſty had a peaceable Acceſſion to the Throne; and the Benefit of the ſeveral Laws made in Support of the ſaid Succeſſion will more ſecurely be tranſmitted to Poſterity: The ſaid Earl denies, That he, by falſe Repreſentations, or by any Reflections upon his Majeſty when Elector of Hanover, in any Letter to the late Queen's Miniſters, or otherwiſe, did endeavour to alienate her Majeſty's Affections from his Electoral Highneſs: And ſaith, That to ſuch a general Charge it is impoſſible to make any particular Anſwer or Defence; but the ſaid Earl is firmly perſuaded, there is not any Expreſſion in any Letter by him wrote, that carries the Appearance of any ſuch falſe Repreſentation or Reflection; ſuch Expreſſions being as remote from his Heart and Intentions, as they are inconſiſtent with that Reſpect to the Illuſtrious Houſe of Hanover, which, by the whole Tenour of his Actions, he hath endeavoured to demonſtrate; and therefore the ſaid Earl hath that Aſſurance of your Lordſhips Juſtice as to believe, that no doubtful Words, or Paſſages, contained in any of his Letters, no Accounts, or Cenſures, if any ſuch there be, of what was ſaid, or done, by any Miniſter, or Servant, of his Electoral Highneſs, inconſiſtent, as he apprehended, with that Deference which ought to have been paid to her late Majeſty, will be taken by your Lordſhips as an Evidence of any Deſign to alienate her late Majeſty's Affections from his then Electoral Highneſs, or to create, or widen, any Differences or Miſunderſtandings between them, with which the ſaid Earl is charged in the ſaid Article: And as to the particular Reflection, ſuppoſed to have been made by the ſaid Earl, in his Letter of the 17th Day of July 1712, on his then Electoral Highneſs; the ſaid Earl humbly hopes, that your Lordſhips will not interpret any Expreſſion in that Letter to have been meant of his Electoral Highneſs, who is not ſo much as once named throughout the ſame, and whom the ſaid Earl hath never mentioned in any Letter whatſoever, without the higheſt Reſpect and Veneration; but that your Lordſhips will rather underſtand it, as it was meant, with reſpect to the General of the Hanover Troops, whoſe Conduct, the ſaid Earl owns, he hath expreſſed himſelf, as well in that as in ſome preceding Diſpatches, not to have been intirely ſatisfied with: How far he was right in his Opinion, he ſubmits to your Lordſhips wiſe Determination; but humbly hopes, that no Repreſentation thereof by him made, however he may be thought to have been miſtaken therein, proceeding only from a ſincere Zeal for the Honour of his Royal Miſtreſs, and the Intereſt of his Country, can be judged criminal: And the ſaid Earl ſaith, That the late Queen was ſo far from being prevailed on by his Advice, to make a Ceſſation of Arms with France, without Concert with his Electoral Highneſs, or againſt the Conſent, or Repreſentations, of any of the Allies, that he can and doth, with Truth, affirm, that her Majeſty's Reſolutions concerning the ſaid Ceſſation were not taken upon his Advice, or with his Privity: The ſaid Earl doth admit, that, about June or July 1712, he was ſent to the Army, by her Majeſty's Command, with particular Inſtructions touching the ſaid Ceſſation; and that, in purſuance of his ſaid Inſtructions, he diſcourſed ſeveral of the Generals of the Allies, particularly Monſieur Buleau; and that he might, in ſuch Diſcourſe, on the 16th Day of July 1712, affirm, as he then thought, that her Majeſty had made no Truce with France; and the ſaid Earl was then of that Opinion, the Articles demanded by her Majeſty for a Ceſſation of Arms, as the Conditions without which no Ceſſation was to be made, not having at that time, to his Knowlege or Belief, been performed by France: And the ſaid Earl can aſſuredly ſay, That he doth not remember he hath, at any time, knowingly affirmed to the Miniſters of his ſaid Electoral Highneſs, or any other of the Allies, any Untruths, or any thing contrary to the Intentions, or Intereſt, of the late Queen, thereby to deceive or impoſe upon his Electoral Highneſs, or any of her Majeſty's Allies: And apprehends, that he hath not in any of his Negotiations or Proceedings proſtituted or diſhonoured the Character he was inveſted with; or done any thing tending to diſſolve the mutual Confidence and good Underſtanding between her late Majeſty and the Illuſtrious Houſe of Hanover.

In Anſwer to the Third Article; the ſaid Earl denies any pernicious Negotiations of Peace to have been carried on by him with the Miniſters of France; and ſaith, That in the Paper mentioned in his Inſtructions to be ſigned by Monſieur Meſnager, and delivered to him, together with his ſaid Inſtructions, on or about the 1ſt Day of October 1711, it is ſaid, The French King will acknowlege the Queen of Great Britain in that Quality, as alſo the Succeſſion to that Crown, according to the preſent Eſtabliſhment: And, in the ſpecifick Explanation of the Offers of France, delivered the 11th of February following, it is ſaid, The King will acknowlege, at the Signing of the Peace, the Queen of Great Britain in that Quality, as well as the Succeſſion to the Crown, according to the preſent Eſtabliſhment, and in a manner moſt agreeable to her Britannick Majeſty: But the ſaid Earl denies he ever heard, that the French King propoſed ſuch Acknowlegement ſhould not be before the Signing of the Peace; nor doth he conceive how the Propoſal (before the entering into the Negotiations of Peace) indefinitely to acknowlege the Queen, and the ſubſequent Conceſſion to do ſo, at the Signing of the Peace, in what manner her Britannick Majeſty ſhould pleaſe, doth neceſſarily infer, that he would not do it ſooner; nor are there, in any of the Propoſitions from the French King, any negative Words that he would not do it ſooner, as intimated in this Article: And the ſaid Earl apprehends, that, in fact, he did it ſooner; for, when the Sieur Meſnager came into England, the ſaid Earl is informed, he brought with him a credential Letter from the French King; wherein her Majeſty was ſtiled and acknowleged Queen of Great Britain; and, in the very Firſt Offers, and general Conferences, at Utrecht, the French Miniſters named her Britannick Majeſty in ſuch direct manner, that the Miniſters of the Allies took it for a plain and ſufficient Agnition; and the French Miniſters underſtood it in the ſame manner, who continued to name her Majeſty as Queen, without Reſerve, in their Diſcourſe and Letters to her Majeſty's Plenipotentiaries: And although the ſaid ſpecifick Explanation may, in ſome Part of it, ſeem to refer to a future Agnition, to prevent the Imperial and other Miniſters of the Allies from inſiſting likewiſe on a preſent Acknowlegement of the Titles of their Maſters, which might probably have put a Stop to the Negotiation; yet the ſaid Earl conceives the Agnition of the Queen was not thereby the leſs manifeſt; and is humbly of Opinion, that her Majeſty was treated with diſtinguiſhing Marks of Reſpect, inaſmuch as thoſe Titles were given her throughout the whole Courſe of the Negotiation; which had not been allowed, on the like Occaſions, to other Princes, till the Concluſion of Peace. It is well known, the Title of his late Majeſty King William was not acknowleged at Ryſwick till that Peace was ſigned; nor was the Emperor's, or the King of Pruſſia's, owned during the late Negotiations, till the concluding their reſpective Treaties of Peace: When, therefore, the ſaid Earl had no Inſtructions to inſiſt upon a more formal Acknowlegement, he hopes he cannot be charged with any Want of Duty to her Majeſty, or Want of Zeal for the Proteſtant Succeſſion, in not adviſing her Majeſty againſt treating with France upon the Terms on which ſhe entered into the Negotiation at Utrecht: The ſaid Earl believes, the Houſe of Lords, conceiving the French King had propoſed to acknowlege her Majeſty's Title to theſe Realms no ſooner than when the Peace ſhould be ſigned, did, by their Addreſs of the 15th Day of February 1711, with a commendable Zeal, repreſent to her late Majeſty their juſt Indignation at ſuch diſhonourable Treatment, and expreſs their Reſentment at ſuch Terms of Peace offered to her Majeſty, and her Allies, by the Plenipotentiaries of France; and it was agreeable to the Duty and Affection that auguſt Aſſembly always demonſtrated towards that excellent Princeſs, to be touched with the leaſt Appearance or Apprehenſion of Diſreſpect to her Sacred Perſon; and her Majeſty, being ſenſible that their Addreſs proceeded from thoſe Motives, was pleaſed to return them her hearty Thanks for the Zeal they expreſſed for her Honour: And the ſaid Earl admits, That, in a Letter from the Secretary of State to the then Lord Privy-Seal and himſelf, Mention was made of the ſaid Addreſs; and thereupon they gave an Account of the Steps by them taken on this Subject, to the following Effect; That, the Day after the Receipt of that Letter, the French Plenipotentiaries were told, That the deferring to make a formal Agnition of the Queen at firſt having had all the Effect intended, it would be proper then to do it more formally, for Reaſons with which it was needleſs to acquaint them; otherwiſe it would be neceſſary to inſert it in the Britiſh Demands; that they made no other Difficulty in it but this, that, having reported to their Court how that Matter had paſſed, they ought, in Decency, to give Account of what was then deſired; and ſaid, They doubted not, in Ten or 12 Days, to give intire Satisfaction therein; but, being preſſed to do ſomething immediately, they agreed, that, if her Majeſty's Plenipotentiaries would write to them, they would give an Anſwer, whereby the Queen ſhould be directly acknowleged; which was accordingly done; and the ſaid Earl believes, that a Copy thereof might be tranſmitted to England; but not the Original; and denies, that, to his Knowlege, it was a colluſive Letter; or that there was any Agreement between the Britiſh and French Miniſters not to make uſe of it at Utrecht; or not to have it taken as an Acknowlegement by France of the Queen's Title to the Crown; or that the Copy of it was tranſmitted with Deſign to deceive, or impoſe upon, the Queen, or Parliament; nor doth he know, or believe, it was made uſe of for any ſuch Purpoſe; but he takes it to have been an actual Acknowlegement of the Queen's Title by France, and a further Evidence, that ſuch Agnition was not deferred till the Signing of the Peace, though it was intended to be then made in a more ſolemn manner: And the ſaid Earl believes, the Honourable Houſe of Peers, for whoſe Judgment he ever had the higheſt Veneration and Regard, were ſatisfied in this Point; ſince, by their Addreſs of the 10th of June following, after they had been acquainted, by her Majeſty's Speech from the Throne, with the Terms on which a general Peace might be had, they thought fit to thank her Majeſty for her Condeſcenſion therein; and did expreſs their Reliance on her Wiſdom to finiſh that great and good Work; as the Houſe of Commons alſo did, by their Addreſs to her Majeſty, about the ſame time: And the ſaid Earl is well aſſured he was not wanting in his Zeal and Regard for the Security of the Proteſtant Succeſſion; on which Head, the Britiſh Plenipotentiaries, at the very firſt general Conference with the French Miniſters at Utrecht, preſſed their Explanation; and they agreed thereunto: And, when the Allies delivered their reſpective Demands, the Queen's Miniſters, on their Part, inſiſted in ſuch manner on what related to the Security of that Succeſſion, that the Princeſs Sophia was pleaſed to honour them with a Letter of Thanks, and to acknowlege their Care of the Intereſt of her Family: Nor were they leſs careful, at the Concluſion of the Treaty, to ſettle that important Point, with the utmoſt Exactneſs, to the Satisfaction of the Queen, the Court of Hanover, and both Houſes of Parliament; and the Articles for that Purpoſe were not only conceived in ſtronger Terms than had been made uſe of at Ryſwick for acknowleging the then Settlement of the Crown; but, before they were inſerted in the Treaty, were communicated to the Miniſter of the Elector, and had his Approbation; and the manner of that Tranſaction ſeems ſufficiently juſtified from the happy Effects: The ſaid Earl abſolutely denies, that he did ever concert or agree with the Miniſters of France, that any Propoſals mentioned in the ſaid Article, or any other Propoſals whatſoever, ſhould be the Conditions whereon France ſhould ſhould treat of Peace with Great Britain; nor doth he know, that the Queen, the Parliament, or the Nation, were in any reſpect abuſed, or drawn into deſtructive Meaſures; or that any Step was taken on this Occaſion, whereby Diſhonour could accrue to her Majeſty, or theſe Kingdoms, or any Danger to the Proteſtant Succeſſion.

In Anſwer to the Fourth Article; the ſaid Earl ſaith, That the Biſhop of Briſtol, and himſelf, being appointed her Majeſty's Plenipotentiaries, did, ſoon after their Arrival at Utrecht, purſuant to their Inſtructions, begin, by concerting with the Miniſters of the Allies, in what manner it was moſt proper to open the Conferences, and what Method was to be obſerved in the Progreſs of the Treaty; and, if it had been thought proper to begin with the Diſpoſition of the Spaniſh Monarchy, the ſaid Earl was ready to have inſiſted, as the ſaid Inſtructions directed him to do in that Caſe; but, upon ſuch Concert, it was thought moſt adviſeable, and ſo agreed, by all the Miniſters of the Allies, that each of them ſhould, by a ſeparate Inſtrument, make their reſpective Demands; with a general Clauſe to ſupport each other's juſt and reaſonable Pretenſions; and this was looked upon as the moſt proper Method, and neceſſary to avoid that Confuſion, which would otherwiſe enſue from the Contrariety of the Demands of the ſeveral Allies; it being then known, that many of them did and would inſiſt to have the ſame thing for themſelves, in Oppoſition to each other: The Imperial Miniſters, as well as the reſt, acquieſced in that Method; and, at a following Conference, it was further deſired, that there ſhould be added to ſuch general Clauſe the Words "in Conformity "to their Alliances;" with which the ſaid Biſhop and Earl, as well as the reſt, moſt readily complied; and thoſe Words were accordingly added to the general Clauſe in each of the Allies Demands; which ſeemed to give a general Satisfaction; and there was nothing further at that time inſiſted on. In conſequence of this Agreement, it was the general Expectation, that the Demand relating to Spain, and the Weſt-Indies, ſhould be particularly inſerted only in the Inſtrument to be given in by the Imperial Miniſters; but, there having been a Day long before fixed for delivering in to the French all the Demands of the Allies, the Imperialiſts, the very Night preceding, at a Conference, propoſed, That all the Allies ſhould mention Spain, and the Weſt-Indies, likewiſe, in their ſeveral Demands: This cauſed a general Surprize; and none but the Miniſters of Portugal concurred with them: Thoſe of the States, in particular, declared the ſaid Dominions ought to be demanded by them whom it did immediately concern; and that the Method Things had been put into could not ſuffer it to be otherwiſe; but, the next Morning, to give Content to the Imperialiſts, they yielded to make a verbal Declaration among the Allies, That they were reſolved to make good all their Treaties on Occaſion of this War, as well thoſe that related to Spain, as thoſe made with Portugal, Pruſſia, Savoy, and others: The Britiſh Plenipotentiaries, to give the like Satisfaction, declared publickly at the Conferences the ſame Day, That, as her Majeſty inſiſted for a juſt and reaſonable Satisfaction for all her Allies, in Conformity to all her Alliances, thoſe that might concern Spain, and the Indies, were underſtood thereby, as well as others that concerned the Intereſt of the reſt of the Allies; wherewith the Auſtrian and Portugal Miniſters ſeemed ſatisfied; nor did they requeſt any thing further from the ſaid Biſhop and Earl on that Head; and therefore he humbly apprehends, that in the Negotiation he neither declined to inſiſt, that Spain, and the Weſt-Indies, ſhould not be allotted to the Houſe of Bourbon, as far as his Inſtructions, directing him to act in Concert with the reſt of the Allies, required; nor refuſed to join with the Imperial and Portugal Miniſters, or either of them, to ſtrengthen that Demand in ſuch manner as was proper; but in this, and all other Matters, he purſued, with Conſtancy, the Orders he, from time to time, received from her Majeſty, as the Nature and Circumſtances of Things would give Leave: And, in caſe her late Majeſty found it impracticable to perſiſt in her Firſt Deſigns of gaining Spain, and the Weſt-Indies, from the Houſe of Bourbon, and thought other Expedients for preventing the Union of the Two Monarchies of Spain and France might as well anſwer the Ends of her ſeveral Alliances, and did thereupon enter into other Meaſures for obtaining a general Peace, in which her Allies concurred; the ſaid Earl hopes, that his conforming himſelf to the Meaſures, not only preſcribed by her Majeſty, whoſe Miniſter he was, and whom it was his Duty to obey, but alſo approved by both Houſes of Parliament, will not be eſteemed an Acting in Defiance of the Treaties between her Majeſty and her Allies; in Contempt of the Advice, or Opinion, of Parliament; or in Violation of his Inſtructions: And he cannot entertain ſuch Diffidence of your Lordſhips Juſtice and Goodneſs, as to ſuſpect, that his Actions, which proceeded from a Principle of Obedience to his Sovereign, and Zeal for the publick Service, ſhould be condemned as perfidious or unwarrantable: And the ſaid Earl denies, that, by any of his Practices, any Jealouſies or Diſcords were created between her Majeſty and her Allies; the mutual Confidence between them was diſſolved; the juſt Balance of Power in Europe betrayed; or any Advantage given to the common Enemy to impoſe what Terms of Peace he ſhould think fit upon her Majeſty, or any of the Confederates.

In Anſwer to the Fifth Article; the ſaid Earl doth acknowlege, That her late Majeſty, in her Speech from the Throne on the 7th Day of December 1711, having acquainted her Parliament, that both Time and Place were appointed for opening a Treaty of Peace, did, at the ſame time, remind them, that the beſt Way to make the Treaty effectual would be to make early Proviſion for the Campaign; and believes, Supplies were granted, and Magazines provided, for that End: But the ſaid Earl ſaith, That, at the time in the ſaid Article for that Purpoſe mentioned, he was not informed of any reaſonable Proſpect the Confederates then had of gaining new Conqueſts over the Army of France; nor doth he believe, that the Confederate Army, at that time, was the ſtrongeſt that had been in the Service during the whole Courſe of the War; but, upon the Informations he received at the Hague, about the 19th-30th of April 1712, he underſtood, that the French were better poſted than the Confederates, and their Army ſtronger; and that the Confederate Forces could not march to ſurpriſe the French in their Lines till they had green Forage, which would not be up in Three Weeks at ſooneſt; and that the French had all their Troops, and the Confederates wanted great Part of theirs; eſpecially the Imperialiſts, who, 'twas thought, could not, and in fact did not, join the Army till about a Month after: And the ſaid Earl conceiving the Treaty of Peace in ſo great Forwardneſs, that, by a conſtant Application of the Plenipotentiaries, it might probably be brought to a Concluſion in a Month's time, he did, upon theſe Conſiderations, apprehend it would not have been any Diſſervice to the common Cauſe, if a Ceſſation of Arms for a Month had been then agreed on; during which time, the Negotiation might have been ended one way or other: And he believes, that, according to his Duty, he might, about that time, in a Letter to her Majeſty's Secretary of State, ſend an Account of the Poſture and Condition of the Two Armies: But denies, that he took upon him to counſel or adviſe on that Subject; but only propoſed the Matter for further Deliberation in England, if, upon thoſe, or other, Accounts, ſuch a ſhort Ceſſation ſhould be thought neceſſary; much leſs did he then, or at any other time, ſuggeſt, or adviſe, any Ceſſation of Arms to be made with France without, or againſt, the Conſent of the Allies, or with Deſign to diſappoint any juſt Expectation they might have, or to give Succeſs to any ſecret or wicked Negotiations whatſoever: And he is not yet ſenſible, that a Ceſſation for a Month, at that time, could have been any Hindrance or Prejudice to the Cauſe of the Allies, or have given the leaſt Advantage to the Enemy: However, in fact, no Ceſſation was made upon his ſaid Letter: The ſaid Earl ſaith, He doth not know, or believe, that, in purſuance of any Counſel or Advice given by him, any Directions were ſent to her Majeſty's General in Flanders to avoid engaging in any Siege, or hazarding a Battle;

nor was he privy to the ſending any ſuch Directions: And he denies, that he adviſed her late Majeſty to ſend any Perſon, much leſs himſelf, from England to the Army in Flanders, to cauſe a Ceſſation of Arms to be made, or proclaimed, between her Majeſty and the French Army: But acknowleges, that, he being her Majeſty's Ambaſſador, ſhe was pleaſed to give him Orders and Inſtructions, under her Sign Manual, dated the 21ſt Day of June 1712; whereby he was commanded to make all poſſible Diſpatch to the Army in the Low-Countries; and, upon his Arrival there, to inform her General and Commander in Chief of the Reſolutions taken in the then important Conjuncture of Affairs; and alſo to declare to the Generals and Commanders in Chief of the foreign Troops in her Majeſty's Pay, and in the joint Pay of her Majeſty and the States-General, with how much Surprize her Majeſty heard there was the leaſt Doubt of their obeying ſuch Orders as they ſhould receive from her ſaid General; and likewiſe, commanding the ſaid Earl to continue with the ſaid Army till the Affair of the Suſpenſion of Arms, and the Surrender of Dunkirk, were determined one way or other; and that thereupon he reſorted to the Hague, and there, in Conjunction with his Collegue, the then Lord Biſhop of Briſtoll, acquainted the States-General with her Majeſty's Intentions for a ſhort Ceſſation of Arms between the Armies in the Netherlands, upon certain Conditions to be performed by France; one of which was, the Surrendry of Dunkirk into her Majeſty's Poſſeſſion; inviting the States to join with her Majeſty therein: After this, the ſaid Earl proceeded to the Army, and acted conformably to his ſaid Inſtructions; and hopes, that what was the Performance of his Duty will not be imputed to him as a Crime: But the ſaid Earl denies, that any Ceſſation, or Separation of the Troops, was executed, or performed, by his Advice; nor was he otherwiſe concerned therein, than in ſignifying the Orders he had in Command from her Majeſty to her General: And he believes, from the beſt Judgment he can make upon the then Situation of Affairs, that, if the Ceſſation that was made by her Majeſty had been generally complied with by the reſt of the Army, it would have increaſed the Confidence between her Majeſty and her Allies, and have obliged the French King more ſpeedily to comply with their Demands in the Negotiations of Peace; and that the moſt promiſing Expectations from the Operations of the Campaign, during thoſe Two Months for which the Ceſſation was to continue, could not equal the Advantage accruing to the Confederates by the Surrender of the important Fortreſs of Dunkirk, which was put into her Majeſty's Hands, as One of the Conditions of it.

In Anſwer to the Sixth Article; the ſaid Earl, not admitting that he did adviſe, or procure, a Ceſſation of Arms, or obtain for France any Separation of the Troops of Great Britain from the Confederate Army, or was otherwiſe concerned therein than as in his Anſwer to the preceding Article is ſet forth, denies, with a juſt Abhorrence, that he ever had any treacherous Purpoſes to advance or promote the Intereſts of France; or to render any future Correſpondence, or Harmony, between her late Majeſty and the States-General, impracticable; or to weaken or diſtreſs the ſaid States, or bring them under any Neceſſity of complying with, or ſubmitting to, the Meaſures of France; nor did or doth he know, or believe, that the taking Poſſeſſion of Ghent and Bruges by the Britiſh Troops was likely to produce any ſuch Conſequence; on the contrary, he conceives, that it was very much for the Advantage of the Allies, eſpecially the States-General, that the Engliſh Troops took Poſſeſſion of thoſe Towns, which would otherwiſe, in all Probability, have fallen into the Hands of the French: The ſaid Earl doth acknowlege, That, when the Britiſh Troops were left by the other Forces, who ſeparated from them, and were under a Neceſſity of retiring to ſome Place of Security, and it was reported, that the Dutch had given Orders to all the Commanders of the Towns in their Poſſeſſion to refuſe them Admittance, or Paſſage, he did not think the Reſolution improper, which was taken by her Majeſty's General, to ſend a Party of the Queen's Troops to march through ſome Part of thoſe Towns, to make Experiment whether they would refuſe them Paſſage; for, if Paſſage ſhould not be refuſed them, the Dutch would be vindicated from the Report which had been given out, ſo highly reflecting on their Honour, and ſo repugnant to the repeated Profeſſions and Aſſurances of the Good-will and Friendſhip they had ſo conſtantly declared for Great Britain; and, if ſuch Paſſage ſhould be refuſed, it would demonſtrate the Neceſſity the Engliſh Troops were under of reſorting to Ghent and Bruges: However, the ſaid Earl doth not admit, that he did adviſe therein; much leſs had he any ſuch Hopes, or treacherous Deſigns, as in the ſaid Article are mentioned; nor did he ſeek any Pretence to put in Execution any Deſign, or Reſolution, concerted with the Miniſters of France; nor was any ſuch Deſign, or Reſolution, to his Knowlege, or Belief, concerted: The ſaid Earl doth believe, that a Party of the Queen's Troops, being ſent with Intentions to obtain Admittance into ſome of the Towns in Flanders, where ſome of the Engliſh Magazines and Hoſpitals were, or, at leaſt, to obtain Paſſage through them to ſome other Places of Security, were refuſed by the Dutch Commanders, although thoſe Towns had been conquered chiefly by Britiſh Blood and Treaſure: But the States-General diſavowed their giving any Orders for that Purpoſe; and thereby reſcued themſelves from the Reproach of an Uſage, that might have been thought inhumane to Confederate Troops, who had ſpent their Blood for their Service, and had done no Act of Hoſtility, nor given any juſt Reaſon to the States to apprehend any ill Conſequences from ſuch Paſſage or Admittance: The ſaid Earl doth acknowlege, that, after this Refuſal of the Dutch Commanders to receive any of the Queen's Troops into, or permit them to paſs through, the Towns in their Poſſeſſion, they retired into Ghent and Bruges; the former having been their uſual Quarters, and the Citadel thereof having been gariſoned by them from the Beginning of the Campaign: But the ſaid Earl does not know, or believe, there was any treacherous or deſtructive Deſign in the Marching of thoſe Troops into, or taking Poſſeſſion of, thoſe Towns; nor doth he know, or believe, it was done in Concert with any of the Miniſters of France, who, he is confident, were not privy to, or knew any thing of, it, till after it was executed: Nor doth the ſaid Earl diſcern how it contributed to the Prejudice of the Confederates, or Advantage of the French Army; but, on the contrary, the ſaid Earl is very well aſſured, that it proved greatly to the Advantage and Security of the former, whoſe Convoys were thereby protected, and the Communication between Holland and the Confederate Army kept open; and the Advantages thereby to the common Cauſe were ſo notorious and viſible, that the Allies frequently expreſſed their Satisfaction, that thoſe important Places had been ſo well ſecured; by which means, the Allies had all the Advantages of thoſe Towns, without being at the Expence of Gariſons, the Furniſhing of which would have obliged them to make ſuch Detachments from their Army, as would have rendered it difficult for them to have kept the Field: And, on the other hand, the French Miniſters frequently complained of the great Diſadvantages occaſioned thereby to the Arms of their Maſter, whom they thought not well treated by her Majeſty on that account: And the ſaid Earl apprehends, that the Britiſh Troops had equal Right with thoſe of the States to enter into Ghent and Bruges, or any other Place of the Low-Countries, which, by Agreement, were under the joint Government of the Queen and the States-General; and this happened, at that time, to be of the greater Importance, ſince the Queen's Troops were thereby enabled to maintain a Communication with Dunkirk and England, and was afterwards found likewiſe very uſeful towards obtaining the Removal of the unjuſtifiable Impoſitions laid by the Dutch upon the Britiſh Merchandize in the new Conqueſts in the Netherlands; which they themſelves had many Months owned to be a Grievance; but had not before thought fit to redreſs.

The ſaid Earl humbly hopes he has fully anſwered the ſeveral Articles exhibited againſt him; and he doubts not but your Lordſhips will, in your great Wiſdom, maturely weigh weigh the Nature of the Charge, which is chiefly founded on his Tranſactions abroad with the Miniſters of foreign Princes and States; whoſe Teſtimony, though never ſo material towards clearing his Innocence, it will be impoſſible for him to produce: He aſſures himſelf, your Lordſhips will have a due Regard to the wide Extent, the great Length and Intricacy, of the Negotiations, wherein he was engaged by his late Sovereign's expreſs Commands; to which he did the more chearfully ſubmit, being joined in the moſt conſiderable Parts thereof with a Reverend Prelate, whoſe long Reſidence abroad, and Experience in the Methods of treating with foreign Princes and States, had abundantly qualified him for the Diſcharge of ſo important a Truſt: However, the ſaid Earl, on his Part, may, in any reſpect, have been unequal to the Province aſſigned him; yet ſure he is, that he always endeavoured to acquit himſelf therein with the utmoſt Integrity; and cannot but expreſs a juſt Deteſtation of the many evil Intentions wherewith he is loaded by the ſaid Articles: And as he humbly apprehends, the ſeveral Facts, mentioned in the Articles, if they could be proved, will not appear criminal, abſtracted from the ill Motives and Deſigns from which they are ſuppoſed to proceed; ſo he is fully perſuaded, your Lordſhips will diſtinguiſh between the Actions themſelves, and the Intentions wherewith they are charged to be done; and he aſſures himſelf, that your Lordſhips will judge of the Sincerity of his Intentions by the Tenor of all his Letters and Papers, and not by any particular Paſſages ſelected from them; and is ſecure in your Lordſhips Juſtice, that no ſtrained Conſtruction of any ſuch Paſſages will be made by your Lordſhips to his Prejudice: He cannot but think himſelf extremely unfortunate in falling under the Diſpleaſure of the Honourable Houſe of Commons; nor could he receive the firſt Intimation of it without the greateſt Surprize: Not being conſcious to himſelf that he had tranſgreſſed any known Law, he was not without Hopes, having ſpent the beſt and greateſt Part of his Life abroad in the Army, and in ſeveral Embaſſies, always endeavouring to promote the Welfare of his Country, that he might, at his Return, have met with its Approbation, as a Recompence for his long and faithful Services: However, he comforts himſelf with this Reflection, That every Step of his Proceedings in the late Negotiation was laid before her Majeſty, and received her Royal Approbation: Nor will it, he conceives, be judged improper, if he obſerves to your Lordſhips, That the States-General, in their Letter to her Majeſty, a little before the ſigning the Peace, acknowleged they could not enough commend her Plenipotentiaries for the Aſſiſtance they had given them in their Treaty with France; and that all the Allies gave frequent Marks of their Eſteem for the ſaid Earl, and his Collegue, on account of the many Services they had received from them. The ſaid Earl is confident it will appear to your Lordſhips, that although he did, with the utmoſt Application, purſue the Good of his own Country preferably to that of any other Nation whatſoever; yet he was never wanting to promote the Advantage of the Allies, particularly of the States-General, where it did not interfere with the Intereſt of Great Britain. A ſeparate Treaty of Peace was ſo far from his Thoughts, that, on the contrary, he was truly zealous to make it general; and he had the Happineſs to ſucceed therein in as great a Degree as was ever known, when ſo many Confederates were concerned: Nor was the ſaid Earl leſs zealous in ſupporting, to the utmoſt of his Abilities, the Honour and Reputation of his late Royal Miſtreſs; which was ſo far from being proſtituted, or ſuffering any Diminution, by his Negotiations, that her Majeſty did, through the whole Courſe of thoſe Negotiations, and to the very Hour of her Death, maintain as great and glorious a Character as any of her Royal Predeceſſors, or as ſhe herſelf had done in any former Part of her Reign.

And as to all other Matters and Things in the ſaid Articles contained, and not herein before particularly anſwered, the ſaid Earl ſaith, He is not guilty of them, or any of them, in the Manner and Form as the ſame are charged upon him in and by the ſaid Articles; and humbly ſubmits himſelf to your Lordſhips Judgment.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petitions be referred to a Committee: And that they do examine the Matter of Fact; and report the ſame, with their Opinion thereupon, to the Houſe:

the Favour of this Houſe, be diſcharged from the Confinement he now lieth under, on account of his Offence aforeſaid.

Ordered, That the ſaid John Tovey be brought to the Bar of this Houſe To-morrow Morning, in order to his being diſcharged out of Cuſtody.

A Bill for prolonging the Time for Perſons to take the Oaths, purſuant to the Act for the further Security of his Majeſty's Perſon and Government, and the Succeſſion of the Crown in the Heirs of the late Princeſs Sophia, being Proteſtants; and for extinguiſhing the Hopes of the pretended Prince of Wales, and his open and ſecret Abettors; was read a Second time.

A Meſſage from his Majeſty, by Sir Wm. Oldes, Gentleman-Uſher of the Black Rod:

Mr. Speaker,

The King commands this Honourable Houſe to attend his Majeſty, immediately, in the Houſe of Peers.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, with the Houſe, went up to attend his Majeſty.

And, being returned;

Mr. Speaker reported, That the Houſe had attended his Majeſty, in the Houſe of Peers: And that his Majeſty had been pleaſed to give the Royal Aſſent to the Two publick Bills, and One private Bill, following; viz.

An Act for granting an Aid to his Majeſty, by a Land-Tax in Great Britain, for the Service of the Year 1716:

An Act to attaint John Earl of Mar, William Murray Eſquire, commonly called Marquis of Tullibardine, James Earl of Linlithgow, and James Drummond Eſquire, commonly called Lord Drummond, of High Treaſon:

An Act for naturalizing Henry Cornelijon:

And that afterwards his Majeſty was pleaſed to command the Lord Chancellor to declare, in his Majeſty's Name and Words, the Cauſes of his coming to his Parliament at this time, beſides the paſſing the Bills which were ready for the Royal Aſſent; as they were contained in a Speech, which his Majeſty delivered to the Lord Chancellor from the Throne: Which Speech the Lord Chancellor read to both Houſes; and of which, Mr. Speaker ſaid, he had, to prevent Miſtakes, obtained a Copy; which he read to the Houſe; and is as followeth; viz.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Take this Opportunity of acquainting you, That my Forces have obliged the Pretender to fly out of Scotland; and he is ſince, as I am informed, landed near Gravelines: But I don't know yet, whether any Country in Amity with us will give him Protection, after having ſo publickly invaded our Kingdom.

The Dangers, to which the Nation was expoſed, made me determine, that neither the extraordinary Rigour of the Seaſon, nor any fallacious Propoſal of the Rebels, ſhould divert me from uſing all poſſible Endeavours towards putting a ſpeedy and effectual End to this unnatural Rebellion.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I muſt return you my Thanks for the great Progreſs you have made in the Supplies. The neceſſary Diſpoſitions are made for raiſing additional Forces; but, as I ſhall always conſult the Eaſe of my People, as far as it is conſiſtent with their own Security, I ſhall not make uſe of the Confidence you have placed in me, unleſs the reſtleſs Malice of our Enemies ſhould make it neceſſary to go on with thoſe Levies.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I promiſe myſelf, from the Zeal and Wiſdom of this Parliament, that the future Happineſs and Tranquillity of my Subjects will be eſtabliſhed on a ſolid Foundation; and ſuch Meaſures taken, as may deprive our Enemies at home of the Power, ſince that alone can deprive them of the Inclination, again to attempt the Diſturbance of my Government: This, therefore, is what I think myſelf obliged to recommend to you, as a Deliberation of the utmoſt Importance to the future Safety, Eaſe, and Proſperity, of my People.

Reſolved, Nemine contradicente, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, to congratulate his Majeſty on the Succeſs with which it has pleaſed Almighty God to bleſs his Arms, in driving the Pretender out of his Majeſty's Dominions; and humbly to beſeech his Majeſty, That he will uſe the moſt preſſing and earneſt Inſtances with all Powers in Amity with his Majeſty, not to receive, or give Protection to, the Perſon who has preſumed, in ſo publick a manner, to invade this Kingdom: To aſſure his Majeſty, that this Houſe does ſo intirely depend upon his Goodneſs, and Concern for his People, that they will chearfully enable his Majeſty utterly to ſubdue the Malice of his Enemies; and will take the moſt effectual Meaſures for the Safety of his Majeſty's Perſon and Government, and Tranquillity of his Kingdoms.

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to draw up an Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty, upon the ſaid Reſolution:

And it is referred to Mr. Comptroller, Colonel Grahme, Lord Coningsby, Mr. Moleſworth, Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Chetwynd, Mr. Pelham, Mr. Lowther, Mr. Newport, Mr. Lechmere, Mr. Aiſlabie, Mr. Coventry, Mr. Smith, Mr. Craggs, Lord Wm. Powlett, Mr. Pulteney, Mr. Barrington Shute, Mr. Farrer, Mr. Stanhope, Mr. Hampden, Mr. Yonge, Mr. Secretary Stanhope, Lord Newport, Sir Tho. Wheate, Mr. Molyneux, Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Sollicitor-General, Sir John Hobart, Mr. Whitmore: And they are to meet this Afternoon at Five a Clock, in the Speaker's Chamber.

Ordered, That his Majeſty's Speech be referred to the ſaid Committee.

The Order of the Day being read, for the Houſe to reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of the Supply granted to his Majeſty;

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Wedneſday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into the ſaid Committee of the whole Houſe.

Ordered, That Mr. Earl, Sir Richard Farrington, Mr. Briſtow, Mr. Papillon, Mr. Eyles, Mr. Burridge, Mr. Lowther, Sir Gilbert Heathcote, Mr. Minſhall, Mr. Diſton, Mr. Godfrey, Sir Iſaac Rebow, Mr. London, Mr. Tufnall, Mr. Lade, Mr. Gold, Mr. Ducane, Mr. Maſters, be added to the Committee, to whom the Petition of ſeveral Merchants trading to, and reſiding in, New-England, in behalf of themſelves, and others, was referred.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

PRAYERS.

ORdered, That Herbert Rudhale Weſtfaling and Nicolas Philpot Eſquires be at Liberty to withdraw their Petition, complaining of an undue Election and Return for the City of Hereford.

Ordered, That the Freemen of the ſaid City, who petitioned on the behalf of themſelves, and ſeveral other Freemen of the ſaid City, be at Liberty to withdraw their Petition, complaining alſo of an undue Election and Return for the ſaid City.

Ordered, That the Committee of Privileges and Elections be diſcharged from proceeding upon the ſaid Petitions.

A Petition of Gerard Roeters, of London, Merchant, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Petitioner was born out of his Majeſty's Allegiance; but conſtantly profeſſed the true Proteſtant Religion; and hath given Teſtimony of his Loyalty and Fidelity to his Majeſty, and the Good of the Kingdom of Great Britain: And praying, That Leave may be given to bring in a Bill for the Petitioner's Naturalization.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill, according to the Prayer of the ſaid Petition: And that Mr. Morice and Sir Tho. Hales do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

John Tovey, One of the Veſtrymen of the Pariſh of St. Martin in the Fields, in Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms, was, according to the Order of Yeſterday, brought to the Bar, in order to his Diſcharge: Where he, upon his Knees, received a Reprimand from Mr. Speaker; and was diſcharged out of Cuſtody, paying his Fees.

Mr. Comptroller reported from the Committee appointed to draw up an Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty, upon the Reſolution of Yeſterday, That they had drawn up an Addreſs accordingly; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered it in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament aſſembled, do, with Hearts full of Gratitude, return your Majeſty our unfeigned Thanks for your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne; and do beg Leave moſt heartily to congratulate with your Majeſty upon the Succeſs with which it has pleaſed Almighty God ſo far to bleſs your Arms, as to force the Pretender out of your Majeſty's Dominions.

We are willing to hope, that no Prince or State in Amity with your Majeſty will give Refuge, Countenance, or Protection, to a Perſon who, in ſo notorious a manner, has diſturbed the Peace of your Kingdoms: But the Dangers to which your Majeſty's Sacred Perſon, and Government, the Religion, Laws, and Liberties, of our Country, have been once expoſed, by this vile Attempt, would leave your Commons without Excuſe to thoſe they repreſent, if they ſhould ſee, with Patience, the Nation expoſed to the like Hazard for the future, by the Pretender to your Majeſty's Crown being ſheltered in your Neighbourhood: We do therefore make it our humble Requeſt to your Majeſty, That you will uſe the moſt earneſt and preſſing Inſtances with all Princes and States in Amity with your Majeſty, That he may not be harboured in their Territories: And we beg Leave to give your Majeſty the ſtrongeſt Aſſurances, That we will, to the utmoſt of our Power, contribute whatever ſhall, by your Majeſty, be judged neceſſary to render thoſe Inſtances effectual.

The tender Regard which your Majeſty expreſſes for the Eaſe of your People, in declining to put the Nation to any farther Expence, at preſent, for additional Forces, does, if poſſible, heighten that Confidence which we ſo juſtly had repoſed in you: But we beſeech your Majeſty, that, in ſettling the Proportion of Forces to be maintained this Year by Sea and Land, your Majeſty will have ſuch a regard to the Diſpoſition and Preparations of our Neighbours, from time to time, as to provide effectually for the Security of your Kingdoms againſt any Power that ſhall preſume to countenance or abet the Pretender.

Your Commons cannot ſufficiently expreſs the juſt Senſe they have of your Majeſty's conſummate Wiſdom, and firm Reſolution, not to be diverted or amuſed by any Difficulties of the Seaſon, or any ſpecious Artifices, from purſuing the Rebels in Scotland to their ſeveral Retreats; ſince that Method alone could reſtore, and ſecure with Honour, Peace and Tranquillity to that Part of your Dominions.

It is with the utmoſt Concern we obſerve, that the Malice and Inveteracy of our Enemies at home is ſo great, that they want not the Inclination to diſturb your Majeſty's Government; but your faithful Commons, in Duty to your Majeſty, and Love for their Country, will endeavour to deprive them of the Power, by taking ſuch prudent and neceſſary Meaſures, as may moſt effectually ſecure the future Safety, Eaſe, and Proſperity, of your People.

The ſaid Addreſs was read a Second time.

Reſolved, Nemine contradicente, That the Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty.

Reſolved, That the ſaid Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty by the whole Houſe.

Ordered, That ſuch Members of this Houſe as are of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy-Council do humbly know his Majeſty's Pleaſure when he will be attended by this Houſe.

The Order of the Day being read, for the Members to prepare Liſts, to be put into Glaſſes, of a Perſon's Name to be a Commiſſioner for putting in Execution the Bill to appoint a Commiſſioner for taking, examining, and ſtating, the Debts due to the Army, in the room of Thomas Smith Eſquire, deceaſed;

The Clerk, and Clerk-Aſſiſtant, went on each Side of the Houſe, with Glaſſes, to receive from the Members Liſts of a Perſon's Name to be the ſaid Commiſſioner: And the ſaid Liſts being received, and brought up to the Table;

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to inſpect the ſaid Liſts; and to report to the Houſe upon what Perſon the Majority falls:

And it is referred to Lord Wm. Powlett, Mr. Yonge, Mr. Chetwynd, Colonel Grahme, Sir Tho. Lee, Mr. Ingram, Sir Tho. Croſſe, Mr. Lowther, Mr. Pelham, Mr. Tufnell, Mr. Naylor, Mr. Sollicitor-General, Mr. Coventry, Mr. Heyſham, Sir John Cope, Mr. Eyles, Mr. Aiſlabie, Mr. Treby, Sir Tho. Morgan, Mr. Smith, Mr. Farrer, Mr. Drake, Mr. Hampden, Sir Wm. Whitlock, Mr. Morice, Mr. Comptroller, Mr. Craggs, Sir Richard Goſſe, Mr. Briſtow: And they are to withdraw, immediately, into the Speaker's Chamber.

And they withdrew accordingly.

And then the Houſe adjourned till Monday Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Anno 2° Georgii Regis, 1715.

PRAYERS.

MR. Comptroller acquainted the Houſe, That his Majeſty having been waited upon humbly to know when he will pleaſe to be attended by this Houſe, his Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint this Day, at Half an Hour after Two of the Clock, at his Palace of St. James's.

Sir John Ward reported from the Committee, to whom the Petitions of ſeveral Merchants of London, in behalf of themſelves, and others, Exporters of the Woollen Manufactures of this Kingdom; of the principal Traders, and others concerned in the Woollen Manufactury, of the City of New Sarum; of the incorporate Company of Clothiers in the City of Worceſter; of the Company of Worſted-Weavers of the City of Norwich, and County of Norfolk; and of the Clothiers of the County of Wilts; were referred; That they had examined the Matter contained in the ſaid Petitions; and had directed him to report the ſame to the Houſe, with their Reſolutions thereupon; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame were read; and the ſaid Report and Reſolutions are as follows; viz.

That the Committee have taken the ſaid Petitions into their Conſideration: And, having, according to the Order of the Houſe, heard the Commiſſioners of the Cuſtoms; and upon Examination of the Matters of Fact; it appeared to the Committee, upon hearing the Commiſſioners of the Cuſtoms, in relation to the Importation of Cochineal;

That, by a Medium, the Importation of Cochineal has been annually about 59,236 l. Weight, and the Exportation has been about 9,797 l. Weight; and, from thence, the annual Remainder, for the Home-conſumption, appears to be about 49,439 l. Weight:

That Cochineal has, in an Average of Seven Years, from 1708 to 1714, been at between 19 and 20 Shillings per Pound:

That the preſent Price here is about 43 Shillings per Pound:

That the Price in Holland is now about 63 Skéllins; which, being reduced, will bring it to about 36 Shillings Sterling here:

That the annual Conſumption uſed to be about 50,000 l. Weight:

That there may be better than 3,000 l. Weight now in London for Sale:

That there are 30 Bags, containing about 7,500 l. Weight, ſoon expected from Bilboa; which were ſent from Holland:

That, ſhould Permiſſion be granted for a free Importation from all Parts, it would not leſſen the Price above Five Shill. per Pound:

That about 120 Bags are bought up abroad:

That it is probable there may be conſiderable Quantity ſaved out of the Flotilla; all the Sloops and Veſſels belonging to Jamaica being gone on that Expedition; and, if any Cochineal is ſaved, the ſame will be carried directly to Carolina, New-England, or New-York; from whence it may be brought hither in about Six Weeks or Two Months:

That ſome may be expected from the Canaries:

That the Price in Spain is now about 27 Shillings and Six Pence per Pound; and there may be there about Two Ton, which is about 4,000 l. Weight:

That the South-Sea Company has ſent a Ship to the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies, which ſailed from the Downes the Second of the laſt Month; and ſhe may probably be here in about Eight or Nine Months.

That, upon the Examination of ſeveral Merchants, and others, concerned in the Woollen Manufactory, it was alleged,

That, admitting 50,000 l. Weight of Cochineal to be the annual Conſumption; and that there ſhould be about 3,000 l. Weight in hand; there would then be wanting above 40,000 l.: But, by the ſtricteſt Inquiry and Examination that they were able to make, they can hear of but One Bag in the Firſt Hand; viz. one Mr. Mitchell's, a Merchant; and that there might be about 200 l. Weight in the Salters Hands:

That there is Ten Pound per Cent. Difference in the Weight between Holland and England; which reduces the Price to 33 Shillings Sterling; ſo the Difference is Ten Shillings per Pound Weight, admitting it to be 63 Skellins in Holland, and 43 Shillings per Pound Weight here:

That the leaſt Quantity of Cochineal allowed for dyeing a Cloth into Scarlet, or other Grain-Colours, is Five Pound; and many Cloths that coſt under Nine Pound per Cloth, white, have ſo much beſtowed on them:

That of long Bays, which may coſt, white, about 7 l. 10 s. per Bay, many are dyed into Grain-Colours; and the leaſt Allowance of Cochineal for doing it, is Three Pound per Bay; ſo, in Holland, they can ſave 2 l. 10 s. Sterling per Cloth, and 1 l. 10 s. Sterling per Bay, in the Article of Cochineal only, beſides what they ſave in the Labour; being much cheaper in Holland than England:

That, not above a Year and a Half ago, the Price for dying Grain-Colours here was but 7 l. 10 s. and now 14 l. per Cloth, by reaſon of the Scarcity of Cochineal:

That the Bay of Biſcay is a very troubleſome Sea, and the Bar of Bilboa very dangerous; and that the Ships from Holland going to Bilboa loſe Four Months time; and the Spring-time is the only Seaſon for Dyeing:

That there are great Quantities of white Cloths, which at preſent lie at Blackwell-hall, and in the Factors Hands, undiſpoſed of: That one particular Factor had above 800 Cloths lying upon hand, for want of Cochineal; and that if the Price was fallen upon Cochineal, he could ſell 500 Cloths immediately:

That the Price here upon white Cloths was much fallen: And ſeveral Inſtances were given of the Charge being at preſent conſiderable leſs in dyeing white Cloths in Holland than in England; but, if Cochineal was cheaper, they ſhould not ſend their Cloth thither:

That all that was deſired was, That they might be put upon an equal Foot with their Neighbours; that Permiſſion for a free Importation might be granted for ſome ſhort time, in order to leſſen the Price of Cochineal, which muſt otherwiſe unavoidably increaſe; that our neighbouring Nations may not under-ſell us in foreign Markets, to the Detriment of our Woollen Manufactury.

That, upon Conſideration of the whole Matter, the Committee came to the following Reſolutions; viz.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Petitioners have fully made out the Allegations of their Petitions.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Houſe be moved for Leave to bring in a Bill, according to the Prayers of their Petitions.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for the free Importation of Cochineal from all Places, during a Time to be limited in the Bill: And that Sir John Ward, Mr. Rudge, Mr. Heyſham, Colonel Moreton, and Mr. Stephens, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

The Lord William Powlett reported from the Committee appointed to inſpect the Liſts, given in by the Members on Saturday laſt, of a Perſon's Name to be a Commiſſioner for putting in Execution the Bill to appoint a Commiſſioner for taking, examining, and ſtating, the Debts due to the Army, in the room of Thomas Smith Eſquire, deceaſed; and to report upon what Perſons the Majority of Votes fell; That the Committee had inſpected the Liſts accordingly; and that the Majority of Votes had fallen upon Robert Briſtow Eſquire—180.

Ordered, That the ſaid Report do lie upon the Table until the ingroſſed Bill to appoint a Commiſſioner for taking, examining, and ſtating, the Debts due to the Army, in the room of Thomas Smith Eſquire, deceaſed, be read the Third time.

Ordered, That the ſaid Bill be read the Third time Tomorrow Morning.

Ordered, That Sir William Drake Knight and Baronet be at Liberty to withdraw his Petition, complaining of an undue Election and Return for the Borough of Honyton, in the County of Devon.

Ordered, That the Committee of Privileges and Elections be diſcharged from proceeding upon the ſaid Petition.

The Order of the Day being read, for the Houſe to reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of Ways and Means for raiſing the Supply granted to his Majeſty;

Ordered, That his Majeſty's moſt gracious Anſwer to the Addreſs of this Houſe, of the Twenty-third of January laſt, relating to the Eſtates of Popiſh Recuſants convict, be referred to the ſaid Committee.

Then the Houſe reſolved itſelf into the ſaid Committee.

Mr. Speaker left the Chair.

Mr. Farrer took the Chair of the Committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the Chair.

IN Obedience to his Majeſty's Commands, ſignified to us by the Right Honourable the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury, purſuant to an Addreſs of this Honourable Houſe to his Majeſty, we have cauſed an Account to be prepared by the proper Officers, ſhewing how Senna was rated, or charged, before the Act paſſed in the 3d Year of her late Majeſty's Reign, wherein it is mentioned to be uſed in Dyeing; and how it has been rated, or charged, ſince the Making thereof: Which Account we herewith humbly lay before this Honourable Houſe, in the Paper annexed, Number I.

And, in further Obedience to his Majeſty's Commands, by the annexed Certificate, N° II. of ſeveral eminent Salters, Drugſters, Dyers, and Apothecaries, which we cauſed to be procured, it appears, that the Drug, called by the Name of Senna, is made uſe of in Phyſick, and not in Dyeing; the Commodity uſed in Dyeing being only Baſtard Senna, or Plantain.

A Petition of the Gentry, Merchants, Owners of Ships, Freeholders, and others, inhabiting in and near the Town of Bridlington, in the County of York, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Bay of Bridlington aforeſaid is a ſpacious and ſafe Place, as well for his Majeſty's as other Ships and Veſſels to anchor in ſtormy Weather: That the Harbour, or Quay, there, while the Piers were in good Repair, was a Place of great Security, as well as very commodious for ſupplying them with freſh Water and Proviſions: That the Town of Bridlington hath long been, and ſtill is, by the Advantage of its Situation, very conſiderable for its Traffick; in which very great Numbers of Men and Ships are employed, to the great Benefit and Improvement of Navigation: That, upon Decay of the ſaid Piers, an Act of Parliament formerly paſſed, granting a Duty upon Coal water-borne towards the Repairs thereof; but the Profits ariſing thereby being all expended, and having proved inſufficient to perfect that Work, notwithſtanding great Sums of Money have been alſo laid out by the Town in Aid thereof, the ſaid Piers are again, by the Impetuoſity of the Weather, and Violence of the Seas, ſhaken, disjointed, and, if not timely prevented, in imminent Danger of being deſtroyed: The Repairs of thoſe Piers will be ſo vaſtly chargeable and expenſive, that it cannot be effected without the Aſſiſtance of this Houſe: And praying, That Leave may be given given to bring in a Bill to revive and continue the ſaid Act, with ſuch other Clauſes for their further Relief, as to your great Wiſdom ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill, according to the Prayer of the ſaid Petition: And that Mr. Strickland, Mr. Cholmly, Mr. Moleſworth, Sir Charles Hotham, and Sir Wm. St. Quintin, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Mr. Archer preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill for making the Laws for repairing Highways more effectual: And the ſame was received; and read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

Mr. Secretary Stanhope preſented to the Houſe, by his Majeſty's Command, purſuant to the Addreſs of this Houſe, from the Secretary's Office, Copies of ſeveral Letters and Inſtructions to the Governors of New-England, New-York, Rhode-Iſland, and Connecticut, and others, relating to the Canada Expedition:

And the Titles thereof were read.

Ordered, That the ſaid Copies of the ſaid Letters and Inſtructions be referred to the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Merchants trading to, and reſiding in, New-England, in behalf of themſelves, and others, is referred.

The ſaid Copies are bound up with the other Papers of this Seſſion.

The Order of the Second of February laſt being read, requiring Lewis Pryſe Eſquire to ſurrender himſelf into the Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms attending this Houſe by that Day Month, at fartheſt;

The Serjeant was called upon, to know whether he had heard from the ſaid Mr. Pryſe; and he acquainted the Houſe, That he had not heard from him.

Mr. Speaker acquainted the Houſe, That he had received a Letter from the ſaid Mr. Pryſe; and he delivered the ſame to the Clerk, to be read: And the ſame was read accordingly; and is as follows; viz.

Sir,

'TIS with Pleaſure that I embrace every Opportunity of returning you my Acknowlegements for the good Offices you have done me, as often as the Caſe of my unavoidable Abſence has come under Debate in the Houſe: The repeated Experience I have had of your Friendſhip in this Point, encourages me to hope for the Continuance of them; which I ſhall not offer to deſire longer than the Reaſonableneſs of my Caſe ſhall appear to deſerve them.

I beg Leave once more to repreſent it to you; and, through your Aſſiſtance, to the Honourable Houſe; whoſe Diſpleaſure, as it is a very ſenſible Affliction to me, I ſhould be glad, by any means in my Power, to remove: That as it is impracticable for me to attend by the Time appointed, becauſe of a very ſevere Fit of the Gout which I am now afflicted with, and thereby give Satisfaction to the Houſe in the Method they have inſiſted on; I hope they will accept of ſuch as is in my Power; and give me a favourable Hearing, when I repreſent to them, That I was choſe Knight of the Shire of Cardigan when I was at 100 Miles diſtant from it, and had been abſent thence for 10 Months before the time of my Election; which I was ſo far from ſeeking, that I never aſked a Vote for it, and was choſe even againſt my Inclinations.

I know not how far a Man is obliged to ſtand to the Choice a County makes of him: Sure I am, that I have Reaſon to complain of a Force that has adminiſtred the Occaſion of my diſobliging the Honourable Houſe, by an Abſence cauſed by Infirmities, under which I laboured at the time of my Choice, and which have continued upon me ever ſince, with the greateſt Severity, and with little or no Intermiſſion.

In theſe Circumſtances, I would fain hope, that the Honourable Houſe will rather blame the Country's Choice, than him who has been unwillingly forced into a Poſt, and lies under the Misfortune (for I flatter myſelf 'twill not be thought a Crime) of not being able to attend the Buſineſs of it; and will therefore lay aſide their Diſpleaſure, and remit the Sentence ordered againſt me:

And I am the rather encouraged to hope this, becauſe Mr. Prynne, in his Comment on the 4th Book of Sir Edward Coke's Inſtitutes, ſhews, from various Records, That incurable Diſtempers have been conſtantly allowed by the Houſe for a juſt Excuſe of Non-attendance; and, upon Debates in ſuch Caſes, no other Puniſhment has been inflicted than excuſing the Service of the Member, and ordering a new Writ for electing a Perſon duly qualified, and capable of attending the Buſineſs of the Houſe: This being the Courſe of Parliamentary Proceedings in ſuch Caſes as mine, which I have now truly repreſented to you, and can produce Hundreds of Witneſſes to confirm, I hope, that the unhappy Incapacity I am under of attending the Service of the Houſe, will be thought to deſerve no ſeverer Treatment than has been uſual in the like Caſes; and that my ready Submiſſion to the Honourable Houſe's Pleaſure in this Point, will be a Means to reſtore me to their favourable Opinion, and engage you to promote the Requeſt of

Your moſt obliged and Aberliefenny, Feb. 18° 1715. obedient humble Servant,
Le. Pryſe.

I know not how far the Houſe, in their laſt Order about me, might be influenced by any Report of the Meſſenger who came down to my Houſe; but, to prevent Miſrepreſentation, I think it proper to aſſure you, that, within Three Days after a very dangerous Fit of the Gout ſuffered me to come down Stairs, I came from thence hither to my Father-in-Law's, 18 Miles in my Way to London: But the Motion of even ſo ſmall a Journey brought another Fit upon me immediately; with which I have been laid up here ever ſince; not having been yet ſo much as able to return to my own Houſe.

Then the Journal of the * Day of May 1689, in the Caſe of Mr. Cholmondley, was read——

The Time for the Conference with the Lords being come;

Ordered, That the Managers who managed the laſt Conference, do manage the preſent Conference.

And the Managers went to the Conference.

And, being returned;

Mr. Secretary Stanhope reported, That the Managers had met the Lords at the Conference; which was managed on the Part of the Lords by the Lord Privy-Seal, and others; who told the Managers, That the Lords had taken into Conſideration the Meſſage ſent to them by this Houſe; and, being deſirous to lay aſide, by all poſſible Means, every thing which may cauſe any Miſunderſtanding between the Two Houſes, and to maintain that good Correſpondence between both Houſes, which is ſo neceſſary for the publick Service, the Lords have come to a Reſolution, which they have entered in their Journal, to remain to Poſterity; of which they delivered a Copy to the Managers at the Conference; viz.

Reſolved, by the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled, That, for the future, all Writings delivered in to the Houſe of Lords by Perſons impeached by the Commons, at the time when they put in their Anſwers or Pleas, or true Copies of ſuch Writings, ſhall be forthwith ſent to the Commons.

——The Houſe reſumed the Conſideration of the Matter relating to Mr. Pryſe:

Reſolved, That Lewis Pryſe Eſquire, a Member of this Houſe, having been ſent for in Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms attending this Houſe, the Eighth Day of Auguſt laſt, for not attending the Service of this Houſe; and having never qualified himſelf as a Member of this Houſe, by taking the Oaths at the Table; be forthwith brought up in Cuſtody.

The

The Order of the Day being read, for the Houſe to reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of the Supply granted to his Majeſty;

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Monday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into the ſaid Committee.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Jovis, 8° die Martii;

PRAYERS.

Ordered, That Nathanael Curzon and Edward Mundy Eſquires be at Liberty to withdraw their Petition, complaining of an undue Election and Return for the Borough of Derby, in the County of Derby.

Ordered, That the Committee of Privileges and Elections be diſcharged from proceeding upon the ſaid Petition.

A Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That it be an Inſtruction to the Committee of Privileges and Elections, That they do hear the Matter of the Petition of William Coward and William Piers Eſquires, complaining of an undue Election and Return for the City of Wells, in the County of Somerſet, upon Wedneſday the Eleventh Day of April next;

The Houſe divided.

The Yeas go forth.

Tellers for the Yeas,	Sir Edward Ernle, Mr. Yonge:	69.
Tellers for the Noes,	Sir Nic. Morice, Mr. Palmer:	55.

So it was reſolved in the Affirmative.

Ordered, That it be an Inſtruction to the ſaid Committee, That they do hear the Matter of the Petition of Richard Comes, John Taylor, and others, Citizens or Burgeſſes, and Freemen, Inhabitants of the ſaid City, complaining of the ſaid Election and Return, at the ſame time.

Mr. Hungerford preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill for naturalizing Caſpar White: And the ſame was received; and read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

Mr. Moleſworth, according to Order, reported, from the Committee appointed to inſpect the Poors Rates, and Scavengers Rates, within the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, and Weekly Bills of Mortality, the Matter, as it appeared to them, relating to the Poor of the Pariſh of St. Martin in the Fields; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, finding it a Work of inſuperable Difficulty to peruſe, within any competent time, all the Books and Accounts of the ſaid Pariſhes, in ſuch manner as is neceſſary for the thorough Information of this Houſe, have thought it more for the publick Service to apply their Endeavours principally to thoſe that relate to the Maintenance of the Poor:

And becauſe the Pariſh of St. Martin's in the Fields has been repreſented to the Committee as the moſt free from Frauds and Abuſes, and averred to be under the beſt Regulation of any Pariſh in London, in reſpect to the Government of the Poor, the Committee, rather willing to propoſe a good Example for the Imitation of others, than deſirous of finding Fault, have choſe to begin with that Pariſh: And, that they might be able to ſet ſuch Matters as relate to the Poor in as true a Light as the Shortneſs of the Time would permit, they have peruſed ſeveral Volumes of Accounts; and have likewiſe endeavoured to get the beſt Informations, viva voce, from Perſons underſtanding, and well acquainted with, that Pariſh; which may hereafter be of ſome Uſe for Proceedings in other Pariſhes, when it ſhall be thought proper and ſeaſonable to go through with a Work of this Nature: But, becauſe the immediate Interpoſition of this Houſe ſeems neceſſary to redreſs ſuch inveterate Evils as have been complained of even in this Pariſh, though repreſented to be under the beſt Regulation, as aforeſaid, the Committee, in purſuance of the Order of Thurſday laſt, have prepared a Report, as far as they have proceeded; which they have directed to be made as followeth; viz.

That the Committee finds, That the Maintenance appointed for the Poor in the aforeſaid Pariſh, ariſes from the ſeveral Funds following; Part whereof are under the Management of the Churchwardens, and the reſt under that of the Overſeers of the Poor; viz.

Rates on Houſes, commonly called the Poors Rates:

The Royal Bounty, and Contributions on extraordinary Occaſions:

The Fines:

The Collections at the Church and Chapel Doors:

The Compoſition for Baſtards:

The Annuities and Legacies:

The Pariſh-Eſtate:

The Altar or Offertory-money at the Church and Chapels:

The Conviction-money of Swearers, &c.:

The Rents of the Pews:

The Burying-money:

Monies ariſing from Petitions to Perſons of Quality at Chriſtmas:

The Sales of Goods of poor People deceaſed; and ſeveral other ſmall Receipts.

It is not denied, That Part of the Monies ariſing from ſome of the aforeſaid Heads is applicable to the Uſe of the Church, as to Repairs, when neceſſary, and ſeveral incident Charges; but, the principal and original Intention of theſe Charities and Funds being the Maintenance of the Poor, it may juſtly be expected, that far the greater Part ſhould be applied to ſo neceſſary and pious a Uſe: But the Committee find the Accounts of the Diſtribution of theſe Sums, in the Books, as to the Charities and Expences, ſo mixed and confuſed between the Churchwardens and Overſeers of the Poor, that 'tis a Work of ſome time, and Pains, to diſtinguiſh them: (However,)

To enable the Committee to make a better Computation of the whole yearly Produce of the afore-mentioned Funds, within the Pariſh of St. Martin's; as alſo of the Diſtribution of them; they ordered the Accounts of the Churchwardens, and Overſeers of the Poor, for the Three Years 1712, 1713, 1714, to be laid before them; thoſe for this current Year 1715 not being made up till Eaſter; which, taking for granted the Truth of the Books and Reckonings delivered in, they find to ſtand thus:

There is, beſides the above-mentioned, an extraordinary Collection of voluntary Charities from Door to Door uſually once every Year; which, according to the beſt Information the Committee can get, may amount, one Year with another, in this Pariſh, to near 100 l. per Annum; the extraordinary Collection for this laſt Chriſtmas being about 130 l.: But of theſe no manner of Account is given in, the Monies being both collected, and diſtributed by the Collectors, without Controul: However, this ought to be added to the Sums above particularized, as Part of the Poors Maintenance yearly.

It is further to be obſerved, That the Money raiſed by Collections for the Charity-Schools, whether at Sermons preached for that Purpoſe, or otherwiſe, is not comprehended in the Articles for Orphans; neither are the Receipts or Diſburſements upon that Score taken notice of in any of theſe Accounts; but ſuch Charities are likewiſe over and above all thoſe afore-mentioned.

The Diſtribution of the aforeſaid Sums, according to the Books delivered in by the Churchwardens and Overſeers for the ſaid Three Years, are, in groſs, as follows; viz.

The Obſervations which the Committee made on theſe Accounts were theſe;

1. That there are very great Sums of Money rated and collected yearly, in this Pariſh, for the Uſe of the Poor.

2. That, the Books being filled with great Multitudes of Names, and of Sums diſtributed at ſeveral times to Perſons carrying thoſe Names, it was impoſſible to diſtinguiſh which were fictitious, and which were real; but the moſt Part muſt be taken upon Truſt.

3. Several material Objections were made to the Largeneſs of the Sums in the Articles of the Orphans, and penſionary Poor; but, as to that of the caſual Poor, it appears, that it amounts yearly to near One-third above what is diſtributed to the known or ſtanding Poor: And it is in this Article, principally, that the Committee is of Opinion the Publick may be more than ordinarily impoſed on; ſeveral ſmall Articles being blended into this, under the Name of Extraordinaries, to make it appear the greater.

4. That the Purchaſes of Houſes or Land, called Part of the Pariſh-Eſtate, which is thought to belong more immediately to the Repairs of the Church, are made with the Poors Money; and moſt of the extraordinary Expences of the Pariſh are deducted out of the ſaid Money.

5. That the Arrears of the Poors Rates, amounting yearly to a great Sum, and, in theſe afore-mentioned Three Years, to 1,187 l. 14 s. 6 are given in as deſperate, and totally loſt to the Pariſh; whereas, upon Peruſal of the Books of Arrears by the Committee, it appeared, that many Perſons named therein were very ſufficient, and of Quality and Reputation; and that from ſome of them the Arrears had been demanded; ſo that the Committee has Grounds to believe ſeveral of them may have been collected, though never brought to Account, afterwards.

What confirmed the Committee in this Opinion is, That, they having ſummoned Peter Hill, formerly an Overſeer of the Poor in the ſaid Pariſh; he, being examined by the Committee, teſtified,

That, in the Year 1698, there was a Surplus of 300 l. in the Overſeers Hands, for that Year, above what maintained the Poor; and which, as the Law directs, ought to have been paid into the Hands of the ſubſequent Overſeers; but was, by a Majority of St. Martin's Veſtry, voted to be paid into their Hands: And that, in the Year 1699, the ſaid Hill being then One of the Overſeers, there did likewiſe remain, in his and his Partner's Hands, an Overplus of about 220 l.; which he the ſaid Hill would have paid over to the ſucceeding Overſeers; but his Partner oppoſing the ſame, and the Veſtry, taking Cognizance of their Diſpute, did, notwithſtanding all the Oppoſition he could make to ſo illegal a Practice, by Majority of Voices, oblige him to pay the ſaid 220 l. to them, and not to the ſucceeding Overſeers as he hath been ſince informed he might by Law have done, without their Conſent or Approbation:

And the ſaid Hill further ſaid, That he being afterwards, in the Year 1705, required to pay his Proportion of the Arrears of an additional Aſſeſſment, made in the ſaid Pariſh for the Maintenance of the Poor for Four or Five Years before, and refuſing to pay the ſame, becauſe that additional Charge was unneceſſarily laid; he knowing of the aforeſaid great Surpluſages, which would have ſaved the ſaid additional Aſſeſſment, if thoſe Sums had been applied as the Law directs; Mr. Price, Mr. Vincent, and Mr. Ithell, the then Churchwardens and Veſtrymen of St. Martin's Pariſh, with a Conſtable, Two Collectors, and a Beadle, of a diſtant Ward, did diſtrain a Silver Pepper-Box out of his Houſe, and detained the ſame, till he had paid his Proportion to the ſaid additional Aſſeſſment: Alſo, that ſeveral of his Neighbours were frightened into Payment of the ſaid Aſſeſſments, under the Apprehenſion of the like Diſtreſſes; being ſummoned to the Veſtry; and there threatened to have their Goods ſeized, if they did not pay; by which means, great Sums were raiſed out of the Deficiencies of the Poors Rates for ſeveral Years after the Books were delivered up, wherein they returned ſuch as inſolvent.

6. That although the French Inhabitants, and ſome Diſſenters from the Church of England, pay their Share of the Poors Rates, and other Collections; yet they receive nothing out of it towards the Maintenance of their own Poor; but do it themſelves.

As to the Altar or Offertory Money, the Committee cannot but obſerve, that the Methods uſed in St. Martin's Pariſh for collecting Sacrament-money, is ſuch as is liable to great Frauds; being without Cheque or Controul, and, according to the Confeſſion of the Churchwardens themſelves, wholly left to the Diſcretion of ſuch as collect it, and thoſe they pretend ſometimes to account to: Whereby there is Reaſon to believe, this great and ſignal Piece of Chriſtian Charity, offered to God for the ſole Uſe of the Poor, at the Times of the moſt ſolemn Devotion, is, notwithſtanding the Directions given by the Rubrick (which orders, That the Money given at the Offertory ſhall be diſpoſed of to ſuch pious and charitable Uſes as the Miniſters and Churchwarden ſhall think fit; wherein if they diſagree, it ſhall be diſpoſed of as the Ordinary ſhall appoint), diverted from its primitive Uſe and Deſignation, and turns to the private Profit of thoſe who ought to be moſt exemplary to others for Piety and Charity.

8. The Committee further takes notice, That, conſidering the Multitude of Communicants at St. Martin's Church, upon the ſcore of qualifying themſelves for Employments, and the Frequency of Sacraments there (being every Sunday), the Account given in of the Offertory-money does not ſeem to riſe in a juſt Proportion; and they are confirmed the rather in this Opinion, becauſe Charles Medlycot Eſquire, a Juſtice of the Peace, and Veſtryman of the ſaid Pariſh, avers, and is ready to teſtify upon Oath, That Jeremiah Roſe, Churchwarden for the Year 1714, did aſſure him, the ſaid Charles Medlycot, upon his Inquiry, That the Offertory-money for St. Martin's Church alone, excluſive of the Chapel, amounted that Year to above 400 l.: And John Bignall, One of the Veſtrymen, and formerly Churchwarden, of the ſaid Pariſh, affirmed to the Committee, That the ſaid Jeremiah Roſe had, at another time, confeſſed to him, That the Offertory-money of Saint Martin's Church, for the Year One thouſand Seven hundred and Fourteen, amounted to 400 l.: Notwithſtanding which, the ſaid Roſe, forgetting himſelf, has, in the Accounts now delivered in, reckoned the Offertory-money, of the Year 1714, to amount to no more than 344 l. 6 s. 3 d.

9. That the Money ariſing from the Rents of the Pews in Trinity Chapel do fully maintain the ſaid Chapel, in every reſpect; and, as to the Offertory money, it was diſpoſed of without Controul, as at St. Martin's Church; and that all other Emoluments whatſoever, ariſing from the Eaſter Offerings, Chriſtenings, Marriages, and Burials, there, as well as the Balances of the Offertory-money, are paid to the Vicar.

10. That there is 30 l. per Annum charged as Rent paid for Oxendon Chapel; which, the Committee conceives, might, and ought to, be paid out of the Rent of the Pews; ſeveral of which are not lett, by reaſon of the high Rent demanded for them.

11. That the Collections, and Diſtributions, of all extraordinary ordinary and voluntary Charities do wholly depend upon the Honeſty of the Collectors, who are generally the Diſtributors of the ſame; and are uſually the ſame Set of Men, named and appointed by John Eddridge, Clerk of St. Martin's Veſtry, and principal Agent of the ſaid Pariſh, who makes up and keeps the Books, and inſtructs the Churchwardens and Overſeers in the Methods taken by their Predeceſſors, or fit to be followed by them.

12. The Committee, having carefully examined the ſaid Eddridge what thoſe caſual Poor were, on whom ſuch great Sums were yearly expended, could get no good Account from him of them: Sometime he ſaid, They were the like as ſettled Poor, though not entered upon the Penſions; ſometimes, that they were ſuch as had received ſome Misfortune accidentally in the Pariſh: And, being further demanded, Whether he had the Warrants from Juſtices of the Peace for relieving ſuch Poor, according to the Statute; he ſaid, He had: But when his Books were produced, to that Intent, he could not ſhew ſo much as one ſingle Inſtance ſatisfactory to the Committee: That the ſaid Eddridge, over and above his ſtanding Salary, raiſed, in the ſaid Three Years, great Sums out of the ſaid Poors and Pariſh Money, amounting to above 832 l. excluſive of what he receives upon Account of the Surveyors and Scavengers; which, upon Peruſal of ſeveral particular Accounts of his, did clearly appear to the Committee to be unreaſonable, if not fraudulent; which Accounts are ready to be produced to this Houſe, whenever they ſhall be called for; whereby it may appear how neceſſary a Perſon this ſaid Eddridge is to the governing Part of the ſaid Pariſh, when ſuch Accounts ſhall be ſuffered to paſs.

13. That the Veſtry of St. Martin's Pariſh, at leaſt the acting Part of it, is compoſed of ſuch as have been Churchwardens themſelves; it being the Cuſtom, when a Churchwarden goes out of his Office, to elect him a Veſtryman: Theſe ſtate the Accounts of all ſucceeding Churchwardens and Overſeers, and elect all Veſtrymen; ſo that, ſhould once any Corruption get in, 'tis ſcarce poſſible it can otherwiſe be remedied than by the Authority of this Houſe:

That whatever is wanting for the Uſe of the Church, ſuppoſing the Accounts of Quantities and Qualities to be fairly given in, is bought at the worſt Hand, and paid for at extravagant Rates; becauſe the Perſons who furniſh their Goods, or their Work, are, for the moſt part, ſuch as have been Churchwardens and Veſtrymen; of which the Committee had ſeveral Inſtances produced.

Some Extracts out of the Churchwardens and Overſeers Books of Accounts for the Years 1712, 1713, 1714, being ſuch only as are delivered in and owned by the ſaid Churchwardens, &c. are here inſerted, in order to give this Houſe a Specimen of the Whole; to which no material Anſwers, or Objections, were made by the Churchwardens.

The Account out of which this laſt Specimen is taken, is averred by Roſe, then Churchwarden, to be the beſt, and moſt modeſt, that has yet been delivered in by any Churchwarden of that Pariſh.

15. The Committee finds, upon Examination, That the Expences and Diſburſements of the Churchwardens and Overſeers, given in for the Three afore-mentioned Years, excluſive of all Charities to the Poor, amount to 5,448 l. 10 s. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. being almoſt One whole Year's Revenue of the Pariſh, in Three Years time; whereof, the Committee conceives, $\frac{3}{4}$ds might be ſaved.

Mr. Griſdale, Clerk of St. Martin's Church, being ſent for, and his Books of Burials being peruſed for the Three laſt Years, the Committee obſerved, That the Proportion of Children buried far exceeds that of Men and Women; and, being examined touching the ſame, ſaid, That, one Year with another, there was about 1,200 Chriſtenings; and that above $\frac{3}{4}$s of thoſe die every Year; which he could not attribute to any thing, unleſs the Air of St. Martin's Pariſh was more unwholſome than that of other Pariſhes:

He further took notice, That the Burials in the Months of December and January laſt, being the moſt rigorous Part of the Winter, were twice as many as was uſual in other Months; and, according to the Liſt given in, amount to 97 of the caſual Poor, not reckoning others.

16. The Committee have taken theſe Accounts of Collections and Diſtributions De bene eſſe, according as they were delivered in; but, ſhould either of theſe prove unfair, the Abuſes complained of will be much the greater; and, by ſeveral Inſtances already diſcovered, the Committee finds Reaſon to doubt of the Truth of many of them.

17. The Penſioners, or ſettled Poor, are given in at between 1,200 l. and 1,300 l. per Annum, for the laſt Three Years; and Multitudes of Names are entered in the Books, which the Committee could find no Method of comptrolling; much leſs that other vaſt Article of the caſual Poor, amounting to between 1,800 l. and 1,900 l. per Annum: Notwithſtanding all which real or pretended Diſtributions, the begging Poor about the Streets, in this Pariſh, are obſerved to be as numerous as ever.

18. The Orphans are given in in a diſtinct Article from that of Pariſh-Nurſe Children, and Baſtards, which are comprehended under that of caſual Poor; and amounts to a great Sum yearly; namely, to 800 l.

The Committee has had no time to inquire into the Particulars of other Pariſhes; but has received the following Informations in general;

1ſt. That in many Pariſhes, notwithſtanding that the Poors Rates amount to a very great Tax; yet, under Pretences that there is not ſufficient levied for the Poors Uſe in the Four Quarters, they raiſe more Money; which, improperly, they call Five, Six, nay, even to Seven, Quarters, ſome Years; which comes to near as much as a Land-Tax at 2 s. per Pound.

2d. That the Money lately collected by voluntary Contributions, upon account of the exceſſive cold Winter, in order to the immediate Relief of the Poor, has not been diſtributed in purſuance of the ſaid charitable Intention; but, in many Pariſhes, remains undiſtributed to this Day; ſome being carried into the Chamber of London, from whence it is not eaſily to be retrieved within any competent time; ſo that Multitudes of Poor, which ought to have been relieved, have ſtarved to Death during this moſt rigorous Winter; and this may appear by the large Increaſe in the Bills of Mortality about that time.

3d. That a great many poor Infants, and expoſed Baſtard Children, are inhumanly ſuffered to die by the Barbarity of Nurſes, eſpecially Pariſh-Nurſes, who are a Sort of People void of Commiſeration, or Religion; hired by the Churchwardens to take off a Burden from the Pariſh at the cheapeſt and eaſieſt Rates they can; and theſe know the Manner of doing it effectually, as by the Burial-Books may evidently appear, according to Mr. Griſdale's own Obſervation.

4. That the Increaſe of ſtrange Beggars, Cripples, luſty idle Men and Women, Vagabonds, blind People, pretended and real Mad-folks, and ſuch-like, is altogether owing to the Negligence of thoſe that ſhould remedy it, and of the Pariſh-Officers, who take no due Care to purge their ſeveral Pariſhes of ſuch Sort of Vagrants; but connive at them, on purpoſe that ſuch appearing Objects of Charity may give a fair Pretence to theſe yearly exorbitant Collections of all kinds; this kind of Beggars receive little or no ſettled Pariſh-Alms, but live upon what they can extort by their Cries and Importunities in the Streets, and at Coach-ſides; and what they thus get, they are generally obliged to ſpend at ſome Tipling-houſe kept by the Beadles, who have good Salaries allowed them, or their Friends and Relations, who ſell unwholſome Spirits, which carry off Multitudes of them every Year.

5. The Committee obſerved ſeveral Raſures in the Pariſh-Books delivered in to them; as alſo, that ſome Books of Accounts are freſhly written; but cannot ſay this was done to any ſiniſter Intent.

Upon the whole Matter, the Committee cannot induce themſelves to be of Opinion, that much above One-half of the great Sums aforeſaid, which are collected by, and paid to, the Churchwardens and Overſeers yearly, are really expended on that pious and charitable Work of relieving the Poor; but that, in conſequence of the preſent Methods taken, the Poor are rather increaſed in this great City, of late, than diminiſhed; and thoſe of them which are relieved, are not done ſo in the manner they ought to be; but that many very miſerably periſh for Want.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for the better regulating ſelect Veſtries within the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, Borough of Southwark, and Bills of Mortality; and for preventing any Miſapplication of ſuch Sums as ſhall be raiſed, or given by charitable Perſons, at the Sacrament, or otherwiſe, for the Maintenance of the Poor: And that Mr. Moleſworth, the Lord Coningsby, the Lord Wm. Powlett, and Mr. Minſhull, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Ordered, That the ſaid Report be printed.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do appoint the printing the ſaid Report: And that no other Perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

A Petition of the Tanners, Curriers, Leather-ſellers, Shoemakers, and Spaniſh Leather-dreſſers, on behalf of themſelves, and others, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, ſince the laying on the Duties upon Hides and Skins, ſeveral Branches of the Leather-Trade is mightily fallen to Decay, chiefly occaſioned by the Uſing of Ticking, Canvas, &c. to cover the upper Part of Shoes with, inſtead of Leather; by reaſon of which, both Tanners, Curriers, and other Dealers in Leather, find a very great Decay in the Dreſſing and Selling of Calves Skins, and all other Sorts of thin Leather: The Dreſſing of Spaniſh Leather, being a Manufacture that hath been attained to in this Kingdom, hath proved a good Livelihood to many Families; and the Crown receives conſiderable Duties upon importing Goat-ſkins, and other Commodities, uſed in that Trade; the ſaid Trade being very much declined by the Uſing of other Things, as aforeſaid: Likewiſe Turkey and Morocco Leather, which, upon Importation, pays a very high Duty to the Crown, is, in a great meaſure, become uſeleſs: And praying to take their Caſe into Conſideration, how injurious it is to the Revenue, as well as to the Petitioners; and grant them ſuch Relief as in your great Wiſdom ſhall ſeem meet.

Mr. Speaker,

And have alſo agreed to the Bill, intituled, An Act for the Naturalization of Frederick Guliker.

Alſo they were commanded by the Lords to acquaint his Houſe, That their Lordſhips will be ready to go down into Weſtminſter-hall on Thurſday Morning next, at Ten of the Clock, in order to the Tryal of George Earl of Winton, upon the Impeachment of this Houſe exhibited againſt him.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to a Committee: And that they do examine the Matter of Fact; and report the ſame, with their Opinion thereupon, to the Houſe:

And it is referred to Mr. Hampden, Mr. Delavall, Mr. Heyſham, Mr. Hungerford, Mr. Morice, Mr. Conyers, Mr. Pitt, Mr. Darcey, Mr. Godfrey, Mr. London, Sir *Tho. A Petition of William Boſwell was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, in the Year 1714, the Petitioner entered into Contract with the Truſtees appointed by an Act of Parliament to treat for the ſtopping the Breach in the Levels of Havering and Dagenham in Eſſex, being near 500 Feet wide; and was to have, at Three ſeveral Payments, 16,300 l. for performing the ſame, the Petitioner's Contract commencing the 5th of Auguſt, and obliging him to complete the ſaid Works in 15 Months from that Date; but, the ſaid Articles being not finiſhed for ſigning till about October, and the Winter approaching, the Petitioner could not begin to work till the latter End of February; at which time he proceeded in a regular Method, ſuch as was approved of by a Committee of the Truſtees, who went down to ſurvey the ſame; and ſo far advanced the ſaid Works ſince, as to cloſe them to 30 Foot; but the latter End of the Summer being very wet and ſtormy, occaſioned boiſterous Tides, by which the Petitioner's ſaid Works received ſome Damage, and made him not only elapſe the Time of his own, own, without receiving One Peny from the Publick, he applied himſelf to the Truſtees for Money, and likewiſe for a further Time to enable him to complete the Works: But, the Contract being laid before this Houſe, the acting Truſtees would not comply with either; and the Petitioner was forced, at the Expiration of his Contract, to deſiſt from working: And praying, in Conſideration of the 8,000 l. he has already laid out on the ſaid Works, the Experience he has ſhewn therein, and a great Part of the Works now ſtanding, he may have Liberty to carry them on; ſince he can complete them cheaper than any other Perſon whatſoever; or otherwiſe will pleaſe to order him ſuch other Relief as .. your Honours ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee, to whom the Petition of Dominick Donnelly is referred.

A Petition of Richard Earl of Burlington was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That Letters Patents have lately paſſed the Great Seal of Ireland, to conſtitute the Petitioner to be his Majeſty's High Treaſurer of the ſaid Kingdom: That the Petitioner, by reaſon of his preſent Service, and Attendance, in the Parliament of Great Britain, cannot go into Ireland, to qualify himſelf there for the ſaid Office, as the Law directs: And praying, That a Bill may be brought into this Houſe, to enable him to take the uſual Oath of Office, and to qualify himſelf, here in England, for the legal Enjoyment of the ſaid Office.

The Houſe, according to Order, proceeded to take into Conſideration the State of that Part of Great Britain called Scotland:

And Mr. Secretary Stanhope delivered in at the Clerk's Table a Letter to the Duke of Argyle, dated the 15th February 1716;

Which Letter was read; and is as follows; viz.

May it pleaſe your Grace,

THE unfortunate Circumſtances our Country is reduced to, by our late Diviſions, are ſuch as muſt move the Pity and Compaſſion of any true-born Scotſman; and we have juſt Ground to expect, that the Generoſity, which every Man allows to ſhine ſo bright in your Grace's Character, will make it very diſagreeable to you to ſee your Country in that Situation.

The many and great Hardſhips we groaned under ſince the late Union, were not the leaſt Motives of making us take Arms; and, however our Judgments may have been miſtaken in the Way of procuring Redreſs, our Intentions muſt, we think, be allowed to be honourable, and what became a People who have, for ſo many Ages, preſerved their Independency.

Whatever Hardſhips, and unexpected Accidents, have attended our Undertaking, we are the more eaſy under them, that we always were reſolved to bear the worſt, and were willing to hazard our Lives in a Cauſe which appeared to us ſo juſt: But were our Lives our only Conſideration, we would not have given your Grace the Trouble of this Letter: That which touches more ſenſibly is, the melancholy View we have of ſo many old and worthy Families as muſt fall with us; which makes us wiſh, for the Good of our Country, that Peace and Tranquillity were reſtored; and that once more we ſhould all return to that Love and Affection to one another, that ought to be the Entertainment of ſo many People link't together by Blood and Relation.

This Reflection, we are confident, will touch your Grace as much as it does us, and make you uſe your Endeavours to obtain ſo happy an End; which would be beſt effectuated, could we expect the Government would grant an Indemnity to ſuch as are willing to live peaceably at home, and Liberty for thoſe to go abroad who are deſirous to paſs the reſt of their Lives beyond Seas.

It may not, perhaps, be unworthy the Government to accept the Acknowlegements of ſo many Noblemen and Gentlemen as have appeared here in Arms; and the Experience of all Ages ſhews what a Body of Men, reduced to Deſpair, may do; and we ſhould conſider it as the greateſt Hardſhip that can be impoſed on us, were we forced to act a Part of that Nature, which muſt prove ſo fatal, in our Country:

Your Grace has now an Opportunity offered you of ſhewing your Affection to it, and, at the ſame time, doing a conſiderable Service to the Government, by ſecuring the Obedience of ſo many Noblemen and Gentlemen by the Ties of Gratitude, which muſt be conſidered very ſtrong by Men of Honour; and, we hope, theſe Motives will prevail with your Grace to give us a ſpeedy Anſwer, and let us know what are the Reſolutions of the Government concerning us; and whether we may expect an Indemnity for what is paſt, and Protection for our Lives and Fortunes in Time coming; which we conſider the only Means of obtaining the End we now aim at, the Peace and Welfare of our Country, by preſerving ſo many honourable Families as are engaged in this Affair.

We are fond to make your Grace the Inſtrument of procuring our Safety, and to owe you a Favour, which will always oblige us to acknowlege ourſelves,

May it pleaſe your Grace,

Your Grace's moſt humble and moſt obedient Servants,

Ruthven in Badenuck, 15th February, 1716.

A. Robertſon, of Strowan, Alex. Gordon,
J. M. Dougall, Linlithgow,
Alexander M'kenzie, Southeſque.
Clan Ranald,
James Ogilvie,

Then Mr. Secretary Stanhope acquainted the Houſe, That there were ſeveral Perſons at the Door, who could give an Account what Perſons of Diſtinction had been in Arms in Scotland, on the Part of the Rebels, during the preſent Rebellion there, either at Perth, or elſewhere:

They were ſeverally called in, and, at the Bar, examined; and gave the Houſe an Account, That they had ſeen the Earl Mariſchal, the Earl of Seaforth, the Earl of Southeske, and the Earl of Panmure, in Arms there, on the Part of the Rebels; together with ſeveral others, who were particularly named by the ſaid Witneſſes.

And then they ſeverally withdrew.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill to attaint the Earl Mariſchal, the Earl of Seaforth, the Earl of Southeske, the Earl of Panmure, and others, of High Treaſon, if they render not themſelves to Juſtice by a Day to be therein limited: And that Mr. Secretary Stanhope, Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Cowper, Lord Coningſby, Mr. Pulteney, Mr. Haldane, and Mr. Recorder, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill the more effectually to ſecure the Peace of the Highlands, and the North Parts of Scotland: And that the ſame Gentlemen who are to bring in the ſaid Bill of Attainder, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Ordered, That all Committees be revived.

PRAYERS.

THE Houſe being informed, That ſome of the Commiſſioners of the Cuſtoms attended;

They were called in; and, at the Bar, preſented to the Houſe their Return to Two Orders of this Houſe of the Sixth inſtant; being a particular Account of all Goods and Merchandize imported, not rated in the Book of Rates, but paying Duty, ad valorem, according to the Oath of the Importer: And alſo,

An Account of all unrated Eaſt-India Goods which pay Duty by the Value at the Candle: And alſo,

An Account of the net Produce of the Duties on Pepper, by a Medium of Three Years before the laſt Duty was laid, and by a Medium of Three Years ſince the ſaid Duty was laid.

And then they withdrew.

And the Titles of the ſaid Accounts were read.

Ordered, That the ſaid Accounts do lie upon the Table, to be peruſed by the Members of the Houſe.

The ſaid Accounts are bound up with the other Papers of this Seſſion.

Mr. Comptroller preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill for the more effectual and exemplary Puniſhment of ſuch Perſons as ſhall ſeduce Soldiers to deſert; or who, being Papiſts, ſhall inliſt themſelves in his Majeſty's Service: And the ſame was received; and read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

Mr. Hampden, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Election for the Borough of Pontefract, in the County of York, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the Report and Reſolutions were read; and are as follows; viz.

Upon the Petitions of Sir Wm. Lowther Baronet, and Hugh Bethel Eſquire; and of Chriſtopher Hayford, and others, Burgeſſes of the Borough of Pontefract, in the County of York; complaining of an undue Election and Return of the Honourable John Dawney and Robert Frank Eſquires for the ſaid Borough:

The Committee examined the Merits of this Election.

That it was agreed, That this was a Borough by Preſcription; and that the Right of Election is in Perſons having a Freehold of Burgage-tenure, paying a Burgage-rent.

The Poll was,

For Mr. Dawney, 149: For Sir Wm. Lowther, 122:
Mr. Frank, 145: Mr. Bethel, 111.

That the Petitioners Counſel complained of Partiality in the Mayor, Recorder, and Town-Clerk; and alleged they ſhould add 41 to their Poll, and take off 38 from the Sitting-Members.

It appeared by the Poll, That Two voted twice for the Sitting-Members.

And, by the Evidence of Wm. Lee, it appeared, That Three Quakers tendered their Votes for the Petitioners; and were refuſed, becauſe they would not take the Abjuration-Oath; though they offered to take the Affirmation to the Effect thereof:

That the Mayor was governed in the Poll by the Recorder, and Mr. Edmund Abbot the Town-Clerk; who was an Agent for the Sitting-Members, and took ſeveral Votes for them, who had no Right; and refuſed ſeveral for the Petitioners, who had a Right: And that Abbot, who has the making up of the Fee-farm Book every Year for the Mayor, wherein the different Tenures ſhould be diſtinguiſhed, and all the Burgages truly entered, had marked therein ſeveral as Burgage-tenants, who were not ſo; and omitted the marking others, who were; which Partiality run in favour of the Sitting-Members; and that Diſputes upon the Poll had been frequently determined by this Book:

That Twelve Perſons, who, by Conveyances from Sir William Lowther, dated January 2d, 1712, and proved by Mr. Lee, claimed Twelve Burgages, Part of an Eſtate formerly Wakefield's, and which pay Burgage-rent, and were purchaſed by Sir Wm. Lowther in 1711, tendered their Votes for the Petitioners; but were refuſed; although moſt of them, or their Predeceſſors, had been admitted at former Elections, when they voted in a contrary Intereſt.

The Petitioners Counſel proceeded to add Eleven, who, by Conveyances from Sir Wm. Lowther and Mr. Bethell, dated January 5th, 1714, claimed Eleven Burgages, Part of an Eſtate formerly Engliſh's, and which pay Burgage-rent, and were purchaſed by Sir Wm. Lowther from Harriſon, and others, in December 1714: The ſeveral Conveyances to them were proved by Mr. Lee: And it appeared, that Engliſh, the former Owner, being a Quaker, did not vote in Elections; but that the Premiſes were Burgage-tenure, and paid Burgage-rent, and were ſo entered in the Town-Books.

To add Six to the Petitioners Poll, Mr. Lee proved the Conveyances of Six Burgages from Sir Wm. Lowther, and others, to Six Perſons, in 1714; and he named Six other Perſons who voted on the Sitting-Members Side for the ſame Burgages; and therefore ought to be taken from their Poll.

Nine were inſiſted on to be added to the Petitioners Poll, whoſe Conveyances of Burgages from Sir Wm. Lowther, and others, ſome in 1714, and others in former Years, were produced, and proved by Mr. Lee, and others; by whoſe Evidence, and by the old Books and Writings, it ap-ppeared, that theſe Premiſes were ancient Burgages, paid Burgage-rents, and that Votes had been formerly given for moſt of them.

It appeared, That the 41 Votes, thus offered to be added, did tender themſelves for the Petitioners, and were refuſed: And, on proving their Titles before the Committee, it appeared, That the Conſideration-monies were not paid, but Notes given as Securities for the ſame.

The Petitioners Counſel objected to 30 of the Sitting-Members Voters, beſide the Eight before-mentioned to be taken off their Poll:

And by the Evidence of Mr. Wm. Lee, Mr. John Wildman, and Sam. Medley, it appeared, That, of thoſe 30 Voters laſt objected to, ſeveral were not Burgage-tenants; ſome had not Freeholds; ſome were ſplit Votes, or diſputable; others had been formerly rejected; and that ſome of them had no Title.

Mr. Wm. Lee added to what he had before ſaid of Abbot the Town-Clerk, That he had inſpected the Fee-farm Books of the Burgage-tenants; and believed there were 40 or 50 Alterations made therein, of the Town-Clerk's Hand-writing, differing from former Books: That ſome of the Rents were changed, to make or not make them Burgage-rents, as it ſhould favour the Sitting-Members:

That 50 were left out who were Burgage-tenants: That this was done for the Sitting-Members Intereſt, in whoſe favour Abbot was very active during the Poll; diſputing all that came againſt the Sitting-Members, and none that voted for them; ſometime acting by the Direction of the Recorder, without the Mayor, and ſometime of his own Authority.

Mr. John Lee teſtified, That Abbot put down ſeveral upon the Poll, and refuſed others, according to the Recorder's Directions, without any Order of the Mayor, who was then preſent.

The Sitting-Members Counſel alleged, They ſhould juſtify the Poll, by qualifying thoſe objected to, and diſqualifying thoſe the Petitioners would add; and that they ſhould vindicate Abbot the Town-Clerk in the ſeveral Matters objected againſt him; but offered no Evidence for any of theſe Purpoſes, other than the ſame Abbot, who is complained of in the Petition, and charged by the Petitioners Evidence with ill Practices in favour of the Sitting-Members.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Honourable John Dawney Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Pontefract, in the County of York.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Robert Frank Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Sir Wm. Lowther Baronet is duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Hugh Bethel Eſquire is duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough.

A Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That the Report be re-committed;

The Houſe divided.

The Yeas go forth.

Tellers for the Yeas,	Sir John Bland, Mr. Baker:	77.
Tellers for the Noes,	Sir Cha. Turner, Mr. Liddall:	148.

So it paſſed in the Negative.

The ſaid Reſolutions of the Committee, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the Clerk of the Crown do attend this Houſe To-morrow Morning, to amend the Return for the Borough of Pontefract, in the County of York, by raſing out the Names of the Honourable John Dawney Eſquire, and Robert Frank Eſquire, and inſerting the Names of Sir Wm. Lowther Baronet, and Hugh Bethell Eſquire.

Sir John Ward, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for the free Importation of Cochineal, during the Time therein limited, was committed, the Amendments they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were once read throughout; and then a Second time, one by one; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the Bill, with the Amendments, be ingroſſed.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Your Friend and Servant,

Mr.

Mr. John Chetwynd reported, from the Committee, to whom it was referred to inquire into the Abuſes practiſed in the manufacturing Tobacco, the Matter, as it appeared to them; and which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; which he afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee had inquired into the ſaid Abuſes, and examined ſeveral Witneſſes for that Purpoſe; and find the Matter to be as follows;

Edward Willis ſaid, That he had ſpent much Time and Labour, in order to diſcover the Frauds and Abuſes committed in the Manufacturing, and Selling, of Tobacco: That he knows great Quantities of Walnut-tree Leaves, Hop Leaves, and Cheſnut-tree Leaves, have been gathered, upon the Fall of the Leaf, at Caſhalton, in Surrey, and other Places; which Leaves have been dried, ſtripped, cut, and mixed with Tobacco, and many times ſold for Tobacco unmixed; and that Two Perſons may gather a Ton of ſuch Leaves in a Day:

That John Sheffeild has a Work-houſe, or Cutting-houſe, at Lambeth; where he employs ſeveral Perſons in the Manufacturing of ſuch Leaves, inſtead of Tobacco; of which he has ſold great Quantities to divers Perſons, as Sheffeild told him: That Sheffeild employed, all laſt Winter, Half a Dozen Men, who might eaſily manufacture about 20 Hundred Weight of ſuch ſham Tobacco in a Week:

That, to diſcover this ill Practice, he went to an Alehouſe near the ſaid Cutting-houſe, and ſent for the ſaid Sheffeild; but, he not being there, * Clerk, One of the Cutters, came to him; of whom he aſked the loweſt Prices of the ſeveral Sorts; who told him, they were ſold at 9 d. 10 d. and 11 d. per Pound; but recommended him to Thomas Sharples, who was then at Work with one Mr. Horton, a Tobacconiſt in Queen-ſtreet, for his better Information; but neither Clark nor Sharples ſhewed him any Samples: That, afterwards, Willis met with Sheffeild at the Pyed Bull, in Thames-ſtreet; but he produced no Samples, although he left a Note with Clark for that Purpoſe; preſuming, that Sheffeild ſuſpected Willis came as a Spy, in order to diſcover the Fraud; but yet Sheffeild appointed another Meeting; ſaying, the loweſt Prices of the ſeveral Sorts was 8 ½ d. 9 d. and 10 d. per Pound; and aſked Willis what Quantity he wanted; who anſwered, 1,000 Pound Weight, if he liked the Goods, and they could agree.

That Abel Lee informing Willis, That Sheffeild told him, he had ſold 10 or 11 Hundred Weight of ſuch Leaves, mixed with Tobacco, to one Burley, a Tobacconiſt at Shadwell Dock, at 10 d. per Pound, Willis afterwards went to Burley's, and asked a Woman, then in the Shop, for a Pound of ordinary Tobacco; who ſaid, She had none under 12 d. per Pound; of which he bought a Pound, and went to a neighbouring Alehouſe, where Abel Lee waited for him; and there he opened the Pound he bought at Burley's, and, comparing it with the Samples which Lee had from Sheffeild, found it to be of the ſame ſort with One of the Samples:

That on Lady-day laſt he was at Lambeth, and there ſaw the aforeſaid Work-houſe as full as it could hold of the ſaid Leaf-cuttings; but what Quantity it might contain, he knows not:

That Sheffeild has alſo a Warehouſe in Green Lettice-lane, in Cannon-ſtreet; wherein he keeps great Quantities of the ſaid cut Leaves for Sale; which ſometimes are mixed with Tobacco; whereof there is not above One-fourth Part.

Abel Lee, Tobacconiſt, ſaid, That he knows the ſaid John Sheffeild has employed ſeveral Men in gathering, and cutting, great Quantities of Walnut-tree Leaves, Cheſnut Leaves, and Hop Leaves; which he ſells inſtead of Tobacco; and ſometimes mixes a ſmall Quantity of Tobacco with ſuch Leaves; which he ſells at different Prices; and has been told, that ſeveral other Perſons uſe the like Practices:

That Lee went to Sheffeild, in order to know the Price of the ſeveral Sorts of ſuch manufactured Leaves, and Tobacco; telling Sheffeild, he ſhould have Occaſion for 2,000 W^t; and Sheffeild ſaid, The loweſt Prices were, for Hop-Leaves only, 8 ½ d. per Pound; mixed with Spaniſh Tobacco, 9 ½ d. per Pound; and mixed with Oronoko Tobacco, 10 d. per Pound; but Sheffeild then ſhewed him no Samples: That, the next Day, he met Sheffeild again, expecting to ſee Samples of the ſeveral Sorts aforeſaid; but Sheffeild told him, he had not brought the Keys of his Warehouſe; nor then produced any Sample; but, on Monday the 19th of March laſt, he met Sheffeild, and then he produced Three Samples; viz. One of Hop Leaves only, another mixed with Spaniſh, and the Third with Oronoko, Tobacco; ſaying, He had ſold great Quantities of thoſe Sorts to ſeveral Perſons; and particularly named one Burley, living at Shadwell Dock; who had bought 10 or 11 Hundred Weight of him, at 10 d. per Pound:

That, afterwards, Lee and Willis went to the ſaid Burley's; and Willis bought a Pound of Tobacco at Burley's, which coſt him 12 d.; and, upon comparing it with One of the Samples he had from Sheffeild, found it to be of the ſame ſort; which Pound he produced to the Committee:

That Sheffeild has a Cutting-houſe at Lambeth, where he employs ſeveral Men in the manufacturing the ſaid Leaves; who work privately, and convey them from thence by Night; and that, on Lady-day laſt, he ſaw there about Four Tons of them, as near as he could gueſs; and produced ſeveral Samples of the ſaid Leaf-cuttings, which he had from Sheffeild's Work-houſe at Lambeth.

Sheffeild has alſo a Warehouſe in Canon-ſtreet, where he keeps great Quantities of the ſaid Cuttings for Sale; and there likewiſe he ſaw, ſome time the Week before Lady-day, Nine or Ten Stands, of about 4 or 500^d Weight each; and ſeveral Bags, which might contain near the like Quantity.

Fra. Palmer, of Weſtminſter, ſaid, That he knows great Quantities of Hop Leaves have been gathered up at Dartford, in Kent, and Farnham, and Walnut-tree Leaves at Caſhalton, in Surrey, for the Uſe of John Sheffeild, who has a Cutting-houſe at Lambeth, where he manufactures the ſaid Leaves in Likeneſs of Tobacco, and ſells them ſometimes mixed with Tobacco, and ſometimes unmixed: That he has ſeen Sheffeild's Men at Work at Lambeth; and knows all or moſt of them; viz. Sharpleſs, and his Brother, * Clark, and * Incbley; and this Practice was firſt begun about Three Years ſince:

That Walnut-tree Leaves have alſo been gathered up in Hyde Park, for the Uſe of Mr. Carter, Tobacconiſt, in Katherine-ſtreet, and one Snell in Spittle-fields, as he has been told:

That he has diſpoſed of conſiderable Quantities of ſuch manufactured Leaves, mixed with Tobacco, ſometimes ¼, ⅓, and ½, of Tobacco, from 9 ½ d. to 11 d. per Pound, for Mr. Sheffeild; in the Whole, amounting to about 25 Hundred Weight; but believes the Buyer generally knew the Tobacco was mixed with ſomething, though they knew not what; and he believes, that the ſame was ſold for the Home-Conſumption; but does not know, that any was exported.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill to prevent Frauds in manufacturing Tobacco: And that Mr. John Chetwynd, Mr. Lowndes, and Mr. Heyſham, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Reſolved, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, That he will be graciouſly pleaſed to direct the Attorney-General to proſecute John Sheffeild, and others, who have been concerned in Frauds relating to the Manufacturing of Tobacco.

Ordered, That the ſaid Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty by ſuch Members of this Houſe as are of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy-Council.

Ordered, That Mr. Secretary Stanhope do carry the Bill to the Lords, and deſire their Concurrence.

The Houſe being acquainted, That the Commiſſioners for the Salt-Duties attended;

They were called in; and, at the Bar, preſented to the Houſe a particular Account of the ſeveral Allowances made on the Exportation of Fiſh, and what Quantities of Salt are uſed in curing the ſame, reſpectively; and of Frauds diſcovered concerning the ſame.

And then they withdrew.

The Title of the ſaid Account was read.

The ſaid Account is as follows; viz.

A Particular Account of the ſeveral Allowances made on Exportation of Fiſh, and what Quantities of Salt are uſed in curing the ſame, reſpectively; and of Frauds diſcovered concerning the ſame.

For every Caſk or Veſſel of Pilchards containing 50 Gallons, there is allowed, for Drawback, 40 ſh.; which is the full Duty of Six Buſhels of foreign Salt; and that, computed at 84 l. to the Buſhel, is after the Rate of 72 Gallons of Salt to 50 Gallons of Fiſh:

We conſider the Drawback, in this Article, upon the Duty of foreign Salt only; no other being proper for well Curing of Pilchards for foreign Markets; and we are aſſured, by the general Obſervation of our moſt experienced Officers, that Two-thirds of the above-mentioned Quantity of Salt allowed, is not really uſed in curing the ſame: But we muſt further obſerve, That, in caſe the Traders in Pilchards ſhall uſe Engliſh Salt, a greater Advantage will yet ariſe by the Drawback; Forty Shillings being the Duty on Twelve Buſhels of Engliſh Salt; which is at Fifty-ſix Pounds to the Buſhel; and the Fiſh ſo cured will not be fit for diſtant Markets; though the Law, as it now ſtands, leaves the Trader at Liberty to uſe either.

It is alſo obſervable, that there has been a very great Increaſe of the Winter-Fiſhery for Four or Five Years laſt paſt; and that though it be known, by common Experience, that Fiſh will not receive ſo much Salt in Curing in Winter, as it will in the Summer; yet the Law has given the ſame Allowance, without any Exception to the Seaſon; which ſtill makes the Drawback the more extraordinary.

For every Barrel of White Herrings there is allowed, for Drawback, Ten Shillings and Five Pence; which is more than the Duty of Three Buſhels of Engliſh Salt; that being the Salt with which they are cured:

In curing a Barrel of White Herrings, a Buſhel and Half of Engliſh Salt is the moſt that is really uſed:

For every Barrel of Red Herrings, the Drawback allowed is Six Shillings and Eight Pence; which is the full Duty of Two Buſhels of Engliſh Salt; they being generally cured with Engliſh Salt.

In

In the Curing of Herrings that are in part ſalted at Sea, when firſt taken, and afterwards re-ſalted in the Merchants Store-houſes, there is a Buſhel of Engliſh Salt uſed to a Barrel; but leſs ſerves for thoſe that are ſalted in the Warehouſes only; which is Nine Parts in Ten of what is taken; and there is not more than Half a Buſhel uſed to cure ſhotten Herrings; though they draw back as much as the other.

The Duty on a Buſhel of Engliſh Salt is Three Shillings and Four Pence; but Three Pence is abated out of it, for Diſcount on prompt Payment; and Three Pence for Waſte, though there be ſcarce any waſted; ſo that they really pay but Two Shillings and Ten Pence per Buſhel Duty:

For every Barrel of Salmon there is allowed, for Drawback, Sixteen Shillings and Eight Pence; which is the Duty of Two Buſhels and an Half of foreign Salt:

There is not above Half that Quantity of foreign Salt uſed in curing a Barrel of Salmon; that being the Salt with which that Sort of Fiſh is cured.

For every Hundred of wet Cod-Fiſh, Ling, or Hake, which ſhall contain in Length 24 Inches, and upwards, from the Bone in the Fin to the Third Joint in the Tail of ſuch Fiſh, there is allowed, for Drawback, Two Pounds Ten Shillings; which is the full Duty of 15 Buſhels of Engliſh Salt; they being generally cured with that Salt.

For every Hundred of wet Cod-Fiſh, Ling, or Hake, which ſhall be of the Length of 18 Inches, or more, and under the Size of 24 Inches, from the Bone in the Fin to the Third Joint in the Tail of ſuch Fiſh, there is allowed, for Drawback, 1 l. 5 s.; which is the full Duty of Seven Buſhels and an Half of Engliſh Salt:

So that, upon a Medium, there is Eleven Buſhels and a Quarter of Engliſh Salt allowed for the Curing of an Hundred of wet Cod-Fiſh, taking one with another; whereas there is not above Five Buſhels of Engliſh Salt uſed in curing an Hundred of ſuch Fiſh; they being generally cured promiſcuouſly:

For every Hundred of dried Cod-Fiſh, Ling, or Hake, commonly called Haberdines, there is one Moiety of the Allowance which is on wet Cod-Fiſh, Ling, and Hake, of the ſame Dimenſions.

One Moiety of the Salt uſed in curing an Hundred of wet Cod-Fiſh, will cure an Hundred of dry, of the ſame Dimenſions:

For every Laſt of dried Red Sprats there is allowed Six Shillings and Eight Pence; which is the full Duty of Two Buſhels of Engliſh Salt; they being generally cured with that Salt:

No more than a Quarter of a Buſhel of Engliſh Salt is uſed in curing a Laſt of Sprats; their Method being only to ſprinkle a little Salt upon them, and then hang them up to dry.

We have great Reaſon to believe, that there are Frauds committed in running foreign Salt; particularly upon the Coaſt of Cornwal, whither the French Barks come from the Coaſt of Brittany, Guernſey, and Jerſey, and ſupply the Fiſhing-Boats with Salt, in the Night; by which means, great Quantities of foreign Salt are run; and the many Creeks and Coves on that Coaſt make it impoſſible to be intirely prevented by the greateſt Diligence of our Officers: Thus the Fiſhermen are furniſhed with Salt, for which no Duty has been paid, and yet receive the Drawback; there being no Proof required of them, that the Fiſh, ſhipped for Exportation, is cured with no other Salt than ſuch for which his Majeſty's Duties have been paid, and not drawn back; except White Herrings, for which ſuch Proof is required, upon Exportation.

Great Quantities of unmerchantable Fiſh are offered to our Officers, for Exportation; which they have refuſed; and, we are well aſſured, have afterwards been packed up, in the Middle of Caſks, amongſt good Fiſh, in order to paſs unobſerved in ſome other Port; which can't be effectually prevented, unleſs Power be given to deſtroy all ſuch bad Fiſh as ſhall be tendered for Exportation.

It is principally owing to theſe extraordinary Allowances on the Exportation of the ſeveral Species of Fiſh before-mentioned, the Over-allowances for Waſte, the running Salt from the French Coaſt, and the fraudulent Package of Fiſh, that we find ſo great an Abatement on our net Produce in this Branch of the Revenue; whereby our annual Payments into the Exchequer fall ſo much ſhort of the Funds for which they were given, notwithſtanding the great Increaſe of the groſs Produce; and, if theſe growing Evils are not reſtrained by Parliament, muſt every Year grow leſs and leſs.

The ſaid Amendment, being read a Second time, was, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

A Petition of divers Gentlemen of the County of Cornwall, and Parts adjacent, as well as of the Mayor, Deputy-Recorder, Aldermen, and others, of the Borough of Launceſton, alias Dunheved, in the County of Cornwall, and other Boroughs in the ſaid County, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That although we cannot doubt of the Preſervation of the Rights and Privileges of all his Majeſty's Subjects by this Houſe, after the happy Diſſipation and Silencing the unnatural Rebellion that lately infeſted theſe Realms; yet, having certain Information of an Attempt intended to be made by ſome particular Inhabitants of the County of Cornwall, as hath been in vain done by others formerly, to interrupt the moſt ancient and undoubted Franchiſes of others of their Neighbours, and of the Members of the ancient Corporation of Launceſton in particular, by proſecuting a Bill in this Houſe for the Removal of the Aſſizes of the ſaid County from Launceſton to Bodmyn, we humbly crave Leave to lay before you their Caſe; and ſome Reaſons, which, we hope, may be thought worth your Conſideration, for continuing the Aſſizes where they have always been held: And, amongſt theſe, we hope, that it will not be thought the leaſt, that Launceſton hath been very anciently the chief Caſtle and Reſidence of the Earls and Dukes of this County; and is ſtill the chief Barony and Honour of his Royal Highneſs the Prince

Prince of Wales in his Duchy of Cornwall, to which the moſt honourable Tenures belong, and to which many of the Charters of other Boroughs in the ſaid County refer; and may be well thought to have been, therefore, endowed with that Privilege of having the Aſſizes: Whereas Bodmyn was only the Town of the Prior of that Place, whoſe Lands are now in private Hands, and in no manner held of the Duchy: The Hall where the Judges ſit, and other Houſes, at Lanceſton, have not long ſince been rebuilt, altered, and improved, by the Members of the Borough, and others, at their own Charge, to render all more convenient for the Judges, Counſel, Attornies, Jurors, and others; and 'tis ſuppoſed, that there is not any one Houſe, either publick or private, in Bodmyn, that can entertain the Judges, and their Officers and Servants, that neceſſarily attend them in their Circuits; which is a Complaint that cannot be made at Launceſton: The Judges, as well as the Counſel, that think fit to come to the Aſſizes, if held at Bodmyn, will be forced to travel about 60 Miles more than they now do, and will be above 70 Miles diſtant from Exeter, where the Aſſizes are held for Devon; and, by means of the Length and Badneſs of the Ways to Bodmyn, the Judges, Counſel, and their Retinue, will be, at leaſt, Three Days longer in the Circuit, and thereby, in ſome Vacations, when Eaſter happens to be early, will not have Time to return to Weſtminſter againſt the following Term: In the Caſtle of Launceſton hath always been, and ſtill is, the common Gaol for the County, where all Criminals are to be kept until the Aſſizes and Gaol-delivery; and the Conſtable of that Caſtle, and not the Sheriff of the County, is charged with the ſafe Cuſtody of ſuch; and, ſhould the Aſſizes be held at Bodmyn, either his Royal Highneſs, or his Deputies the Conſtables of the Caſtles, for the Time being, would be under a vaſt Charge, as well as Hazard of Eſcapes, twice every Year, in carrying and conveying the Priſoners forwards and backwards between Lanceſton and Bodmyn for their Tryal and Puniſhment; and the Keeper of the common Gaol hath no Place for their ſafe Cuſtody at Bodmyn; and the Priſoners are at Lanceſton maintained partly by the Donations of former Inhabitants there, and partly by the Bounty of the preſent; which are Advantages not to be expected at Bodmyn: And praying, That the Aſſizes for the ſaid County may, according to ancient Right and Uſage, and the many Charters made and granted to the Borough of Lanceſton, be continued there, as the capital Town of the Duchy of Cornwall; and that the Members of the ſaid Borough, as well as others, may be ſupported and protected by this Houſe in the Enjoyment of their ancient Rights and Privileges; and be heard, by their Counſel, before any Bill paſs this Houſe concerning the ſame.

Ordered, That the Petitioners be heard, by their Counſel, upon the Second Reading of the Bill for holding the Aſſize for the County of Cornwall at a convenient Place in the ſaid County.

The Order of the Day being read, for the Second Reading of the ſaid Bill; Ordered, That the ſaid Bill be read a Second time upon Wedneſday Morning next.

An ingroſſed Bill to revive, and continue, an Act made in the 8th and 9th Years of the Reign of his late Majeſty King William, for Repair of the Piers of Bridlington, alias Burlington, in the Eaſt Riding of the County of York, was read the Third time.

Reſolved, That the Bill do paſs: And that the Title be, An Act to revive, and continue, an Act made in the 8th and 9th Years of the Reign of his late Majeſty King William, for Repair of the Piers of Bridlington, alias Burlington, in the Eaſt Riding of the County of York.

Ordered, That Mr. Strickland do carry the Bill to the Lords, and deſire their Concurrence.

An ingroſſed Bill for the more effectual preventing, and puniſhing, the Stealing, or unlawful Killing, of Cattle, was read the Third time.

An ingroſſed Clauſe was offered, as a Rider to the Bill, That, for the better Diſcovering of ſuch as ſhall ſteal Cattle, all Perſons ſhall be obliged to ſell all raw Hides and Skins in publick Markets; and ſhall regiſter the Marks of ſuch Hides and Skins:

The ſaid Clauſe was once read:

And the Queſtion being put, That the Clauſe be read a Second time;

It paſſed in the Negative.

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That the Bill do paſs;

It paſſed in the Negative.

A Petition of Charles Empſon, of Lowden, in the County of York, Gentleman, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Petitioner, in 1713, being encouraged by the Commiſſioners that were appointed to take, and examine into, ſuch Propoſals as ſhould be laid before them for improving and cultivating ſuch Lands as were drowned by the Inundation of the River of Thames at the Breach thereof at Dagenham, in the County of Eſſex, did, on their Promiſe to allow him 100 l. per Annum for his Trouble therein, at their Requeſt, go down with ſome of them to view the Stoppage of the ſaid Breach, and the Grounds adjacent: That the Petitioner, finding the ſaid Breach, then newly ſtopped, to be very defective, by reaſon of the improper Materials uſed therein, and of the Want of Judgment in the Undertakers, told the Commiſſoners then preſent, That it would not hold many Days, unleſs ſuch Materials as the Petitioner then directed were uſed to fortify the ſame againſt the Force of the Waters: That although the Commiſſioners gave immediate Orders for the Materials directed, and uſed great Diligence to haſten the ſame thither, yet they came too late; for, in Four Days after, the ſaid Works were quite ruined, and carried off, as the Petitioner had foretold them: That the Petitioner, ſome time after, hearing that Engineers were at Work to ſtop the ſaid Breach, went thither; and, obſerving their Method and Proceedings to be wrong, told them thereof; and offered to direct them therein; but they, confident in their own Skill, and being deceived in purſuing a curious Model, rejected his Advice: But the Undertaker, in about Six Weeks after, finding his Works to fail, and being convinced, that the Petitioner had made a true Judgment therein, applied to him for his Aſſiſtance and Direction; but the Petitioner, finding him not provided with proper Materials, and the Seaſon of the Year then too far advanced, declined to intermeddle therewith at that time: That the ſaid Works being again deſtroyed, and new Propoſals made for ſtopping the ſame before Commiſſioners at Guildhall, London, the Petitioner applied himſelf to thoſe Commiſſioners; and, finding that none of the Models propoſed would anſwer the End, offered a Scheme of his own for effecting the Work in Half the Time, and much leſs Charge, than any other body had propoſed; notwithſtanding which, and although the Petitioner offered to make a Demonſtration of the Certainty of his Method, but being a Stranger in London, little regard was had to him, the Commiſſioners being too much amuſed with fine Models, Engines, Plans, &c.: And praying, That he may have Leave to lay before the Committee appointed by this Houſe a Draught, or Scheme, for the ſpeedy and effectual Performance of this Work; and that the Petitioner may have Leave to demonſtrate the ſame to them; and may have ſuch Encouragement for his Skill and Pains taken therein, and the vaſt Expence of Money which he ſhall ſave to the Publick thereby, according to his Performance thereof, as to this Houſe ſhall ſeem moſt meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

Ordered, That the Committee, to whom the Petition of Dominick Donnelly, and the other Petitions relating to the Breach at Dagenham, are referred, do make their Report to the Houſe upon this Day Sevennight.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Bailiff and Burghers of the ancient Borough of Midhurſt, in the County of Suſſex, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That whereas, by our ancient Conſtitution, it hath been eſteemed our greateſt Security to preſerve our Liberties to have frequent and ſhort Parliaments; and, as we hear, there is a Bill now depending in this Houſe to prolong this Parliament: And praying, That it may not paſs; but that the Triennial Act may be preſerved intire in all its Parts, without any Alteration; that being the greateſt Bulwark to ſecure our Liberties, Properties, and holy Religion, to us, and to our Poſterity.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Mayor and Commonalty of the Town and Port of Haſting, in the County of Suſſex, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, by the Laws and Conſtitution of this Kingdom, no Parliament is to continue longer than Three Years; and, under the Protection of that Law, which we look upon as one of our greateſt and moſt valuable Privileges, we elected our laſt Members of Parliament, and thought proper to entruſt them, for Three Years, as our Repreſentatives, if his Majeſty thought proper to continue them ſo long: That hearing a Bill is prepared, and now depending before the Houſe of Peers, for altering the Laws now in being relating to Parliaments; and for continuing this preſent Parliament for a longer time: And praying to take the ſame into Conſideration, and prevent the ſaid Bill paſſing into a Law; for we cannot but look upon it as overturning our preſent Conſtitution, and an Infringement of our Liberties, by making Repreſentatives for us for a longer Time than we entruſted them.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Mayor, Aldermen, Common-Council, and Freemen, of the Corporation of Cambridge, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, by the ancient Conſtitution of this Kingdom, the frequent Calling of new Parliaments has always been uſed, and eſteemed a Security to the Crown, and alſo to the Liberties of the People of this Realm: That, by ſeveral Statutes, and particularly by One, made in the Reign of our late Sovereign King William the IIId, it is provided, That no Parliament ſhall continue longer than Three Years; and hearing that a Bill is coming from the Houſe of Lords to continue this Parliament for a longer time than is allowed by the ſaid Laws: And praying, That the ſaid Laws now in being may be continued, that the Petitioners may have frequent Opportunities of ſhewing their Duty and Affection to his Majeſty King George, and the happy Eſtabliſhment in Church and State, by their conſtant Electing of Members ſo inclined.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeſſes, of the Borough of Abingdon, in the County of Berks, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the moſt valuable Privilege we enjoy is, that of being repreſented in Parliament; ſo we cannot but be very much alarmed when any Infringement is like to be made on that Privilege: We are now ſo happy as to find a Gentleman, who truly repreſents us as we would be repreſented; but, as we cannot be ſure that this will always be the Caſe, and if we ſhould ever be ſo unfortunate as to miſtake in our Choice, being allowed but One Repreſentative, nothing could make that Misfortune tolerable to us, but the Comfort that he could not abuſe the Truſt we repoſed in him for longer than Three Years: And praying, That this Houſe will not be wanting in their Endeavours to preſerve, as well to us as our Fellow Subjects, that Liberty, which alone can preſerve the Freedom of Parliaments, and give them the Opportunity of laying the true Senſe of the Kingdom before his Majeſty, and of calling evil Miniſters to account; and which will give us the more frequent Occaſions of exerting our Zeal for the Security of the Prerogative of the Crown, and the Liberties of the Subject.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeſſes, of the Borough of Newcaſtle under Line, in the County of Staffordſ, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That whereas, by the Conſtitution of this Kingdom, no Parliament is to continue longer than Three Years; under the Protection of which Law we have choſen our Repreſentatives, whom we thought fit to entruſt for Three Years, if his Majeſty ſhould think fit to continue this Parliament ſo long; and having heard, that a Bill is prepared to continue this Parliament for a longer Time; we humbly hope, that no ſuch Bill may paſs; which we cannot but look upon as overturning our preſent Conſtitution, and an Infringement of our Liberties: And praying, That their Liberties and Privileges may be preſerved and continued to them.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

Mr. Hampden reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Complaint of the Breach of Privilege committed againſt the Right Honourable the Lord Coningsby, a Member of this Houſe, by John Enſor and Job Beardſly, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which the Committee had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place; and afterwards delivered the ſaid Report in at the Clerk's Table: Where the Report, and Reſolutions, were read; and are as follows; viz.

That the Committee examined the Matter of the ſaid Complaint; and heard Counſel, and Witneſſes, on both Sides, thereupon:

That it appeared to the Committee, That John Enſor, as Plaintiff, did, at the laſt Aſſize for the County of Warwick, by Job Beardſley his Attorney, bring on to Tryal an Action of Treſpaſs againſt Edward Terry, a menial Servant to the Lord Coningsby.

Edward Terry, being called, ſaid, That there had been, to his Knowlege, great Waſte and Spoil committed upon the Lord Coningsby's Woods and Grounds, at Aldcot, in Warwickſhire; and that he was, upon the 5th Day of September laſt, hired by Mr. Thomas Harris, his Lordſhip's Chief Steward, to be his Lordſhip's Bailiff, to look after thoſe Woods and Grounds, and prevent ſuch Waſte and Spoil for the future, and give Notice thereof: That thereupon he did, on the Tenth Day of the ſame September, acquaint the Tenants and Townſmen of Shuttington, where he lives, with his having been ſo hired into his Lordſhip's Service: That the like Notice thereof, purſuant to a Letter from Mr. Harris, was alſo given to them; and particularly to the ſaid Plaintiff Enſor, and to Beardſley his Attorney; and that, upon ſuch Notice, they both treated his Lordſhip with very abuſive Language, and ſpoke of his Lordſhip's Privilege with great Contempt; Enſor expreſſing himſelf to this Purpoſe; viz. That the Lord Coningsby was a Rogue, and a Raſcal; and many an honeſter Man would be hanged; that he hoped the Times would change between that and Chriſtmas; and then his Lordſhip would be no more than a Boy to dry Shoes: And Beardſley expreſſed himſelf to this Purpoſe; viz. That he did not value any Steward, Bailiff, or other Servant, of the Lord Coningsby; that his Lordſhip was a very Rogue, and many an honeſter Man was hanged; and that they would cut down the Woods at Aldcot, and, with the Money, Law with his Lordſhip for them: And Beardſley added, That he would make Terry quit the Town; and threatened to ruin him with Actions at Law, at every Aſſize, if he continued in his Lordſhip's Service: And that he did afterwards, at another time, viz. about Michaelmas laſt, at Tamworth, acquaint Beardſly with his Privilege, as Lord Coningsby's Servant; to which Beardſley anſwered, He did not value any Privilege which any Servant of his Lordſhip had: And that Beardſley was again acquainted, in open Court, by Mr. Harris, and by Terry's Counſel, at the Tryal, before the Verdict was brought in, That his Lordſhip did inſiſt upon his Privilege.

Humfry Woodcock ſaid, He was preſent at Tamworth, about Michaelmas laſt, when Terry acquainted Beardſley with his being a hired Servant to the Lord Coningsby, to look after his Lordſhip's Woods: To which Beardſley anſwered, That he would go on with the Law againſt him notwithſtanding.

Mr. Tho. Collins ſaid, He was preſent at the Tryals of Two Actions againſt Terry, at the laſt Warwick Aſſize; one of which was the Action before-mentioned, wherein Enſor was Plaintiff; and that, before either Cauſe came on, both the Counſel and Sollicitor for Terry acquainted Beardſley, the Plaintiff Enſor's Attorney, That the Defendant Terry was privileged, and protected by the Lord Coningsby; and that, if he proceeded, he muſt expect to hear of it in the Houſe of Commons: To which Beardſley made a ſlighting Anſwer; ſaying, That he did not value the Lord Coningsby; or to that Effect; and then brought on the other Cauſe firſt; and, after that, this of Enſor's.

That, on behalf of the Parties complained againſt, it appeared, by the Evidence of

Mr. Wm. Robinſon, and Humfry Webb, That this, and the other, Action, tried againſt Terry, at the laſt Warwick Aſſize, had depended above a Year; and had been ſeveral times entered for Tryal, but were put off upon a Reference; which coming to nothing, the Defendant, and his Attorney, without mentioning any thing of Privilege, gave Notice to the Plaintiff, and his Attorney, That, if the Plaintiff would not proceed, the Defendant would bring on the Cauſe by Proviſo.

Fiſher Littleton and Edward Taylor Eſquires, being called to the Reputation of Terry, gave him an ill Character, in general Terms; and ſpoke of him as a Perſon not credited in the Country where he lives, and unfit to be employed by the Lord Coningsby, or any one elſe:

And Mr. Taylor added, That he was preſent at the Tryal, and remembred it was then ſaid by Terry's Counſel, That the Lord Coningsby would protect Terry; but did not remember it was ſaid, That he was then actually protected.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That John Enſor, having, as Plaintiff, proſecuted an Action at Common Law, at the laſt Aſſize holden for the County of Warwick, againſt Edward Terry, a menial Servant to the Right Honourable the Lord Coningsby, a Member

Member of this Houſe, is guilty of a Breach of the Privilege of this Houſe.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Job Beardſley, having proſecuted the ſaid Action, as Attorney for the Plaintiff, is guilty of a Breach of the Privilege of this Houſe.

The ſaid Reſolutions, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the ſaid Job Beardſley be, for his ſaid Breach of Privilege, taken into the Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms attending this Houſe.

Another Amendment was propoſed to be made to the Bill, Fol. 2. L. 3. After "whereof," to inſert "and to "the end that the Aſſizes for the ſaid County may be held "either at Launceſton, or at any other convenient Place "within the ſaid County:"

And the Queſtion being put, That the Houſe do agree with the Committee in the ſaid Amendment;

It paſſed in the Negative.

Ordered, That the Bill, with the Amendments, be ingroſſed.

Martin Connor and Iſaac Jones affirmed, That they heard Mr. Donnelly ſpeak to the Door-keeper; and that he anſwered, He need not fear but that he ſhould be called in of courſe.

Colonel Coote ſaid, He believed there was a good deal of Artifice uſed to hinder Donnelly, and his, having any Notice of the ſaid Meeting of the Committee: That he always obſerved Mr. Donnelly very deſirous to have his Scheme examined; and propoſed Colonel Richards and Colonel Armſtrong to the Truſtees, as proper Perſons to judge of Schemes;

Schemes; yet, notwithſtanding this, he was not appointed of the Committee: That he came about Two a Clock on the Day appointed to examine Schemes; and, finding Donnelly had not been called in, inſiſted, that he had a Right to be examined on the foot of the Act of Parliament: It was anſwered, The Engineers, to whom the Matter ſtood referred, were gone, and, without them, they could not take upon them to conſider Schemes: So Mr. Donnelly was not called in, nor his Scheme, in a publick manner, examined.

Mr. LeGroſs ſaid, That he gave Mr. Walker a Letter, purſuant to Mr. Donnelly's Directions.

Mr. Walker owns the Receipt thereof; and that he put it into the Peny-Poſt.

Colonel Armſtrong ſaid, That Captain Perry propoſed to ſtop the Breach by Dovetail Piles: That he had ſeen all the Schemes, and was of Opinion, that Captain Perry's was the moſt practicable; that, if it could not be done by Dovetail Piles, it could not be done at all; but, if you are for ſtopping the Breach that Way, you will have it to patch and mend for ever; but, by raiſing a Wall, or Bank, ſo high as to let the Water flow gently and gradually through the Creek, the Breach will never affect the Navigation; and the ſame Sum that is offered for one, will do the other: But ſaid, He made no ſuch Propoſal to the Truſtees, being never aſked.

Brigadier Richards affirmed, That Perry's Scheme did appear to him to be the moſt practicable.

Mr. Ackworth ſaid, That nothing appeared to him more practicable than Perry's Scheme: That he had not ſeen Donnelly's, but as it lay upon the Table as he came in; but ſaw enough of it to know it would not do.

Captain Perry ſaid, He had brought his Scheme, and Deſcription of his Method, for ſtopping the Breach; and was ready to ſhew, and explain, his Reaſons, in Writing, after what true and effectual manner he ſhall carry on his Works, with ſeveral Affidavits thereto annexed: That he has always practiſed the ſame Method, with Succeſs, in the ſtopping and turning the Courſe of Rivers in foreign Parts: But, as the Art and Skill he has attained to in performing Works of this Nature has been acquired by the Study and Induſtry of his Labour, and the greateſt Part of his Life; ſo he humbly begged the Juſtice of the Committee, as he formerly inſiſted to the Truſtees at Guild-hall, that he may not be obliged to diſcover the Secret of his Knowlege and Skill of putting his Method in Execution to any Perſons, but whom this Honourable Committee ſhall think proper Judges as to the Art and Workmanſhip that is required for carrying on the ſame, and who have practiſed, or have ſeen, ſome Works of ſuch Nature; and likewiſe deſired, that ſuch Perſons, to whom he ſhall be obliged to divulge, and explain, his Method, may not make uſe of, or diſcover, the ſame to his Diſadvantage; for as there are ſome things of his own Invention, and Improvement, particularly in the Fixing of the Foundation, and Placing of Sluices, after a much more effectual manner than has been hitherto uſed in England, and in the proper Applying of Dovetail Piles for the Damming up of Rivers, which has been acknowleged by thoſe Perſons, to whom he had already diſcovered his Scheme; and it being the general Conſent of Mankind to allow every Man the Right of his own Invention, which the Truſtees at Guild-hall did aſſure him ſhould be preſerved to him; ſo, in Juſtice, now hopes this Honourable Committee will have the ſame regard, and take the ſame Care of him; and he ſhall, very gladly and willingly, comply with what is deſired of him to do: And he laid his Plan for ſtopping the Breach before the Committee, and likewiſe his Deſcription of his Method of working, in Writeing; and the ſame was read; and immediately delivered back to him again.

The Reverend Mr. Deſaguliers ſaid, He was no-ways concerned with Mr. Donnelly, as to Profit or Loſs; and that he had not ſeen Mr. Perry's Scheme; but that he heard it was by driving Dovetail Piles: That, ſince he firſt attended the Committee, he had been down at the Breach at Dagenham, and taken the Soundings thereof; and found, that the Difference from Side to Side, where Mr. Donnelly propoſes to ſink his Machines, is not above Two Foot: And then he gave his Opinion of Donnelly's Scheme, and of Perry's, to the Committee; and they deſired him to reduce the ſame into Writing; as alſo Doctor Harris, Captain John Macarrell, the Reverend Mr. Hort, Mr. George Ball, Mr. Leoni, and Mr. Billingſley; who ſeverally delivered their Opinions, and Reaſons, in Writing; which here follows;

An Abſtract of the Opinions of Dr. John Harris, Mathematician and Mechanick; Mr. J. T. Deſaguliers, Mathematician, Mechanick, Experimental Philoſopher, and F. R. S.; Mr. Joſiah Hort, Mathematician; Mr. James Leoni, Architect and Engineer; Captain John Macarrell, and Mr. George Ball, Practical Engineers and Mechanicks; Mr. Hewit, Mill-wright, and Director of the Works at London Bridge; Mr. Caſe Billingſley, Mathematician and Mechanick; which, by Order of the Committee, they did ſeverally deliver in Writing; wherein they declare their ſeveral Reaſons, why Captain Perry's Scheme for ſtopping the Breach in the Levels of Havering and Dagenham is impracticable; and why the Method, propoſed by Mr. Donnelly, may ſucceed:

1ſt, The looſe Sand and Moor-log at the Bottom of the Breach is very improper to hold the Three Rows of Piles, which Captain Perry intends to drive.

2dly, Theſe Piles being made of Fir, which is ſpecifically much lighter than Water, the vaſt Quantity of Water that goes in and out of the ſaid Breach every Tide, eſpecially upon great Land-floods, Nor-weſt Winds, and every Full and New Moon, ebbs and flows with that Force and Rapidity, that the Earth at the Bottom of his Piles will unavoidably be waſhed away, and his Piles ſet afloat, though he ſhould drive them 16 Foot into ſuch a Bottom.

3dly, The Canal and Sluice he propoſes to make, will eaſe but One 17th of the Paſſage he ſtreightens; and, conſequently, will not prevent the Force and Weight of the Water from breaking his Dovetails, or the Grooves that contain them.

4thly, In former Attempts to ſtop this Breach by Driving of Piles, it has been found, that, when the Works are come near to a Cloſe, the Strength of the Water has been ſo much increaſed thereby, that it has gullied and tore away the Bottom, and made it 30 Foot deeper than it was before at Low-water Mark.

5thly, The Foundation he intends to make being no leſs than 100 Foot, will require Time to bring it up to Low-water Mark; and the great Fall of the Water in the Flood, but eſpecially in the Ebb Tides, occaſioned by the Reſiſtance of his Piles, will cauſe ſuch ſtrong Whirls and Eddies between them, as will ſpew them up long before his Foundation can be finiſhed.

8thly, That driving Dovetail, or other, Piles, unleſs in ſmall Works, where there is a good Bottom, and no great Flux or Reflux of Water, has been always found unſucceſsful; and therefore juſtly exploded both by the Ancients, and the Moderns.

9thly, The Breach at Dagenham has been formerly attempted to be ſtopped by Driving of Dovetail Piles; but without Succeſs; the Fall of the Water, when by ſuch Works the Paſſage has been ſtreightened, being much greater than at London Bridge; and the Force and Velocity of it, eſpecially in its Return from the Lands, has preſſed with that Violence, that no Pile-Works hitherto made uſe of has been able to ſuſtain the Weight of it; but have been blown up, and ſet adrift.

Reaſons humbly offered, why Mr. Donnelly's Scheme may be attended with Succeſs.

The Machines are ſo well contrived, as to anſwer, in a more certain manner, all the Deſigns of ſtopping Breaches which have been propoſed by others; as by Cheſt-work, ſinking Ships, Piling of any ſort, making Banks and Dams, cutting Canals, and Sluices, to carry off Part of the Back-water:

1ſt, That the Machines, while floating, can be managed with great Eaſe; and, by the Help of Tackles, can be united and faſtened together without any Difficulty.

2dly, When this is done, the whole Machine, being happily contrived, ſo as to have all the upper Part in Sluices, by opening them, and by the Uſe of Inſtruments, will ſink uniformly and equally in a few Minutes; and cloſe ſo exactly to the Bottom, which is near to a Level, as to hinder the Water from preſſing under.

3dly, For making this more effectual, a ſtrong Work of Stone and Cement, whoſe Nature is to harden in Water, being raiſed in his Machines to Low-water Mark, ſhall, by its great Weight, preſs the falſe Keels into the Soil, and compreſs and ſettle into the Bottom, ſo as to hinder any Water from ouſing under them; which Danger will be alſo further prevented, by ſpreading on the Ground, from the Bottom, double-quilted Canvaſs, loaded with Lead at the outer Edge, like a Caſting-net; over which he can eaſily form a Tallue, or Slope, both on the Outſide and Inſide of his Machines, and occaſion even the Water itſelf to make his Ground good, by caſting the Ooz, Slub, &c. continually upon it; which will lodge in the Slope made of Faggots, Bruſh-wood, &c.; and, in a little time, make all firm round the Machine to Low-water Mark.

4thly, As the Machines, when ſunk, will project in Two great Angles, the one towards the Thames, or Flowing Water, the other towards the Ebbing or Back Water, as the Sterlings of London Bridge, it will reſiſt the Impreſſion of each ſo effectually, that, the more they preſs upon it, the firmer it will be.

6thly, Several of them have been very converſant in Works of this Nature, and ground their Judgments on the Obſervations they have made on the Moles in the Streights, and ſeveral Bridges, ancient and modern; as alſo ſeveral Breaches of this Nature, in which One of them was particularly concerned; and are of Opinion, as the preſent Enterprize requires more curious Application than any of the above-mentioned, ſo the Machines prepared by Mr. Donnelly are ſo contrived, by being truncated Pryſeins, and moſt part in Sluices, as to take off a more extraordinary Force of the Water, and make it ſerviceable, in adding a great Weight to keep them down, and preſs them with all that Force on the Foundation; and anſwer all other Intentions neceſſary for ſuch a great Work.

7thly, The Sluices, which are ranged quite thorough the Machine from one End to the other, and from Low to High Water Mark, giving him great Command over the Water, ſo that it ſhall paſs freely through, without doing any Damage to the Works; and, by keeping the Water near a Level within and without, and between, the Machine, will take off the Force occaſioned by Waters of unequal Heights; as alſo preſerve the Foundation, and ſecure it from being dug up and ruined; and prevent ſuch dangerous Falls and Eddies as will attend all other Ways of ſtopping this Breach.

8thly, The truncated Pyramid, made by the Inſide of the Four Machines, may be eaſily filled with proper Materials, that Mr. Donnelly may not only build a Wall on it quite acroſs, but, if it be required, a Fortification.

Mr. Donnelly ſaid, That what he meant by Miſapplication of publick Money was, The Truſtees agreeing to give 8,700 l. more to Captain Perry than what he propoſed to do the ſame for, and to give as good Security.

Mr. Oake, being called as to the Miſapplication of publick Money, referred to the Journal of the Truſtees, Fol. 39.; where it appeared, that the ſaid Truſtees had ordered the Payment of 349 l. 16 s. 1 d. as Bills of Charges in the Houſe of Commons, and Houſe of Lords, for paſſing the ſaid Act: And the original Bills of Charges, being read, is as follows;

Captain Perry, being aſked, What Converſation he had with Sir John Parſons at Garraway's Coffee-houſe, about a Note of 3,500 l. ſaid, He knew nothing of any Note; but there was a Propoſal of advancing Money, by allowing ing 75 and 50 per Cent. to ſuch as would become his Securities: That Mr. Ward, and Colonel Bennet, promiſed to be his Security, in caſe the Truſtees, at a General Meeting, conſented to it: That there was a Memorandum, for allowing 75 per Cent. drawn up with Mr. Ward, of Hackney, at his Houſe at Stocks-Market; which was not agreed to; but he afterwards procured Gentlemen to be Security for him, at 50 per Cent. that were neither Land-owners or Truſtees.

Colonel Thomas Coote ſaid, That the Truſtees propoſed, at firſt, to give Captain Perry 30,000 l.: That, ſince, they had agreed with him for 25,000 l.: That the Act, in the Beginning, was called a Jobb; but ſaw nothing like it, until Perry's Scheme was ſet up: That then Colonel Joſeph Bennet came to him, and told him, If he would come into Meaſures, he ſhould have 1,000 l.: To which he anſwered, Colonel, you and I are old Acquaintances; I ſhould be as glad of 1,000 l. as any Man; but you know my Circumſtances are ſuch, that I can advance no Money: Bennet anſwered, That he ſhould have it without his advancing One Farthing; you ſhall not be brought into any Inconveniency; you ſhall know further, if you meet me on Monday Night at Mr. Ward's Houſe: That, at the General Meeting, he acquainted the Board of this Matter; and ſaid, He thought there was Money ſtirring: Colonel Bennet then ſaid, That Colonel Coote was a Land-owner; and, if the Breach was ſtopped, he would gain 1,000 l.: Upon which, Colonel Coote addreſſed himſelf to the Lord Mayor, and ſaid, My Lord, when I ſpeak before an Aſſembly, and in a publick Truſt, I ſpeak determinately, and do not equivocate: And, at another Meeting of this Committee ſome Days after, Colonel Coote giving the ſame Account;

Colonel Bennet ſaid, At that time, he proffered to be bound himſelf for 1,000 l.; and that he would go to Mr. Ward, and likewiſe to his old Acquaintance Colonel Coote; and what he offered was as a Premium for the Hazard he ſhould run in being bound:

Colonel Coote ſaid, That being bound was never mentioned to him; if it had, he was ſure he ſhould have given a poſitive Anſwer, That, as a Truſtee, he could not.

Colonel Bennet, being aſked, What he meant by the Word Premium, ſaid, That, Captain Perry lying under great Difficulties in getting Security, there was a Propoſal for giving 50 per Cent. as a Reward, or Premium, for thoſe that would become bound for him.

Colonel Coote further inſiſted, That Boſwell's Miſcarriage occaſioning the Publick to be at a greater Expence in ſtopping the Breach, was, in ſome ſort, a Miſapplication of publick Money; and that every Undertaker's attempting the ſame, without Succeſs, by any Method which ſhould render the ſtopping the Breach ſtill more chargeable, would be a further Miſapplication of publick Money: And, being aſked, Whether he could charge any one, in particular, of the Truſtees, on his own Knowlege, he ſaid, There was a Corruption in the Truſt; and he charged Bribery on Colonel Joſeph Bennet in particular.

Reſolved, That it does not appear to this Committee, upon the Examination of the Petition of Dominick Donnelly, That there has been any Miſapplication of the publick Monies by the Truſtees for ſtopping the Breach of Dagenham.

The Committee have, according to a ſubſequent Order of the Houſe, of Monday laſt, taken into their Examination, the State of the Breach at Dagenham; how far it affects the Navigation of the River of Thames: And, upon examining the Maſter, Wardens, and Aſſiſtants, of the Trinity-houſe, they find,

That the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, and Aſſiſtants, do believe, that the Navigation is very much damaged by the ſaid Breach: That Ships cannot paſs ſo well as formerly, by reaſon of the Shelf, or Sand-bank, which is grown up near the Mouth of the ſaid Breach, and is increaſing, and growing over the River; and that the ſaid Shelf can proceed no other Way than from the ſaid Breach:

That, on the North Shore, where there was a deep Water, there is now no coming; and that where there was 20 Foot of Water, the Year before the Breach was, it is now dry; and that the Men of War could formerly ride there at low Water:

That, in the beſt of the Chanel, there is now Four Foot of Water leſs than there was before the Breach:

That, in the Year 1676, the Swan Man of War rid at Anchor where the Shelf now is:

That the Breach does not prevent the Tides riſing ſo high as formerly; and that they believe it not viſible, if it does; and that there has been as high Tides lately as ever:

That they have had Pilots at the Breach very lately; and they confirmed to them what they now ſay.

The Trinity-houſe Report, dated the 4th May 1714, was read:

And the ſaid Maſter, Wardens, and Aſſiſtants, affirmed, That they are now of the ſame Opinion as they were at that time.

And, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to the following Reſolution; viz.

Reſolved, That it appears to this Committee, That the Breach in the Levels of Havering and Dagenham is prejudicial to the Navigation of the River of Thames.

Colonel Coote produced a printed Caſe of Boſwell's, relating to Dagenham Breach; and read the following Clauſes out of it; viz.

That one Parmey, who lived on the Premiſes, and was concerned for the former Undertakers, cut down the Booms and Flood-gates of Boſwell, which was made to carry off the Back-water:

That ſeveral of his Servants refuſed to work at ſuch times as he had the greateſt Occaſion for them:

There is ſome Reaſons to believe, That a Relation of Mr. Perry's corrupted and ſeduced One of Boſwell's Maſter Workmen; and that, in conſequence of ſuch Corruption, the ſaid Maſter Workman drove ſeveral Piles, which he never faſtened contrary to the known Method of the ſaid Works; and that ſuch Piles, for that Reaſon, were of no Uſe.

Sarah Siſh ſaid, That ſhe lived with Mr. Parmey, and overheard him ſay to his Wife, That he had cut down Boſwell's Booms; and hoped, that the Flood-gates would be gone by the next Morning:

That Parmey was out in his Boat, and came home late that Night, when he ſaid this to his Wife; and told her, That he had done Boſwel's Buſineſs for him:

That Parmey, ſhe believed, had a great Spite againſt Boſſwell; for that he had a mind Mr. Ward ſhould have the Works of ſtopping the Breach; and always deſired, that Boſſwell might not finiſh his Undertaking:

That when Parmey heard, that the next Morning the Gates were gone, he ſpoke of it in a joyful Manner:

That, about Three Weeks after Chriſtmas, ſhe firſt diſcovered this Matter.

Mr. Boſſwell ſaid, That Mr. Perry had corrupted his Servants.

Margaret Grimſton ſaid, That ſhe heard Mr. Reynolds ſay, That Mr. Stephens came to him, and told him, That, if Boſwell miſcarried, he (Mr. Reynolds) ſhould be Mr. Perry's Foreman (Mr. Stephens, Mr. Perry's Kinſman, and Mr. Reynolds, was Mr. Boſwell's Foreman).

Thomas Patten aſked, Whether he had found a great many Piles, that Reynolds had drove, that were not faſtened?

Anſwer, That he found a 12th in a Row that was not faſtened.

Then Colonel Armſtrong, and ſeveral other Perſons, and alſo the Maſter, Wardens, and Aſſiſtants, of Trinity-houſe, were called in, and ſeverally examined at the Bar, Whether the Breach at Dagenham was prejudicial to the Navigation of the River of Thames.

And then they withdrew.

And then the ſaid Reſolutions of the Committee were ſeverally read a Second time; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

The

AN ingroſſed Bill, from the Lords, intituled, An Act for veſting certain Lands and Tenements of Peter Sunderland Eſquire in Truſtees, to be ſold, for Payment of Debts charged thereon before the Making of his Marriage-Settlement, and by virtue thereof, was read the Firſt time.

Mr. Hampden, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, upon the Petition of Robert Honywood Eſquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return of a Knight of the Shire for the County of Eſſex, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which Report he read in his Place; and afterwards delivered the ſame in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſaid Report and Reſolutions were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of Robert Honywood Eſquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return of Wm. Harvey Eſquire, for the County of Eſſex:

That the Committee have examined the Merits of that Election:

That the Poll was,

For Mr. Harvey, 2,541:
Mr. Honywood, 2,517.

That the Petitioner's Counſel added Three to his Poll; viz.

One who voted for the Petitioner, and was put down for the Sitting-Member; another voted for the Petitioner, and was put down for Mr. Middleton, who was dead; another was under-caſt in the Petitioner's Poll:

And they objected to 157 of the Sitting-Member's Voters; and produced Evidence, who diſqualified 142, under the following Heads; viz.

One a Mortgager, out of Poſſeſſion;
Two voted for Reverſions; and Six for Leaſeholds;
Six purchaſed within a Year before the Election;
Seven were Minors;
Seven were Vicars, and Four Schoolmaſters, not rated:
Twenty-one had no Freeholds;
Eight had Freeholds under Value; and were not rated; and Eighty were in none of the publick Rates:

The other Fifteen, who were objected to, were not diſqualified by the Evidence which was offered againſt them.

That the Sitting-Member's Counſel objected to 251 of the Petitioner's Voters; and produced Evidence, who diſqualified 112, under the following Heads; viz.

One a Mortgager, out of Poſſeſſion;
One a Schoolmaſter, not rated;
Two purchaſed within a Year before the Election;
Two were Minors;
Four received Charity;
Fourteen had Freeholds rated under Value;
Four had Freeholds, proved by Witneſſes to be under Value;
Twenty-two had no Freeholds; and
Sixty-two were in none of the publick Rates.

As to 117 other Perſons, objected to by the Sitting-Member's Counſel, the Evidence was as follows;

Sixty-four were objected to, as not rated; viz.

Fifteen upon the Evidence of James Witham, and Forty-nine upon the Evidence of James Harvey; who ſaid, They had inſpected the Rates produced by the Petitioner, and did not find thoſe Perſons Names there; but owned themſelves to be Strangers to the County; and did not know the Places, or the Perſons, of which they ſpoke; nor whether they had any Tenants rated or not: And,

Fifty-three others were objected to, as not being in any Rate:

But the Witneſſes confeſſed, Twenty-ſeven were in ſome of the Rates; and, for the reſt, they could only ſpeak to the Poor Rate alone, or to the Land-Tax alone, and not to both Rates.

That the Sitting-Member's Objections to Twenty-two others were not proved.

To qualify Forty-two of the Sitting-Member's Voters, it was inſiſted on by the Counſel,

That 13 were good Votes, though not rated; viz.

Five Vicars, Four Parſons, and Four Schoolmaſters:

Two were proved to have Freeholds of Value, and Twenty-ſeven were proved to be rated in their own or Tenants Names; which anſwered the Objections that had been made to them.

That the Petitioner's Counſel, on their Reply, alleged, That Six, which had been diſqualified, as not having Free-

Freeholds, or not named in any Rates, were only Miſnomers upon the Poll, by literal Miſtakes of the Clerks; ſuch as Bilſden for Pilſden, Stoke for Stuck, &c.: And,

They proved by the Rates, That 14 were rated; the contrary of which had been averred by the Sitting-Member's Witneſſes, who inſpected thoſe Rates.

Thus the Petitioner's Counſel qualified thoſe 14, and falſified ſeveral of the Sitting-Member's Witneſſes.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Wm. Harvey Eſquire is not duly elected a Knight of the Shire to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the County of Eſſex.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Robert Honywood Eſquire is duly elected a Knight of the Shire to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the County of Eſſex.

Mr. Wentworth junior reported from the Committee, to whom the ingroſſed Bill, from the Lords, intituled, An

An Act for veſting certain Lands and Tenements of Peter Sunderland Eſquire in Truſtees, to be ſold, for Payment of Debts charged thereon before the Making of his Marriage-Settlement, and by virtue thereof, was committed, That they had examined the Allegations of the Bill, and found the ſame to be true; and that the Parties concerned had given their Conſents to the Bill, to the Satisfaction of the Committee: And that the Committee had directed him to report the ſame to the Houſe, without any Amendment: And he delivered the Bill in at the Clerk's Table.

Ordered, That the Report from the Committee, to whom the Petition of ſeveral Merchants trading to, and reſiding in, New-England, on behalf of themſelves, and others, was referred, be received upon Saturday Morning next.

The Houſe proceeded to take into Conſideration the Amendments, made by the Lords, to the Bill, intituled, An Act for holding the Aſſize for the County of Cornwall at a convenient Place within the ſaid County:

And the ſaid Amendments, being read, are as follow; viz.

Pr. 1. L. 6. Leave out from "County" to "for," in the 23d Line of the ſame Preſs, and, inſtead thereof, inſert "which conſtant Holding has been oftentimes found "inconvenient:"

L. 31. After "Sixteen," inſert the Holding of "the Aſſizes, and General Gaol-delivery, for the ſaid "County, ſhall not be confined to the ſaid Town of "Launceſton; but that."

The ſaid Amendments, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That Mr. Bond do carry the Bill to the Lords, and acquaint them, That this Houſe hath agreed to the ſaid Amendments.

Mr. Hampden, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to the Committee, touching the Election for the City of Wells, in the County of Somerſet, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which Report he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſaid Report and Reſolutions were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petitions of Wm. Coward and Wm. Peirs Eſquires, and of Richard Comes, and others, Inhabitants of the City of Wells, in the County of Somerſet, complaining of an undue Election and Return of Thomas Horner and Maurice Berkley Eſquires, for the ſaid City:

That the Committee examined the Merits of the Election:

That the Poll was,

For Mr. Horner,	44:
Mr. Berkley,	43:
Mr. Coward,	22:
Mr. Peirs,	13.

That the Right of Election was agreed to be in the Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes: But,

The Sitting-Members Counſel inſiſted, It was neceſſary they ſhould be ſworn Burgeſſes; which was denied by the Petitioners: And,

To prove what the Petitioners Counſel alleged, That the Commonalty of Wells have a Right of voting, whether ſworn or not ſworn Burgeſſes;

The Journal of 18th February 1695 was read:

When the Queſtion contended for was, Whether the Right of Election was in the Mayor, Burgeſſes, and Inhabitants paying Scot and Lot, or in the Mayor, Maſters, and ſworn Burgeſſes only:

And it was reſolved by the Committee, and agreed to by the Houſe, That the Right of Election is only in the Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes, of the ſaid City.

1° Mariæ. Magiſter civitatis & ejuſdem communitas, eligerunt duos burgenſes & cives:

26° & 30° Eliz. Magiſter & communitas eligerunt burgenſes:

43° Eliz. & 1° & 15° Car. Major, magiſtri, & burgenſes, eligerunt duos civitatis ſive burgi:

1° Jac. 2*di. Major, aldermanni, & burgenſes, eligerunt burgenſes civitat' ſive burgi:*

2° Willielmi & Mariæ. Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes, elected Two Citizens, or Burgeſſes:

1° Annæ. Major, magiſtri, & burgenſes, eliger' duos cives civitat' ſive burgi: Alſo, 31° Elizabethæ. A Charter of Incorporation, reciting, That civitas ſive burgus de Welles was villa antiqua, and had ancient Franchiſes and Privileges; all which are confirmed by this Charter; and an Incorporation is created for the future, and a Common-Council is appointed, to conſiſt of a Mayor, Maſters, and Chief Burgeſſes, in Number 24; who have Power to make Ordinances, and By-laws; and they, and their Officers, to be choſen by them, are required to take an Oath for due Execution of their Offices: From whence the Petitioners Counſel inferred, That this was the Firſt Riſe of the Oath; and that, before this Charter, the Burgeſſes Oath was not neceſſary.

To add 56, who tendered their Poll for the Petitioners, Mr. Coward and Mr. Peirs, it was proved,

They were all Members of ſome of the Companies within the Town, were reſident and exerciſed Trades there: That Six of them had been Maſters, and 38 Wardens, of their Companies: That near 40 of them did, at different times before the Election, ſeverally go to the Mayor's Shop, and there demanded of him to be ſworn Burgeſſes; and that 44, viz. 28 of the ſame Perſons, and 16 others, did afterwards join in a Petition, directed to the Common-Council, for the ſame Purpoſe; claiming it as their Right by Servitude, or by their having been admitted into the Companies before-mentioned.

Dat. 30th September 1714. The Petitioners Counſel produced an Ordinance under the Corporation-Seal, revoking a former Ordinance, That the Maſters and Wardens of Companies ſhould be Burgeſſes; which had been found inconvenient; and, for the future conſtituting, they may be Burgeſſes, or not: And from hence they inferred, That, before this time, the Maſters and Wardens were Burgeſſes.

30° September 1712. Another Ordinance of the Common-Council is entered in the Town-Book, That every inferior Burgeſs ſhall be nominated, choſen, elected, and made, by the Mayor, Maſters, and Chief Burgeſſes, of the Common-Council, at their Convocations, or common Aſſemblies, in the ſame manner as they then were, and had been for 20 Years paſt; and by no other Perſon or Perſons, nor in any other manner, whatſoever:

And there is a Penalty annexed of 100 l. upon the Mayor admitting, and 50 l. upon the Perſon claiming Freedom, in any other manner; and all Elections of inferior Burgeſſes to the contrary are made void.

This Ordinance recites, That this Way of Admiſſion was the ancient Uſage and Cuſtom of the Town; and that an ancient Ordinance, for the ſame Purpoſe, had been loſt, or deſtroyed, by the Alterations made in that Corporation in the Times of King Charles and King James.

The Petitioners Counſel complained of this Ordinance, as an Uſurpation, whereby the Common-Council of the Corporation had engroſſed to themſelves the whole Power of the Borough; to the Prejudice of Perſons who have Right to Freedom; which Right ought not to be controuled by the Common-Council.

The

The Petitioners Counſel objected to Six of the Sitting Members Voters, for Non-reſidency:

It was proved they were not reſient; but were, ſeveral Years ago, ſworn Burgeſſes, had voted in former Elections, and were objected to in 1710, as being honorary Burgeſſes; and that One of them had ſerved in Parliament for this City.

The Sitting Members Counſel inſiſted, That the Right of Election is in the Community, or Select Body, and not in the Commonalty; to be of which Community, it is neceſſary to take the common Burgeſſes Oath, according to the ancient and conſtant Uſage as well before as ſince the Charter:

This, they ſaid, was, in a great meaſure, proved on the Petitioners Part; and, referring to what had been offered, they added the following Evidence; viz.

Twelve Returns to Parliament:

1° Mariæ. Magiſter & co'itas eligerunt:

1° & 2° Phil. & Mariæ, & 14° Eliz. Magiſter & burgenſes elegerunt: And,

Nine Returns after the Charter; viz.

39° & 43° Elizabethæ, 1° Jac. 3° & 15° Car. & 13° Car. II*di.* Six Returns; Major, magiſtri, & burgenſes, elegerunt:

25° & 31° Car. II*di.* Two Returns; Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes, elected; being the major Part of the Burgeſſes, Citizens, and Electors:

7° Annæ. Major, magiſtri, & burgenſes, elegerunt.

To prove the Antiquity of ſwearing the Burgeſſes, and that it did not come in with the Charter; the Form of their Oath is recorded in the Town-books, in the Reigns of Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, and King James the Firſt.

The Sitting Members Counſel alleged, That Admiſſion into any of the Companies within this Town gives a Freedom to exerciſe Trade there; but that a Burgeſhip carries with it farther Privileges, and, peculiarly, Exemptions from inferior Offices; for which they anciently paid Fines; and, by the Conſtitution, cannot have Burgeſhip, but by Admiſſion at the Convocations, or General Aſſemblies, of Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes, in Common-Council: And ſeveral ancient Entries were read in the Town-books, of Admiſſions at ſuch Convocations, and Gifts given, and Fines paid, for the Burgeſhip, in the Reigns of Queen Mary, Queen Eliz. King James the Firſt, and in ſubſequent Reigns: And it appeared, That Freedom had been once refuſed; and, in ſeveral Inſtances, was granted, upon a Second or Third Petition for it:

And it was alleged by the Counſel, That if this ancient and uninterrupted Uſage be inverted, this Town will be in the utmoſt Confuſion, and want Perſons to ſerve inferior Offices.

And it was proved by Wm. Sage, and Mr. Jo. Gutch, the Town-Clerk; the Firſt of which ſpoke to 40 Years Uſage, and the other to 15; That, in all their time, none ever voted but the Mayor, Maſters, and ſworn Burgeſſes; and that the common and conſtant Reputation has always been, That no others have any Right of voting; and that no others ever pretended to vote till lately: And,

Mr. Gutch added, That, according to the Conſtitution of the Town, and in all his time, all Admiſſions to Burgeſhip muſt be, and have been, at the Common-Hall, by Vote of the Majority of their Convocations, or Aſſemblies, of Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes being of the Common-Council; and that, out of ſuch Convocation, or at any other Aſſembly, or by the Mayor alone, none can be, or ever have been, admitted in his time:

He farther ſaid, That the Petition for Burgeſhip, ſigned by the 44 Perſons before-mentioned, was not preferred at any ſuch Convocation, but at a Quarter-Seſſion; which is an Aſſembly of a different Nature from their Convocations: And ſaid, He never knew any ſuch Petition offered at any ſuch Seſſion before.

It appeared, by the Journal of 1695, That, in the then controverted Election, Richard Fryer, aged 68 Years, and who is ſince dead, teſtified, That he knew Sir Ralph Hopton, and Mr. Baker, elected, before the War broke out, by the Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes; and believed, he was preſent at Mr. Hall's Election; and that he was elected in the ſame manner: And,

It was then alſo proved by Mr. Trim, the then Town-Clerk, That Three of the Candidates declared they would be elected by the ſworn Burgeſſes; and the other Candidate, the then Petitioner, ſaid nothing, but polled as a Burgeſs; and though there were a great many Freemen preſent at the Poll, and at the ſealing the Return, their Claim was not inſiſted on: But it was then proved, on the other Side, That the Freemen had demanded a Poll, and ſigned an Indenture, for the Petitioner.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Right of Election of Citizens to ſerve in Parliament for the City of Wells, in the County of Somerſet, is in the Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes, of the ſaid City.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Thomas Horner Eſquire is not duly elected a Citizen to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid City of Wells.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Maurice Berkley Eſquire is not duly elected a Citizen to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid City of Wells.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Wm. Coward Eſquire was duly elected a Citizen to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid City of Wells.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Wm. Peirs Eſquire is duly elected a Citizen to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid City of Wells.

The Firſt Reſolution being read a Second time;

Reſolved, That this Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, That the Right of Election of Citizens to ſerve in Parliament for the City of Wells, in the County of Somerſet, is in the Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes, of the ſaid City.

The Second Reſolution being read a Second time;

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That the Houſe do agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, That Thomas Horner Eſquire is not duly elected a Citizen to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid City of Wells;

The Houſe divided.

The Noes go forth.

Tellers for the Yeas,	Mr. Bond, Mr. Yonge:	96.
Tellers for the Noes,	Mr. Palmer, Mr. Elford:	48.

So it was reſolved in the Affirmative.

The Third, Fourth, and Fifth, Reſolutions, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Reſolved, That the By-law, made by the governing Part of the Corporation of Wells in 1712, pretending to inflict One hundred Pounds Penalty on the Mayor that nominates or makes any Burgeſs without the Conſent of the major Part of the Corporation, and 50 l. Penalty on any Burgeſs that takes the Oath appointed to be taken by the Burgeſs, or that uſe, claim, or challenge, any Freedom or Privilege of a Burgeſs, without ſuch Aſſent, is arbitrary and illegal.

Ordered, That the Clerk of the Crown do attend this Houſe To-morrow Morning, to amend the Return for the City of Wells, by raſing out the Names of Thomas Horner Eſquire, and Maurice Berkley Eſquire, and inſerting the Names of Wm. Coward Eſquire, and William Peirs Eſquire.

Mr. Hampden, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to the Committee, touching the Election for the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which Report he read in his Place; and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſaid Report and Reſolutions were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of divers Inhabitants of the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, who pay Scot and Lot, complaining of an undue Election and Return of Robert Clarges and Felix Calvert Eſquires, for the ſaid Borough:

That the Committee examined the Merits of the Election.

That the Petitioners Counſel alleged this to be a Borough by Preſcription; and that the Right of Election is in the Inhabitants only who pay Scot and Lot:

That the Sitting Members Counſel inſiſted, That Freemen not receiving Alms have alſo a Right of voting.

To prove their Allegation, the Petitioners Counſel produced a Copy of the Roll of Fines, 37° Hen. III*tii*; Homines de Rading dant Regi C. libr' pro quodam brevi habendo, quod ipſi manuteneantur in eiſdem libertatibus, quibus uſi ſuerunt temporibus predeceſſorum regis, regum Angliæ:

And the following Returns to Parliament; viz.

33° Edward Iſt, and 1° Edward II*di*; 19 Edward IId, 1° & 43° Edward III*tii*, Pro communitate villæ:

1° Ricardi II*di*. Per communitatem villæ Redyng, pro communitate ejuſdem villæ.

That the Sitting Members Counſel inſiſted on the ancient Uſage of the Town, and the laſt Determination in Parliament: And called,

Simon Finch, Wm. Gandy, Wm. Grover, Tho. Holloway, and Edward Lewis: Who ſpoke for Thirty and Forty Years paſt; and ſaid, That, before the Determination of the Houſe, in 1708, all Houſekeepers, and all Freemen, and the eldeſt Sons of Freemen, being of Age, were always allowed to vote; none were ever objected to, though they received Alms; and the common Reputation was, That they all had a Right of voting.

In 1708, the Houſe determined the Right of Election to be in the Freemen and Inhabitants; ſuch Freemen not receiving Alms, and ſuch Inhabitants paying Scot and Lot.

The Committee came to this Reſolution;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Right of Election of Burgeſſes to ſerve in Parliament for the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, is in the Inhabitants only paying Scot and Lot.

That the Petitioners Counſel admitted a Majority againſt Mr. Cadogan; and proceeded to diſqualify the Sitting Members, on account of Bribery, and corrupt Practices: And called John Morley: Who ſaid, That John Baskerville declared to him, and ſeveral others, That, on the Night before the Election, he received of Wm. Gandy, who made Intereſt for the Sitting Members, Six Guineas between himſelf and Joſeph Spire, to vote for the Sitting Members.

John Pigot ſaid, That, after the Proclamation was out for a new Parliament, he had his Freedom given him, to vote for the Sitting Members; for which he promiſed his Vote; and, about Three Weeks before the Election, Gandy gave him Three Guineas to be true to his Promiſe; and he was ſo.

Wm. Boote junior ſaid, That, before the Election, Gandy promiſed him a Reward to vote for the Sitting Members; and, after he had voted, gave him a Guinea.

Henry Morley ſaid, Daniel Graves told him, the Night before the Election, at a Publick-houſe, That Gandy had given him a Guinea to vote for the Sitting Members; and ſhewed the Money.

John Elkins ſaid, That Mr. Gandy and Mr. Winkfeild gave him 2 l. 13 s. to vote for the Sitting Members: He gave a ſingle Vote for Mr. Cadogan; and then Mr. Curtis, who ſollicited Votes for Mr. Cadogan, gave him Two Guineas for voting:

That Thomas Hall told him, Gandy gave him 2 l. 1 s. 6 d. to vote for the Sitting Members:

That Richard Buckle junior told him, That Wm. Nokes, who made Intereſt for the Sitting Members, gave him Thirty Shillings to vote for them: And,

John Samples owned, He had Money to vote for the Sitting Members; but did not ſay what.

John Morley ſaid, That John Smith told him, He had received ſome Money to vote for the Sitting Members; but did not ſay what, or of whom he had it:

This Witneſs, being croſs-examined, owned, That Mr. Curtis gave Money, on the other Side, for Votes for Mr. Cadogan; particularly, Two Guineas to James Hill for one Side of his Mouth, as the Phraſe was for one Vote; and that Hill had Beef and Strong Beer for the other Side of his Mouth; and voted for the Sitting Members.

James Quarrington ſaid, That Mr. Gandy aſked his Vote for the Sitting Members, and gave him a Guinea for it; and alſo paid him a Sum of Three Pounds, for which the Witneſs had formerly given him a Diſcharge; thinking then, that he was not obliged to pay it; but, now, upon Gandy's aſking his Vote, he inſiſted to have that Money; and Gandy paid it.

Jacob Stanborough ſaid, That, in the Morning of the laſt Day of the Poll, Richard Sweed offered him Four Guineas for one Side of his Mouth for the Sitting Members; but that not doing, Peter Zinzan, who aſked Votes for them, afterwards gave him Five Guineas; which he produced, and ſaid, They carried his Vote.

That the Sitting Members Counſel called the following Witneſſes; viz.

Richard Alder: Who voted for Mr. Cadogan ſingly; and ſaid, That Mr. Jo. Curtis, who diſtributed Money about the Town for Votes for Mr. Cadogan, aſked the Witneſs's Vote, and gave him, at Two different times, Two Guineas for one Side of his Mouth; and afterwards, upon the laſt Day of the Poll, gave him Four Guineas more for both Sides of his Mouth; and told him, He would double what any other offered:

That, when Mr. Curtis gave him the Firſt Money, he ſent for him to the Black Boy at Reading, where Curtis had a Bag of about 50 or 60 Guineas before him, and about 30 Voters; the Witneſs withdrew, upon receiving his Money, and did not ſee any given to the others:

He added, That they never before had ſuch Gifts for voting; and that he was afraid they ſhould never have the like again.

Wm. Hall ſaid, That Mr. Curtis ſollicited Votes for Mr. Cadogan; and gave him, at Two different times, Three Guineas for one Side of his Mouth for him; with a Promiſe, That he ſhould have as much as any body; and afterwards, in the Morning before the Election, Doctor Harriſon brought him Four Guineas more upon the ſame Account; which not ſatisfying the Witneſs, becauſe he was to have as much as any body, he offered to return the Six Guineas; upon which Major Hall, who ſollicited Votes for Mr. Cadogan, threw him another Guinea; ſaying, It would be a Scandal to him, if One of his Name ſhould be againſt the General:

That, he believed, there was a Quart of Guineas in the Bag which Mr. Curtis had at the Black Boy, and gave away to thoſe that went in to him:

That Francis Bingley told him, He had been in, and received a Guinea: And,

Richard Wright told him, He had Three Guineas for his Vote for Mr. Cadogan.

John Cooper ſaid, Tho. Holloway told him, He had Three or Four Guineas for his Vote for Mr. Cadogan; but did not ſay from whom:

That John Elkins ſhewed him Five or Six Guineas; which, he ſaid, Mr. Curtis gave him to vote for Mr. Cadogan:

That, on the laſt Day of the Election, Stephen Atwater offered him Six Guineas to vote for Mr. Cadogan; and the Witneſs ſaying, He would not do it for 50, Atwater gave him Three Guineas to go out of the Way a fiſhing that Afternoon; which he did, having voted for the Sitting Members the Day before; which Atwater not diſcovering covering till afterwards, he came and told the Witneſs, there was a Miſtake in taking his Money after he had voted on the other Side: To which he anſwered, That he had not miſtaken, if t'other had: That he went a fiſhing, according to his Bargain, and would keep the Money: But the Witneſs returned him Two of the Three Guineas, upon Atwater's making a Work for them, and ſaying, That the General had promiſed him a Place in the Cuſtom-houſe; and it would be a Loſs to him.

Tho. Halloway, being called, confeſſed, That Mr. Curtis gave him Three Guineas to vote for Mr. Cadogan; which he did.

Jeffery Haskins ſaid, That Mr. Curtis, at Two different times before the Election, gave him Four Pounds to vote for Mr. Cadogan; and afterwards, during the Poll, the Witneſs declaring that his Mind was changed, and he would return the Money, Mr. Curtis gave him Five Guineas more, and Elkins gave him another Guinea; which Elkins then alſo gave Robert Lovegrove a Guinea, who had declared he would not poll till he had more Money:

Being croſs-examined, Haskins ſaid, He was offered Beer, but no Money, on the Sitting Members Side.

Wm. Watmore ſaid, That, a Night or Two before the Election, Major Hall gave him Six Guineas to poll for General Cadogan.

John Pither ſaid, Mr. Curtis gave him Five Guineas to vote for General Cadogan.

James Cordery ſaid, Mr. Curtis gave him Forty Shillings at one time, and Six Guineas at another, to vote for General Cadogan:

And he ſaw Curtis give John Smith Forty Shillings for his Vote; but he voted for the Sitting Members.

It appeared by the Evidence, That Mr. Cadogan was not at Reading at the time of the Election; and that moſt of the bribed Voters, named on either Side, were only Freemen, and not Inhabitants paying Scot and Lot, at the time of the Election.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Robert Clarges Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Felix Calvert Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough of Reading.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Wm. Cadogan Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough of Reading.

The Firſt of the ſaid Reſolutions being read a Second time;

Reſolved, That the Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, That the Right of Election of Burgeſſes to ſerve in Parliament for the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, is in the Inhabitants only paying Scot and Lot.

The reſt of the ſaid Reſolutions, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Reſolved, That the late Election of Burgeſſes for the ſaid Borough of Reading is a void Election.

PRAYERS.

A Petition of the poor Priſoners confined in the County of Worceſter, in behalf of themſelves, and many Thouſands of poor Priſoners within this Kingdom, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the poor Petitioners, by Badneſs of Trade, and great Loſſes, are rendered uncapable of paying their juſt Debts, having been confined, ſome Eight, ſome Nine, and ſome 10, Years and upwards; having large Families of Children, chargeable to the ſeveral Pariſhes where they ſeverally reſide: And praying to relieve the Petitioners, by obliging the Petitioners Creditors to accept of the utmoſt Satisfaction they are capable to make, and reſtore the Petitioners to their Liberty.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the poor diſtreſſed Priſoners for Debt in the Gaol of Litchfeild was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Petitioners, having, by ſeveral Loſſes and Misfortunes, been brought under an Incapacity of paying their Debts, have lain ſeveral Years in Priſon, to the utter Ruin of themſelves and Families; the Petitioners are ready to deliver up to their Creditors, upon Oath, all their Effects, in order to obtain their Liberty: And praying to find ſuch Relief as to your great Wiſdom ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

The Clerk of the Crown attended, and, according to Order, amended the Return for the City of Wells, in the County of Somerſet.

Mr. Cholmley reported, from the Committee, who were appointed to inquire into the Cauſes of the unuſual Liberty that has been allowed of late to Perſons committed to the Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms attending this Houſe; whereby they have had Opportunity to make their Eſcapes; the Matter, as it appeared to the Committee; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee have examined ſeveral Witneſſes; and find the Fact as follows; viz.

Mr. Nicolas Ryal ſaid, That, ſoon after the Revolution, in 1688, he was a Deputy to Mr. Topham, then Serjeant at Arms of the Houſe of Commons; and ſo continued till the time of his Death; and that he took ſeveral Perſons into Cuſtody during that time: That Mr. Topham was a Houſekeeper in Bartlett's Buildings; where he kept Four or Five Priſoners in Cuſtody at a time; and when he had not room at home, he uſed to ſend them to One of his Meſſengers Houſes, and not otherwiſe; and that the Priſoners never went abroad without Leave of the Houſe; except in the Caſe of Two Maltmen, who were great Dealers, and committed upon the Complaint of Sir Wm. Whitlock, a Member of this Houſe; and then the Speaker, upon their Application to him, gave them Leave to go out about their Buſineſs; but Ryal always went with them; and they returned the ſame Night in Cuſtody:

Mr. Ryal further ſaid, That Sir John Parſons, Alderman Sturt, and Mr. Fane, Commiſſioners of the Victualing, being ordered into Cuſtody, upon their Petition to the Houſe of Commons, Leave was given them to be confined at their own Houſes, which were within the Bounds of the Victualing-Office; and that Ryal lay at One of their Houſes every Night, and, every Morning, reported to the Serjeant, That he had ſeen his Priſoners: And, except in the Inſtances above-mentioned, he knew of no other Enlargement to the Confinement of any other Perſons in Cuſtody.

Daniel Kingham ſaid, He was a Meſſenger in the Convention-Parliament, under Mr. Topham; who kept his Priſoners at home, and never let them go abroad without a Meſſenger.

John Hollingſhead ſaid, That he was a Meſſenger under Mr. Serjeant Topham about 27 Years ago, when he lived in Bartlett's Buildings: That Mr. Topham uſed to order his Priſoners to a Meſſenger's Houſe; but does not know he ever gave Liberty for any to go abroad without a Meſſenger to attend them; and cannot remember, that Mr.

Topham

Topham ever kept any Priſoners at his own Houſe, in his time, except Mr. Grahme and Burton.

John Cox ſaid, He was a Meſſenger under the late Serjeant Powel; and that Mr. Maſon, now a Member of this Houſe, was committed to his Cuſtody; but that he never went abroad without Cox to attend him.

That Mr. Serjeant Wiburgh, being examined by the ſaid Committee, touching the Matters aforeſaid, gave the following Anſwer; viz.

That Mr. Wm. Waller was, by this Houſe, ordered into his Cuſtody, upon the 24th Day of May 1714, for a Breach of Privilege committed againſt Edward Vaughan Eſquire; and the ſaid Waller ſtanding out in Contempt of the Houſe, upon freſh Application, he was ordered into Cuſtody the Two ſucceeding Seſſions of Parliament; upon the laſt of which Orders he ſurrendered himſelf, and has ever ſince been in Town, ready to appear when ſent for; though he never was confined to cloſe Cuſtody:

That Mr. Walter Price, an Attorney, gave the Serjeant his Word for the ſaid Waller's Forthcoming; which was all the Security the Serjeant had; who ſent Three ſeveral times into Wales to take him, and received, for Charges and Fees, about 60 l. by way of Compoſition; of which he might get about 20 l. clear, above Charges, as he believes:

That Mr. Robert Parker was, upon the 14th of April 1715, ordered into Cuſtody for a Breach of Privilege againſt Mr. Cholmley; and he ſurrendered himſelf into Cuſtody of Tho. Gregory, One of the Meſſengers; who, being a poor Man, and no Houſekeeper, put him into a Friend's Houſe of his, whoſe Name the Serjeant never knew; the ſaid Gregory telling him, That his Priſoner ſhould be forthcoming, at any time, upon Demand, as the Houſekeeper, the ſaid Gregory's Friend, had promiſed him: That the Serjeant received his Caption-fee of 3 l. 6 s. 8 d.; and was promiſed, that it ſhould be made up a greater Sum, when the Matter was over: And that this was all the Security he had from Parker; who is run away:

That, on the 24th of May 1715, Joſeph Calton, Mayor of Hertford, was ordered into Cuſtody for a Breach of Privilege; but the Serjeant did not ſend for him, by reaſon that Mr. Cæſar and Mr. Gulſton promiſed, that he ſhould ſurrender himſelf; which he accordingly did in Two or Three Days; and that he never kept him in Cuſtody; but Hollingſhead the Meſſenger had the Care of him; though, by the Serjeant's Approbation, Calton was not kept in Cuſtody at Hollingſhead's Houſe; nor does he know where he was kept for Ten Months after his Commitment; but that Moffet, One of his Meſſengers, has now the Care of him; but knows not where he is kept: And the Serjeant ſaid, He received 33 Guineas upon Calton's Account; and believes Hollingſhead had 10 Guineas; and believes that the Money was Mr. Cæſar's; but gave a Receipt in Calton's Name.

Robert Moffet, being examined, ſaid, He never had Mr. Calton in his Cuſtody.

That the Serjeant being aſked, What was become of one Berrington, a Printer, ordered into Cuſtody the 1ſt of July 1715;

He ſaid, That Berrington ſurrendered himſelf ſoon after the Order, and was committed to the Care of Moffett the Meſſenger; but, upon Mr. Gawen Maſon's promiſing, That he ſhould be forthcoming, he gave him his Liberty; and does not know where he now is: That he received 20 Guineas of Berrington; but returned Two Guineas back again, by reaſon of his Poverty:

Moffett ſaid, The Serjeant gave Berrington Leave to go home:

And the Serjeant further ſaid, That he was no Houſekeeper, and never kept in cloſe Confinement any Perſons committed to his Cuſtody.

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being propoſed, That Tho. Wybergh, Serjeant at Arms attending this Houſe, having, by unwarrantable and corrupt Practices, permitted divers Perſons, committed to his Cuſtody for notorious Contempts of the Privileges of this Houſe, and other great Offences, to have their Liberty, and Diſcharge, without any Order of the Houſe for ſuch Diſcharge, or any Leave from the Speaker for ſuch Liberty, hath thereby rendered ineffectual the juſt Cenſures of this Houſe, and has been guilty of a great Breach of Truſt in the Execution of his Office;

And the previous Queſtion being put, That that Queſtion be now put;

It was reſolved in the Affirmative.

Then the main Queſtion being put;

It was reſolved in the Affirmative.

Ordered, That the further Conſideration of the ſaid Report be adjourned until Tueſday Morning next.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing Two Burgeſſes to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, in the room of Robert Clarges Eſquire, and Felix Calvert Eſquire; whoſe Election for the ſaid Borough hath been declared void.

Reſolved, That the Number of the ſaid Commiſſioners be Thirteen.

A Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That no Member of this Houſe be a Commiſſioner for putting in Execution the Powers in the ſaid Bill;

PRAYERS.

THE Orders of the Day being read;

The Houſe proceeded to take into Conſideration the Report from the Committee, to whom the Petitions of ſeveral Merchants trading to, and reſiding in, New-England and New-York, were referred:

And the ſaid Report was read; and is as follows; viz.

Upon the Petition of ſeveral Merchants trading to, and reſiding in, New-England and New-York, on account of Monies lent by the ſaid Merchants to the Government, for the Service of the Expedition to Canada:

That the Committee have taken into Conſideration the Matters contained in the ſaid Petitions.

It appeared, That the Petitioners did furniſh the Government with very conſiderable Sums of Money for the Expedition to Canada; and received Bills of Exchange for the ſame, drawn by General Nicholſon, Colonel Hunter Governor of New-York, Sir Hovendon Walker, and others, Agents and Miniſters for the Crown, on the Treaſury-Board, and other Offices, purſuant to her late Majeſty's Inſtructions to them for that Purpoſe.

It appeared, That her late Majeſty, in her Letter of Credit, did promiſe punctual Payment of the ſaid Bills; but the Petitioners have not as yet received any more than a Part of ſome of the ſaid Bills, and of others no Part at all, after a long and tedious Attendance; having been near Five Years out of their ſaid Money.

That the Committee, being deſirous to come to a full Underſtanding of the Caſe, and being acquainted, That Mr. Baniſter could inform the Committee in ſome Facts relating to the Bills of Exchange, ſent for him: And he, appearing, ſaid,

That he was in New-England at the time when General Hill, and Admiral Walker, were there: That the General Court, or Aſſembly, made a Loan to the Merchants of 40,000 l. free of Intereſt, for Two or Three Years; which Money they paid for the Bills of Exchange they received for the Government here; ſo that the Merchants were nothing in Diſburſe:

That the Rate of Exchange was ſettled by the General Court at 40 l. per Cent. Advance; and their own Members ſubſcribed 18,000 l. towards the Supply which was demanded; and the reſt was ſubſcribed in Six Hours time, without giving any publick Notice, that the Subſcription was open; at which the Merchants in general were much diſguſted:

That, afterwards, General Hill applied to the General Aſſembly for 10,000 l. more for carrying on the Expedition; and publick Notice was given of this new Subſcription; and he has heard, that betwixt 50 and 100,000 l. was ſubſcribed to the ſame:

That 40 per Cent. was below the Value of the Exchange; which was, at that time, from 55 to 60 per Cent. among Merchants; and theſe publick Bills preferable to private ones, in Conſideration that no Money was to be paid for them till after Three Years.

Mr. Dummer, who appeared for the Government and Merchants of New-England, replied, That the Loan, made by the Government of New-England to the Merchants, was at firſt but 40,000 l.; when that Sum was found to be inſufficient for the Ends propoſed, they did, at the Deſire of General Hill, and Colonel Nicholſon, add 10,000 l. more:

That the Loan was given at firſt only for Two Years; and that, though the Time of Payment was prolonged for One Year more, it was not done till the Merchants had firſt paid in Half their Money; and had ſet forth, in a Petition, That they had been paid but Two-thirds of any of their Bills, and of ſome no Part at all; and that 5 l. per Cent. had been ſtruck off from others; and that their Correſpondents in England had been at great Charge in ſoliciting the ſame:

That the Merchants had ſince paid in a Sixth-part more of their Debt; and believed all was paid before this time:

Said, That if no Part of the Loan had been paid in, yet it could not be ſaid, that the Merchants had advanced no Money, becauſe the Loan was but 50,000 l.; whereas the Draughts were for above 75,000 l.

In Anſwer to what was alleged in relation to the Aſſembly, That they took the Advantage of the Loan to themſelves, without allowing the Merchants their equal Share, Mr. Dummer produced an atteſted Liſt of all the Perſons who had the Benefit of the Loan; by which it appeared there were but Eleven of the Aſſembly, out of Seventy-four, that were concerned in it:

That the 18,000 l. was not ſubſcribed by the Members of the General Court ſingly, but in Company with other Merchants of the Place, as appeared by the aforeſaid Liſt:

He further called ſeveral Merchants, to whom the Bills for the 18,000 l. were indorſed; who gave an Account, That about 12,000 l. of it were for Account of other Perſons; viz. the Merchants in New-England, and here; ſo that the Merchants neither were, nor could be, diſguſted at the Aſſembly, in relation to the Loan, as was pretended:

He further ſaid, That the Merchants, having advanced Money for the Expedition to Annapolis Royal, the Year before; and they having no Advice of their Bills being paid; were unwilling, and many of them unable, to truſt the Government on a new Score; eſpecially when ſo large a Credit was demanded: Others declared, If they did truſt the Government, they would allow but 20 l. per Cent. for the Exchange of Money: And that, for the Encouragement of the Merchants, as well as to raiſe the Value of the Bills, the Government of New-England came into this Loan.

Mr. Dummer alſo produced a Letter, wrote by Brigadier Hunter to the Lord Treaſurer; giving an Account of what publick Service the Loan in New-England was; and that he, for want of ſuch a Help in his Government of New-York, could get but 30 l per Cent. for his Bills.

As to the other Objection, That the Bills were drawn at an inferior Exchange, he undertook to prove, by the Merchants then preſent, That publick Bills were then at 40 l. per Cent.; and had been ſo both before and ſince:

That private Bills were no higher than 50 l. per Cent.; which were at leaſt 10 l. per Cent. better than the Publick:

As to the publick Bills, he inſtanced in thoſe drawn by Colonel Nicholſon, for the Expedition to Annapolis Royal, the Year before; which were drawn at 40 l. per Cent. and ſo accepted, and paid. They likewiſe produced a large Liſt of Bills of Exchange on the Navy, Victualing, and Board of Ordnance, ſince the Expedition, at 35, 40, and 45, per Cent.

That

That they produced likewiſe a Contract, made between the Navy-Board and Mr. Benjamin Edmunds, for ſupplying the Man of War at Boſton with Money, at 45 per Cent. Exchange; which being but a ſingle Ship, it muſt be ſuppoſed, that when a whole Squadron arrives, the Suddenneſs and Greatneſs of the Demand muſt alter the Exchange at leaſt 5 l. per Cent.; it being well known among Merchants, that the Value of every thing alters according to the Demand:

That, as to private Bills, Mr. Dummer produced Twenty Sets of Bills drawn by Mr. Borland, an eminent Merchant at Boſton, in the Year 1711, when the Expedition was, and in the Year following, for 50 l. per Cent.; and likewiſe Five Sets of Bills drawn by Mr. Belcher, a Merchant of undoubted Credit, in the ſame Year, and at the ſame Rate: He likewiſe appealed to the private Bills drawn in that Year by General Nicholſon, and his Secretary Mr. Netmaker, at 40 l. per Cent.; which were honourably paid: He then ſaid, That, in all private Bills, the Cuſtom is to give Bond to pay Cent. per Cent. in caſe the Bills are not paid to a Day; becauſe leſs than that would not make Satisfaction to Merchants for the Diſappointment of their Bills: That this makes 10, if not 15, l. per Cent. Difference. Several Sets of Bills were alſo produced, drawn by Mr. Nicolas Robarts on Mr. John Mead and Company, payable to Mr. Sandford, and others, at 40 l. per Cent.; drawn about the time of the Expedition; by which it appears, That the Rate of the Exchange was rather under than above 50 l. per Cent.

That, as to the New-York Bills, which were drawn upon the Treaſury, it appeared to the Committee, That the ſame were all paid in Money, and the Exchange ſettled by Colonel Hunter, the Governor of New-York, at 30 l. per Cent.:

But the Merchants received Two-thirds of the ſaid Bills of Exchange, and that in South-Sea Stock, when the ſame was at a great Diſcount; and were ſtruck off 10 l. per Cent. of the Exchange; and made it 140 l. New-York Money, for 100 l. Sterling, inſtead of 130 l. as drawn.

That the Committee, in order to ſet this Matter in a true Light, and to ſtate the Fact to the Houſe, did examine into the Inſtructions given by her late Majeſty, and her Miniſtry, to the Governors of New-England and New-York; as alſo to General Hill, General Nicholſon, Colonel Arnott, Sir Hovendon Walker, and other Officers concerned in the late Expedition; and it did appear, by the ſeveral Inſtructions given to them, That they, the ſaid Colonel Hunter, Colonel Dudley, General Hill, Colonel Nicholſon, Colonel Arnot, Sir Hovendon Walker, and others, had ſufficient Authority from her late Majeſty to draw Bills of Exchange on the Government for ſuch Sum and Sums of Money as they thought neceſſary, and to provide Stores as they ſhould have Occaſion for, in North America, for the Service of the ſaid Expedition to Canada:

But the Committee did obſerve, That the aforeſaid Inſtructions were not counterſigned.

That, upon the whole Matter, it appeared to the Committee, That there were Seventeen Bills of Exchange drawn by Colonel Arnot, from New-England, on the late Paymaſter of the Army, amounting, in the Whole, to 23,947 l. 11 s. 11 d. Sterling; whereof Two-thirds of the ſaid Bills, amounting to 15,631 l. 14 s. 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. is paid; So there remains due thereon the Sum of —— —— —— 8,315 17 3$\frac{3}{4}$

That there is One Bill of Exchange drawn by Colonel Hunter and Colonel Nicholſon on the ſaid late Paymaſter for 130 l. 10 s.; whereof Two-thirds, amounting to 87 l. is paid: So there remains due thereon the Sum of —— 43 10 0

That there is One Bill of Exchange drawn by Sir Hovendon Walker on the Commiſſioners of the Ordnance for 2,260 l. 19 s. 11 d.; whereof Two-thirds of the ſaid Bills, amounting to 1,507 l. 6 s. 7 d. is paid: So there remains due thereon the Sum of —— 753 13 4

That there are Four Bills of Exchange drawn by Wm. Haws on the Commiſſioners of the Ordnance, amounting to 1,028 l. 5 s. 8 d.; whereof Two-thirds, amounting to 685 l. 10 s. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. is paid: So there remains due thereon the Sum of —— —— —— 342 15 2$\frac{1}{2}$

That there are Two Bills of Exchange drawn by Colonel Dudley and Colonel Nicholſon on the Right Honourable the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury, amounting to 469 l. 8 s. 3 d.; whereof Two-thirds, amounting to 312 l. 18 s. 10 d. is paid; So there remains due the Sum of —— —— 156 9 5

That there are Eight Bills of Exchange drawn by Colonel Dudley on the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury, whereof no Part is paid, amounting to the Sum of —— —— —— 4,499 17 5

That there are Twenty-four Bills of Exchange drawn by Sir Hovendon Walker, Daniel Mahon, and John Horton, on the Commiſſioners of Victualing, amounting to 13,520 l. 18 s. 10 d.; the Exchange of which Bills being altered from 40 to 45 l. per Cent. reduces that Sum to 13,054 l. 13 s. 4 d.; Two-thirds whereof, amounting to 8,703 l. 1 s. 10 d. being paid, there remains due thereon the Sum of —— 4,351 11 6

So the Total due on the before-mentioned New-England Bills of Exchange, amounts to the Sum of— 18,463 14 2$\frac{1}{4}$

It appears alſo to the Committee, That there are 116 Bills of Exchange drawn by Colonel Hunter, from New-York, on the Treaſury, amounting to 17,049 l. 12 s. 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ d.; the Exchange of which Bills being altered from 30 to 40 l. per Cent. reduces that Sum to 15,831 l. 12 s. 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ d.; Two-thirds whereof being paid in South-Sea Stock, amounting to 10,554 l. 8 s. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. there remains due thereon the Sum of 5,277 4 1$\frac{3}{4}$

That there are Five other Bills of Exchange drawn by Colonel Hunter, from New-York, on the Treaſury, of which no Part is paid, amounting to the Sum of 370 l.; which, if altered to an Exchange of 40 l. per Cent. makes the Sum of — —— 343 11 4$\frac{3}{4}$

So that the total Sum remaining due on the before-mentioned Bills of Exchange, drawn from New-York, amounts to the Sum of — 5,620 15 6$\frac{1}{2}$

The Committee do obſerve, That there is One Bill of Exchange more, for 5,957 l. 11 s. 4 d. drawn on the Commiſſioners of the Navy, payable to Benja. Edmonds, being for Account of Mr. Andrew Fanuill; Two-thirds of which Bill has been paid: So there remains due to Mr. Fanuell, upon the ſaid Bill, the Sum of 1,917 l. 7 s. 7 d.:

But the Commiſſioners of the Navy did object againſt the Payment thereof; and ſaid, That the ſame was not a regular Bill:

That Mr. Fanuel was an Agent for Sir Hovendon Walker:

That the Account given in by Mr. Fanuel was very extravagant:

That the ſaid Mr. Fanuel has charged 5 l. per Cent. Commiſſion-money for his own Goods:

That, for theſe Reaſons, the Commiſſioners of the Navy did inſiſt, That the ſaid Mr. Fanuel, being employed

as an Agent by Sir Hovendon Walker, ought to paſs his Account with the ſaid Commiſſioners, according to the Courſe of the Navy, before he receive any more Money upon that Bill:

In Anſwer to which Objections, Mr. Fanuell ſaid, That the whole Sum was paid to Sir Hovendon's Order; and every Voucher ſays, received of him: He believes the Bill for 5,957 l. 11 s. 4 d. will be judged to be a good Bill of Exchange: The Draught is on the Navy-board: There are Four of the ſame Tenor and Date: It is payable to Mr. Fanuel, or Order: The Rate of the Exchange is mentioned; and the Value is owned to be received: Which Particulars are humbly conceived to be all that is eſſential is a Bill of Exchange: However, Mr. Fanuel took it for a good and regular Bill; and that Sir Hovendon intended it as ſuch, is evident from his giving it that Name in the Body of it.

Mr. Fanuell admits, That he received Two-thirds of his Bill in like manner as the other Bills were paid; which, he thinks, plainly ſhews the ſame was reckoned a Bill of Exchange by the Government.

Mr. Fanuell ſays, That if there were a greater Quantity of Materials, and other Stores, furniſhed, than the Service of the Fleet required, as has been objected, that muſt lie upon Sir Hovendon Walker; by whoſe Order every thing was furniſhed, as he owns himſelf in the Certificate annexed to his Bill of Exchange.

Mr. Fanuel further ſays, That if the Stores were charged at exceſſive Prices, as has been alſo objected, that muſt lie upon the Auditors, who were appointed by the Governor at Sir Hovendon's Requeſt; he the ſaid Mr. Fanuel made no Prices for any thing; but only paid the Money to the reſpective Tradeſmen, after their Accounts had been examined, approved, and ſigned, by the Auditors.

Ordered, That the further Conſideration of the ſaid Report be adjourned till Saturday Morning next.

Ordered, That the Report from the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for ſtrengthening the Proteſtant Intereſt of this Kingdom, by enforcing the Laws now in being againſt Papiſts, was committed, be received To-morrow Morning.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

A Meſſage from his Majeſty, by Sir William Oldes, Gentleman-Uſher of the Black Rod:

Mr. Speaker,

The King commands this Honourable Houſe to attend his Majeſty, immediately, in the Houſe of Peers.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, with the Houſe, went up to the Houſe of Peers.

And, being returned;

Several Members, returned upon new Writs, took the Oaths, and made and ſubſcribed the Declaration, and took and ſubſcribed the Oath of Abjuration, according to the Laws made for that Purpoſe.

Then a Bill for the more effectual preventing, and puniſhing, the Stealing, and unlawful Killing, of Cattle, was read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

Mr. Speaker reported, That the Houſe had attended his Majeſty, in the Houſe of Peers: Where his Majeſty was pleaſed to declare, That he had commanded the Lord Chancellor to declare the Cauſes of his Majeſty's meeting his People in Parliament at this time, as they were contained in a Speech, which his Majeſty delivered into the Lord Chancellor's Hands from the Throne; and his Lordſhip read the ſame to both Houſes: And that, to prevent any Miſtakes, Mr. Speaker ſaid, he had obtained a Copy; which he read to the Houſe; and is as followeth;

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Was in Hopes, that the Succeſs which it pleaſed God to give us, in defeating the late Rebellion, might have ſecured to the Nation Peace, Plenty, and Tranquillity.

My Endeavours have not been wanting, during your Receſs, to improve the happy Proſpect which was in View, by entering into ſuch Negotiations, as I judged moſt conducive to thoſe good Ends; and 'tis with Pleaſure I can acquaint you, That many Defects in the Treaties of Utrecht, which very nearly affected the Trade, and even the Security, of theſe Kingdoms, have been remedied by ſubſequent Conventions; the happy Conſequences of which have already very ſenſibly appeared, by the flouriſhing Condition of our Trade and Credit.

By the Alliance lately concluded with France, and the States-General, we are ſoon to be eaſed of all future Apprehenſions from Dunkirk and Mardyke: The Pretender is actually removed beyond the Alps; his Adherents are deprived of all Hopes of Support and Countenance from France; and even the Aſſiſtance of that Crown is ſtipulated to us, in caſe of Exigency.

It ſeemed reaſonable to expect, that ſuch a Situation of Affairs, at home and abroad, ſhould have recovered from their Deluſion all ſuch of our Subjects as had unhappily been ſeduced by the Craft and Wickedneſs of deſperate and ill-deſigning Men; and thereby have afforded me the Opportunity, which I deſired, of following the natural Bent of my own Inclinations to Lenity, by opening this Seſſion with an Act of Grace: But ſuch is the obſtinate and inveterate Rancour of a Faction amongſt us, that it hath again prompted them to animate and ſtir up foreign Powers to diſturb the Peace of their native Country: They will chooſe rather to make Britain a Scene of Blood and Confuſion, and to venture even the putting this Kingdom under a foreign Yoke, than give over their darling Deſign of impoſing a Popiſh Pretender.

I have ordered to be laid before you Copies of Letters, which have paſſed between the Swediſh Miniſters on this Occaſion; which contain a certain Account of the projected Invaſion: And I promiſe myſelf, from your experienced Zeal and Affection to my Perſon and Government, that you will come to ſuch Reſolutions, as will enable me, by the Bleſſing of God, to defeat all the Deſigns of our Enemies againſt us.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I did hope, the putting an End to the late Rebellion would have ſo far ſecured the Peace and Tranquillity of the Nation, that I might, conſiſtently with the Safety of my People, have made a conſiderable Reduction of the Forces: But the Preparations which are making from abroad to invade us, oblige me to aſk ſuch Supplies, as you ſhall find abſolutely neceſſary for the Defence of the Kingdom.

You are all ſenſible of the inſupportable Weight of the National Debts, which the Publick became engaged for, from the Neceſſity of the Times; the Preſſures of a long and expenſive War, and the languiſhing State of publick Credit: But the Scene being now ſo happily changed, if no new Diſturbances ſhall plunge us again into Streights and Difficulties, the general Expectation ſeems to require of you, that you ſhould turn your Thoughts towards ſome Method of extricating yourſelves, by reducing, by degrees, the Debts of the Nation.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I have an intire Confidence in you; and have therefore nothing to aſk, but that you would take ſuch Meaſures as will beſt ſecure your Religion and Liberties: While you preſerve thoſe ineſtimable Bleſſings, I ſhall ſit eaſy and ſafe on my Throne; having no other View but the Happineſs and Proſperity of my People.

After which, Mr. Secretary Stanhope acquainted the Houſe, That his Majeſty had commanded him to lay before this Houſe Copies of Letters which paſſed between Count Gyllenberg, the Baron Gortz, Sparr, and others, relating to the Deſign of raiſing a Rebellion in his Majeſty's Dominions, to be ſupported by a Force from Sweden:

And he preſented the ſame to the Houſe accordingly.

And the ſaid Copies were read; and are bound up with other Papers of this Seſſion.

Reſolved, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, to return him the Thanks of this Houſe for his moſt gracious Speech from the Throne: To congratulate his Majeſty upon his ſafe and happy Return to his Kingdoms; and upon the prudent Adminiſtration of the Government by his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales, under his Majeſty; and the great Care his Royal Highneſs took of the Peace and Security of the Kingdom during his Majeſty's Abſence: To acknowlege his Majeſty's Goodneſs and tender Regard to his People, in remedying the fatal Defects of the Treaties at Utrecht; and in ſo ſeaſonably diſcovering the traiterous Deſigns that are again ſet on foot againſt his Sacred Perſon, and Government: To expreſs the higheſt Reſentment and Indignation at this deſperate Attempt: And to aſſure his Majeſty, That this Houſe will ſtand by, and ſupport, his Majeſty againſt all his Enemies at home and abroad, who ſhall, in any manner, aid and abet the Pretender to his Crown; and will moſt chearfully contribute ſuch Supplies as ſhall be found neceſſary for the Safety of his Royal Perſon, and the Defence of his Kingdoms; and will apply themſelves, with all poſſible Diligence and Attention, to the great and neceſſary Work of reducing the National Debts.

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to draw up an Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty, upon the ſaid Reſolution:

And it is referred to Mr. Onſlowe, Sir John Browlowe, Mr. Secretary Stanhope, the Earl of Hertford, Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer, Colonel Grahme, Mr. Pelham, Mr. Secretary Methuen, Mr. Craggs, Lord Stanhope, Mr. Molineux, Sir Wm. Strickland, Mr. Farrer, Mr. Attorney-General, Lord Wm. Powlett, Mr. Walpole, Mr. Benſon, Mr. Herne, Lord Harvey, Mr. Hampden, Sir John Hobart, Mr. Maſters, Mr. Baylie, Mr. Cockborn, Mr. Pulteney, Mr. Smith, Mr. Aiſliby, Sir Wm. St. Quintin, Sir John Norris, Mr. Wylde, Mr. Serjeant Birch, Lord Caſtlecomer, Mr. Coventry, Colonel Oughton, Mr. Aſh, Mr. Comptroller, Sir Richard Farington, Mr. Nevill, Mr. Yonge, Mr. Micklethwaite, Mr. Hill, Mr. Heyſham, Mr. Clayton, Mr. Brodrick: And they are to meet immediately, in the Speaker's Chamber.

Ordered, That his Majeſty's Speech be referred to the ſaid Committee.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Friday Morning next, take into Conſideration his Majeſty's moſt gracious Speech to both Houſes of Parliament.

Ordered, That the Votes of this Houſe be printed, being firſt peruſed by Mr. Speaker: And that he do appoint the Printing thereof: And that no other Perſon preſume to print the ſame.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

HIS Majeſty having appointed you Governor of his Iſland of Minorca, you will apply yourſelf in the Diſcharge of that Truſt, and in the Execution of ſuch Orders as you ſhall receive, with that Zeal which his Majeſty's Service, and the Intereſt and Proſperity of his Subjects in thoſe Parts, do require.

In caſe of your neceſſary Abſence from the Iſland, it is his Majeſty's Pleaſure, That the Lieutenant-Governor ſhall command in Chief; and, in caſe of his Abſence, the Lieutenant-Governor of Fort St. Philip ſhall command; and, in caſe of his Abſence, That the Command ſhall devolve on the eldeſt Officer in the Iſland.

A true Copy; examined,

After which, the Senſe of the Houſe being, That it was a Military Commiſſion, the ſaid Lieutenant-General came into the Houſe.

Mr. Onſlow reported from the Committee appointed Yeſterday to draw up an humble Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty, That they had drawn up an Addreſs accordingly; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered it in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as followeth; viz.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

YOUR Majeſty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament aſſembled, return your Majeſty their humbleſt Thanks for your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne.

Your Majeſty's ſafe and happy Return into your Kingdoms gave an univerſal Joy to all your People; and as the prudent Adminiſtration of the Government by his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales, under your Majeſty, did, in ſome degree, make the Want of your Royal Preſence more eaſy to us, we beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty upon the Peace and Security, that, during your Majeſty's Abſence, was, by the great Care of his Royal Highneſs, preſerved in the Kingdom, to the general Satisfaction of all your Subjects.

We can never ſufficiently acknowlege the repeated Inſtances of your Majeſty's Goodneſs, and unwearied Concern for the Welfare of your Kingdoms: We ſee, with Admiration, many of the fatal Defects of the Treaties at Utrecht, and the great Diſadvantages that were impoſed upon this Nation, at the Head of a victorious Army, and powerful Confederacy, happily remedied by your Majeſty, even in the midſt of inteſtine Dangers and Troubles: Your conſummate Wiſdom has renewed thoſe Alliances that were baſely betrayed and diſſolved, and concluded ſuch new Treaties, as may render the Peace ſafe and laſting; and we are at a Loſs to determine, whether, in future Ages, the ſuffering the Demolition of the Port of Dunkirk to be ſcandalouſly evaded, will be a greater Reproach, or the procuring the Deſtruction of the Sluices of Mardyke, a greater Honour, to the Britiſh Nation.

We cannot, at the ſame time, but with the higheſt Reſentment and Indignation, look upon the obſtinate and inveterate Rancour of thoſe, who are again endeavouring to embroil their native Country in Blood and Confuſion: It is aſtoniſhing to find, that any, who call themſelves Proteſtants, can be ſo inflexible and reſtleſs in their Endeavours to impoſe upon us a Popiſh Pretender; and rather venture to ſubject the Kingdom to a foreign Yoke, than depart from their darling and avowed Deſign of altering and ſubverting the preſent happy Eſtabliſhment in the Proteſtant Succeſſion. We adore the watchful Eye of Heaven, that has ſo wonderfully guarded and protected your Sacred Perſon; and cannot too much extol the Wiſdom and Vigilance that has been uſed, in ſo early and ſeaſonably diſcovering this deſperate Attempt: And, in order moſt effectually to defeat it, your faithful Commons, with Hearts ſincerely zealous in the Cauſe of their King and Country, aſſure your Majeſty, That they will, to the utmoſt, ſtand by and ſupport your Majeſty againſt all your Enemies at home and abroad, that ſhall, in any manner, preſume to aid or abet the Pretender to your Crown; and will moſt chearfully grant to your Majeſty ſuch Supplies as ſhall be found neceſſary for the Safety of your Royal Perſon, and the Defence of the Kingdom.

We are all but too ſenſible of the inſupportable Weight of the National Debts; and therefore will not neglect to apply ourſelves with all poſſible Diligence and Attention to the great and neceſſary Work of reducing and leſſening, by degrees, this heavy Burden; which may prove the moſt effectual Means of preſerving to the publick Funds a real and certain Security.

The ſaid Addreſs, being read a Second time, was, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Reſolved, That the ſaid Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty by the whole Houſe.

Ordered, That ſuch Members of this Houſe as are of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy-Council do humbly know his Majeſty's Pleaſure when he will be attended by this Houſe.

Ordered, Nemine contradicente, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill to authorize his Majeſty to prohibit Commerce with Sweden, during ſuch time as his Majeſty ſhall think it neceſſary for the Safety and Peace of his Kingdoms: And that Mr. Secretary Stanhope, Mr. Craggs, and Mr. Lowndes, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Veneris, 22° die Februarii;

Prayers.

MR. Comptroller reported, That he having waited upon his Majeſty, to humbly know his Pleaſure when he would be attended by this Houſe, his Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint this Afternoon at Two of the Clock, at his Palace of St. James's.

A Petition of William Wallis Eſquire was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That at the Election for the Borough of Steyning, in the County of Suſſex, Major-General John Pepper, Robert Leaves, John Middleton, Eſquires, and the Petitioner, ſtood Candidates; and that the ſaid Major-General Pepper, and Robert Leaves, by Corruption, and other undue Practices, procured themſelves to . . returned Burgeſſes for the ſaid Borough; to the great Injury of the Petitioner, who ought to have been returned: And praying Relief therein.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of Privileges and Elections: And that they do examine the Matter thereof; and report the ſame, with their Opinion thereupon, to the Houſe.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Chriſt-Church, in the County of Southampton, in the room of William Ettericke Eſquire, deceaſed.

The Houſe, according to Order, proceeded to take into Conſideration his Majeſty's moſt gracious Speech to both Houſes of Parliament:

And the ſame was again read by Mr. Speaker:

And a Motion being made for a Supply to be granted to his Majeſty;

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Monday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider of that Motion.

Ordered, That his Majeſty's Speech be referred to the ſaid Committee.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Sabbati, 23° die Februarii;

PRAYERS.

MR. Speaker reported, That the Houſe did Yeſterday attend his Majeſty, and preſent to him their Addreſs; and that his Majeſty was pleaſed to give this his moſt gracious Anſwer; viz.

Gentlemen,

THE Duty and Zeal which you expreſs, in this loyal Addreſs, to my Perſon and Government; your affectionate Concern for the Welfare of your Country; your Promiſes of an effectual Support againſt all our Enemies at home and abroad; and your Reſolution of applying yourſelves to eaſe my People, by reducing gradually the heavy Load of the publick Debts; deſerve my hearty Thanks: You ſhall never have Cauſe to repent of the Confidence you repoſe in me; the Honour, Welfare, and Proſperity, of this Nation being what I have chiefly at Heart.

Mr. Craggs preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill to authorize his Majeſty to prohibit, or reſtrain, Commerce with Sweden during ſuch time as his Majeſty ſhall think it neceſſary for the Safety and Peace of his Kingdoms: And the ſame was received; and read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be now read a Second time.

The Bill was accordingly read a Second time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be committed.

Reſolved, That the Bill be committed to a Committee of the whole Houſe.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Monday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, upon the ſaid Bill.

A Petition of John Elwill Eſquire was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That at the ..... Borough of Honiton, in the County of Devon, in the room of Sir William Courtney Baronet, who, being likewiſe choſen a Knight of the Shire for the ſaid County, made his Election to ſerve for the County, the Petitioner, and Sir William Pole, Baronet, ſtood Candidates: That, by ſeveral corrupt and indirect Practices made uſe of in behalf of the ſaid Sir William Pole; and in particular by William Gill, Portreeve of the ſaid Borough, by admitting Perſons to vote who had no Right, and refuſing others who had a Right, and would have voted for the Petitioner: And praying Relief.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of Privileges and Elections: And that they do examine the Matter thereof; and report the ſame, with their Opinion thereupon, to the Houſe.

A Petition of ſeveral of the oppreſſed Inhabitants of the ancient Borough of Leominſter, in the County of Hereford, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the ſaid Borough is a Borough by Preſcription, and have ſent Members to Parliament Time immemorial: That it was an open Town until the Diſſolution of Monaſteries, and the happy Reformation thereupon: That the Petitioners Predeceſſors, during thoſe Times of Popery and Superſtition, were influenced by the Prior and Monks of a great Priory within the ſaid Town, and who were not only Lords of it, but ſeveral of the adjacent Pariſhes: That, towards the latter End of the Reign of Edward the Sixth, a Charter of Incorporation was granted for better Government of the ſaid Town; but not ſealed, by reaſon of the Demiſe of the ſaid King; and, during the ſhort Continuance of that Reign, the ancient Privileges of the Petitioners Predeceſſors were rather retrieved and inlarged, than leſſened and deſtroyed thereby; but, a Stop being put to the bleſſed Reformation by the Acceſſion of Queen Mary to the Throne, ſeveral Perſons who, upon that unfortunate Turn, had expreſſed a furious Zeal for the Support of that bloody Government, obtained, as a Reward, a more inlarged Charter, and themſelves to be made Governors of the ſaid Borough, by the Names of a Bailiff, High Steward, Recorder, and Twenty-four Capital Burgeſſes: That the Petitioners Predeceſſors, who profeſſed the Proteſtant Religion in thoſe early Times, and in this then bigotted Place, whilſt the Popiſh Reign laſted, could not, Burning for Conſcience-ſake excepted, lie under heavier Oppreſſions than the Petitioners have done for ſeveral Years laſt paſt: And, as if the Inhabitants of Leominſter were always deſtined, whenever Popery prevailed, and the Proteſtant Intereſt was in Danger of being ſubverted, that their Privileges as Engliſhmen ſhould be, amongſt the firſt, in Hazard of being invaded; the Petitioners do, in the moſt humble manner, repreſent to this Honourable Houſe, That, when the glorious King William, of immortal Memory, the great Preſerver, under God, of the Proteſtant Intereſt, and Liberties of Europe, arrived, to relieve us from King James's Popery, and arbitrary Power, this ancient Borough was reſtored to their juſt Rights and Privileges in the Choice of their Members to ſerve in Parliament; and do, becauſe they may with Truth, and without Vanity, affirm, That no Corporation, for the Space of near Sixteen Years, in this Kingdom made uſe of that great Truſt repoſed in them freer from Corruptions and Bribery, and in all other reſpects with greater regard to the true Intereſt of their Country, than the now abuſed Petitioners did; but ſince thoſe Men have had any Power, who our glorious King, in his Royal Proclamation for ſummoning this preſent Parliament, mentions to have been diſaffected to his happy Acceſſion to the Throne, and to have left this Kingdom not only under the greateſt Difficulties in reſpect of its Trade and Navigation, but have, as his Sacred Majeſty is pleaſed further to declare, to his great Surprize, very much increaſed, even ſince the Concluſion of the laſt War, the publick Debts of the Nation, we the Petitioners have laboured under great Difficulties, by means of the unjuſt and arbitrary Proceedings of the Three following Receivers of the publick Money, who are all Inhabitants of our Town, and Two of them capital Burgeſſes of our Corporation; viz. Caleb Powell Eſquire, our preſent Bailiff, and Receiver-General for the publick Taxes in the Shires of Brecon, Radnor, and Montgomery; James Caſwall Eſquire, likewiſe a capital Burgeſs of the ſaid Borough, and Receiver-General for the publick Taxes of the Counties of Monmouth, and Three more other Counties in the extreme Parts of North Wales; and Samuel Clarke Eſquire, Receiver-General for the publick Taxes in the County of Hereford: That, ſince the Three ſaid publick Officers have had the Command of ſo much publick Money (for before they had none to ſpare from carrying on their reſpective Trades; the One being a Tanner, the other a Glover, and the Third a Mercer), they have, in Combination and Confederacy with Mr. Thomas Price, Attorney at Law, another capital Burgeſs of the ſaid Borough, and Town-Clerk of the ſame, and ſeveral of the Magiſtrates of the ſaid Corporation, at ſeveral paſt Elections, but more eſpecially at the laſt, for chooſing Members for this preſent Parliament, in order to force us to elect Edward Harley Eſquire, Recorder of the ſaid Borough, One of the Auditors of the Impreſts, and Brother to the late Lord Treaſurer the Earl of Oxford, to whoſe Favour Caleb Powell and James Caſwall aforeſaid owe their Employments, by the illegal, arbitrary, and unjuſt, Proceedings following, as far as in them lay, endeavoured to rob us of our invaluable Privileges; to invert the Method of our Elections; and not only to uſurp to themſelves the ſole Government of the Body Corporate, but to bring into the Members thereof the Power, at leaſt, of directing, directing, in an arbitrary manner, the Inhabitants of this ancient Borough by Preſcription who they ſhall truſt with all that is dear to them in this World; and more particularly they, by themſelves, Servants, Agents, or Accomplices, have, by their lending ſo many, and ſuch great, Sums, either of the publick or the ſaid Mr. Harlye's Money, to ſo many of the poorer or moſt indigent Sort of Voters of, and Inhabitants within, the ſaid Borough, and upon ſuch Securities as they the ſaid Voters could not obtain any Money elſewhere, and have ſince broke ſome of the ſaid Voters, got ſuch an Influence upon ſo many of the Voters of the ſaid Borough, that, by their arbitrary, illegal, and unjuſt, Proceedings, and by their Threats of ſuing the ſaid Voters, and forcing them to pay what they are not able, their ſaid Debtors are compelled to comply, and vote in Elections for Members of Parliament, as they are directed by the aforeſaid Magiſtrates, Town-Clerk, and Receivers, or their or ſome of their Agents and Accomplices, contrary to their own Inclinations and Opinions, as many of them declare; and which, being ſo great a Number, makes the Petitioners find the hard Effects of ſuch arbitrary and illegal Proceedings: And moreover, to carry on ſuch indirect Proceedings, the preſent Bailiff, and the Magiſtrates, as living within the ſaid Borough, have, for many Years laſt paſt, by indirect Contrivances, kept the Bailiwick, the Magiſtracy, and Government, of the ſaid Borough in their own Power, and amongſt their own Party; for that the preſent Bailiff hath been Three times Bailiff of the ſaid Borough, Two Years of which have been within the Space of Ten Years laſt paſt; and the ſaid James Caſwell hath been Four times Bailiff of the ſaid Borough; and hath been, within the Space of Seven Years laſt paſt, Bailiff of the ſaid Borough for Three Years ſucceſſively; and his Father-in-law Edward Bangham Eſquire, One of the Juſtices of the Peace of the ſaid Borough, hath been Three times Bailiff of the ſaid Borough, and ended his laſt Year's Bailiwick at Michaelmas laſt; and, for the Continuance of ſuch their Management, and keeping up the Number of their Party in the Chamber, there are but Nineteen Perſons, beſides the Bailiff, in that Community, which ought to conſiſt of Twenty-four, beſides the Bailiff: And the ſaid Bailiff, and his Accomplices, neglect to fill up the ſaid Chamber with other proper and fit Perſons; becauſe thoſe who are moſt proper and fit to be choſen for capital Burgeſſes of the ſaid Borough are in a contrary Intereſt, and oppoſite to them, and who will not willingly join in ſuch indirect Practices as are uſed in the ſaid Chamber, who have divers Houſes, Lands, and Tenements, belonging to the ſaid Chamber lying within the ſaid Borough, and are demiſed to many of the Inhabitants and Voters of the ſaid Borough for Lives, under yearly Rents and Fines; which Fines are arbitrary; but, where the Tenants are in the Intereſt of the now and late Years prevailing Bailiff and Magiſtrates, and their Aſſociates, their Fines are much eaſier than their Oppoſers are forced to undergo; and, as an Inſtance in this Matter, the aforeſaid Mr. Edward Bangham, and Mr. Thomas Price, who hold the Two Meſſuages they reſpectively live in, and lying within the ſaid Borough, by Leaſe under the ſaid Chamber, by their Friendſhip amongſt their Brethren, obtained each of them a Leaſe of their reſpective Houſes for Three Lives; with a Covenant, that each of them ſhould, upon the Death of any One Life mentioned in their reſpective Leaſes, be admitted to add a Third Life, at One Year's Value, at ſuch a Rate as they then put upon their reſpective Houſes; whereas none other of the Tenants of the ſaid Chamber ever had any ſuch Covenant allowed them: And the ſaid Bailiff and Magiſtrates, and ſeveral others of their Party in the ſaid Chamber, being Commiſſioners, and having the executive Power of directing and levying all the Taxes within the ſaid Borough, they have, for many Years laſt paſt, extremely eaſed themſelves, and the Perſons in their Party, in all or moſt of their reſpective Taxes; and loaded their Oppoſites with Stock in Trade, Money at Intereſt, and other heavy Burdens, contrary to the Rules of common Juſtice; but the Receivers, who have each of them ſeveral Thouſands of Pounds at Intereſt, not charged for the ſame: And, as an undeniable Inſtance of their Injuſtice to the Government, there is not, nor hath been, One Houſe lying within the ſaid Borough charged at Thirty Shillings per Annum for Light-money, according to the Act of Parliament, ſince the ſame was made; though there are near Forty Houſes within the ſaid Borough that ought to be charged therewith; and in ſuch Method are theirs, and all their Votaries, Houſes, underrated, or totally omitted to be rated: And, for the further Carrying on of their Oppreſſion in the like Nature, all Perſons who will engage with them, and vote in their Intereſt, are admitted to be Inhabitants, and vote in the ſaid Borough, without giving any, or, at leaſt, no ſufficient, Security to indemnify the Town from their Charge; and by which means ſome Families are now, and more like to become, a Charge to this Borough for the Support of them; but, if any Perſons who are their Oppoſites come to live with.. the ſaid Borough, they are forced to give undeniable Security; nor will that be accepted but at Will and Pleaſure; and alſo all ſuch, and likewiſe ſuch other Perſons who are their Oppoſites, living within the ſaid Borough, are loaded with Offices, forced to ſerve upon unprofitable Juries, impoveriſhed by the Inequality of Taxes, and terrified by the Frowns and Threats of the Magiſtrates, and governing Part of the Town; and ſuch as are Publick-houſe Keepers and Voters, if they will not join with the ſaid Magiſtrates in voting for Members of Parliament as they pleaſe, are threatened they ſhall have no Licences to ſell Ale; but ſuch as will comply with them ſhall be licenſed, or have Leave to ſell Ale without Licence; by reaſon whereof, there are this preſent time Forty Publick-houſes that ſell Ale within this ſmall Borough: Under all which Aggrievances, the oppreſſed Petitioners have laboured for ſeveral Years laſt paſt; and therefore have juſt Reaſon now to complain; which they would have avoided, had not the ill Practices, unjuſt and corrupt Proceedings, in the laſt Election for Members to ſerve for the ſaid Borough in this preſent Parliament, given them juſt Occaſion to repreſent to this Honourable Houſe, That after the aforeſaid Caleb Powell Eſquire, the preſent Bailiff of this Borough, had received the Mandate from the Sheriff of the County of Hereford, for the electing Two Burgeſſes to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for this Borough, by the Advice of his aforeſaid Town-Clerk, and, as is believed, by the Approbation, if not Direction, of the aforeſaid Mr. Harley the Recorder, after Sun-ſet, on Friday the Twenty-eighth Day of January laſt paſt, did cauſe publick Notice to be affixed on ſeveral Places in the ſaid Town, That he the ſaid Bailiff intended to proceed to elect Two Burgeſſes to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough, by Nine of the Clock on the Tueſday Morning following, being the Firſt Day of February inſtant; which was but Three Days Notice, and contrary to the Act of Parliament in that Caſe made and provided, which requires Four Days Notice, at leaſt, to be given of ſuch Elections: And notwithſtanding the ſaid Bailiff was then informed, that ſuch Notice was not according to Law; yet the ſaid Bailiff would not alter what he had directed; nor did he take care, that the Town-Clerk ſhould publiſh the Proclamation for diſſolving the laſt Parliament: And the Petitioners further ſheweth, That, from the time that the aforeſaid publick Notice was given, even to the very Hour of the Election, and during the ſame, ſuch Bribery, arbitrary and corrupt Proceedings, by Menaces, Threats, Force, and Locking up of Voters the Night before the Election, were uſed and practiſed within the ſaid Borough, for and on the behalf of the ſaid Edward Harley, by the ſaid Receivers, Magiſtrates, their Agents or Accomplices, or ſome of them, as ....want Words to expreſs, by forcing Men to vote contrary to their Inclinations and faithful Promiſes, and by filling them ſo with Drink, that many of the Voters, when they paſſed their Votes, did not rightly underſtand who they voted for; and which had ſo lamentable an Effect upon One of the ſaid Voters, formerly a very ſober Man, that, as ſoon as he was led home from voting, he was laid down upon his Bed in his Cloaths, and declared he was prevailed with to vote againſt his Con-

Conſcience, and forthwith died; and, at the ſaid Election, the Bailiff admitted ſeveral Perſons to vote for the ſaid Mr. Harley, who had no Right of voting, and refuſed to allow the Votes, or to poll ſeveral Perſons there produced, and offered to be polled, on the behalf of Henry Gorges Eſquire, and who had a juſt Right of voting; and which, had they been polled as they ought to have been, would have caſt the Majority on Mr. Gorges' Side againſt Mr. Harley: And moreover, Thomas Bayly Gentleman, Under-Sheriff for the County of Hereford, came into Court about the Middle of the ſaid Poll, at which time he had nothing to do there, unleſs, at the Requeſt, and upon the behalf of Mr. Harley, to hinder ſuch Voters as were in Debt from appearing, for fear of being arreſted by him; and he being reprimanded for the ſame by One of the Juſtices of the Peace for the County of Hereford, who liveth in Leominſter aforeſaid, and voted at the ſaid Election againſt the ſaid Mr. Harley, the ſaid Under-Sheriff withdrew; and, about Two Hours afterwards, came into Court again, and inſulted the ſaid Juſtice of the Peace in a moſt inſolent, rude, and violent, manner, threatening to break his Head, and calling him very opprobrious Names, and went away with Impunity; and, after the ſaid Bailiff had polled all the Voters he would allow of, he refuſed to let the Candidates Clerks compare their Poll-book with the Town-Clerk's Poll book, to ſee if any, and what, Miſtakes had happened in taking the ſaid Poll; ſaying, He had nothing to do with any of the Poll-books, but with the Town-Clerk's, who took the Poll for him; nor did the Bailiff direct his Town-Clerk to read over the Names of the Voters in his own Poll-book, to ſee that there were no Miſtakes in his taking the Poll; but the ſaid Bailiff finding, by ſome private Intimations given him, that the ſaid Mr. Harley had, according to the Town-Clerk's Poll-book, and according to the Management of the Proceedings, as aforeſaid, ſome ſmall Majority of the ſaid Mr. Gorges, he commanded the Town-Clerk to caſt up the Poll-book; and, according to his Computation only, without any other Inſpectors, the ſaid Bailiff declared the Right Honourable Thomas Lord Coningsby, and the ſaid Mr. Harley, to be duly elected Members to ſerve for the ſaid Borough in the next Parliament; and that he would, and accordingly did, return the ſame; and notwithſtanding the ſaid Mr. Gorges' Agent did then, on the behalf of the ſaid Mr. Gorges, tender One Indenture to the ſaid Bailiff, ready ingroſſed, and required the ſaid Bailiff to return the ſaid Mr. Gorges, he being a Member, had Juſtice been done him, duly and legally choſen; but the ſaid Bailiff poſitively refuſed to do the ſame; and the ſaid Bailiff, the Morning after the ſaid Election, turned One of the Searchers and Sealers of Leather for the ſaid Borough, being a Place of ſome Profit, out of his Office, for no other Reaſon as can be known, than that he voted at the ſaid Election againſt the ſaid Mr. Harley: All which Actings and Doings ... many more of the ſame Nature, are expreſly contrary to the Rules of Juſtice, and are arbitrary, illegal, and unjuſt; and which Practices and Proceedings not only tend to the Ruin and Deſtruction of the Rights and Privileges of the Petitioners, and this Borough, in chooſing their Repreſentatives in Parliament; but alſo, if practiſed in other Cities and Boroughs, will end in the Extirpation of our truly happy, if not abuſed, Conſtitution and Government: And praying to be relieved againſt all theſe Oppreſſions.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of Privileges and Elections: And that they do examine the Matter thereof; and report the ſame, with their Opinion thereupon, to the Houſe.

Ordered, That it be an Inſtruction to the ſaid Committee, That they do examine whether the ſaid Petition be the ſame in Subſtance with that which was preſented to the Houſe the laſt Seſſion of Parliament; and whether it is ſigned by the ſame Perſons.

And then the Houſe adjourned till Monday Morning, Nine of the Clock.

PRAYERS.

A Petition of the Mayor and Burgeſſes of the Borough of Derby, in Common-Council aſſembled, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Petitioners conceive the making the River Derwent, in the County of Derby, navigable, will very much advance the Trade and Commerce of all Markets, and other Places, near near the ſame; and be highly advantageous not only to all his Majeſty's Subjects trading in the ſtaple Commodities of Lead, Butter, Cheeſe, and other Merchandizes, by a cheap and eaſy Conveyance, much leſſening the Rates of Commodities in the ſaid County; but alſo to the Publick in general: And praying, That Leave may be given to bring in a Bill for the making the ſaid River navigable.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill, according to the Prayer of the ſaid Petition: And that the Lord James Cavendiſh, and Colonel Stanhope, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Sir Charles Turner, from the Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, preſented to the Houſe, purſuant to their Addreſs to his Majeſty, the Ordinary Eſtimate of his Majeſty's Navy for the Year One thouſand Seven hundred Seventeen:

And the Title thereof was read.

SIR Thomas Johnſon reported from the Committee, to whom the Bill for inlarging the Time granted by an Act, paſſed in the Eighth Year of the Reign of her late Majeſty Queen Anne, intituled, An Act for making a convenient Dock, or Baſon, at Liverpole, for Security of all Ships trading to and from the ſaid Port of Liverpole, was committed, That they had made ſeveral Amendments thereunto; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and that they had, according to the Order of the Houſe, examined the Matter of the Petition on which the ſaid Bill was ordered to be brought in; and had directed him to report the ſame, as it appeared to them, to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards reported the Bill, with the Amendments; and delivered the ſaid Reports in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were read:

And the Report, upon the Examination of the Matter of the ſaid Petition, is as followeth; viz.

That Mr. Ralph Peters, Town-Clerk of Liverpole, produced to the Committee an Account, ſigned by him, of what Money had been laid out in and about the ſaid Dock; and what the Duties, ariſing by the ſaid Act of the Eighth of Queen Anne, to the 25th of December 1716, amounted to; whereby it appeared, that the Charges, including the Intereſt of Six thouſand Pound borrowed upon the Credit of the ſaid Act, and Two thouſand Pound more advanced and borrowed upon the Petitioners own Credit, amounts to — — 12,700 9 6

That the Duties, ariſing by the ſaid Act, amounts to — — 4,436 14 2¼

So that the Debt now due is — — 8,263 15 3¼

And, by an Eſtimate of Mr. Steers, Engineer of the Dock and Works, there will be wanting, to complete the ſame, the Sum of — — 3,087 0 0

So that the whole Debt, and to finiſh the Work, will amount to — 11,350 15 3¼

Mr. Pool Merchant, and John Lyon Mariner, alſo ſaid, That the Dock is capable of receiving Veſſels that draw Eighteen Foot Water at Spring-tides, and Thirteen Foot Water at Neap-tides: That they have ſeen Sixty Sail at a time in the ſaid Dock; and the ſame is not finiſhed, which, they humbly conceive, is very neceſſary to be done, not only for the Safety of Merchant-Ships, but alſo for his Majeſty's Men of War, who may have occaſion to harbour there.

Then the Amendments, made by the Committee, to the Bill, were once read throughout; and then a Second time, one by one; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed to by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the Bill, with the Amendments, be ingroſſed.

The Right Honourable Chriſtopher Lord Viſcount Caſtlecomer, in the Kingdom of Ireland, being choſen a Burgeſs for the Borough of Rippon, in the County of York; and alſo a Burgeſs for the Borough of Morpeth, in the County of Northumberland; made his Election to ſerve for the ſaid Borough of Rippon.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough of Morpeth, in the room of the ſaid Lord Caſtlecomer, who hath made his Election to ſerve for the ſaid Borough of Rippon.

And the ſaid Act was read.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for explaining the ſaid Act; and for inlarging the Time for Papiſts to regiſter their Names, and real Eſtates: And that Mr. Ward, Mr. Guidott, and Sir Joſeph Jekyll, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

And the Titles of the Tranſlations of the ſaid Treaties were read:

And the Tranſlations are as followeth; viz.

FRANCIS Arnold, by the Grace of God, Biſhop of Munſter and Paderborn, Burggraff of Stromberg, Prince of the Holy Roman Empire, Count of Pyrmont, Lord of Borkelob and Werth: We hereby declare, and make known, That whereas a Treaty between the moſt Serene and moſt Potent Prince George Lewis King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. Duke of Brunſwick-Lunenburg, Arch-Treaſurer and Elector of the Holy Roman Empire, and ourſelves, relating to our Furniſhing of Four Battalions of Foot, has been concluded by the Miniſters authorized for that Purpoſe on each Side, dated at Munſter the 23d of December laſt, Word for Word, as follows:

The Treaty.

Whereas his Royal Majeſty of Great Britain, out of the particular Confidence he has in his Highneſs the Biſhop of Paderborn and Munſter, has cauſed Overtures to be made to him for furniſhing ſome of his Infantry to replace thoſe Troops, which, during the preſent Troubles in Great Britain, may be drawn out of the Gariſons of the States of the United Provinces, to be ſent thither; and whereas his Highneſs has readily taken this Opportunity of ſhewing his particular Regard for his Majeſty, and how willing he is to ſerve him; the following Agreement has been made, and concluded, in order to its being ratified:

I.

His Highneſs engages himſelf to furniſh Four Battalions of Foot, of 525 Men each, excluſive of the Staff Officers, conſiſting of Seven Companies, of 73 Men each, with prime Plan, according to the annexed Liſt, marked Lit. A; and his Highneſs agrees to ſend with theſe Four Battalions no Officers of a higher Rank than ſuch as receive Colonels Pay.

II.

And whereas the ſaid Four Battalions are to be employed in the Dutch Gariſons, in the room of thoſe which the States-General may yet ſend to his Royal Majeſty, into Great Britain; it is agreed, That, during the time of their Service there, they are to take an Oath of Fidelity to the States-General.

III.

The Troops are to be received in this Country by the King's Commiſſary; and are to enjoy their full Pay and Subſiſtence, according to the Dutch Eſtabliſhment, Lit. B; by which the Regiments have been paid during the laſt War: They ſhall be provided with Carriages, and other Neceſſaries, in their March to the Netherlands, as well as their Return; and his Majeſty, or his Electoral Regency at Hanover, ſhall ſend requiſitorial Letters for that Purpoſe.

IV.

The ſaid Pay and Subſiſtence is to begin the 15th of January, N. S. 1716; and to be continued as long as his Royal Majeſty ſhall make uſe of the Troops to the abovementioned Purpoſe: When his Majeſty ſhall ſtand in no further Need of them, or in caſe there ſhould be no Need of them at all, Three Months Notice ſhall be given of it to his Highneſs the Biſhop of Paderborn and Munſter; after which Term the Pay and Subſiſtence of theſe Troops ſhall ceaſe: But it having been repreſented, That his Highneſs would be at no ſmall Expence by the completeing the ſaid Battalions, and the cloathing and furniſhing them with all Neceſſaries for their March, his Royal Majeſty, upon this Conſideration, purſuant to the annexed Eſtabliſhment, Lit. B, conſents to pay One long Dutch Month, of Six Weeks, more, after the Three Months that Notice has been given are expired; and this in any Caſe, whether the Troops ſerve a long, or a ſhort, time, or if they ſhould not ſerve at all.

V.

As to the ordinary Recruits, each Company ſhall be allowed the ſame Douceurs the States of the United Provinces allow their own Troops: But if the Troops ſhall happen to diminiſh very ſenſibly by any contagious Diſtemper, or other Accident; in that Caſe due and ſufficient Satisfaction ſhall be given, according to what the States have obſerved hitherto in the like Caſes, and what other Troops have enjoyed.

VI.

His Highneſs expects the Payment of the monthly Subſiſtence from his Majeſty only, without being obliged to ſollicit, or to put himſelf to any other Expence, for it; and his Royal Majeſty does accordingly engage for the punctual and prompt Payment of the ſame.

VII.

The Troops may either furniſh themſelves with Proviſions in the Gariſons; or, if they chooſe to have it out of the Magazines, they are to pay for it out of their own Pay, as the Dutch Troops themſelves do; and, as to what relates to Phyſick, and Hoſpital Expences, they ſhall be allowed what the Troops of the States enjoy, and what the Troops of Paderborn and Munſter have formerly enjoyed in the States Service.

VIII.

If, in the ſaid Battalions, any ſhould be found that have been formerly in the Service of his Royal Majeſty, or the States-General, or any other Prince, and have deſerted, they ſhall be pardoned, and not be delivered up.

IX.

X.

As theſe ſeveral Articles have been agreed upon, in order to their being ratified; and as the Ratification of his Royal Majeſty of Great Britain has been promiſed to be exchanged here, with all poſſible Speed, for that of his Highneſs the Biſhop of Paderborn and Munſter; ſo the Electoral Regency at Hanover engages, in the mean time, for the procuring the ſame. In Witneſs whereof, Two Inſtruments, of the ſame Tenor, have been drawn of this Treaty, ſigned and ſealed by his Royal Majeſty, and his Royal Highneſs's Miniſters, authorized for this Purpoſe; One of which has been delivered to each Party.

Given at Munſter the 23d of December 1715.

FREDERICK, by the Grace of God, Duke of Saxony, Juliers, Cleve, and Berg, alſo of Engria and Weſtphalia, Landgrave in Thuringia, Margrave of Miſnia, Prince and Count of Henneberg, Count of the Marck and Ravensberg, Lord of Ravenſtein and Sonna: We hereby make known, and declare, That whereas we have cauſed a Negotiation to be carried on with his Royal Majeſty of Great Britain for Two Battalions, which we are to furniſh his Majeſty with: And whereas a Treaty has been ſigned by the Plenipotentiaries on each Side, Word for Word, of the following Tenor:

Whereas his Royal Majeſty of Great Britain, out of the particular Confidence he has in his Serene Highneſs the Duke of Saxe-Gotha, has cauſed Overtures to be made to him for furniſhing ſome of his Infantry, to replace thoſe Troops, which, during the preſent Troubles in England, may be drawn out of the Gariſons of the States of the United Provinces, to be ſent thither; and whereas his Serene Highneſs has readily taken this Opportunity of ſhewing his particular Regard for his Majeſty, and how willing he is to ſerve him; the following Agreement has been made, and concluded, in order to its being ratified:

I.

His Serene Highneſs engages himſelf to furniſh unto his Majeſty Two Battalions of Foot, conſiſting of 500 Men only at preſent; but his Highneſs will augment them, by the 15th of January 1716, to the Number of 640 Men each, excluſive of the Staff, that they may conſiſt of Eight Companies each, with the prime Plan of 80 Men, according to the annexed Liſt, Lit. A; and no Officers of higher Rank ſhall be ſent with theſe Battalions than Colonels.

II.

And whereas the ſaid Two Battalions are to be employed in the Dutch Gariſons, in the room of thoſe which the States-General may yet ſend to his Royal Majeſty into Great Britain, they are, for the Time of their Service there, to take an Oath of Fidelity to the States-General.

III.

The Troops are to be received in this Country by the King's Commiſſary; and are to enjoy their full Pay and Subſiſtence, according to the Dutch Eſtabliſhment, Lit. B; by which, during the laſt War, the Regiments of Saxe-Gotha have been paid: They ſhall be provided with Carriages, and other Neceſſaries, in their March, as well as

IV.

The ſaid Pay and Subſiſtence is to begin the 15th of January 1716, N. S. and to be continued as long as his Royal Majeſty ſhall make uſe of theſe Troops to the above-mentioned Purpoſe: When his Majeſty ſhall ſtand in no further Need of them, or in caſe there ſhould be no Need of them at all, Three Months Notice ſhall be given of it to his Serene Highneſs the Duke of Saxe-Gotha; after which Term, the Payment and Subſiſtence of the ſaid Troops ſhall ceaſe: But it having been repreſented, That his Serene Highneſs would be at no ſmall Expence by increaſing the ſaid Battalions to the Number ſpecified, Art. I. and by the cloathing and furniſhing them with all Neceſſaries for their March; and that the ſaid Troops, upon their Return out of the Dutch Gariſons to the Territories of his Highneſs the Duke of Saxe-Gotha, muſt needs be obliged to a long, uneaſy, and expenſive, March; his Royal Majeſty, upon Conſideration of this, purſuant to the annexed Eſtabliſhment, Lit. B. conſents to pay Two ſhort marching Months more, after the Three Months that Notice has been given are expired; and this in any caſe, whether the Troops are kept in Service a long, or a ſhort, time, or if they ſhould not ſerve at all.

V.

As to the ordinary Recruits, each Company ſhall be allowed the ſame Money which the States of the United Provinces allow their own Troops: But if, by any contagious Diſtemper, or other Accident, the Troops ſhould happen to diminiſh very ſenſibly; in that Caſe, due and ſufficient Satisfaction ſhall be given, according to what the States have obſerved hitherto in the like Caſes, and what other Troops have enjoyed.

VI.

His Serene Highneſs expects the Payment of the monthly Subſiſtence from his Majeſty only, without being obliged to ſollicit, or to put himſelf to any other Expence, for it; and his Royal Majeſty accordingly anſwers for the prompt Payment of the ſame.

VII.

The Troops in the Gariſons may either furniſh themſelves with Proviſions; or, if they chooſe to have it out of the Magazines, they are to pay for it out of their own Pay, as Dutch Troops themſelves do; and, as to what relates to Phyſick, and Hoſpital Expences, they ſhall enjoy what other Troops are allowed by the States, and what the Troops of Saxe-Gotha have formerly enjoyed in that Service.

VIII.

If, in the ſaid Battalions, any ſhould be found that have been formerly in the Service of his Royal Majeſty, or the States-General, or any other Prince, and have deſerted, they ſhall be pardoned, and not delivered up.

IX.

The appointing the ſeveral Officers, as likewiſe the Military Juriſdiction over the Two Battalions, are reſerved to his Serene Highneſs, in the ſame manner as has been obſerved of late by the Regiments of Saxe-Gotha in Engliſh or Dutch Pay.

X.

And whereas his Royal Majeſty has likewiſe deſired the Liberty of tranſporting the ſaid Troops into England, in caſe he ſhould find it neceſſary to employ them there; his Serene Highneſs, out of his particular Affection to his Majeſty, and ſeveral other Conſiderations, willingly conſents to it: And, in this Caſe, the ſaid Battalions ſhall take an Oath of Fidelity to his Majeſty during that time: They are then to receive Engliſh Pay from the Day of their being embarked to the Day of their landing again on this Side; from which time, and till they reach the Territories of Saxe-Gotha, they are to be paid upon the Dutch Foot again: His Serene Highneſs, in the mean time, expects, that in caſe, as aforeſaid, his Royal Majeſty intends to employ theſe Battalions in Great Britain, Copies of the Engliſh Eſtabliſhment ſhall be delivered to him, that he may know what Allowances are to be made for extraordinary Recruits, and Loſſes either in the Field, or by contagious Diſtempers, or in any other Caſe, that ſo his Serene Highneſs may agree with his Royal Majeſty about theſe Articles: His Highneſs, however, promiſes not to ſtop the March of the Troops out of his Dominions upon this Account.

XI.

In caſe his Majeſty ſhould further want any more Troops, his Serene Highneſs, to ſhew his particular Affection, promiſes to ſerve his Majeſty in it as much as poſſible; being perſuaded, that his Royal Majeſty, on his Side, will continue the good Correſpondence which has always been between their moſt Serene Predeceſſors.

XII.

As theſe ſeveral Articles have been agreed upon, in order to their being ratified; and as the Ratification of his Royal Majeſty of Great Britain is to be exchanged, with all poſſible Speed, here at Gotha, for that of his Serene Highneſs; ſo the Electoral Regency of Brunſwick-Lunenburg engages, in the mean while, for the procuring the ſame. In Witneſs whereof, Two Inſtruments, of the ſame Tenor, have been drawn of this Treaty, ſigned and ſealed by the Miniſters authorized for that Purpoſe; One of which has been delivered to each Party.

PRAYERS.

MR. Lawſon reported from the Committee, to whom the Petition of Thomas Newſham, James Philips, John Turner, and others, on behalf of themſelves, and other Receivers, and late Receivers, of the publick Taxes, and their Sureties, and of the Executors and Adminiſtrators of others, was referred, That they had conſidered the ſaid Petition; and had directed him to report to the Houſe the Matter, as it appeared to them; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as followeth; viz.

That the Committee, having examined the ſeveral Allegations mentioned in the Petition of the Receivers-General of the Taxes, relating to their Allowances, do find, That they have made good the Allegations in their ſaid Petition; and the Matters of Fact do appear as ſtated by the Petitioners, from ſeveral Reports of the Agents for Taxes, and by other Papers laid before the Committee: Upon Conſideration whereof, the Committee have thought proper to ſtate the Caſe of the Receivers under the following Heads:

1ſt, They find, That all the Receivers-General, except Seven, hereafter particularly mentioned, have cleared their Accounts to the End of the Year 1714; and though they then owed nothing to the Government, yet have Allowances reported by the Commiſſioners for Affairs of Taxes to be due to them, amounting to a conſiderable Sum; which remains unſatisfied, by reaſon all the Money in the Exchequer is appropriated.

2d, It appears, That although Mr. Howell, late Receiver of South-Wales, hath not paſſed his Accounts, yet, when the Allowances reported due are made good to him, his Balance will be over-paid; and that Mr. Brougham, the Receiver for the Counties of Cumberland and Weſtmorland, and Mr. Parran, formerly Receiver for the County of Oxford, have not paſſed their Accounts; but their Allowances already reported, and the further Claims they have to make, will very near balance the ſame.

3d, That the Three Receivers hereafter mentioned; viz. Mr. Thomas Lloyd, late Receiver for Cheſter and North-Wales, Mr. Bradgate for Leiceſterſhire, and Mr. Brown for Part of Norfolk; appear to be indebted to the Government, over and above the Allowances reported to be due to them; and that Mr. Dixon, Receiver for Somerſetſhire, who has abſconded for ſome Years, is indebted a great Sum, which the Government is in Danger of loſing, through the Inſolvency of him, and his Securities.

The Committee do further repreſent, That there are ſeveral of the Petitioners, and others, Receivers-General, who have not petitioned, or had any Reports for Allowances for ſeveral Years in which they have been employed; ſo the Committee could not examine their Claims: But, upon Inquiry, do find, they have cleared their Accounts to the End of the Year 1714, except as before excepted; and many of them ought, in Juſtice, to have proper Allowances, when they ſhall make Application for the ſame.

Ordered, That it be an Inſtruction to the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for charging, and continuing, the Duties on Malt, Mum, Cyder, and Perry, for the Service of the Year One thouſand Seven hundred Seventeen, is committed, That they have Power to receive a Clauſe for the Relief of the Receivers-General of the publick Taxes.

Ordered, That the ſaid Report be referred to the Conſideration of the ſaid Committee.

A Petition of the Deputy-Lieutenants, and Juſtices of the Peace, of the County of Middleſex, and other Gentlemen, Inhabitants of the ſaid County, living in or near the ſeveral Towns and Pariſhes lying in the Highways leading from the Town of Kenſington, in the ſaid County, towards Colnebrook and Staines; and alſo of ſeveral Graſiers, Farmers, Gardeners, Stage Coachmen, Carriers, Waggoners, Higlers, and others, who frequent and paſs the ſaid Highways; was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the ſaid Highways contain the greateſt Part of the Road which leads to his Majeſty's ſeveral Royal Palaces; and, being the great Weſtern Road to and from London, they are, by reaſon of many heavy Carriages, become very ruinous, and in many Parts thereof ſo bad, that, in the Winter-ſeaſon, the ſame are dangerous to his Majeſty, and the Royal Family, and ſuch who are obliged to attend them, and alſo to all others who have Occaſion to travel through the ſaid Highways; and the Inhabitants of the ſaid Towns and Pariſhes, in which the ſame lie, have, from time to time, been at great Expences in repairing the ſaid Highways; yet they are ſo very bad, they cannot, by the Laws now in Force, be kept in good Repair: And praying, That Leave may be given to bring in a Bill for repairing and amending the ſaid Highways.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of a Committee: And that they do examine the Matter thereof; and report the ſame, as it ſhall appear to them, to the Houſe:

And it is referred to Mr. Smithſon, Sir Thomas Croſſe, Sir Robert Davers, Mr. Farrer, Mr. Briſtow, Mr. Yonge, Sir James Bateman, Mr. Smith, Mr. Herne, Mr. Pulteney, Lord *Wm. pluribus], in Europa, invadi, infeſtari, et turbari, in regnis, ditionibus, provinciis, inſulis, et dominiis, tam intra quam extra regna, ut et in Germania, ad Reges regnaque Sueciæ ſpectantibus, necnon in poſſeſſionibus et prærogativis, privilegiis, et juribus ſuis inde pendentibus, vel alio quocunque modo, in libertate navigationis et commerciorum in prædictis maribus et fretis impediri, et moleſtia affici, tenebitur Sacra Regia Majeſtas Magnæ Britanniæ, ejuſque hæredes et ſucceſſores Reges, prævia legitima requiſitione, ſereniſſimo Regi, ejuſque hæredibus et ſucceſſoribus Regibus, regniſque Sueciæ, contra ejuſmodi aggreſſores, turbatores, et rebelles, exercitu ſex mille peditibus conſtante auxilio eſſe, ea conditione et modo, ut infra ſpecialius determinabitur.

V.

Similiter, ſi contingat Sacram Regiam Majeſtatem, ejuſque hæredes et ſucceſſores Reges, regnaque Magnæ Britanniæ, ab aliquo Rege, Principe, Statu, Republica, rebelle uno vel pluribus, aut quibuſvis perſonis malevolis, uno vel pluribus, in Europa, invadi, infeſtari, et turbari, in regnis, ditionibus, provinciis, inſulis, et dominiis, ad Reges regnaque Magnæ Britanniæ pertinentibus, ut et juribus inde dependentibus, vel alio quocunque modo, in libertate navigationis et commerciorum in prædictis maribus et fretis impediri, et moleſtia affici, tenebitur Sacra Reg' Majeſtas, ejuſque hæredes et ſucceſſores Reges, regnaque Sueciæ, contra tales aggreſſores, turbatores, et rebelles, ſereniſſimo Regi Magnæ Britanniæ, ejuſque hæredibus et ſucceſſoribus Regibus, poſt legitimam requiſitionem et denunciationem, auxilio eſſe exercitu ſex mille peditibus conſtante, ea conditione et modo, ut infra determinabitur.

VI.

Cum autem articulo 2do mentio facta ſit rebellis vel rebellium, viſum eſt e re utriuſque confœderati futurum, terminum iſtum pluribus his explicare; videlicet, Quod quicunque per literas alterutrius confœderatorum confœderato ſuo miſſas pro rebelle et perduelle declarabitur, mox confœderatorum ille, cui literæ miſſæ erunt, declaratum rebellem pro tali reputabit; omniaque, quæ per hoc fœdus contra alterius rebelles ſancita ſunt, effectum ſortiantur.

VII.

Antequam tamen auxiliares copiæ mittantur, vim et injuriam paſſus cum altero fœderatorum communicabit; et tunc quidem uterque confœderatorum operam impendet, ut invaſor, ſeu turbator, amicabili ratione inducatur a vi et injuria abſtinere, ne ad arma venire neceſſum ſit: Quod ſi vero ea lædentem occupaverit pertinacia, ut nullis amicabilibus rationibus ad æqua præſtanda deſcendere velit, atque ita injuriatus ac læſus confœderatus violationem ſibi illatam vi et armis propulſare, ac ulteriorem turbationem impedire, coactus fuerit; tunc demum copiæ præfatæ ſine procraſtinatione mittantur; nec prius deſiſtatur quam parti læſæ per omnia ſatisfactum fuerit; quia etiam in tali caſu injuriis extorquens juſtam defenſionem pro aggreſſore habendus venit.

VIII.

Mittentur autem iſtæ copiæ auxiliares poſt menſem quartum a die primo notificationis inſinuatæ, ſeu factæ requiſitionis, numerandum; vel citius etiam, ſi fieri poſſit, et requirens id deſideraverit, non obſtantibus officiis confœderati requiſiti ad amicabilem compoſitionem, vigore fœderis, præſtandis; in locum portu commodum, et acceſſu facilem, quem auxilium requirens denominabit; et alentur ibi, et ſuſtentabuntur, ſumptibus mittentis, donec pax obtenta fuerit, vel quouſque eæ neceſſariæ requirenti videbuntur; ita tamen, ut requirens interim in ſuis ditionibus provideat, ut auxiliares copiæ, non ſecus ac propriæ, juſto pretio commeatum, et cætera ad victum et amictum neceſſaria, habere poſſint.

Utrique tamen fœderatorum, et imprimis auxilium requirenti, liberum ſit eligere, utrum ſupra nominatum exercitum, vel totum, vel partem tantummodo, ejuſdem, in militibus, vel apparatu bellico, munitione, commeatu, navibus, et illis rebus, quæ ad earum inſtructionem requiruntur, habere velit; ea tamen æſtimatione inita, ut pro ſingulis mille peditibus quolibet menſe uſque ad finem belli quatuor millia imperialium thalerorum computentur; de qua æſtimatione utriuſque partis commiſſarii, ſine cunctatione, bona fide convenient.

X.

Quod ſi periculum aliquod obſtiterit, quominus copiæ auxiliares abſque impedimento ad illum locum, in quo requirenti neceſſariæ fuerint, perveniant; operam ſuam confœderati ſimul impendere tenebuntur, ut tranſitus illis et tutior et facilior fiat; necnon requiſito licitum ſit, proprium aliquem ducem copiis ſuis præficere; eædemque, quatenus ratio belli tulerit, in uno eodemque agmine junctæ permaneant: Quod ita intelligendum, ne ad loca procul inter ſe remota diſtrahantur: deſignatus autem auxiliarium copiarum dux, vel generalis, requirentis imperio militari, aut ejus præfecto generali, in operationibus bellicis ſubſit; omniaque ea, quæ ductum militiæ, modum agendi, et alios quoſcunque eventus, concernunt, ita conſtituantur, quemadmodum in bello, et auxiliorum præſtatione, plerumque uſu venire ſolet: Quod etiam in illo caſu locum habebit, ſi forte naves loco et vice militiæ terreſtris ſubminiſtrari contigerit, quæ, tanquam auxiliares, vexilla requirentis gerere tenebuntur.

XI.

Si vero acciderit, ut pro magnitudine periculi copiæ determinatæ non ſuffecerint; utpote ſi aggreſſor forte alterius cujuſdam ſui confœderati auxiliis adjutus fuerit; tunc uterque quidem confœderatorum, prævia requiſitione debita, majoribus viribus, quas tuto et commode, qua terra, qua mari, contrahere poſſit, parti læſæ ſubvenire tenebitur; ita tamen, ut, exiſtente illo caſu, de modo peculiariter ſecundum naturam et exigentiam rei inter confœderatos quantocius tranſigatur.

XII.

Licitum quoque erit utrique confœderatorum, eorumque ſubditis, naves ſuas bellicas in alterutrius portus ſubducere, ibique hibernare, morari, illorumque immunitatibus et privilegiis frui et gaudere; modo in ipſis portubus, vel eorum ingreſſu, illi, qui communes hoſtes non ſunt, non infeſtentur; ac per hoc cum iis omnis commerciorum uſus ad dictos portus interturbetur et tollatur: Cumque Reges fœderati mutuo conſenſerint de navigatione et commerciis Holmiæ peculiarem negotiationem inſtituere, negotiatio iſta ibi quamprimum, et ſine ulla mora, pertractabitur et perficietur: Interea temporis, et uſquedum illa effectum ſuum ſortiatur, illi articuli fœderis Londini anno 1661 concluſi, qui navigationem et commercia ſpectant, in integro vigore ſuo permaneant, non ſecus ac ſi de verbo ad verbum hic inſerti eſſent.

XIII.

Quæ autem initio præcedentis articuli recenſentur, alterutrius hoſtibus nullatenus indulgebuntur; quemadmodum nec permittetur, ut ſubditi alterutrius confœderatorum hoſtibus alterius, in confœderati incommodum et detrimentum, operam ſuam addicant, illiſque quoquo modo, qua terra, qua mari, ut milites, vel nautæ, inſerviant; ideoque id iis ſeveriſſime interdicetur.

XIV.

Præſens fœdus, inter ſereniſſimos Sueciæ et Magnæ Britanniæ Reges initum, neutri fœderatorum in ſuis regalibus juribus, et dominio marium (nempe Sacræ Regiæ Majeſtati Sueciæ in maris Baltici, et Sacræ Regiæ Majeſtati Magnæ Britanniæ in marium, quæ vulgo Britannica dicuntur, dominio), quicquam derogabit; ſed uterque Regum fœderatorum ſupradicta omnia, cum omnibus, quæ inde dependent, ſicut nunc, ita in poſterum, retinebit; iiſque libere, et ſine ulla contradictione, fruetur; quæ quidem ſupradictorum omnium fruitio utrinque intelligi debet, ſalvo præſenti hoc fœdere.

XV.

Poſtquam dicto modo requiſitus auxilia miſerit, vel ex fœderis lege obligationi ſuæ ſatisfecerit, neceſſe eſt, ut eidem, ejuſque ſecuritati, viciſſim proſpiciatur; ac proinde utrinque convenit, ut ſiquidem confœderato, ſuppetias auſpicio requiſiti militaturas ferenti, in terminis auxiliatoris permanſiſſe detur, nec ob præſtitum auxilium bello ipſe-ipſemet involutus fuerit, ſine incluſione et ſecuritate ejuſdem nullus tractatus pacis, vel induciarum, iniri, imo ne ſuſpenſio quidem armorum diuturna, et alteri fœderatorum noxia, fieri poſſit: Quod ſi vero ob latas ſuppetias cum aggreſſore, vel alio quocunque, aperto bello implicetur, tunc neuter, ſine alterius conſenſu et conſilio, neque ad præliminares, neque ad principales, cum hoſte vel hoſtibus tractatus deſcendat; ſed omnia mutua opera, communicatione, et conſilio, agantur et tractentur, donec utrique confœderato de ſufficiente ſecuritate, et ſatisfactione debita, ex communi conſenſu pleniſſime cautum ſit; præprimis ei confœderatorum, qui prius bello immixtus fuit, neutiquam licebit bellum pace mutare, antequam alter confœderatorum, qui vi fœderis confœderato ſuo auxilium tulit, per omnia ab hoſte indemnis præſtetur; ac, ad minimum, priſtino ſuo ſtatui, quo ante bellum inchoatum gaviſus eſt, aut jure gaudere debuit, modo ſtatus et conditio ejus per hoſtem, et inde per inſecutum bellum, diminutionem aliquam acceperit, pleniſſime reſtituatur.

XVI.

XVII.

Et quamvis fœderati auxilia ſibi invicem mittere modo ſuperius dicto teneantur; iſta obligatio tamen neutiquam eo extendi debet, ut propterea omnis protinus amicitia, et mutuus commerciorum uſus, cum alterius fœderati hoſtibus, eorumque ſubditis, omnino tollendus et interdicendus veniat; nam, exiſtente tali caſu, quod unus confœderatorum, etiamſi auxilia requiſitus tulerit, bello immixtus ipſe non fuerit, ejus ſubditis ac incolis cum hoſtibus illius fœderati, qui in bello verſatur, commercia et navigationes liberæ erunt; et iiſdem quaſcunque merces, non expreſſe vetitas, et contrabande dictas, etiam immediate ad hoſtes tuto advehere licebit; prout in ſpeciali tractatu commerciorum fuſius hac de re ſtatuetur.

XVIII.

Quandoquidem ad conſervandam navigationis commerciique libertatem in mari Baltico utile videtur, ut firma exactaque amicitia et concordia inter ſereniſſimos et potentiſſimos Reges Sueciæ et Daniæ exiſtat; et ſumme memorati Sueciæ et Daniæ Reges, glorioſiſſimæ memoriæ, tunc temporis regnantes, non tantum per ipſa publica pacta pacificatoria in caſtris ad Hafniam die 27° Maii 1660 erecta, et per commutatas utrinque pactorum ratificationes, ſe invicem obligârunt ad omnium et ſingulorum in dictis pactis comprehenſorum articulorum, et clauſularum, ſacroſanctam et inviolabilem obſervationem; ſed etiam paulo ante concluſus fœdus Sueco-Anglicum anni 1665 erga ſereniſſimum et potentiſſimum Principem Carolum ſecundum Magnæ Britanniæ Regem, glorioſiſſimæ memoriæ, tunc temporis regnantem, pariter declarârunt ſe ſæpe dictæ pacificationis legibus et articulis omnibus et ſingulis ſincere, et bona fide, velle ſtare, nec ab pactorum tenore vel latum unguem recedere; unde accidit, ut altememoratus Magnæ Britanniæ Rex Carolus ſecundus utriuſque altememorati Regis Sueciæ et Daniæ voluntate et conſenſu ſupradicta, et die 27 Maii anno 1660 in caſtris ad Hafniam inita pacta, quoad omnes et ſingulos eorundem pactorum articulos, partes, et clauſulas, peculiari guarantiæ diplomate paulo poſt concluſum die 1° Martii 1665 fœdus Sueco-Anglicum, nimirum, die 9° Octobris anni ejuſdem, complecteretur; et eo ipſo eorundem pactorum, et ſingulorum in iis comprehenſorum articulorum, fideijuſſorem et vindicem ſe profiteri vellet; quibus omnibus cum poſtmodum acceſſerit inſtrumentum pacis inter ſereniſſimos et potentiſſimos Sueciæ et Daniæ Reges noviſſimum Londini in Scania anno 1679 concluſum; quod expreſſam tranſactionum Roſchildenſis, Hafnienſis, et Weſtphaliæ, repetitionem et confirmationem continet; ideo ſereniſſimus et potentiſſimus Magnæ Britanniæ Rex, vigore hujus fœderis, ſe obſtringit, et verbo regio promittit, ut ſi, præter ſpem, alteruter Regum, in præjudicium ſive univerſorum pactorum, ſive unius vel plurium in iis comprehenſorum articulorum; atque adeo ſi Regum alteruter in præjudicium perſonarum, provinciarum, territoriorum, inſularum, bonorum, dominiorum, et jurium (quæ vigore pactorum tam ſæpe dictorum, et in caſtris ad Hafniam die 27° Maii, anno 1660, quam poſtea Stockholmiæ, die 3° Julii ejuſdem anni, de inſulæ Bornholmenſis permutatione, ut et ſubſequutæ præfatæ pacis Londinenſis in Scania de anno 1679, initorum, cuique intereſſatorum, dictis pactis comprehenſorum, attributa ſunt); aliquid ſive per ſe, ſive per alios, præſumat vel clanculum machinari et moliri, vel palam moleſtiis, injuriave aliqua, vel vi, et armata manu, attentare; tum ſereniſſimus et potentiſſimus Magnæ Britanniæ Rex, pro mutua et conſtanti amborum Regum Sueciæ et Daniæ, ſeu principalium paciſcentium, amicitia porro conſervanda, primum interventu ſuo omnia amice et fœderati Regis officia, quæ ad ſæpiſſime nominatorum pactorum, et ſingulorum in iis comprehenſorum articulorum, integritatem, atque adeo ad pacis inter ambos Reges tuitionem, facere poterunt, ſeſe præſtiturum; deinde, ſi Regum is, qui præjudiciorum talium, vel moleſtiæ injuriæque alicujus contra ſæpiſſime memorata pacta, et contra aliquem in iis comprehenſum articulum, factæ author eſt, a moliminibus præjudicioſis, et pactorum læſione, monitus deſiſtere nolit; tum ſereniſſimus et potentiſſimus Magnæ Britanniæ Rex, ſeu pacificatoriorum pactorum, et omnium et ſingulorum in iis comprehenſorum articulorum, fideijuſſor et vindex, vigore hujus fœderis et promiſſi, læſo, et injuriis laceſſito, ecuſque, et eo modo, ſuppetias feret, quatenus præſentibus pactis inter Reges Sueciæ et Magnæ Britanniæ in tali caſu definitum et conventum eſt.

XIX.

Sit præterea inter ſumme memoratos Sueciæ et Magnæ Britanniæ Reges, in poſterum adhuc ſtrictior confœderatio et unio pro defenſione et conſervatione Religionis Proteſtantium Evangelicæ et Reformatæ, quam ſub Divina Providentia ſe aſſerturos, et protecturos, et conſervaturos, ut et omnia, quæ ad eam ſpectant, promittunt, et præſentibus ſe ad id obligant.

XX.

Quemadmodum ambo ſumme memorati Reges hoc ipſo profitentur ſe equidem quibuſdam pactis et fœderibus, quæ antehac cum aliis inita ſunt, adhuc obſtringi, eaque etiam ex præſcripto eorundem pactorum velle debito modo ſervare; ſed tamen nullus omnino pactis, et inibi comprehenſis clauſulis, hoc tempore teneri, quæ hoc fœdus ullo modo infirmare et impedire valeant aut debeant; ita, quo magis reciproca fœderatorum fides et perſeverantia in hac ſocietate appareat, animique ſubditorum et amicorum confirmentur, utrique ſumme memorati Reges ſe invicem obligant, et declarant ſe omnibus et ſingulis hujus fœderis articulis ſincere, et bona fide, ſtaturos; neque de genuino et communi prædictorum articulorum ſenſu, ſub ullo commodi, amicitiæ, prioris fœderis, pacti, et promiſſi, prætextu, vel alio quovis colore, vel latum unguem diſceſſuros; ſed omnia, quæ in hoc fœdere promiſerunt, prout res et negotia poſtulabunt, per ſe, vel per miniſtros et ſubditos ſuos, executioni promptiſſime et pleniſſime, adeoque cum effectu, mandaturos; idque ſine ulla limitatione, exceptione, vel excuſatione; exceptis iis, quæ in præcedentibus hujus fœderis articulis exprimuntur.

XXI.

Duret hoc fœdus defenſivum in octodecim annos; ante quorum lapſum confœderati Reges de ejus plenaria continuatione denuo tractare poterunt, ſi eorum utrique ita viſum fuerit.

Quemadmodum hæc pacta, vi acceptæ poteſtatis et mandatorum utrinque, concluſa ſunt; ita eadem ab utraque Sacra Regia Majeſtate Sueciæ, et Magnæ Britanniæ, in debita et ſolenni forma approbari, et rata haberi, eorumque ratificationis inſtrumenta, Anglicum, nimirum, Sacræ Regiæ Majeſtatis Sueciæ miniſtro Londini, Suedicum vero Sacræ Regiæ Majeſtatis Magnæ Britanniæ miniſtro Holmiæ, intra duorum vel trium menſium ſpatium a tempore hujus ſubſcriptionis numerandorum, vel citius, ſi ita fieri poterit, exhiberi debent.

Prayers.

Mr. Walpole preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill for redeeming the Duties on Houſes, and charging the ſame with a leſſer Incumbrance; and for redeeming ſo much of the Fund commonly called the Aggregate Fund, as relates to the preſent Exchequer-Bills; and for circulating Exchequer-Bills at a leſs Charge to the Publick, purſuant to ſeveral Powers of Redemption contained in former Acts of Parliament; and for continuing ſeveral annual and other Payments out of the Reſidue of the ſaid Aggregate Fund: And the ſame was received; and read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

A Meſſage from the Lords, by Sir Thomas Gery and Mr. Fellowes:

Mr. Speaker,

The Lords have agreed to the Bill, intituled, An Act for granting an Aid to his Majeſty, by a Land-Tax in Great Britain, for the Service of the Year One thouſand Seven hundred Seventeen, without any Amendment: And alſo,

To a Bill, intituled, An Act for inlarging the Time granted by an Act, paſſed in the Eighth Year of the Reign of her late Majeſty Queen Anne, intituled, An Act for making a convenient Dock, or Baſon, at Liverpole, for Security of all Ships trading to and from the ſaid Port of Liverpole, without any Amendment.

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

A Petition of ſeveral Adventurers, and Creditors of the united Company of Merchants of Great Britain tradeing to the Eaſt-Indies, in behalf of themſelves, and others, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, by a Clauſe in the Act of Parliament, of the Ninth and Tenth of King William, for eſtabliſhing the Eaſt-India Trade, it is enacted, That every Society, Company, or Corporation, whatſoever, which ſhall be erected or eſtabliſhed in purſuance of the ſaid Act, and their Succeſſors, reſpectively, ſhall take care, that the Sum total of all the Debts which ſuch Society, Company, or Corporation, reſpectively ſhall owe at any one time to any other Perſon or Perſons, Bodies Politick or Corporate, do not exceed the Value of the Principal or Capital Stock or Stocks, which, at any ſuch time, ſhall be and remain to ſuch Society, Company, or Corporation, undivided: And that in caſe any ſuch Society, Company, or Corporation, by any Dividend or Dividends whatſoever to be made amongſt themſelves, or in their private or perſonal Capacities, ſhall reduce or leſſen their Joint-Stock, Principal, or Capital, without limiting, paying off, or proportionably reducing, the total Sum of the ſaid Debts, which they ſhall owe to others, as aforeſaid, ſo that the Value of their Joint-Stock, Principal, or Capital, undivided, ſhall not be ſufficient to anſwer their juſt Debts then remaining unpaid; in every ſuch Caſe, the particular Members, and every of them reſpectively, who, in their private or perſonal Capacities, ſhall receive any Share of ſuch Dividend, ſhall be ſeverally liable, and they are hereby made liable, ſo far as the reſpective Shares ſo by them reſpectively received upon ſuch Dividend or Dividends ſhall extend, to pay and ſatisfy the Debts which ſhall remain due and unpaid by ſuch Society, Company, or Corporation, reſpectively, to any other Perſons, or Bodies Politick or Corporate, as aforeſaid; who, by virtue of the ſaid Act, ſhall and may ſue for, and recover, the ſame, beſides Coſt of Suit, by Action of Debt, or of the Caſe, as is before-mentioned; any thing in the ſaid Act, or any other Act, Law, Uſage, or Cuſtom, to the contrary notwithſtanding: That this Clauſe may be of very fatal Conſequence, not only to the preſent, but former, Adventurers of the Company; and the Adventurers, and their Heirs, being ever liable to a Proſecution for Dividends they have received: That, during the time the Company was limited to a ſhort Term of Years, the Dangers from this Clauſe were not great; but now the Fears are moſt juſtly grounded, ſince the Company is made perpetual by the Act of Parliament of the Tenth of Queen Anne: And praying, That the Houſe will take the Premiſes into Conſideration, and ſo explain and qualify the Clauſe aforeſaid, that the private Adventurers, and their Heirs, may not be expoſed to chargeable and vexatious Law-ſuits.

Reſolved, That the ſaid Petition be rejected.

The Order of the Day being read, for the Houſe to reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of the Supply granted to his Majeſty;

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Friday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into the ſaid Committee of the whole Houſe.

An Act for naturalizing Iſaac Kuyckvan Mierop.

And

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

And the ſaid Petition was, by Leave of the Houſe, withdrawn.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Totnes, in the County of Devon, in the room of Arthur Champernown Eſquire, deceaſed.

The Order of the Day being read, for the Call of the Houſe;

Ordered, That the Call of the Houſe be adjourned until Thurſday the Second Day of May next.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do write circular Letters to the Sheriffs and Stewards of the ſeveral Counties of Great Britain, requiring the Attendance of the Members of the Houſe on the ſaid Second Day of May: And that this Houſe will proceed with the utmoſt Severity againſt ſuch Members, whoſe Excuſes ſhall not be allowed of, as ſhall not then attend the Service of the Houſe.

Ordered, That no Member do preſume to go out of Town, without Leave of the Houſe.

Ordered, That no Leave be aſked for any Member to go out of Town, but between the Hours of One and Two of the Clock.

The Order being read, for the Houſe to reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, upon the Bill for explaining an Act, paſſed the laſt Seſſion of Parliament, intituled, An Act to oblige Papiſts to regiſter their Names, and real Eſtates; and for inlarging the Time for ſuch Regiſtring;

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair;

The Houſe divided.

The Noes go forth.

Tellers for the Yeas,	Mr. Shuttleworth, Mr. Conyers:	98.
Tellers for the Noes,	Mr. Minſhull, Mr. Yonge:	123.

So it paſſed in the Negative.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Saturday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, upon the ſaid Bill.

Mr. Hampden, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Election for the Borough of Yarmouth, in the Iſle of Wight, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which Report he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſaid Report and Reſolutions were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of Sir Theodore Janſſen Knight, and Antony Morgan Eſquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return of Henry Holmes Eſquire, and Sir Robert Raymond Knight, to ſerve for the Borough of Yarmouth, in the Iſle of Wight:

That the Committee have examined the Merits of this Election:

That it was agreed by the Counſel on both Sides, That South Yarmouth is a Borough by Preſcription; has, Time out of Mind, ſent Members to Parliament; and that the Right of Election is in the Mayor and Burgeſſes.

The Poll was,

For the Sitting Members,	Henry Holmes Eſquire — —	39:
	Sir Robert Raymond — —	38:
For the Petitioners,	Antony Morgan Eſquire — —	20:
	Sir Theodore Janſſen — —	18.

That the Petitioners Counſel objected to 27 of the Sitting Members Voters, as not qualified; Three of them, as chief Burgeſſes; the reſt, as free Burgeſſes: And they produced,

Teſte 18 Sept. 7 Jac. I. The Charter; which recites this to be an ancient Borough; and that the Mayor and Burgeſſes had, Time out of Mind, divers Privileges and Cuſtoms by Preſcription, and which had been confirmed to them by ſeveral former Kings:

This Charter incorporates them by the Name of Mayor and Burgeſſes; and appoints a Common-Council, which is to conſiſt of Twelve (a) [chief] Burgeſſes; and conſtitutes and requires, Quod major, et undecim capitales burgenſes, burgi, pro tempore exiſtentes, vel major pars eorum, whereof the Mayor to be One, ſhall have the Power of making By-laws: And,

The Mayor, et undecim capitales burgenſes, burgi, pro tempore exiſtentes, vel major pars eorum, whereof the Mayor to be One, are annually, upon Saint Matthew's Day, to aſſemble in the Guildhall; and they, or the major Part of them, there then aſſembled, are to elect unum de ſeipſis to be Mayor, to continue in Office for One Year next enſuing, and until another is duly elected and ſworn Mayor:

Which Swearing of the Mayor is required to be, upon the Monday after Election, coram ultimo majori prædeceſſori ſuo ad tunc pro tempore exiſtente; aut, in abſentia ejuſdem majoris, coram the Burgeſſes who ſhall be then preſent, or the major Part of them, for the Time being:

(a) Supplied from the original Report.

And,

And, upon the Death, or Amoval, of any of the chief Burgeſſes, the Mayor, and the reſt of the chief Burgeſſes, qui adtunc ſupervixerint, vel remanſerint, or the major Part of them, are to elect other chief Burgeſſes de burgenſibus burgi, in convenient time after ſuch Death or Amoval; and the chief Burgeſſes, ſo elected, are to be ſworn coram majori burgi prædicti pro tempore exiſtente, et majori parti capitalium burgenſium burgi.

It was inſiſted on by the Petitioners Counſel, That the Election of free Burgeſſes, or Burgeſſes at large, was intirely governed by the By-laws made purſuant to the Charter; the Charter being ſilent as to ſuch free Burgeſſes: And,

The Petitioners Counſel, in order to diſqualify upon their Objections, produced,

Dat. 21 September 1680, a By-law, ſigned by the Mayor, and Eight chief Burgeſſes, aſſembled in Common-Council, That no chief or free Burgeſs ſhould be elected, or ſworn, without the Mayor, and major Part, were then preſent, of the chief Burgeſſes; that is to ſay, Six chief Burgeſſes, beſides the Mayor; under a Penalty of Ten Pounds upon the Mayor: And,

Dat. 21 September 1698, another By-law, ſigned by the Mayor, and Ten chief Burgeſſes, aſſembled in Common-Council, That no chief or free Burgeſs ſhall be choſen, without the Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes, be preſent, and conſenting; and, if any be choſen by a leſs Number, ſuch Election to be ipſo facto void; and the Mayor to forfeit Fifty Pounds for every ſuch Offence:

Which By-laws were vacated, and declared void, at a Common Council holden the Fifth Day of November 1706, by the Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes preſent: But,

The Petitioners Counſel inſiſted, That, until they were ſo repealed, theſe By-laws governed the Elections of the Burgeſſes:

And, on this Head, they objected to Colonel Henry Holmes, and William Bowreman Eſquire, That, during the time theſe By-laws were in Force, they were elected chief Burgeſſes by a leſs Number than ſuch By-laws made requiſite.

It appeared by the Town-book, that Colonel Holmes and Mr. Bowreman were elected chief Burgeſſes as follows; viz.

17 May 1687, Colonel Holmes elected, and ſworn, in the place of Sir Robert Dillington, deceaſed, by a Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes: And,

30 Mar. 1697. Mr. Bowreman ſworn by a Mayor, and Four chief Burgeſſes, whereof Colonel Holmes, before objected to, was One, in the room of Captain William Cotton, then amoved by them. And,

Colonel William Stephens, another chief Burgeſs, was alſo objected to, for want of a ſufficient Number at his Election.

It appeared by the Town-book, That, 6 October 1711, he was elected, and ſworn, a chief Burgeſs, in the room of Captain William Urry, deceaſed, by a Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes and Mr. Bowreman, before objected againſt, were Two.

It was alſo objected by the Petitioners Counſel, That Twenty-three others were unduly elected free Burgeſſes, for want of a ſufficient Number of chief Burgeſſes at their Elections: And,

Dat. 21 September 1670, another By-law was produced, made by a Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes, aſſembled in Common-Council, That, for the time to come, no chief Burgeſs, or Burgeſs at large, otherwiſe called free Burgeſs, ſhould be made, unleſs the Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes, be preſent, and give their Conſent, at the Election; upon Pain of Forfeiture of Ten Pound for every Burgeſs that ſhall be made contrary to this Law.

The Sitting Members Counſel inſiſted, That, according to the Clauſe in the Charter before ſtated, it is requiſite, that, in all Events, there ſhould be preſent at the making any By-law a Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes, being the Majority of the conſtituent Number of the Common-Council; and that, Six chief Burgeſſes not being preſent, this By-law was void:

To which the Petitioners Counſel replied, That only a Mayor, and Majority of the chief Burgeſſes in being, were neceſſary to the Making of By-laws: That one of the chief Burgeſſes having ſurrendered his Office, and another being dead, at this time, this By-law, made by the Mayor and major Part of the chief Burgeſſes then in being, was well warranted by the Power in the Charter.

The Committee came to this Reſolution;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the By-law, made the Twenty-firſt of September 1670, by the Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes, of Yarmouth, in the Iſle of Wight, being the major Part of the chief Burgeſſes then exiſting, for electing free Burgeſſes by the Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes, was a good By-law.

The Twenty-three free Burgeſſes, objected to by the Petitioners Counſel, for want of a ſufficient Number of chief Burgeſſes at their Elections, appear, by the Town-books, to have been elected, and ſworn, free Burgeſſes by the Mayor, and chief Burgeſſes, at ſeveral Aſſemblies, as follows; viz.

1 Feb. $167\frac{8}{9}$, Benjamin Williams, by a Mayor, and Four chief Burgeſſes:

21 Oct. 1684, Timothy Heath, by a Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes:

19 September 1694, Sir Robert Smith, by a Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes, before objected to, was One:

30 Mar. 1697, Thomas Urry junior, by a Mayor, and Four chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes was One:

25 September 1710, Captain John Wood, Robert Shickler, Rori Morriſon, Benjamin Miller, John Beere, Robert Martell, John Birket, and Jonathan Warr, by a Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes and Mr. Bowreman, before objected againſt, were Two.

9 October 1710, David Urry, of Afton, and James Goodman, by a Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes and Mr. Bowreman were Two:

6 October 1711, John Crosby, by a Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes and Mr. Bowreman were Two.

27 September 1714, John Scott Clerk, Nicolas Clegg, Edward Kebblewhite, David Worſeley, Milburn Bloom, Stephen Sheckler, William Coleman, and Henry Woodford, by a Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes, Colonel Bowreman, and Colonel William Stephens, before objected againſt, were Three.

Nicolas D'Pine was objected to, as receiving publick Charity; but it was admitted by the Petitioners Counſel, That One of their Voters was in the ſame Caſe: And they arther alleged,

That Colonel Thomas Urry for the Petitioners, and Colonel David Urry for the Sitting Members, were equally bad Votes; both their Elections being void.

All the Twenty-ſix Perſons before objected to voted for the Sitting Members; except Benjamin Williams, who gave one Vote for Colonel Holmes, and the other for Colonel Morgan.

That, in Anſwer to what had been offered, the Sitting Members Counſel inſiſted,

That the Objections made to the chief Burgeſſes and free Burgeſſes before-named were not ſufficient to make void either the Offices of ſuch chief Burgeſſes, or their Votes, or the Votes of the free Burgeſſes elected under them:

And they argued, That the Common-Council could not, as they had done by the By-laws of 1670, 1680, and 1698, appoint the Power of Election of chief Burgeſſes to be executed by a greater Number than the Charter required, which is a Mayor, and the reſt of the ſurviving chief Burgeſſes, or the major Part of them:

That Colonel Holmes was elected a chief Burgeſs, when Sir Robert Dillington and Captain Roche, Two of the chief Burgeſſes, were dead; and that he, being elected by a Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes, was elected according to the Charter:

That Colonel Holmes, and the other Two chief Burgeſſes objected to, had many Years continued in Office; and all along acted and voted without Interruption or Objection: That Colonel Bowreman, another of the Three, was, in 1698, unanimouſly elected Mayor by a Mayor, and Ten chief Burgeſſes, the whole Number then in being; who, by this Choice, took him to be a good chief Burgeſs, by chooſing him Mayor, as the Charter requires him to be unum de ſeipſis: That Colonel Holmes had been alſo Mayor; and both acted in their ſeveral Mayoralties without any Objection; which Facts were admitted by the Petitioners Counſel:

That if the Offices of the Three chief Burgeſſes objected to ſhould be avoided; yet, as free Burgeſſes, they had a Right of voting:

That, ſuppoſing they were not originally well elected chief Burgeſſes, yet, having ſo many Years acted as ſuch without Interruption, they were at leaſt to be looked upon as chief Burgeſſes de facto; and, as ſuch, their Acts would be good till their Offices ſhould be avoided; conſequently, that the free Burgeſſes, who were elected by the Mayor, and chief Burgeſſes, when theſe chief Burgeſſes made the Quorum, were well elected: And farther, as to the free Burgeſſes, that the By-laws of 1670, and 1680, did not declare the Elections of free Burgeſſes, made contrary thereto, to be void; but only laid a Penalty upon the Mayor in Caſes of ſuch Elections.

The Sitting Members Counſel alſo inſiſted, and it was admitted by the Petitioners Counſel, That, anciently, before the making any of theſe By-laws, the Elections of free Burgeſſes were by a leſs Number than any of thoſe By-laws make requiſite; and that ſeveral of the chief Burgeſſes, who voted for the Petitioners, joined, in 1706, in the Repeal of the By-laws of 1680, and 1698. And,

The Sitting Members Counſel produced Inſtances, in the Years 1672, 1673, and 1674, of Elections both of chief Burgeſſes and free Burgeſſes, contrary to the By-laws then in being: One Inſtance, by a Mayor and Two chief Burgeſſes; another, by a Mayor, and One chief Burgeſs; and another, by a Mayor, and Four chief Burgeſſes: From whence they inferred, That the By-laws did not, in the Opinion of the Burgeſſes, vitiate any Election; and that the ancient Uſage in the Borough, to which theſe Inſtances were agreeable, juſtified the Elections of the Burgeſſes objected to:

They alſo ſhewed, by the Town-books, That Five of the Petitioners Voters were elected, when Colonel Holmes, who was objected to, made up the Quorum of chief Burgeſſes; and that, in 1671, a Deputy-Mayor, with only Four chief Burgeſſes, elected the ſucceeding Mayor; whereas there is no Power in the Charter to appoint a Deputy-Mayor: Which Facts were admitted by the Counſel for the Petitioners, and were offered by the Sitting Members Counſel, not to avoid ſuch Elections of Burgeſſes, but to ſhew, that, if the Petitioners Objections prevailed, all the Acts done in this Corporation, for many Years paſt, would be void; and the Corporation might be found to be diſſolved, for want of a due Succeſſion of Mayors and Burgeſſes: And,

They ſhewed, by the Town-book, That Eight of the free Burgeſſes, before objected to by the Petitioners Counſel; viz. Captain John Wood, and the Seven others elected with him the 25th of September 1710; were confirmed and allowed the 9th of October following, at a Common-Council holden by a Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes, before objected to, was One:

And that Thomas Sanders and Jonathan Combes, Two of the Petitioners Voters, were, on the 16th of October 1693, elected chief Burgeſſes by a Mayor, and Six chief Burgeſſes; whereof Colonel Holmes was One; and if he was not good, as was urged for the Petitioners, there was not a Quorum, according to the By law of 1680; which was then in being, and required Six chief Burgeſſes, beſides the Mayor, to be preſent.

The Petitioners Counſel urged what they had before inſiſted on, againſt the Qualifications of the Sitting Members Voters, as elected contrary to the Charter, and By-laws; and added, by way of Reply, That although the Corporation could not inlarge the Power given them by Charter, relating to their Election of Burgeſſes; yet they might abridge ſuch Power, and reſtrain it to a leſs Number than the Charter had appointed; and therefore the By-laws, relating to the Elections of ſuch Burgeſſes, were well grounded:

And, as to their being Officers de facto, that, notwithſtanding their long Poſſeſſion, their Titles to ſuch Offices were yet queſtionable, and could not be ſupported by Poſſeſſion, if void in the Original, as in this Caſe; and that, although ſome Corporate Acts done by Common-Council-men de facto, ſuch as making Leaſes or Sales for valuable Conſiderations, would be always good; yet, if the Elections of ſuch Common-Councilmen were void, all Elections depending thereon were ſo too.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Henry Holmes Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Yarmouth, in the Iſle of Wight.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Sir Robert Raymond Knight is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough of Yarmouth.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Antony Morgan Eſquire is duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough of Yarmouth.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Sir Theodore Janſſen Knight is duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough of Yarmouth.

The Firſt Reſolution being read a Second time;

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That the Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, That the By-law, made the Twenty-firſt of September 1670, by the Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes, of Yarmouth, in the Iſle of Wight, being the major Part of the chief Burgeſſes then exiſting, for electing free Burgeſſes by the Mayor, and Five chief Burgeſſes, was a good By-law;

The Houſe divided.

The Noes go forth.

Tellers for the Yeas, { Lord Wm. Powlet, Mr. Cater: } 139.

Tellers for the Noes, { Sir John Bland, Mr. Hill: } 100.

So it was reſolved in the Affirmative.

The Second Reſolution being read a Second time;

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That the Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, That Henry Holmes Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Yarmouth, in the Iſle of Wight;

The Houſe divided.

The Noes go forth.

Tellers for the Yeas, { Sir Henry Aſhurſt, Mr. Carter: } 135.

Tellers for the Noes, { Mr. Foley, Sir Thomas Croſſe: } 93.

So it was reſolved in the Affirmative.

The reſt of the ſaid Reſolutions, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the Clerk of the Crown do attend this Houſe To-morrow Morning, to amend the Return for the Borough of Yarmouth, in the Iſle of Wight, by raſing out the Names of Henry Holmes Eſquire, and Sir Robert Raymond Knight, and inſerting the Names of Antony Morgan Eſquire, and Sir Theodore Janſſen Knight.

Mr. Hampden, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Election for the City of Wells, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which Report he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſaid Report and Reſolutions were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of John Dodd Eſquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return of Thomas Horner Eſquire to ſerve for the City of Wells:

That the Committee have examined the Merits of this Election.

That the Right of Election was agreed to be in the Mayor, Maſters, and Burgeſſes.

That the Sitting Member's Counſel inſiſted, It was neceſſary they ſhould be ſworn Burgeſſes; which was denied by the Petitioner's Counſel; who inſiſted, That Wells is a Corporation by Preſcription; and that all Perſons intitled to Burgeſſhip, and duly claiming the ſame, have a Right to vote.

The Poll was,

For the Sitting Member, 221:
For the Petitioner, 95.

The Petitioner's Counſel objected to 189 of the Sitting Member's Voters; viz. 187 as not qualified, and Two for receiving Alms: And they called,

Robert Thomas and James York: Who ſaid, They had ſearched the Town-books, wherein the Burgeſſes Names are entered: That 182 of the Perſons objected to are not entered in thoſe Books; and that Two others live in an Alms-houſe, and pay no Rent:

Richard Thomas named Five others, who, he ſaid, are only honorary Burgeſſes; had no Title to Burgeſſhip antecedent to their Admiſſion; and are not reſident; though they had ſerved in Parliament for this City, and had before voted in Elections; but were always objected to.

That the Sitting Member's Counſel alleged, They ſhould make good their Majority againſt the Petitioner; but produced no Evidence to this Point.

They objected Bribery to the Petitioner; and called,

John Ganfeild: Who ſaid, He had Two Crowns for his Vote for the Petitioner; and was promiſed more, but never had it; and that, upon the Election-day, Humphry Cordwent, who aſked Votes for the Petitioner, and is One of his Voters, told the Witneſs in the Hall, That he had more Money (and named Ten or Eleven Guineas) to diſpoſe of to get Votes for the Petitioner.

Thomas Bartlet ſaid, Timothy Oxley gave him Three Guineas to vote for the Petitioner:

Being croſs-examined, he ſaid, He had never denied to Robert Thomas, John Read, or James Harvey, his having received any Money for his Vote for the Petitioner: But,

Robert Thomas, John Read, and James Harvey, being called on the Petitioner's Part, they averred, That this Bartlett was aſked by Thomas and Read, what he had for his Vote for the Petitioner; and that he ſolemnly denied he ever had any thing; and ſwore to it; but owned, he had borrowed Three Guineas of Oxley, and had given his Note for it; and Harvey added, That Ganfeild had averred to him ſolemnly, That, as he hoped for Salvation, he never received a Farthing of any body for his Vote.

That the Committee have examined the Merits of this Election.

For the Sitting Member, 62:

It was proved, That Thirty-four of the Sitting Member's Voters received Bribes for their Votes from the Sitting Member a few Days before the Election; ſome had Five Pounds, and others Four Guineas, apiece; and that ſeveral Hogs, and ſome Corn, were diſtributed to them by the Sitting Member's Order.

Robert Hanſon ſaid, That the Sitting Member threatened to make him run his Country, if he came up to give Evidence againſt him.

That nobody appeared to defend the Sitting Member's Election: And thereupon the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Robert Leeves Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Steyning, in the County of Suſſex.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Our Duty to your Majeſty, and our Concern for the Security of your Kingdoms, at a time when the Nation was threatened with a deſperate Invaſion, obliged us to make Proviſion for keeping up ſuch a Body of Land-Forces, as might ſhew, that we were in a Poſture of Defence; but your Majeſty having Grounds to hope, on the Arrival of your Fleet in the Sound, that, by the Bleſſing of God, a Check will be put to that Deſign, we muſt for ever acknowlege, that the early Directions you have been pleaſed to give for reducing ſuch a Body of thoſe Land-Forces is the moſt acceptable Pledge you could give your People of your Tenderneſs for them; and that your Majeſty has nothing ſo much at Heart as their preſent and future Welfare; and is ſuch an Inſtance of your great Wiſdom and Goodneſs, as muſt for ever endear your Majeſty to all your Subjects.

A Petition of Margaret Counteſs of Ranelagh was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That there is a Bill now depending before this Houſe, intituled, A Bill for Sale of the late Earl of Ranelagh's Eſtate at Chelſea and Cranborne, in the Counties of Middleſex and Berks; and, if the ſaid Bill ſhould paſs into a Law, it would very much prejudice the Petitioner: And praying, That ſhe may be heard, by her Counſel, againſt the ſaid Bill.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee, to whom the Bill for Sale of the late Earl of Ranelagh's Eſtate at Chelſea and Cranborne, in the Counties of Middleſex and Berks, is committed: And that the Petitioner be heard, before the Committee, by her Counſel, if ſhe ſhall think fit.

Sir George Warrender reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Provoſt, Magiſtrates, and Council, of the City of Edinburgh, in behalf of themſelves, and the Community of the ſaid City, was referred, the Matter of Fact, as it appeared to them; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as followeth; viz.

That the Committee, purſuant to the Order of the Houſe, the 13th of May inſtant, have examined the Matter of the ſaid Petition; and find,

That, in the Year 1693, the publick Debt of the City of Edinburgh amounted to the Sum of 82,913 l. 16 s. 9½ d.; and that, by an Act of Parliament paſſed in Scotland, the 13th June 1693, a Duty of Two Penies Scots is laid upon every Pint of Ale and Beer brewed, brought in, vended, tapped, and ſold, within the Town of Edinburgh, Suburbs and Liberties thereof, to be paid to the Magiſtrates, for a Term not exceeding Thirty Years, to commence on the 1ſt Day July 1693; which Duty is appropriated for Payment as well of the Intereſt of the Debt aforeſaid, as of the principal Sum due from the ſaid Town, for the Term of Three Years; and, after the Expiration of the Term of Three Years, the ſame is appropriated for the Payment of the principal Debt only; and then the Intereſt of the ſaid Debt, by that Act, is directed to be paid out of the other Revenues of the Town, and not out of the Duty ariſing by the ſaid Act:

And, out of the ſaid Duty, the Sum of Two thouſand Marks Scots per Annum is, by that Act, to be paid to the French Miniſters, during the French Perſecution, and Continuance of the ſaid Duty, and no longer.

That, by an Account produced to the Committee, it appeared, that the groſs Produce of the Duty ariſing by the ſaid Act, between the 1ſt of July 1693, and the 1ſt July 1710, amounted only to the Sum of 76,511 l. 0 s. 0¾ d.; and that the Duty, ariſing during the remaining 13 Years of the ſaid Term, was farmed towards diſcharging a Debt of 45,583 l. 6 s. 8 d. with the Intereſt due, and growing due, for the ſame:

That the ſaid Act, reſtraining the Magiſtrates of the Town from applying any more of that Duty towards diſcharging the Intereſt of the ſaid Debt of 82,913 l. 16 s. 9½ d. than what ſhould ariſe in the Three Firſt Years, did put the Town under a Neceſſity of borrowing Money to diſcharge ſuch Intereſt as ſhould become due for the ſaid Debt after the Firſt Three Years; the whole Produce of that Duty not being equal to the annual Intereſt of the Firſt Debt.

That, by another Account produced to the Committee, it appeared, that the whole Revenue of the Town, excluſive of the Duty aforeſaid, between Michaelmas 1699 and Michaelmas 1706, amounted to — — — 43,772 l. 4 s. 1 d.

And, in the Years 1713, 1714, amounted to — — — 10,330 l. 4 s. 10 d.

So, upon comparing the Accounts, it appears, That there has been a gradual Decreaſe of the Revenue of the Town ſince the Union; and that the Difference between the annual Revenue at the Union, and in the Year 1715, hath been — — — 1,088 l. 1 s. 1¼ d.

That the Committee called Mr. George Irvin: Who ſaid, He had examined the Accounts produced to the Committee; and that the ſame were true, and ſigned by the Accountant-General: He further ſaid, That the publick Works, in regard they had been much neglected many Years, would coſt a very conſiderable Sum of Money to repair them as they ought to be; and that it was abſolutely neceſſary to inlarge the Harbour of Leith, and deepen the Chanel thereof; and alſo to build and endow Two new Churches, and a Work-houſe for the Poor of the ſaid Town.

That it alſo appeared to the Committee, That the Trade of the City, and its Suburbs, is very much decayed ſince the Year 1707, the Time of the Union, for want of the uſual Concourſe of the Nobility and Gentry, which came there by reaſon of the Parliament, Privy-Council, and Treaſury; and thereby all the Branches of . . . Revenue are diminiſhed, and great Numbers of the Inhabitants of the Town are reduced to Poverty:

That, by reaſon of the late unnatural Rebellion, the ſaid Town borrowed, for Defending and Support of the ſame, excluſive of what was laid out by Order of the Publick, the Sum of 3,000 l.; which . . ſtill a Debt upon the Town.

That, upon Examination of the whole Matter, it appeared to the Committee, That the ſaid City is greatly in Debt; and that the Deficiency of the publick Revenue will inevitably increaſe the ſame; and if the Works aforeſaid, which have .... long neglected, ſhould be carried on, the whole Debt of the ſaid Town will, on the 1ſt Day of July 1723, when the Duty aforeſaid expires, by Eſtimation, amount to 60,236 l. 5 s. 8 d.; which Debt cannot be paid off by the Town, unleſs the Term in the ſaid Duty be prolonged, or that ſome other Proviſion be made for diſcharging the ſame.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for continuing the Duty of Two Penies Scots, or One-ſixth Part of a Peny Sterling, on every Pint of Ale and Beer that ſhall be vended or ſold within the City of Edinburgh, and Privileges thereof, for the Benefit of the ſaid City: And that Sir George Warrender, and Mr. Daniel Campbell, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

That the Committee, according to the Order of the Houſe, of the 17th of this inſtant May, have examined the Allegations contained in the Petitions from Southwark, Briſtol, and Cheſter; and do find,

That, upon the Examination of Joſeph Eaton, and others, great Prejudices ariſe to the Tanning-trade of this Kingdom, by reaſon of the vaſt Quantities of Oak-bark of late Years exported from Great Britain to Ireland:

That

That 100 Ton of Bark will tan about 4,000 Iriſh Hides; which Number of Hides, when tanned here, will pay 600 l. Duty to the Government:

That there is not a ſufficient Quantity of Bark of the Growth of Ireland to tan ſo many Hides as they now do:

That, by ſuch Exportation of Bark, the Importation of raw Hides diminiſhes; for that, now, the vaſt Quantities of raw Hides that annually uſed to be brought into this Kingdom, and tanned here, are moſtly manufactured there, with the Bark they have from Great Britain:

	Tons.	CWt.	Qrs.
That, by an atteſted Account, delivered in to the Committee, it appeared, that, in the Year 1714, there was exported from Chepſtow to Ireland, of Bark, but — — —	48	0	0
And, in 1716, the Exportation amounted to — — —	271	10	0

That, in the Year 1713, there was exported, from Lancaſter to Ireland, above 16,000 Quarters of Bark:

	Tons.	CWt.	Qrs.
That, by another Account of Bark exported from Briſtol to Ireland, the Committee find, from December 25th 1703, to December 25th 1709, but	33	10	0
And from the 25th December 1709 to the 25th December 1710 — —	75	19	0
From December 25th 1710, to December 25th 1711 — —	42	4	0

That, in the Year 1705, the Number of raw Hides imported from Ireland to the Port of Briſtol did amount to — — — — — 23,837

And, including Three Years together, viz. from the 25th of December 1710, to the 25th of December 1713, the whole Number was in all but — — — — — 7,910

The Difference — — — — 15,927

That, by Account from Cheſter, and other Places, it further appeared to the Committee, That the Exportation of Bark annually increaſes; and that the Importation of raw Hides daily diminiſhes; to the great Prejudice, not only of the Petitioners, but of his Majeſty's Revenue in particular, and the Tanning-trade of this Kingdom in general.

And the ſaid Clauſe was once read with Blanks:

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That the further Conſideration of the ſaid Clauſe be adjourned;

Mr. Hampden reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Election for the Borough of Great Marlow, in the County of Bucks, and the Reſolutions of the ſaid Committee thereupon; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the Report, and Reſolutions, were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of ſeveral of the Inhabitants of Great Marlow, in the County of Bucks, in behalf of themſelves, and ſeveral others, who have Right of Election for Members to ſerve in Parliament for the ſaid Borough: And alſo,

Upon the Petition of Joſeph Gray, and other Inhabitants paying Scot and Lot within the ſaid Borough; ſeverally complaining of an undue Election and Return of George Bruere Eſquire, and the Right Honourable the Lord Shelburne, of the Kingdom of Ireland, to ſerve for the ſaid Borough:

That Counſel on both Sides attended the Committee:

That the Counſel for the Petitioners againſt Mr. Bruere objected to him as unqualified, with reſpect to a Particular mentioned in the Rental given in by him for his Qualification; which Rental amounts to 334 l. 10 s. per Annum.

The Particular objected to is mentioned in the ſaid Rental to be, a Meſſuage, Tenement, Farm, and Lands, with the Appurtenances, called the Home-Farm, and Bryan's Farm, and a Parcel of Lands or Warren, called Whiteley-hill, in the Pariſh of Worth, in the County of Suſſex, in the Tenure of Mary Ryce, of the yearly Value of Forty (a) [four] Pounds.

And the Petitioners Counſel called,

Geo. Ryce: Who ſaid, He did not know any Farm called Home-Farm, or Bryan's Farm; but that he rents a Farm called Whiteley-hill, which is all Warren-land, except about Seven or Eight Pounds a Year: That he pays his Rent, which is 44 l. per Annum, to Mr. Gale; and never heard of any Intereſt Mr. Bruere had:

That, on Mr. Bruere's Part, a Conveyance to him for his Life, by Leaſe and Releaſe, dated 1° & 2do July 1713, from Leonard Gale Eſquire, of Part of Two Farms, therein called by the Names of Home Farm, and Bryan's Farm, a Warren called Whiteley-hill, and other Premiſes therein mentioned, was produced, and proved to be duly executed; and the Conſideration-money, being 1,000 l. bona fide paid by Mr. Bruere. And,

Mr. Gale ſaid, That he did, by the ſaid Deeds, actually convey thoſe Farms and Premiſes to Mr. Bruere, for his Life; and, bona fide, received the Conſideration-money: That he had, indeed, received the Rent ſince the Conveyance, but it was for Mr. Bruere's Uſe; and for no other Reaſon than becauſe himſelf lived in that County, and Mr. Bruere lived Fifty Miles off; and that he, bona fide, annually accounted for, and paid, the ſame to Mr. Bruere.

That the Counſel for the Petitioners againſt the Lord Shelburne acquainted the Committee, That they did not inſiſt upon their Petition.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to the following Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That George Bruere Eſquire is duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Great Marlow, in the County of Bucks.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Right Honourable Henry Lord Viſcount Shelburne, of the Kingdom of Ireland, is duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the ſaid Borough of Great Marlow.

The ſaid Reſolutions, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Mr. Hampden reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Election for the Borough of Shaftesbury, in the County of Dorſet, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the Report, and Reſolutions, were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of William Hearſt Eſquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return of Edward Nicholas Eſquire to ſerve for the Borough of Shafteſbury, in the County of Dorſet:

That Counſel on both Sides attended the Committee.

The Petitioner's Counſel alleged, That their material Witneſſes, whereof Mr. Long, One of the Overſeers of the Poor, was the principal, were taken ill upon the Road, and lay ſick at Salisbury; which they offered to prove; and ſaid, They had not any material Witneſs in Town, and could not therefore proceed to the Merits of the Election; but deſired farther Time to bring up their Witneſſes:

To which the Sitting Member's Counſel anſwered, That this was only a Pretence: That, if the Caſe had been ſo, the Houſe ought to have been acquainted therewith before the Committee met to hear the Merits of the Election; and Notice ſhould have been given to the Sitting Member; neither of which had been done: That the Merits of this Election were originally appointed to be heard on the Two-and-twentieth of April laſt; and the Hearing would have come on before now, had not the Committee been ſometimes adjourned: That it came on now in Courſe, and the Petitioner had time enough to bring up any Witneſſes he thought fit: That there was another Overſeer in the Town beſides Long; and he might have ſent up any Poors Rates he had, if he could not have attended himſelf:

That the Sitting Member, having had no Notice of this Pretence, had brought up his Witneſſes; been at great Expence; was ready to juſtify his Election; and ought to be diſcharged of this Petition, if the Counſel for the Petitioner did not think fit to call any Witneſſes to make out the Matter of his Petition:

Which the Petitioner's Counſel not doing, nor making it appear to the Committee, That the Petitioner had ever ſummoned any Witneſs to attend;

And the Committee came to this Reſolution;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Edward Nicholas Eſquire is duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Shaftesbury, in the County of Dorſet.

The ſaid Reſolution, being read a Second time, was, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Mr. Hampden reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Election for the Borough of Leominſter, in the County of Hereford, and the Reſolution of the Committee thereupon; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the Report, and Reſolution, were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of ſeveral of the Inhabitants and Burgeſſes of the Borough of Leominſter, in the County of Hereford, who have a Right of voting for, and electing, Members to ſerve in Parliament for the ſaid Borough; complaining of an undue Election and Return of George Caſwall Eſquire to ſerve for the ſaid Borough:

That the Committee have examined the Matter of this Petition.

That the Petitioner's Counſel objected Bribery to the Sitting Member; and called the following Witneſſes; viz.

John Herring: Who ſaid, That he has voted at former Elections: That all the Candidates at this Election aſked his Vote; and that Captain Welling gave him Twenty Guineas as a free Gift; but never aſked his Vote:

That he, and ſeveral other Voters, in Number Forty, met Mr. John Caſwall, the Sitting Member's Brother, and Captain Welling: That the Sitting Member came once into the Room, and drank ſome Ale with them; they drank his Health; for which he thanked them; and ſaid, He hoped they would vote for him; and went away, without ſaying any thing more to them: They all agreed not to vote on either Side under Twenty Guineas a Man; and, Mr. John Caſwall offering that Sum, thereupon they all put down their Names in a Paper, that they would vote for General Gorges and Mr. Caſwall: That the Captain gave him his Twenty Guineas; and, he believes, all the reſt had the ſame; but he ſaw none paid, except his own: That the Sitting Member never gave, nor offered, him any thing: That he voted for Mr. Caſwall; but, without the Twenty Guineas, ſhould have voted for Captain Gorges:

Being croſs-examined, he ſaid, That, before Mr. Caſwall came down, Mr. Bangham, the Receiver-General of the County, had aſked Votes for General Gorges; acted as his Agent; and gave the Witneſs Seven Guineas as a free Gift; but did not aſk his Vote when he gave the Money; and that Mr. Batch had alſo, before this, bid Ten or Eleven Guineas apiece for Votes for General Gorges; but the Witneſs did not know he gave any thing:

This Witneſs, being aſked, Whether he was not to give his Vote for the Twenty Guineas, which he called a free Gift, anſwered, That he did not ſuppoſe they were given him for nothing.

Thomas Caldecot ſaid, That William Spencer gave him Ten Guineas as a free Gift, and never aſked his Vote, nor ſaid what he was to do for them: He voted for Mr. Caſwall; and, without the Ten Guineas, ſhould have voted for General Gorges:

Being croſs-examined, he ſaid, That Mr. Bangham, the Receiver-General, had, before this, given him Seven Pounds; which the Witneſs paid him back again, after he had received the Ten Guineas; and Mr. Bangham told him, He would give him the Seven Pounds clean, if he would vote for them: That it was reported, Mr. Bangham asked Votes for General Gorges, and Spencer for Mr. Caſwall.

Mr. Samuel Burton ſaid, That he happened to be at Leominſter at the Time of the Election; and, meeting with the Sitting Member there, took Notice to him of the Report how liberal he was for his Election: To which the Sitting Member anſwered, That he might be choſe elſewhere; but here he was born, and he would be a Member of Parliament for that Place, whatever it coſt him; and ſaid, He had brought down with him the Sinews of an Election:

Being croſs-examined, this Witneſs ſaid, He is Receiver-General for Radnorſhire, and has been ſo Two Years: That he is Agent for General Gorges; and is ſure the General never gave any thing to any Man alive for his Vote.

John Kedward ſaid, That he voted for Mr. Caſwall; and was One of the Forty who ſet their Hands to the Paper, to vote for Twenty Guineas a Man: That Captain Welling gave him Twenty Guineas; but gave it as a free Token: That, he believed, the reſt of the Forty had their Twenty Guineas apiece alſo; for he ſaw them come out of the Room with nothing but Gold in their Hands; though he did not ſee any paid, but his own; for Mr. John Caſwall, the Sitting Member's Brother, and Captain Welling, who paid the Money, called them all out of one Room into another, one by one; but the Sitting Member was not there when the Money was paid:

This Witneſs, being croſs-examined, ſaid, That, before this, Mr. Bangham, the Receiver-General, aſked his Vote; and, at the ſame time, gave him Six Guineas to vote for General Gorges; and that he paid the Six Guineas back again to Mr. Bangham, before the Election:

That the Witneſs telling John Bourn, who voted for General Gorges, what he had for his Vote, Bourn ſaid, He had Ten Pounds; and that it was all in Shillings and Sixpences; and not One Half-Crown among them.

Mr. John Colt junior ſaid, That Francis Steel, who voted for the Sitting Member, told the Witneſs, He owed the Sitting Member's Brother, upon Bond, Thirty Pounds, which he borrowed of him when he was Receiver-General; and was afraid he ſhould be thrown into Gaol, if he did not vote for Mr. Caſwall.

Catharine Halfpenny ſaid, That Mr. Thomas Price, the Town-Clerk, went up and down ſolliciting Votes for the Sitting Member; and ſhe heard him declare publickly, in the open Street, to about Twenty Perſons, moſt of which were Voters, That whatever Money was given on the other Side, they would double it, to carry the Election: But the Sitting Member was not preſent when this Declaration was made.

The Sitting Member's Counſel inſiſted, That no Credit ought to be given to the Witneſſes produced, who had confeſſed themſelves to be corrupt on all Sides: That, if ſuch Witneſſes were in any ſort to be credited, their Evidence only affected ſome particular Voters, who did not appear, by any Poll produced, to have voted for the Sitting Member: That, ſhould all thoſe they had impeached be taken off the Poll, the Sitting Member would yet have a great Majority againſt every other Candidate: That no Candidate pretended to diſpute the Poll, or the Right to ſit: That the Witneſſes produced had declared the Sitting Member never gave, or offered, any thing; nor was he ever preſent when any thing was offered, or given; nor did it appear, that any thing was offered, or given, by his Direction; and therefore they thought it not neceſſary to produce any Evidence on his behalf, the Evidence produced not affecting him, nor pretending to take away his Majority.

To which the Petitioner's Counſel replied, That although the Majority was not diſputed; yet the Sitting Member having procured his Election by Bribery and Corruption, his Election is void.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to this Reſolution;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That George Caſwall Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Leominſter, in the County of Hereford.

The ſaid Reſolution, being read a Second time, was, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

A Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That no new Writ do iſſue, during this Seſſion of Parliament, for electing a Burgeſs to ſerve for the ſaid Borough of Leominſter, in the room of the ſaid George Caſwall Eſquire;

It paſſed in the Negative.

Mr. Hampden reported, from the Committee of Privileges and Elections, the Matter, as it appeared to them, touching the Election for the County of Northumberland, and the Reſolution of the Committee thereupon; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the Report, and Reſolution, were read; and are as follow; viz.

Upon the Petition of Oley Douglas Eſquire, complaining of an undue Election and Return of Francis Delaval Eſquire to ſerve for the County of Northumberland:

That Counſel on both Sides attended the Committee:

That the Petitioner's Counſel objected to the Sitting Member, as unqualified:

That the Counſel for the Sitting Member inſiſted, That he is qualified, as eldeſt Son, or Heir apparent, of Ed- ward Delaval Eſquire; who is qualified to ſerve for a County; the Rental of whoſe Eſtate given in for ſuch Qualification amounts to 664 l. per Annum.

It was proved on the Petitioner's Part, and admitted by the Sitting Member's Counſel, That a Mortgage for 1,000*l.* at 6 l. per Cent. on Part of this Eſtate, was paid off ſince the Election; and that there are Quit-rents, amounting to Four Pounds per Annum, or thereabouts, payable out of the Eſtate.

That the Petitioner's Counſel made the following Objections to the Rental given in; viz.

That the Manſion-houſe, therein mentioned to be unlett, and charged to be 30 l. per Annum, was lett to Mr. Talbot for Ten:

That the Tenement in Newcaſtle, charged to be in the Poſſeſſion of Mr. John Hebdon, at 25 l. per Annum, was a Purchaſe made by Hebdon; wherein he made uſe of Mr. Delaval's Name only in Truſt for himſelf: And,

That the Purchaſe of the Lands called Floddan and Broomrigg, let at 158 per Annum, and ſaid to be purchaſed of Sir Francis Blake, for the Sitting Member's Father's Life, for 1,200 l. was only a colourable Purchaſe.

That, to prove their Objections, the Petitioner's Counſel called the following Witneſſes; viz.

John Beadnall: Who ſaid, He was a Servant to Mr. Talbot, who lived in the Manſion-houſe before-mentioned; and that he heard his Maſter ſay, His Bargain was to pay Ten Pounds a Year for it to Mr. Dalaval; but that he had no Leaſe.

That it appeared by the Evidence of Henry Kills and Wm. Coatſworth, That Mr. John Hebdon, deceaſed, was a Papiſt; that he conſulted in whoſe Name he ſhould purchaſe the Tenement before-mentioned in Newcaſtle; and afterwards declared, He would make the Purchaſe in his Nephew Delaval's Name, who was a Proteſtant: And Coatſworth ſaid, That he, on behalf of another Perſon, who had the Intereſt, agreed with Hebdon for the Purchaſe; and that Hebdon afterwards laid out a conſiderable Sum of Money upon the Houſe.

The Tenants of the Lands called Floddan and Broomrigg were called; and ſaid, They paid their Rents to Ralph Bollam, for Sir Francis Blake; and produced the Receipts given to them for a Year's Rent due in 1715, and 1716; which Receipts expreſs thoſe Rents to be received by Bollam for the Uſe of Sir Francis Blake: And thoſe Tenants ſaid, They never paid any Rent to Mr. Delaval: But John Burn, One of the Tenants, confeſſed he had heard of Mr. Delaval's Title before the Election.

That Copies of Three Judgments againſt the Sitting Member's Grandfather; Two 2do et 3^tio^ Jac. II^di^; and the other 2do Willielmi et Mariæ; for ſeveral Sums, amounting to 506 l.; were produced, and proved.

That the Sitting Member's Counſel alleged,

That the Mortgage and Quit-rents before-mentioned had been conſidered, and the Rental given in at an Under-value, in reſpect thereof:

That Mr. Talbot, as a Relation, had been permitted to live in the Houſe before-mentioned Rent-free:

That they denied any Truſt for Hebdon; and produced a Conveyance of that Houſe from Sir Ralph Milbank, and others, to Edward Delaval Eſquire, in Fee, dated in February 1714: And,

No Deed of Truſt appeared:

That, as to the Receipts given by Ralph Bollam in Sir Francis Blake's Name, to the Tenants of Floddan and Broomrigg;

Ralph Bollam was called: Who ſaid, That he gave thoſe Receipts in Sir Francis Blake's Name by Miſtake, not knowing at that time of Delaval's Purchaſe; but that he was afterwards informed thereof; and had Orders from Sir Francis Blake to pay thoſe Rents to Mr. Delaval; and that thereupon he accordingly remitted thoſe Rents to the Order and Uſe of Mr. Delaval; and never made any Account for them to Sir Francis Blake.

That a Conveyance of thoſe Lands, with the Rents, Iſſues, and Profits, thereof, dated in January 1715, from Sir Francis Blake to Edward Delaval Eſquire, for his Life, was produced, and proved; and the Conſideration-money, being 1,200 l. was proved to be paid by Mr. Delaval.

That, as to Under-valuations in reſpect of Incumbrances, the Sitting Member's Counſel called,

James Henderſon: Who ſaid, That the Manſion-houſe and Lands at Diſſington, charged at 30 l. a Year, are worth 60 l.; and will lett ſo by Leaſe:

That the Houſes in Newcaſtle, charged at 25 l. a Year, are worth 40 l.; and will lett ſo by Leaſe:

That Hebdon's Tenement, charged at 25 l. a Year, is worth 50 l.; and will lett ſo by Leaſe; and that 1,000 l. has been laid out thereupon by Mr. Delaval ſince his Purchaſe.

As to the Judgments produced againſt the Sitting Member's Grandfather, the Counſel for the Sitting Member alleged, That he had never heard thereof; and preſumed they were ſatisfied; but, if they were not, they affected only Aſſets by Deſcent, and not the Eſtate given in for his Qualification.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to this Reſolution;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Francis Delaval Eſquire is duly elected a Knight of the Shire to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the County of Northumberland.

The ſaid Reſolution, being read a Second time, was, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

That, the Committee having examined the Allegations of the ſaid Petition, it appeared,

That, by an Act of the Fifth Year of the late Queen Anne, for repairing the ſaid Road, ſeveral Powers are granted to the Truſtees therein named, for raiſing Money, to be laid out in amending the ſaid Roads:

That the Truſtees, in the Act named, contracted with the Petitioners, for the Carriage of Stone, Gravel, and other Materials, from ſeveral Places remote from the ſaid Road; whereby there is a conſiderable Debt due to them for the ſame; amounting to the Sum of 6,000 l. and upwards:

That the Monies, ariſing by the ſaid Toll, amounting to no more than about Four hundred Pounds per Annum, communibus Annis, were not ſufficient to diſcharge the ſaid Debts; whereupon another Act paſſed in the Eighth Year of the ſaid Queen, for making more effectual the aforeſaid Act, by granting a longer Term of Years for collecting the ſaid Toll:

That the Petitioners alſo complained of ſome Defects in the former Act of Parliament; particularly in relation to the Toll upon Oxen, Sheep, and Hogs; by which it is Enacted, That there ſhall be paid, for every Score of Oxen, Six Pence; for every Score of Sheep or Lambs, One Peny; and, for every Score of Hogs, Three Pence; and ſo in proportion for any Number exceeding Five: But that the Drovers, to avoid the Duty, always take care to ſeparate their Oxen, Sheep, and Hogs, into ſmall Parcels, under the Number of Five in a Parcel; by means whereof the Law is evaded, and the Duty loſt.

That it appeared alſo to the Committee, That great Numbers of Perſons, travelling the ſaid Road, do avoid the Turnpike, by going with their Waggons into private Perſons Grounds:

That the former Act of Parliament directs, That a Turnpike, or Turnpikes, ſhall be erected between Fornhill and Stony-Stratford; by means whereof, ſeveral Perſons avoid paying the Toll, by going a By-road near Stratford Bridge; whereas the Turnpike ought to have been ſet up at Stratford Bridge, or any Part thereof; but, as the Act now ſtands, they have not ſufficient Power ſo to do:

That the Petitioners allege, That, in the former Act, they have not a Power to dig for Stone, Gravel, or other Materials, neceſſary for amending the Roads, into waſte or other Grounds, as is in all other Acts of the like Nature.

That, upon the whole Matter, it appeared, That the Petitioners have fully proved the Allegations of their Petition; and, unleſs they have the Aid of an Act of Parliament, to remove the before-mentioned Impediments, and to explain the former Acts, the Roads, which are Eleven Miles in Length, cannot be kept in good Repair, nor the Creditors paid their juſt Debt, ſo long ſtanding out; which will tend to the Ruin of them, and their Families.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for explaining, and making more effectual, the Acts, of the Fifth and Eighth Years of her late Majeſty's Reign, for amending the Roads between Hockley, in the County of Bedford, and Stony-Stratford, in the County of Bucks: And that Mr. Hampden and Mr. Denton do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

ſuant to an Act of Parliament, intituled, An Act for taking and ſtating the Debts due, and growing due, to Scotland, by way of Equivalent, in the Terms of the Union; and for Relief of the Creditors of the Publick in Scotland, and the Commiſſioners of Equivalent; was alſo referred; the Matter, as it appeared to them; and which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered the Report in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, in purſuance of an Order of this Houſe of the 12th Inſtant, have taken into Conſideration the ſaid Petition; and do find the Matter of Fact to be as follows; viz.

That ..... upon reading an Act, of 12° Annæ Reginæ, intituled, An Act to acquit and diſcharge the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent, &c. that a capital Sum of 230,308 l. 9 s. 10 d. $\frac{5}{6}$ Parts of a Peny was ſtated due to the Creditors of the Publick in Scotland, on the 24th June 1714; and, by that Act, the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent were directed to call for, receive, and cancel, all the Certificates, Warrants, and Debentures, which, in purſuance of an Act of 6° Annæ, intituled, An Act for further directing the Payment of the Equivalent-money, had been granted for the Debts aforeſaid; and to iſſue out new Debentures for the ſaid Sums to the Perſons reſpectively intitled thereto, bearing Intereſt after the Rate of Five Pounds per Cent. per Annum, from and after the ſaid 24th June 1714; and it appeared to the Committee, upon Examination of Three of the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent then preſent, That the ſaid Commiſſioners have proceeded to iſſue Debentures accordingly:

That, upon reading an Act, of the Firſt Year of his preſent Majeſty, intituled, An Act for taking and ſtating the Debts due, and growing due, to Scotland, by way of Equivalent, in the Terms of the Union; and for Relief of the Creditors of the Publick in Scotland, and of the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent; it appeared to the Committee, That the Lords of the Treaſury were impowered, on or before 1ſt November 1715, to iſſue their Orders for Payment of One Year's Intereſt, to the 24th June 1715, of the ſaid capital Sum of 230,308 l. 9 s. 10 $\frac{5}{6}$ d. due to the ſaid Creditors; and for Payment of the Salaries of the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent, the Fees and Salaries of their Servants, and neceſſary Charges, to that time, amounting, in the Whole, to 15,822 l. 8 s. 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ d.: And, upon Examination of the ſaid Commiſſioners, and the Agent for the Creditors, it appeared to the Committee, That the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury have complied with the Directions of the aforeſaid Act; and that Part of the above Sum of 15,822 l. 8 s. 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. is paid; and that the Commiſſioners of Equivalent are in Expectation of the Remainder:

And, upon reading another Act, of the Firſt Year of the King, intituled, An Act for relieving William Paterſon Eſquire, it appeared to the Committee, That the Commiſſioners of Equivalent were required, by that Act, to iſſue to the ſaid William Paterſon Debentures for the Sum of 18,241 l. 10 s. 10 $\frac{2}{3}$ d. bearing Intereſt after the Rate of Five Pounds per Cent. per Annum, from the 24th June 1715: And the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent preſent at the Committee ſaid, That, in Obedience to the ſaid Act of Parliament, the Commiſſioners of Equivalent had proceeded to iſſue Debentures accordingly.

The Honourable William Dalrymple, One of the Petitioners, laid before the Committee an Account of the Salaries of the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent; and of the Fees and Salaries of their Servants; and of the neceſſary and incident Charges of their Office, from 24th June 1715 to the 24th June 1717; which, together with the Intereſt of the aforeſaid Two capital Sums of 230,308 l. 9 s. 10 $\frac{5}{6}$ d. and of 18,241 l. 10 s. 10 $\frac{2}{3}$ d. for the ſame time, amounted, in all, as appears to the Committee, to 31.565 l. 2 s. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$: But the ſaid William Dalrymple ſaid, That the Incidents, and neceſſary Charges, of the Office, from the 25th March 1717 to the 24th June inſtant, which, in the Account, is ſtated at 300 l. was by Eſtimate only; and not then wholly laid out, as all the other Incidents in that Account were; but it appeared to the Committee, That the Salaries of the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent, and Fees and Salaries of their Servants, amounted to a leſs Sum than that allowed of by the aforeſaid Act 6° Annæ; and that the Payments of the Incidents, and neceſſary Charges, of the Office, is authorized by the ſame Act:

That the Report of the Commiſſioners appointed to take and ſtate the Debts due, and growing due, to Scotland, by way of Equivalent, in the Terms of the Union, which was referred to this Committee, was likewiſe taken into Conſideration; and it appeared to the Committee, That there's juſt Cauſe for Payment of the above Sum of 31,565 l. 2 s. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. ſtated due on the 24th June inſtant; but, from the Preamble, and the Obſervation contained in Page 29. as likewiſe from the Concluſion of the ſaid Report, it appeared to the Committee, That the Accounts of the Equivalents due neither were, nor could yet be, brought by the ſaid Commiſſioners to any final Concluſion, for the Reaſons aſſigned in the ſeveral Parts of the Report, there referred to.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill to continue an Act, of the Firſt Year of his Majeſty's Reign, intituled, An Act for taking and ſtating the Debts due, and growing due, to Scotland, by way of Equivalent, in the Terms of the Union; and for Relief of the Creditors of the Publick in Scotland, and the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent: And that Mr. Bladen and Mr. Abercromby do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

That by an Act of the Parliament of Scotland, intituled, An Act for advancing and eſtabliſhing the Fiſhing-trade in and about this Kingdom, bearing Date the 21th of September 1705, it is Ordained and Enacted, That all White Fiſh, and Herrings, to be exported, ſhall be pyned, cured, and packed, from the Bottom to the Top, with foreign Salt allenarly:

A Bill to continue an Act, of the Firſt Year of his Majeſty's Reign, intituled, An Act for taking and ſtating the Debts due, and growing due, to Scotland, by way of Equivalent, in the Terms of the Union; and for Relief of the Creditors of the Publick in Scotland, and the Commiſſioners of the Equivalent; was read a Second time.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, To-morrow Morning, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, upon the ſaid Bill.

An ingroſſed Bill for raiſing and paying the Lady Amelia Butler's Portion out of Lands in Ireland was read the Third time.

Reſolved, That the Bill do paſs: And that the Title be, An Act for raiſing and paying the Lady Amelia Butler's Portion out of Lands in Ireland.

Ordered, That Mr. Hungerford do carry the Bill to the Lords, and deſire their Concurrence.

Mr. Carter reported, from the Committee appointed to ſearch Precedents in relation to the Proceedings of the Commons in Proſecutions of Impeachments, the Matters they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

The Committee appointed to ſearch Precedents, in relation to the Proceedings of the Commons in Proſecutions of Impeachments, have inſpected the Journals of both Houſes of Parliament; and are of Opinion, That it is the undoubted Right of the Commons to impeach a Lord, either for High Treaſon, or for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors; or, if they ſee Occaſion, to mix both the one and the other in the ſame Accuſation:

That the Impeachment preferred againſt Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer is one continued Accuſation, conſiſting of High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, and alſo of Charges of High Treaſon: The Facts on which the Articles preceding thoſe of High Treaſon are grounded, are laid together in Order of Time, and follow one another ſucceſſively in the manner they were committed.

As the Commons thought this the moſt natural Method for exhibiting the ſeveral Articles againſt the ſaid Earl, they were of Opinion, that they ſhould proceed in the Proof of theſe ſeveral Facts after the ſame Method; ſince it is manifeſt, that, in laying open the Courſe of ſuch a wicked Adminiſtration, the preceding Parts of it give Light to thoſe which follow; and that the Proof of ſeveral of the Articles of High Crimes and Miſdemeanors would naturally lead to the Proof of thoſe of High Treaſon.

The Lords received theſe ſeveral Articles of Impeachment without making any Exception againſt the Form in which they were exhibited: The ſaid Earl made his Anſwer to them in the ſame Order; and has no-where inſiſted to be tried in any other Method; ſo that the Committee are ſurpriſed to find a Stop put to the Proſecution of the Commons, by an Objection which has never been ſtarted by the ſaid Earl, and which the Lords had given them ſo little Reaſon to expect.

To this your Committee muſt add, That as the Commons only are Maſters of the Evidence; and as, upon that account, they are beſt able to determine what to charge firſt, and what next; ſo they are moſt proper to determine in what Method to proceed for the Advantage of the Proſecution; in the Event of which, all the Commons of Great Britain are ſo highly concerned:

To which they muſt further add, That they ſee no Reaſon but that the Lords may as well invert the whole Order of the Articles, as preſcribe to the Commons thoſe particular Articles on which they are firſt to proceed; which will neceſſarily produce ſuch a Confuſion both in the Facts and Evidence, as is by no means conſiſtent with that Clearneſs and Perſpicuity in which the Committee think this Affair ought to appear.

Your Committee, upon examining Precedents, do find divers Precedents of Impeachments for High Treaſon, and other High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, in the ſame Accuſation; and do not find, that the Lords ever objected to ſuch Proceeding, or ever gave Judgment upon any particular Article of an Impeachment, before the Commons had gone through, and concluded, their Evidence upon all the Articles, or ſo many of them as they thought fit: And your Committee are at a Loſs to conceive what Arguments, or Precedents, can be brought to ſupport the Reſolution of their Lordſhips to give Judgment upon one Part of the ſame Accuſation, reſerving the other Part for a ſubſequent Tryal; as they are to know what their Lordſhips mean, by admitting the Commons to proceed upon the Articles for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, after Judgment is given upon the Articles for High Treaſon, ſuppoſing the Judgment proper for High Treaſon ſhould be given againſt the ſaid Earl.

Reſolved, That a Conference be deſired with the Lords, relating to Proceedings in the Proſecutions of Impeachments.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to make good the Articles of Impeachment againſt Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer; and to whom it was referred to ſearch Precedents in relation to the Proceedings of the Commons in the Proſecution of Impeachments; do draw up what is proper to be offered to the Lords at the ſaid Conference: And that they do withdraw immediately into the Speaker's Chamber, to draw up the ſame.

Ordered, That the ſaid Report from the ſaid Committee be referred back to the ſaid Committee.

A Meſſage from the Lords, by Mr. Hiccocks and Mr. Meller:

Mr. Speaker,

The Lords have paſſed a Bill, intituled, An Act to naturalize John Jacob Heldt, Theodore Vanrheden, and others: To which the Lords deſire the Concurrence of this Houſe. Alſo,

The Lords have agreed to the Bill, intituled, An Act to explain and amend the ſeveral Laws now in being for the better Preſervation of the Game, with an Amendment: To which they deſire the Concurrence of this Houſe.

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

Mr.

Mr. Jeſſop, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for the better enabling Sheriffs to ſue out their Patents, and paſs their Accounts, was committed, the Amendments they had made to the Bill; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were once read throughout; and then a Second time, one by one; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the Bill, with the Amendments, be ingroſſed.

Mr. Carter reported from the Committee appointed to withdraw, and draw up what was proper to be offered to the Lords at the Conference relating to Proceedings in the Proſecutions of Impeachments, That they had drawn up the ſame accordingly; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſaid Report in his Place; and afterwards delivered the ſame in at the Clerk's Table: Where it was read; and agreed unto by the Houſe; and is as follows; viz.

THE Commons, having taken into their Conſideration your Lordſhips Reſolution, communicated to their Managers, relating to the Proceedings on the Tryal of Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer; and being deſirous, as far as in them lies, to maintain a good Correſpondence with your Lordſhips; have deſired this Conference; and have commanded us to acquaint your Lordſhips, That they conceive it to be the undoubted Right of the Commons to impeach a Peer, either for High Treaſon, or for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors; or, if they ſee Occaſion, to mix both the one and the other in the ſame Accuſation.

The Impeachment preferred againſt Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer is one continued Accuſation, conſiſting of High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, and alſo of Charges of High Treaſon: The Facts on which the Articles preceding thoſe of High Treaſon are grounded, are laid together in Order of Time, and follow one another ſucceſſively in the manner they were committed.

As the Commons thought this the moſt natural Method for exhibiting the ſeveral Articles againſt the ſaid Earl, they were of Opinion, that they ſhould proceed in the Proof of theſe ſeveral Facts after the ſame Method; ſince it is manifeſt, that, in laying open the Courſe of ſuch a wicked Adminiſtration, the preceding Parts of it give Light to thoſe which follow; and that the Proof of ſeveral of the Articles of High Crimes and Miſdemeanors would naturally lead to the Proof of thoſe of High Treaſon.

Your Lordſhips received theſe ſeveral Articles of Impeachment without making any Exception againſt the Form in which they were exhibited: The ſaid Earl made his Anſwer to them in the ſame Order; and has no-where inſiſted to be tried in any other Method; ſo that the Commons are ſurpriſed to find a Stop put to their Proſecution, by an Objection which has never been ſtarted by the ſaid Earl, and which your Lordſhips had given them ſo little Reaſon to expect.

To this muſt be added, That as the Commons only are Maſters of the Evidence; and as, upon that account, they are beſt able to determine what to charge firſt, and what next; ſo they are moſt proper to determine in what Method to proceed for the Advantage of the Proſecution; in the Event of which, all the Commons of Great Britain are ſo highly concerned:

To which they further add, That they ſee no Reaſon but that your Lordſhips may as well invert the whole Order of the Articles, as preſcribe to the Commons thoſe particular Articles on which they are firſt to proceed; which will neceſſarily produce ſuch a Confuſion both in the Facts and Evidence, as is by no means conſiſtent with that Clearneſs and Perſpicuity in which the Commons think this Affair ought to appear.

The Commons, upon examining Precedents, do find divers Precedents of Impeachments for High Treaſon, and other High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, in the ſame Accuſation; and do not find, that the Lords ever objected to ſuch Proceeding, or ever gave Judgment upon any particular Article of an Impeachment, before the Commons had gone through and concluded their Evidence upon all the Articles, or ſo many of them as they thought fit: And the Commons are at a Loſs to conceive what Arguments, or Precedents, can be brought to ſupport the Reſolution of your Lordſhips to give Judgment upon one Part of the ſame Accuſation, reſerving the other Part for a ſubſequent Tryal; as they are to know what your Lordſhips mean, by admitting the Commons to proceed upon the Articles of High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, after the Judgment is given upon the Articles for High Treaſon, ſuppoſing the Judgment proper for High Treaſon ſhould be given againſt the ſaid Earl.

For theſe Reaſons, the Commons aſſert it as their undoubted Right to proceed on the Tryal of Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer after the Method in which their Managers were proceeding, when interrupted by your Lordſhips Reſolution.

Ordered, That the Lord Morpeth do go to the Lords, and deſire the ſaid Conference.

The Houſe proceeded to take into Conſideration the Amendment, made by the Lords, to the Bill, intituled, An Act to explain and amend the ſeveral Laws now in being for the better Preſervation of the Game:

Mr. Carter reported, That the Managers appointed to manage the Conference with the Lords had been at the Conference; and that the ſame was managed, on the Part of the Lords, by the Duke of Newcaſtle; who acquainted the Managers, That their Lordſhips, in order to preſerve a good Correſpondence with the Houſe of Commons, which they ſhall always endeavour to do, as far as lies in their Power, have deſired this Conference upon the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference; and have directed us to acquaint you, That their Lordſhips judge it a Right inherent in every Court of Juſtice to order and direct ſuch Methods of Proceeding as ſuch Court ſhall think fit to be obſerved in all Cauſes depending before them, which can have no Influence to the Prejudice of Juſtice, and where ſuch Methods of Proceedings are not otherwiſe ſettled by any poſitive Rule: The Power of Judicature on all Impeachments being a Right unqueſtionably inherent in their Lordſhips; and it not being determined by any poſitive Rule, whether the Houſe of Commons may proceed to make good the ſeveral Articles exhibited for Miſdemeanors in ſuch Order as they ſhall think fit, before they proceed to make good the Articles exhibited for High Treaſon; and there being no Precedent where the Commons, upon the Tryal of any ſuch Impeachment, attempted to proceed, in the Firſt place, to make good any of the Articles contained in ſuch Impeachment for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors; their Lordſhips, conſidering the Nature of the Impeachment now depending before them, and the Method wherein the Managers for the Houſe of Commons were beginning to proceed upon the Tryal, to make good the Firſt Article thereof, which is a Charge for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors only; and alſo conſidering the very different Methods of Proceedings on an Impeachment of a Peer for High Treaſon, as well before as upon the Tryal thereof, and the Circumſtances attending ſuch a Tryal, from the Proceedings on an Impeachment of a Peer for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, and the known Circumſtances attending ſuch a Tryal; thought themſelves obliged to come to the Reſolution, communicated to the Commons on the 24th Inſtant, as well for the doing Juſtice in the Caſe depending before them, as for the preventing a new Precedent to be made on this Tryal; in conſequence whereof, a new and unjuſtifiable Form of proceeding againſt a Peer, upon an Impeachment for High Treaſon, and High Crimes, might be introduced, at his Tryal, upon thoſe Articles in which he is charged for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors only; to the Prejudice of the Peerage of Great Britain in all times to come; viz. the trying a Peer on Articles for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors without the Bar; the detaining in Cuſtody a Peer ſo accuſed; and repeated Commitments of him to the Tower, during the time of ſuch Tryal; and ſubjecting a Peer to as ignominious Circumſtances on his Tryal on Articles for Miſdemeanors, as if he were then on his Tryal on Articles for High Treaſon: Whereas a Peer, on his Tryal on Articles for Miſdemeanors only, ought not to be deprived of his Liberty, nor ſequeſtred from Parliament; and is intitled to the Privilege of ſitting within the Bar during the whole time of his Tryal: In all which Particulars, the known Rule of Proceedings in ſuch Caſes may be evaded, ſhould a Peer be brought to his Tryal on ſeveral Articles exhibited againſt him for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, and for High Treaſon, mixed together; and the Commons be admitted to proceed, in order to make good the Articles for High Crimes and Miſdemeanors, before Judgment be given upon the Articles for High Treaſon: Their Lordſhips have fully conſidered the Matters offered to them by the Houſe of Commons at the laſt Conference relating to the Proceedings againſt Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer; and their Lordſhips are fully ſatisfied, that the Reſolution they have taken, and communicated to the Commons on the 24th Inſtant, is juſt and reaſonable; and that the Houſe of Commons are not put under any real Inconvenience thereby, in carrying on their preſent Proſecution: Their Lordſhips have commanded us to let you know, That they do inſiſt on their ſaid Reſolution; viz. "That the Commons be not admitted to proceed, "in order to make good the Articles againſt Robert Earl "of Oxford and Earl Mortimer for High Crimes and "Miſdemeanors, till Judgment be firſt given on the Ar- "ticles for High Treaſon."

Reſolved, That the ſaid Report be now taken into Conſideration.

A Meſſage from the Lords, by Mr. Dormer and Mr. Holford:

Mr. Speaker,

The Lords have agreed to the Bill, intituled, An Act to enable his Majeſty to make ſuch Proviſion for, and Settlement upon, Margaret the Wife of James late Earl of Panmure, as ſhe would have been intitled to, in caſe her Huſband was naturally dead, without any Amendment: And alſo,

To the Bill, intituled, An Act to enable Roger Stafford Eſquire, and his Iſſue Male, to change their Surname to Wollocombe, according to the Will of Roger Wollocombe Eſquire, deceaſed, without any Amendment. Alſo,

We are commanded by the Lords to acquaint this Houſe, That, the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference concerning a Point of Judicature determined by their Lordſhips after the Tryal began, their Lordſhips do not think fit to give a free Conference on the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference, as is deſired by the Houſe of Commons. Alſo,

We are commanded to acquaint this Houſe, That their Lordſhips have ordered Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer to be brought to the Bar of their Houſe in Weſtminſter-hall this preſent Monday at Eleven a Clock in the Forenoon, in order to proceed further in the Tryal of the ſaid Earl.

THE Commons having taken into Conſideration your Lordſhips Meſſage; viz. That your Lordſhips did not think fit to give a free Conference on the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference, as was deſired by the Commons; and they, being ſtill deſirous, to the utmoſt of their Power, to preſerve a good Correſpondence with your Lordſhips, have aſked this Conference; and have commanded us to acquaint your Lordſhips, That they are very much ſurpriſed to find your Lordſhips deny a free Conference, after your Lordſhips have already agreed to a Conference, deſired by the Commons, on the ſame Subject-matter; and after your Lordſhips have, on your Parts, alſo deſired a Conference upon the ſame Subject:

That free Conferences are the moſt ancient and eſtabliſhed Methods for adjuſting the Differences that have at any time ariſen between the Two Houſes; and, as the Commons conceive, the only Method to preſerve a good Correſpondence between them on ſuch Occaſions; which, at this time, is of the higheſt Importance; becauſe a Miſunderſtanding on this Account would tend to defeat the Tryal of the Impeachment of the Commons:

That the Commons conceive clearly, that the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference is not a Point of Judicature, but a Point relating only to the Proſecution of the Commons; it having ariſen before any Matter of Judgment had come before your Lordſhips upon the Tryal:

For which Reaſons, the Commons conceive, that your Lordſhips ought not to have denied them a free Conference upon the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference.

The Houſe being acquainted by the Serjeant at Arms attending this Houſe, That there was a Meſſage from the Lords;

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majeſty's moſt faithful Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament aſſembled, do moſt humbly repreſent to your Majeſty, That, in our Impeachment exhibited againſt Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer, we did ſet forth, That he, the ſaid Earl, did traiterouſly adhere to, aid, and abett, the late French King, then an Enemy to her late Majeſty; and did begin, and carry on, a clandeſtine and ſeparate Correſpondence and Negotiation with the Miniſters of the ſaid French King; in conſequence of which, it is evident, that great Part of the Forces, maintained at the Expence of ſo much Britiſh Treaſure, in order to reduce the Power of France; as likewiſe great Part of the Subſidies granted by Parliament to foreign Princes, for the ſame End; were, in Reality, made ſubſervient and inſtrumental to awe the good Allies of her Majeſty into a Compliance with the hard Terms dictated by France; the unhappy Catalans were abandoned; the Emperor, Empire, and King of Portugal, were left to treat for themſelves; the Kingdom of Sicily was given to the Duke of Savoy, as an Inducement, and Reward, to him for quitting the common Cauſe; in direct Defiance and Violation of the Grand Alliance, and of the declared Senſe of moſt of our good Allies, and eſpecially the Dutch, who, to this Day, have never aſſented to that Condition of the Treaty of Utrecht; a ſhameful and diſhonourable Treaty of Peace was at laſt concluded; by which, impracticable Terms of Trade were impoſed on Great Britain; the Demolition of Dunkirk, which had been addreſſed for by Parliament, was eluded by a treacherous Connivance at the Making of a new Canal at Mardyke; and the Security which was propoſed, by removing the Pretender out of France, was in the like manner evaded, by a treacherous Connivance at his reſiding in Lorrain.

It is owing to your Majeſty's unwearied Endeavours for the Good of your Subjects, and that juſt Regard which is paid to your Majeſty by foreign Princes and States, that we ſee ourſelves delivered, in a great Degree, from the Effects of theſe pernicious Meaſures, which might otherwiſe have proved fatal to your Kingdoms.

But as we reflect, with equal Gratitude and Admiration, on your Majeſty's being able to retrieve ſuch Miſcarriages, eſpecially in a time which has been diſturbed by publick Tumults and Rebellions; we think it is a great Aggravation of Guilt in thoſe who gave up ſo many National Advantages at a time when they laboured under no ſuch Difficulties at home, and when the continued Succeſſes of a long and glorious War had put them into a Condition of gaining the moſt beneficial Terms from the Enemy.

Your faithful Commons did likewiſe exhibit ſeveral other Charges againſt the ſaid Earl; repreſenting him, in many notorious Inſtances, as a Perſon who had abuſed the Truſt and Confidence which her late Majeſty had repoſed in him; and ſacrificed the Honour of his Sovereign, and the Good of her People, to private Views of Intereſt and Ambition.

Your faithful Commons have not been wanting in their Endeavours to bring the ſaid Earl to Juſtice; but, by reaſon of the unhappy Differences that have, in this Proceeding, ariſen between the Two Houſes, we have found ourſelves diſappointed of our juſt Expectation, and reduced to the Neceſſity either of giving up Rights and Privileges of the higheſt Importance to all the Commons of Great Britain, or ſeeing this great Offender eſcape with Impunity for the preſent.

For theſe Reaſons, we do moſt humbly beſeech your Majeſty, That your Majeſty will be pleaſed to except Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer out of the Act of Grace, which your Majeſty has been graciouſly pleaſed to promiſe from the Throne; to the end the Commons may be at Liberty to proceed againſt the ſaid Earl in a Parliamentary Way.

Reſolved, That the ſaid Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty by the whole Houſe.

Ordered, That ſuch Members of this Houſe as are of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy-Council do wait upon his Majeſty, humbly to know his Pleaſure when he will be attended by this Houſe.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

The Poll was,

For the Sitting Member — 27:
For the Petitioner — — 22.

That the Petitioner's Counſel objected to Thirteen of the Sitting Member's Voters; and alleged, They ſhould add Seven to the Petitioner's Poll.

That they called the following Witneſſes;

Joſeph Raymond, and John Wilkins: Says, John Mores lives at Sherborne, and William Baynton lives with his Mother Mrs. Hallett; and that his Father-in-Law Samuel Hallett pays for that ſame Houſe, and votes for it.

John Lewis ſaid, Richard Lambert asked Votes for the Sitting Member; and offered the Witneſs Five Guineas to vote for him.

John Bret ſaid, Guy White junior ſollicited Votes for the Sitting Member; and asked the Witneſs for his Vote for him, and gave him Five Guineas for it.

John Bowden ſaid, Guy White junior gave Benjamin Cox Five Guineas for his Vote for the Sitting Member, as both White and Cox confeſſed to the Witneſs.

Mrs. Hallet ſaid, She gave William Baynton her Son Five Guineas, which Guy White junior had given her for him to vote for the Sitting Member.

Joſeph Raymond ſaid, Robert Curtis confeſſed to him, That he had Five Guineas of the Sitting Member's Money for his Vote.

Mr. Grandy ſaid, That, ſome time before the Election, he asked Charles Martin to vote for Mr. Medlycot's Friend; and he promiſed he would; but, at another time afterwards, told the Witneſs he was engaged for the Sitting Member; and ſaid, He had loſt Five Guineas the laſt Election, by ſtaying for Mr. Medlycot's Friend; and was reſolved not to loſe Five more now.

John Bowden named Four of the Voters before-named, and Four others of the Sitting Member's Voters; who, he ſaid, were treated, the Morning before the Election, at John Noakes's Houſe; who ſollicited Votes for the Sitting Member.

The Two Sub-bailiffs, Guy White ſenior, and John Barrett, who voted for the Sitting Member, were objected to by the Petitioner's Counſel, as not having qualified themſelves for that Office by receiving the Sacrament, and taking the Oaths required by Law.

That, to add Seven to the Petitioner's Poll; viz. William Cox, John Sprint, Richard Willmoth, James Medlycot Eſquire, Wm. Chamberlain, Joſhua Barret, and George Baynton; the following Evidence was produced;

It was proved they all offered their Votes for the Petitioner: And,

It appeared by Coxe's Leaſe, That he is obliged to pay all Rates and Taxes. And,

William Raymond ſaid, Cox is an Inhabitant, and a Houſekeeper; and paid him the Poor Rate laſt Year.

Joſeph Raymond ſaid, John Sprint is a Houſekeeper, and an Inhabitant; has a Houſe and Land worth Twelve Pounds a Year; was ſtruck out of the Rate Three Years ago, contrary to his own Deſire; and the Sub-bailiff has refuſed him out of Antipathy. And,

It appeared to the Committee, That, in February laſt, he made a Purchaſe of Four Acres of Land at Milbourn-Port, which coſt him Fifty-three Pounds; and that he had ſeveral times deſired to be put into the Rate, but was refuſed, though his Land was formerly aſſeſſed, and paid the Rates.

William Raymond ſaid, Richard Willmoth rents Land to the Value of Twenty Pounds a Year; which Land is rated, and he pays the Rate; though his Brother's Name, of whom he rents the Land, is in the Book.

It was proved, on the Petitioner's Part, and admitted on the other Side, That Mr. Medlycot is One of the capital Bailiffs; which capital Bailiffs are by Tenure in Right of their Eſtates; and that Mr. Medlycot purchaſed his capital Bailiwick, and has the Lands by which he claims to be ſuch capital Bailiff.

John Wilkins ſaid, William Chamberlain has a Houſe at Milbourn-Port; Part of which he has lett, and other Part is reſerved to himſelf: That he has Goods there, and is rated, and pays the Rates: And,

That Joſhua Barret has a Houſe there; and is rated, and pays the Rates.

Mr. Grandy ſaid, George Baynton has Land of Inheritance at Milbourn-Port, of Seven Pounds a Year, and is rated, and pays Scot and Lot, for it.

That, in Anſwer to what had been objected, the Sitting Member's Counſel inſiſted, That Guy White and John Barrett,

Barrett, the Sub-bailiffs, are not ſuch Officers as are required by Law to take the Sacrament, or Oaths, to qualify them for their Office; and that the chief Bailiffs, to whom they are Deputies, do not take the Oaths; nor is it requiſite they ſhould.

As to the other Perſons objected to, the Sitting Member's Counſel called the following Witneſſes; viz.

Edward Oatbery: Who ſaid, That John Moores has Two or Three Houſes at Milbourn-Port, and One in his own Poſſeſſion: That he goes to Work at Sherbourn in the Day, and returns, and lies at Milbourn-Port at Nights: That he pays to Church and Poor at Milbourn-Port; and lived there at the time of the Election:

That William Baynton has no Reſidence but at Milbourn-Port; where he has an Eſtate, and is rated, and pays, to Church and Poor:

That William Cox is not, nor ever was, upon the Church or Poor Rate; and the Witneſs was preſent once when Mr. Medlycot, his Landlord, upon Payment of his Rent, allowed him the Poor Rate: That Cox went off, and lived ſome time at London:

That the Pariſhioners ſtruck John Sprint out of the Poor Rate Three Years ago; not at his own Deſire, but becauſe he refuſed to pay; having, as he ſaid, a Church of his own, meaning a Meeting-houſe; and has never been rated ſince, though other Houſes of leſs Value than his are rated:

That William Chamberlain pays Scot and Lot at Milbourn-Port; but has lett his Houſe there to Two Tenants, and himſelf lives at Sherbourne:

That Joſhua Barrett has Two Houſes at Milbourne-Port; which he has lett to Two Tenants, and himſelf does not reſide there.

John Noake ſaid, William Cox had let his Houſe to Pope, and left the Town Two Months before the Election: That Cox paid no Tax or Rate; the Landlord is rated, and Pope the Tenant pays the Rates:

That George Baynton works Journeywork at Milbourne-Port, at weekly Wages; and never was upon the Poor Rate.

The Sitting Member's Counſel objected, That Four of the Petitioner's Voters; viz. Thomas Travell Eſquire, Robert Everet, William Acourt, and George Man; who voted as capital Bailiffs; had no Right to vote as ſuch:

And called,

John Noake: Who ſaid, That neither of thoſe Four Perſons had any of the capital Bailiwick Lands; but that all thoſe Lands are in Sir Thomas Travell, and Mr. Medlycott; and that George Man is kept by Charity.

That the Sitting Member's Counſel alſo called,

William Brook: Who ſaid, Colonel Stanhope's Servant offered him Eight Guineas to vote for the Petitioner; but that he voted for the Sitting Member.

John Noake ſaid, That Robert Baynton, who voted for the Sitting Member, told him, That Colonel Stanhope gave him Money to vote for the Petitioner; and he ſaid, He would petition, if he had but Two Votes: And,

That Benjamin Cox, who voted for the Sitting Member, told him, He had Six Guineas to vote for the Petitioner.

Robert Baynton, who voted for the Sitting Member, ſaid, He was offered Seven Guineas, by the Petitioner's Brother, to vote for the Petitioner.

Henry Hallett ſaid, He was preſent when Samuel Hallett asked his Son-in-Law, William Baynton, to vote for the Petitioner; and Baynton anſwering, That he had promiſed Mr. Harvey, and would be as good as his Word, Samuel Hallett replied, That the Eſquire would lay down a Hundred Guineas upon the Table, and he ſhould take what he would for his Vote: But Baynton voted for the Sitting Member.

That the Petitioner's Qualification was objected to:

The Particular given in for ſuch Qualification amounts to 346 l. 13 s. 4 d. per Annum:

To which the Sitting Member's Counſel objected, That 216 l. 13 s. 4 d. per Annum, at Wandſworth, in Surrey, and a Rent-charge of 120 per Annum iſſuing out of Lands in Nottinghamſhire, are mentioned to be purchaſed by the Petitioner for his Life, the 31th of May laſt, for 2,505 l.; which they took to be not a valuable Conſideration; and therefore ſuſpected the Purchaſe: They alſo urged, That ſuch a Rent-charge could be no Part of a Qualification, within the Meaning of the Act of Parliament, which requires a landed Intereſt; and that the Eſtate charged therewith might be ſubject to other Reprizes and Incumbrances:

And, as to the Wandſworth Eſtate, they called,

Samuel Welden, One of the Tenants thereof, at 12 l. a Year: By whoſe Evidence it appeared, That, ſince Midſummer laſt, he had Notice to get ready his Midſummer Rent, becauſe Mr. Brand had ſold that Eſtate to the Petitioner; which Notice came from the Perſon to whom he had always paid his Rent for Mr. Brand's Uſe.

In Anſwer to which, the Petitioner's Counſel called,

Mr. Frewen, who ſent that Notice: And he ſaid, That Mr. Brand had acquainted him with his having ſold that Eſtate at Wandſworth to the Petitioner; and that the Petitioner was to receive the Rents from Lady-day laſt; and that the Petitioner had deſired him to continue to receive thoſe Rents for him, as he had before done for Mr. Brand; and that he had accordingly made up his Accounts, to Mr. Brand, to Lady-day.

The Petitioner's Counſel inſiſted, That the Purchaſe-money was a full and valuable Conſideration; the Purchaſe being for Life only, and conſiſting chiefly in old Houſes; and that there could be no Objection to the Rent-charge.

And that, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to theſe Reſolutions;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Michael Harvey Eſquire is not duly elected a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Milbourn-Port, in the County of Somerſet.

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

A Meſſage from the Lords, by Mr. Juſtice Dormer and Mr. Juſtice Eyre:

Mr. Speaker,

The Lords have accepted, and paſſed, a Bill, intituled, An Act for the King's moſt gracious, general, and free, Pardon, Nemine contradicente; and have ſent it down to this Houſe.

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

And, the Bill being ſigned by his Majeſty, all the Members ſat uncovered while it was read.

And it is referred to Mr. Chancellor of the Duchy, Mr. Comptroller, Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Sollicitor-General, Mr. Edgcumb, Mr. Aiſlabie, Mr. Plumptre, Sir Wm. St. Quintin, Lord Moleſworth, Mr. Walpole, Mr. Lowther, Sir Wm. Strickland, Mr. Hungerford, Mr. Addiſon, Lord Wm. Powlett, Sir Tho. Croſſe, Mr. Thompſon; or any Three of them: And they are to withdraw immediately into the Speaker's Chamber; and to make their Report with all convenient Speed.

Mr. Chancellor of the Duchy reported from the ſaid Committee, That they had ſearched Precedents, and prepared Reaſons to be offered to the Lords at the ſaid Conference; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were read; and agreed unto by the Houſe; and are as follow; viz.

The Commons, having this Day received a Meſſage from your Lordſhips, in theſe Words, "That the Lords "have accepted, and paſſed, a Bill, intituled, An Act "for the King's moſt gracious, general, and free, Par-"don, Nemine contradicente; and have ſent it down to "this Houſe;" have deſired this Conference to acquaint your Lordſhips, That this Meſſage is not according to the uſual Way of tranſmitting Bills between the Two Houſes; for that neither Houſe does acquaint the other by what Number any Bill before them doth paſs; and the introducing any Alteration in the uſual Method of Proceedings may be of dangerous Conſequence.

Ordered, That a Conference be deſired with the Lords upon the Subject-matter of their Lordſhips Meſſage to this Houſe with the Bill, intituled, An Act for the King's moſt gracious, general, and free, Pardon.

Ordered, That Mr. Chancellor of the Duchy do go to the Lords, and deſire the ſaid Conference.

And the Meſſengers were called in again; and Mr. Speaker acquainted them therewith.

Ordered, That the Managers who managed the laſt Conference do manage this Conference.

And the Managers went to the Conference.

And, being returned;

Mr. Chancellor of the Duchy reported, That the Managers appointed had met the Lords at the Conference; and that the ſame was managed, on the Part of the Lords, by the Lord Privy-Seal; who acquainted the Managers, That their Lordſhips, in order to preſerve a good Correſpondence with the Houſe of Commons, which they ſhall always endeavour to do as far as lies in their Power, have deſired this Conference upon the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference; and have commanded us to acquaint you, That the Lords, upon Peruſal of their Journal of the 20th of May 1690, do find, that the like Meſſage was then ſent down from the Lords to the Commons, upon the ſame Occaſion, with the Words Nemine contradicente, to which the Commons now ſeem to object; and their Lordſhips do not find, that any Notice was then taken thereof by the Commons, nor at any other time; although the ſaid Meſſage was ſent to the Commons on the ſaid 20th Day of May, and the Bill was not returned till the 23d of the ſame Month, and the Houſe of Lords continued ſitting on the intermediate Days: And the Lords are of Opinion, that, the Paſſing of Bills of this Nature differing ſo materially in many Circumſtances from the Forms of paſſing other Bills, no Argument can be drawn from thoſe Forms to ſupport the Objection made by the Commons to the Meſſage ſent by the Lords with the Bill, intituled, An Act for the King's moſt gracious, general, and free, Pardon.

Ordered, That the ſaid Report be now taken into Conſideration.

The ſaid Report was read.

Mr. Chancellor of the Duchy reported from the ſaid Committee, That they had ſearched Precedents, and prepared Reaſons to be offered at the ſaid Conference; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered them in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were read; and agreed unto by the Houſe; and are as follow; viz.

The Commons, have taken into Conſideration the Reaſons communicated to them by your Lordſhips at the laſt Conference; and being deſirous, on all Occaſions, to preſerve a good Correſpondence with your Lordſhips; have commanded us to acquaint your Lordſhips, That they find, on Peruſal of their Journal of the 20th of May 1690, That no ſuch Meſſage was delivered to the Commons on that Day, as is mentioned in your Lordſhips Reaſons: But they find, that the like Meſſage with that communicated by your Lordſhips this Day was delivered to the Commons on the 22d of May 1690: Whereupon, the Commons taking Exceptions to the Words Nemine contradicente, contained in the ſaid Meſſage, and having appointed a Committee to ſearch Precedents, and to prepare Reaſons to be offered at a Conference with your Lordſhips; and the ſame being prepared; they, on the 23d of May 1690, did reſolve, That a Conference ſhould be deſired with your Lordſhips on the ſaid Meſſage; and did immediately order One of their Members to go to your Lordſhips, and deſire the ſaid Conference:

That the Commons conceive, that the different Form of paſſing Bills of this Nature doth very much ſtrengthen the Objection now made by the Commons; for which Reaſons, the Commons do inſiſt on the Reaſons delivered to your Lordſhips at the laſt Conference.

Ordered, That a Conference be deſired with the Lords upon the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference.

Anno 4° Georgii Regis, 1717.

A Meſſage from his Majeſty, by Sir William Oldes, Gentleman-Uſher of the Black Rod:

Mr. Speaker,

The King commands this Honourable Houſe to attend his Majeſty, immediately, in the Houſe of Peers.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, with the Houſe, went up to the Houſe of Peers.

And, being returned;

Several Members, returned upon new Writs, took the Oaths, and made and ſubſcribed the Declaration, and took and ſubſcribed the Oath of Abjuration, according to the Laws made for that Purpoſe.

Then a Bill for the more effectual preventing, and puniſhing, the Stealing, or unlawful Killing, of Cattle, was read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

Mr. Speaker reported, That the Houſe had attended his Majeſty in the Houſe of Peers; where his Majeſty was pleaſed to declare, That he had commanded the Lord Chancellor to declare the Cauſes of his Majeſty's meeting his People in Parliament at this time, as they were contained in a Speech which his Majeſty delivered into the Lord Chancellor's Hands from the Throne:

And his Lordſhip read the ſame to both Houſes; of which Mr. Speaker ſaid he had, to prevent any Miſtakes, obtained a Copy: Which he read to the Houſe; and is as followeth;

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Am very glad I have been able to bring the Sitting of Parliament into a more proper and uſual Seaſon of the Year: I hope ſuch an early Meeting will not only be a Benefit to the Publick, but a Convenience to your private Affairs.

As I have always had at Heart the Security and Eaſe of my People, ſo I never kept up any Troops but for their Protection; and have taken every Opportunity to diſband as many as I thought conſiſtent with their Safety: I have reduced the Army to very near One-half ſince the Beginning of the laſt Seſſion of Parliament; and leſſened them to ſuch a Number as will neither be a Burden to my good Subjects, nor an Encouragement to our Enemies to inſult them.

You cannot but be ſenſible of the many Attempts which have been ſet on foot to diſturb the Peace of Europe, and of theſe Kingdoms: They only pretend not to ſee, who are not afraid of them: But, as no Application has been wanting on my Part to preſerve the publick Tranquillity, I have the Pleaſure to find my good Offices have not been altogether unſucceſsful; and have Reaſon to hope they will, in the End, have their full and deſired Effect.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I queſtion not but you are very well pleaſed to find, that your Endeavours for leſſening the National Debts have, at the ſame time, raiſed the publick Credit; and that whatever was propoſed for that End is actually and completely effected: This Succeſs muſt chiefly be attributed to that juſt and prudent Regard you have ſhewn to Parliamentary Engagements.

It was with the View of procuring and ſettling a laſting Tranquillity, that I demanded the extraordinary Supply which you granted me laſt Seſſion: The Credit which this Confidence repoſed in me hath given us abroad, has already been ſo far effectual, that I can acquaint you, we have a much better Proſpect than we had: I have ordered an Account to be laid before you of the very ſmall Part of that Supply, which, as yet, has been expended: Any further Iſſues that may be made of it ſhall be alſo laid before you; and you may be aſſured, that every Part of it ſhall either be employed for your Service, or ſaved to the Publick.

I have ordered to be laid before you a State of the Deficiencies of the preſent Year, and the ſeveral Eſtimates for the Service of the next; which you will find conſiderably diminiſhed: I rely upon your making the neceſſary Proviſion for them; not doubting of the Continuance of that Zeal for the Good of your Country, which hath been ſo eminently conſpicuous in every Seſſion of this Parliament.

I cannot in Juſtice avoid putting you in mind, that ſeveral Arrears of Pay and Subſidy, incurred before my Acceſſion to the Crown, are claimed by foreign Princes and States: I ſhall order them to be laid before you, to the end you may put them in a Method to be examined, and ſtated; which will very much tend to the Honour and Credit of the Nation.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I could heartily wiſh, that, at a time when the common Enemies of our Religion are, by all manner of Artifices, endeavouring to undermine and weaken it both at home and abroad, all thoſe who are Friends to our preſent happy Eſtabliſhment might unanimouſly concur in ſome proper Methods for the greater ſtrengthening the Proteſtant Intereſt; of which as the Church of England is unqueſtionably the main Support and Bulwark, ſo will ſhe reap the principal Benefit of every Advantage accruing by the Union, and mutual Charity, of all Proteſtants.

As none can recommend themſelves more effectually to my Favour and Countenance than by a ſincere Zeal for the juſt Rights of the Crown, and the Liberties of the People; ſo I am determined to encourage all thoſe who act agreeably to the Conſtitution of theſe my Kingdoms; and, conſequently, to the Principles on which my Government is founded.

The Eyes of all Europe are upon you at this critical Juncture: It is your Intereſt, for which Reaſon I think it mine, that my Endeavours for procuring the Peace and Quiet of Chriſtendom ſhould take Effect: Nothing can ſo much contribute to this deſirable End as the Unanimity, Diſpatch, and Vigour, of your Reſolutions for the Support of my Government.

Reſolved, Nemine contradicente, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, returning the humble Thanks of this Houſe for his moſt gracious Speech from the the Throne; and for his great Goodneſs in aſſembling his Parliament ſo early in the Year: That this Houſe is highly ſenſible of his Majeſty's Concern for the Welfare of his People, by the ſeaſonable Reductions which he has been pleaſed to make, from time to time, of his Land-Forces: That his Majeſty's unwearied Endeavours to prevent the many Attempts which have been made to diſturb the Peace of Europe, and the Quiet of theſe Kingdoms, demand the utmoſt Thanks and Acknowlegements of this Houſe; and that this Houſe will effectually ſupport his Majeſty in ſuch Meaſures as he ſhall judge neceſſary to attain ſo deſirable an End: That his Majeſty's gracious Expreſſions and Aſſurances touching the Supply granted laſt Seſſion, do give the greateſt Satisfaction to this Houſe; and that this Houſe will grant to his Majeſty ſuch Supplies as ſhall effectually provide for the publick Service: That the Commons have the moſt grateful Senſe of the tender Concern which his Majeſty has been pleaſed to expreſs for the Proteſtant Religion; eſpecially for the Church of England, as by Law eſtabliſhed; and are reſolved, on their Part, to conſider of the moſt effectual Methods for ſtrengthening the Proteſtant Intereſt of theſe Kingdoms.

Ordered, That a Committee be appointed to draw up an Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty, upon the ſaid Reſolution:

THE Lord Hinchinbrooke reported from the Committee, to whom it was referred to draw up an Addreſs, to be preſented to his Majeſty, upon the Reſolution Yeſterday, That they had drawn up an Addreſs accordingly; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered it in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was twice read; and is as follows; viz.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament aſſembled, crave Leave to expreſs our Gratitude to your Majeſty for your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne.

Our Minds are filled with the moſt lively Senſe of your Majeſty's Regard to your People, in bringing the Sitting of Parliament into a more proper and uſual Seaſon of the Year; and, as your Majeſty has been graciouſly pleaſed to conſider the Convenience of our private Affairs in this early Meeting, we ſhall endeavour to anſwer your Majeſty's gracious Intentions, by improving it, as much as we are able, to the Benefit of the Publick.

We are highly ſenſible of the Concern your Majeſty has ſhewn for the Welfare of your People, by the Reductions you have been pleaſed to make, from time to time, of the Land-Forces, ſo ſoon as the Poſture of Affairs rendered it ſafe to theſe your Kingdoms: It is our peculiar Happineſs to ſee ourſelves governed by a Sovereign who is not influenced by any Notions of Greatneſs that are inconſiſtent with the Proſperity of his Subjects; and who propoſes to himſelf the Eaſe of his People, as the chief Glory of his Reign.

We acknowlege, with Hearts full of Duty and Gratitude, your Majeſty's unwearied Endeavours to prevent the many Attempts which have been ſet on foot to diſturb the Peace of Europe, and the Quiet of theſe Kingdoms; and have the more Reaſon to apprehend the ill Conſequences of ſuch Attempts, ſince there are thoſe, who, as they would be thought to ſee no Danger in them, give us Reaſon to believe, that they would not be troubled at their Succeſs: We are therefore firmly reſolved, in the moſt effectual manner, to ſupport your Majeſty in ſuch Meaſures as your Majeſty, in your great Wiſdom, ſhall judge neceſſary to procure the Eſtabliſhment of the Tranquillity of Europe.

We receive with the greateſt Satisfaction your Majeſty's gracious Expreſſions and Aſſurances, touching the extraordinary Supply granted laſt Year; and will chearfully fully grant your Majeſty ſuch Supplies, as ſhall effectually provide for the publick Service.

It is with unſpeakable Sorrow of Heart that we obſerve the many Artifices which are made uſe of by the common Enemies of our Religion to undermine and weaken it both at home and abroad: And as we have the moſt grateful Senſe of the tender Concern which your Majeſty has been pleaſed to expreſs for the Proteſtant Religion, and eſpecially for the main Support of it, the Church of England as by Law eſtabliſhed; ſo we are reſolved, on our Part, to conſider of the moſt effectual Methods for ſtrengthening the Proteſtant Intereſt of theſe Kingdoms.

It is a Pleaſure to us, that the Eyes of all Europe are turned upon us at this critical Juncture; ſince we have thereby an Opportunity of ſhewing the World the juſt Confidence we repoſe in your Majeſty, and our unſhaken Reſolutions to ſupport your Government in ſuch manner as ſhall enable your Majeſty to ſettle the Peace of Chriſtendom.

An Amendment was propoſed to be made to the ſaid Addreſs, by adding, after "Kingdoms," at the End of the laſt Paragraph but One, theſe Words, "ſo far as is "conſiſtent with the Laws made for the Security of the "Church of England, which your Majeſty ſo juſtly recom-"mends as the Bulwark of the Proteſtant Intereſt; and "for which your loyal Commons muſt ever have the "higheſt Regard, as it is the trueſt Support of your "Throne:"

And the Queſtion being put, That the ſaid Words be added to the ſaid Addreſs;

It paſſed in the Negative.

Reſolved, That this Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Addreſs.

Reſolved, That the ſaid Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty by the whole Houſe.

Ordered, That ſuch Members of this Houſe as are of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy Council do humbly know his Majeſty's Pleaſure, when he will be attended by this Houſe.

A Complaint being made to the Houſe, That there are no Returns made of the new Writs which iſſued for the Election of Members to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Boroughs of Weſtlow and Truro, in the County of Cornwall;

Ordered, That the Clerk of the Crown do attend this Houſe To-morrow Morning.

Ordered, That the Houſe be called over upon Monday Sevennight.

Ordered, That ſuch Members as ſhall not then attend be ſent for in Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms attending this Houſe.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

Tho. Erle, M. Richards,

T. Wheate, Edw. Aſhe.

Ordered, That the ſaid Eſtimate do lie upon the Table, to be peruſed by the Members of the Houſe.

A Petition of the Lord Percy Seymour was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That a Writ, upon the Vacancy of Nicolas Lechmere Eſquire, for the Borough of Cockermouth, in the County of Cumberland, was duly iſſued: That ſuch Writ was not ſent by a proper Meſſenger; but, by indirect Means, concealed, and unduly delayed, for ſeveral Days before it was delivered to the Sheriff of the ſaid County; yet the Petitioner was fairly and duly elected by a Majority of legal and undoubted Votes; and was returned; notwithſtanding which, Sir Wilfred Lawſon Baronet, a Minor, under the Age of Twenty-one one Years, and uncapable of being elected, or returned, did, by many indirect Practices, procure ſeveral Perſons to vote for him; and did likewiſe prevail with the Bailiff, contrary to Law, and the Statute in that behalf made, to return the ſaid Sir Wilfred Lawſon by another Indenture, as duly elected by a Majority; the ſaid Bailiff refuſing to allow the Petitioner a Scrutiny, though ſeveral times demanded: And praying to be relieved.

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being propoſed, That the Matter of the ſaid Petition be heard at the Bar of this Houſe upon Thurſday the Sixteenth Day of January next;

The Queſtion was put, That that Queſtion be now put;

And it was reſolved in the Affirmative.

Then the main Queſtion being put;

Ordered, That the Matter of the ſaid Petition be heard at the Bar of this Houſe upon Thurſday the Sixteenth Day of January next.

A Petition of Sir Wilfred Lawſon Baronet was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, at the late Election of a Burgeſs for the Borough of Cockermouth, in the County of Cumberland, the Petitioner, and the Lord Peircy Seymour, ſtood Candidates: That the Petitioner had an undoubted Majority of legal Votes, who voted for the Petitioner; and were allowed by Thomas France, Bailiff of the ſaid Borough; notwithſtanding which, and although the ſaid Lord Peircy Seymour, by himſelf, his Agents and Servants, was guilty of notorious Bribery, and undue Practices, in the ſaid Election; yet the ſaid Bailiff thought fit to make a Double Return of the Petitioner, and the Lord Peircy Seymour, for the ſaid Borough; to the manifeſt Injury of the Petitioner: And praying Relief therein.

Ordered, That the Matter of the ſaid Petition be alſo heard, at the Bar of this Houſe, upon Thurſday the Sixteenth Day of January next.

The Order of the Day being read;

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Monday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider of the Supply granted to his Majeſty.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Sabbati, 30° die Novembris;

PRAYERS.

MR. Aiſlabie acquainted the Houſe, That their Addreſs of Yeſterday, That his Majeſty would be pleaſed to give Directions, That the Accounts and Eſtimate therein mentioned might be laid before this Houſe, having been preſented to his Majeſty, his Majeſty had been pleaſed to give Directions accordingly.

Mr. London preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill for naturalizing Abraham Boetefeur Merchant: And the ſame was received; and read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

Sir John Cope reported, That her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Wales had been attended with the congratulatory Meſſage of this Houſe; and that her Royal Highneſs was pleaſed to return the following Anſwer;

I Take this Congratulation of the Houſe of Commons very kindly.

And then the Houſe adjourned till Monday Morning, Nine of the Clock.

And a Motion being made, and the Queſtion being put, That the ſaid Report do lie upon the Table;

It paſſed in the Negative.

Ordered, That the ſame be now read.

And the ſame was read accordingly; and is as follows; viz.

That the Petitioners, in order to prove the Allegations in the ſaid Petition, called,

Mr. James Plume, Mr. John Evans, Mr. Samuel Ruſh, Mr. Tho. Burrow, Mr. Geo. Maggott, and Mr. Wm. Overman: Who ſaid, from their own Knowlege, That the Roads leading through the Pariſhes of Saint George's, Lambeth, and Newington, are become very ruinous, and almoſt impaſſable; to the great Danger and Hazard of the Lives of thoſe that paſs through the ſame; and that frequently Coaches, and other Carriages, are overturned, by reaſon of the Badneſs of the ſaid Roads:

They further acquainted the Committee, That it was out of the Power of the ſaid Pariſhes to repair, and keep up, the ſaid Roads, without the Aid of an Act of Parliament; for that they had examined into the Rates for repairing the Highways, which had been juſtly applied; but fell ſhort of what was neceſſary to repair the ſaid Roads:

And the Pariſh of Lambeth, by an Account ſtated and proved, hath expended, over and above their Statute-work, ſince the Year 1712, the Sum of 1,425 l. 5 s. 8 d. beſides a Fine againſt the Pariſh for 200 l.; and, at this time, Nine Indictments againſt them.

And Mr. John Edwards proved the Statute-work done in the Pariſh of Saint George's; and, in the laſt Four Years, 596 l. 6 s. 11 d. was raiſed, being the Six Pence in the Pound.

And Mr. Edward Oliver proved the Statute-work done in the Pariſh of Newington; and the laſt Year they raiſed 60 l. which was much more than the Six Pence in the Pound.

Captain Hynd, Mr. Blamſon, and Mr. Wilkinſon, gave the Committee an Account as to the Pariſhes of Stretham and Croydon, and particularly that of Stretham, That, inſtead of Six Days Work, they had done Nine and Ten; and it was the Cuſtom of the ſaid Pariſh to raiſe Money by voluntary Subſcriptions, in lieu of the Six Pence in the Pound, which far exceeded their Pound-rate; and the Reaſon why they did ſo was, becauſe the Pariſh is ſmall, the Poor many, and the Gravel at leaſt Three Miles diſtant from the Road.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for amending the Roads from the City of London to the Town of Eaſt-Grinſted, in the County of Suſſex; and to the Towns of Sutton and Kingſton, in the County of Surrey: And that Sir Nicolas Carew, Mr. Comptroller, Mr. Conyers, Mr. Thomas Pelham, and Mr. Lade, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, To-morrow Morning, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to take into Conſideration the State of the Nation, in relation to the Gold and Silver Coins of this Kingdom.

Reſolved, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, That he will be graciouſly pleaſed to give Directions, That the Repreſentations made by the Officers of the Mint to the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury, in relation to the Gold and Silver Coins of this Kingdom, may be laid before this Houſe.

Ordered, That the ſaid Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty by ſuch Members of this Houſe as are of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy-Council.

Ordered, That the Officers of the Mint do attend this Houſe To-morrow Morning.

The Orders of the Day being read;

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Friday the Tenth Day of January next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of the Supply granted to his Majeſty.

And the Title thereof was read.

An atteſted Copy of a Report made by Sir Iſaac Newton, Maſter of the Mint, dated the 21ſt November 1711, concerning the Gold and Silver Coins.

A Report made by him, dated the 23th November 1717, with an Account annexed of the Gold and Silver Monies coined in his Majeſty's Mint in the Tower of London, from the 1ſt Day of January 1701 to the 20th of November 1717.

21ſt December 1717. W. Lowndes.

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commiſſioners of his Majeſty's Treaſury.

May it pleaſe your Lordſhips,

IN Obedience to your Lordſhips Order of Reference of Auguſt 12th, that I ſhould lay before your Lordſhips a State of the Gold and Silver Coins of this Kingdom in Weight and Fineneſs, and the Value of Gold in proportion to Silver, with my Obſervations and Opinion; and what Method may be beſt for preventing the Melting down of the Silver Coin; I humbly repreſent, That a Pound Weight Troy of Gold, Eleven Ounces fine, and One Ounce Allay, is cut into 44½ Guineas; and a Pound Weight of Silver, Eleven Ounces Two Peny Weight fine, and Eighteen Peny Weight Allay, is cut into 62 Shillings; and, according to this Rate, a Pound Weight of fine Gold is worth Fifteen Pounds Weight Six Ounces Seventeen Peny Weight and Five Grains of fine Silver, reckoning a Guinea at 1 l. 1 s. 6 d. in Silver-money; but Silver in Bullion, exportable, is uſually worth 2 d. or 3 d. per Ounce more than in Coin; and if, at a Medium, ſuch Bullion of Standard-allay, be valued at 5 s. 4½ d. per Ounce, a Pound Weight of fine Gold will be worth but 14 lb. wt. 11 oz. 12 dwt. 9 gr. of fine Silver in Bullion; and, at this Rate, a Guinea is worth but ſo much Silver as would make 20 s. 8 d. When Ships are lading for the Eaſt-Indies, the Demand of Silver for Exportation raiſes the Price to 5 s. 6 d. or 5 s. 8 d. per Ounce, or above; but I conſider not thoſe extraordinary Cales.

A Spaniſh Piſtole was coined for 32 Rials, or Four Pieces of Eight Rials, uſually called Pieces of Eight, and is of equal Allay, and the Sixteenth-part of the Weight thereof; and a Doppio Moeda of Portugal was coined for Ten Cruſados of Silver, and is of equal Allay, and the Sixteenth-part of the Weight thereof: Gold is therefore in Spain and Portugal of Sixteen times more Value than Silver of equal Weight and Allay, according to the Standard of thoſe Kingdoms; at which Rate, a Guinea is worth 22 s. 1 d.: But this high Price keeps their Gold at home in good Plenty, and carries away the Spaniſh Silver into all Europe; ſo that at home they make their Payments in Gold, and will not pay in Silver without a Premium: Upon the Coming in of a Plate Fleet the Premium ceaſes, or is but ſmall; but as their Silver goes away, and becomes ſcarce, the Premium increaſes, and is moſt commonly about Six per Cent.; which being abated, a Guinea becomes worth about 20 s. 9 d. in Spain and Portugal.

In France, a Pound Weight of fine Gold is reckoned worth Fifteen Pounds Weight of fine Silver: In raiſing or falling their Money, their King's Edicts have ſometimes varied a little from this Proportion in Exceſs, or Defect; but the Variations have been ſo little, that I do not here conſider them: By the Edict of May 1709, a new Piſtole was coined for Four new Lewiſſes, and is of equal Allay, and the Fifteenth-part of the Weight thereof, except the Errors of their Mints; and, by the ſame Edict, fine Gold is valued at Fifteen times its Weight of fine Silver; and, at this Rate, a Guinea is worth 20 s. 8½ d.: I conſider not here the Confuſion made in the Monies in France by frequent Edicts to ſend them to the Mint, and give the King a Tax out of them: I conſider only the Value of Gold and Silver in proportion to one another.

The Ducats of Holland, and Hungary, and the Empire, were lately current in Holland among the common People, in their Markets, and ordinary Affairs, at Five Guilders in Specie, and Five Stivers; and commonly changed for ſo much Silver-monies in Three Guilder-pieces and Guilder-pieces, as Guineas are with us for 21 s. 6 d. Sterling; at which Rate, a Guinea is worth 20 s. 7½ d.

According to the Rates of Gold to Silver in Italy, Germany, Poland, Denmark, and Sweden, a Guinea is worth about about 20 s. and 7 d. 6 d. 5 d. or 4 d.; for the Proportion varies a little within the ſeveral Governments in thoſe Countries: In Sweden, Gold is loweſt in proportion to Silver; and this hath made that Kingdom, which formerly was content with Copper Money, abound of late with Silver, ſent thither, I ſuſpect, for Naval Stores.

In the End of King William's Reign, and the Firſt Year of the late Queen, when foreign Coins abounded in England, I cauſed a great many of them to be aſſayed in the Mint; and found by the Aſſays, that fine Gold was to fine Silver in Spain, Portugal, France, Holland, Italy, Germany, and the Northern Kingdoms, in the Proportions above-mentioned; Errors of the Mints excepted.

In China and Japan, One Pound Weight of fine Gold is worth but Nine or Ten Pounds Weight of fine Silver; and in Eaſt-India it may be worth Twelve; and this low Price of Gold in proportion to Silver carries away the Silver from all Europe.

So then, by the Courſe of Trade and Exchange between Nation and Nation in all Europe, fine Gold is to fine Silver as $14\frac{4}{7}$, or 15, to One; and a Guinea, at the ſame Rate, is worth between 20 s. 5 d. and 20 s. 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.; except in extraordinary Caſes, as when a Plate Fleet is juſt arrived in Spain, or Ships are lading here for the Eaſt-Indies; which Caſes I do not here conſider: And it appears by Experience, as well as by Reaſon, that Silver flows from thoſe Places where its Value is loweſt in proportion to Gold, as from Spain to all Europe, and from all Europe to the Eaſt-Indies, China, and Japan; and that Gold is moſt plentiful in thoſe Places in which its Value is higheſt in proportion to Silver, as in Spain and England.

It is the Demand for Exportation which hath raiſed the Price of exportable Silver about 2 d. or 3 d. in the Ounce above that of Silver in Coin; and hath thereby created a Temptation to export, or melt down, the Silver Coin, rather than give 2 d. or 3 d. more for foreign Silver; and the Demand for Exportation ariſes from the higher Price of Silver in other Places than in England in proportion to Gold; that is, from the higher Price of Gold in England than in other Places in proportion to Silver; and therefore may be diminiſhed, by lowering the Value of Gold in proportion to Silver: If Gold in England, or Silver in Eaſt-India, could be brought down ſo low as to bear the ſame Proportion to one another in both Places, there would be here no greater Demand for Silver, than for Gold to be exported to India; and if Gold were lowered only ſo as to have the ſame Proportion to the Silver-money in England which it hath to Silver in the reſt of Europe, there would be no Temptation to export Silver rather than Gold to any other Part of Europe: And to compaſs this laſt, there ſeems nothing more requiſite than to take off about 10 d. or 12 d. from the Guinea; ſo that Gold may bear the ſame Proportion to the Silver Money in England, which it ought to do by the Courſe of Trade and Exchange in Europe; but if only 6 d. were taken off at preſent, it would diminiſh the Temptation to export, or melt down, the Silver Coin; and, by the Effects, would ſhew hereafter, better than can appear at preſent, what further Reduction would be moſt convenient for the Publick.

In the laſt Year of King William, the Dollars of Scotland, worth about 4 s. 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. were put away in the North of England for 5 s. and at this Price began to flow in upon us: I gave notice thereof to the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury; and they ordered the Collectors of Taxes to forbear taking them; and thereby put a Stop to the Miſchief.

At the ſame time, the Lewidors of France, which were worth but Seventeen Shillings and Three Farthings apiece, paſſed in England at 17 s. 6 d.: I gave notice thereof to the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury; and his late Majeſty put out a Proclamation, That they ſhould go but at 17 s.; and thereupon they came to the Mint; and 1,400,000 l. were coined out of them: And if the Advantage of 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. in a Lewidor ſufficed at that time to bring into England ſo great a Quantity of French Money, and the Advantage of Three Farthings in a Lewidor to bring it to the Mint, the Advantage of 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. in a Guinea, or above, may have been ſufficient to bring in the great Quantity of Gold which hath been coined in theſe laſt Fifteen Years, without any foreign Silver.

Some Years ago, the Portugal Moedors were received in the Weſt of England at 28 s. apiece: Upon Notice from the Mint that they were worth only about 27 s. 7 d. the Lords Commiſſioners of the Treaſury ordered their Receivers of Taxes to take them at no more than 27 s. 6 d.: Afterwards, many Gentlemen in the Weſt ſent up to the Treaſury a Petition, that the Receivers might take them again at 28 s. and promiſed to get Returns for this Money at that Rate; alleging, that when they went at 28 s. their Country was full of Gold, which they wanted very much: But the Commiſſioners of the Treaſury, conſidering, that at 28 s. the Nation would loſe 5 d. apiece, rejected the Petition: And if an Advantage to the Merchant of 5 d. in 28 s. did pour that Money in upon us, much more hath an Advantage to the Merchant of 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. in a Guinea, or above, been able to bring into the Mint great Quantities of Gold, without any foreign Silver; and may be able to do it ſtill, till the Cauſe be removed.

If Things be let alone till Silver Money be a little ſcarcer, the Gold will fall of itſelf; for People are already backward to give Silver for Gold, and will, in a little time, refuſe to make Payments in Silver without a Premium, as they do in Spain; and this Premium will be an Abatement in the Value of the Gold; and ſo the Queſtion is, Whether Gold ſhall be lowered by the Government, or let alone till it falls of itſelf, by the Want of Silver Money.

It may be ſaid, that there are great Quantities of Silver in Plate; and if the Plate were coined, there would be no Want of Silver Money: But I reckon, that Silver is ſafer from Exportation in the Form of Plate than in the Form of Money, becauſe of the greater Value of the Silver and Faſhion together; and therefore I am not for coining the Plate, till the Temptation to export the Silver Money, which is a Profit of 2 d. or 3 d. an Ounce, be diminiſhed; for as often as Men are neceſſitated to ſend away Money for anſwering Debts abroad, there will be a Temptation to ſend away Silver rather than Gold, becauſe of the Profit, which is almoſt Four per Cent.; and, for the ſame Reaſon, Foreigners will chooſe to ſend hither their Gold rather than their Silver.

Mint-Office, 21ſt September 1717. } All which is moſt humbly ſubmitted to your Lordſhips great Wiſdom.

Iſaac Newton.

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commiſſioners of his Majeſty's Treaſury.

May it pleaſe your Lordſhips,

IN Obedience to your Lordſhips Order of Reference of the 19th Inſtant, That an Account be laid before your Lordſhips of all the Gold and Silver coined in the laſt Fifteen Years; and how much thereof hath been coined out of Plate upon publick Encouragements; and what Copper Money hath been newly coined; it is humbly repreſented, that ſince Chriſtmas 170$\frac{1}{2}$ to the 19th Inſtant, there hath been coined in Gold 7,127,835 Pounds in Tale, reckoning 44$\frac{1}{2}$ Guineas to a Pound Weight Troy, and 21 s. 6 d. to a Guinea; and in Silver 223,380 Pounds Sterling, reckoning 3 l. 2 s. to a Pound Weight Troy; and that Part of this Silver, amounting to 143,086 Pounds Sterling, was coined out of Engliſh Plate, imported upon publick Encouragement in the Years 1709 and 1711; and another Part, amounting to 13,342 l. was coined out of Vigo Plate in the Years 1703 and 1704; and another Part, amounting to 45,732 l. was coined from Silver extracted from our own Lead-ore; and the reſt, amounting to 21,220 l. was coined chiefly out of old Plate melted down by Goldſmiths; and ſome of it out of Pieces of Eight.

The Graver of the Mint hath been hard at Work, ever ſince the laſt Seſſion of Parliament, in making the Emboſſments and Puncheons for the Halfpence and Farthings, and taking off a few Dyes from them: The Making of an Emboſſment, and a Puncheon, for Halfpence, takes up the Time of about Six Weeks; and there have been Two Emboſſments, and Two Puncheons, made for the Halfpence, and One for the Farthings; and now theſe are finiſhed, and ſome Dyes are made from the Puncheons, it will take up a little time to examine the Copper, and ſettle the beſt Method of preparing, ſizing, nealing, and cleaning it, and making it fit for the Mint; this being a Manufacture different from that of coarſe Copper, and more difficult, and not yet practiſed in England; and as ſoon as this Method is fixed, we ſhall begin to coin in Quantity.

That the Committee, purſuant to the Order of the Houſe, of the 20th of December laſt, have examined the Matter of the ſaid Petition; and find, upon the Examination of ſeveral Witneſſes, That the ſaid Roads are very bad, and, in many Places, are impaſſable in the Winter-ſeaſon; and that, by the Badneſs and Narrowneſs thereof, great Miſchiefs have happened:

That the Pariſhes, in which the ſaid Roads lie, have been indicted, on account of the Badneſs of the ſaid Roads; but the Juſtices, upon Examination of the Matter, finding the Inhabitants had done their Duty, thought fit to diſcharge the ſaid Indictments: And it appeared alſo to the Committee, that the ſaid Pariſhes have conſtantly done their Statute-work; and ſome Inhabitants much more than they were obliged to do; notwithſtanding which, by reaſon of the many heavy Carriages that paſs and repaſs through the ſaid Roads, many Parts of which lying very low, and Materials lying at a great Diſtance from ſome of the ſaid Pariſhes, the ſaid Roads are ſo bad and ruinous, during the Winter-ſeaſon eſpecially, that they cannot, by the Laws now in Force, be effectually amended by the ſaid Pariſhes.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Taylors, Buttonſellers, Throwſters, Twiſters, Dyers, Spinners, Buttonmakers, and others, living in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, Borough of Southwark, and Places adjacent, concerned in the Manufacture of Raw Silk, and Mohair Yarn, in behalf of themſelves, and many Thouſands of others employed therein, is referred.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Taylors, Buttonſellers, Throwſters, Twiſters, Dyers, Spinners, Buttonmakers, and others, living in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, Borough of Southwark, and Places adjacent, concerned in the Manufactures of Raw Silk and Mohair Yarn, in behalf of themſelves, and many Thouſands of others employed therein, is referred.

Sir Charles Cooke, from the Lords Commiſſioners of Trade and Plantations, preſented to the Houſe, purſuant to their Addreſs to his Majeſty, a Copy of a Repreſentation to his Majeſty from the ſaid Commiſſioners, relating to the Eaſt-India Company's Exports:

And the Title thereof was read.

The ſaid Repreſentation is as follows; viz.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

IN Obedience to your Majeſty's Order in Council, of 22d November 1714, we have examined the Account of the Exports of the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the Eaſt-Indies, from Michaelmas 1713 to Michaelmas 1714; and, having compared the ſame with the Exports of the Eleven preceding Years, whereof no Report has been hitherto made from this Board, we now humbly lay before your Majeſty the State of that Trade, according to the ſaid Company's Accounts, for the laſt Twelve Years, from the Twenty-ninth of September 1702 to the 29th of September 1714; with our Obſervations thereon; viz.

In this manner has the Trade to the Eaſt-Indies been carried on for Twelve Years paſt.

But, upon further looking back, and comparing the Exports of the Bullion in theſe Twelve Years with the Exports of the Bullion in Five Years from Chriſtmas 1698 to Chriſtmas 1703, it is very obſervable, that the Old and New Companies, before and after their Union, exported Gold and Silver, in the ſaid Five Years, for Eaſt-India, to the Value of

And £. 193,189 14 0 from Cadiz:

In all 3,352,797 6 6

The Medium whereof for One Year is — — 670,559 9 3

Whereas the Medium, for the laſt 12 Years, as aforeſaid, is but — — 313,249 9 9

Conſequently, the Eaſt-India Company's Exportation of Bullion in the Five Years exceeds their Exportations in the 12 Years, annually — — — 357,309 19 6

And this is excluſive of what was exported by private Traders in thoſe Five Years, which, by the Cuſtom-houſe Accounts, amounts to, at leaſt — £. 70,000 0 0 per Annum.

Having thus aſcertained the Exports for Eaſt-India, we ſhould proceed to give an Account of the Value of ſuch Eaſt-India Goods as have been re-exported to all foreign Parts; but the late Inſpector-General not having made up the Accounts of any One Year ſince 1700, we can only take notice of the Accounts that were adjuſted before that time; whereby it appears, that the Eaſt India Goods, re-exported in the Four following Years, were valued at

720,831 3 5¾ — — — 1700,
954,803 11 10½ — — — 1701,
458,193 18 6½ — — — 1702:

In all £. 2,538,933 11 10½ in Four Years.

That is, communibus annis, 634,733 7 11½; which was leſs than was in thoſe Years exported in Bullion by the Companies.

When the Cuſtom-houſe Books are brought up, we ſhall take the Liberty to lay before your Majeſty an Account of our Home-conſumption; and ſhall then be better able to judge, how they interfere with our own Manufactures.

We muſt further add, that we find, in our Office, a Repreſentation made to his late Majeſty King William by the Levant Company; wherein they ſet forth, That they loſe the Vent of 9,000 Cloths per Annum in Turky for Perſia, by the Eaſt-India Company being obliged, by their Charter, to export 100,000 l. per Annum in Engliſh Manufactures and Products for India, which are chiefly ſent to Perſia, and conſumed there.

Upon this, as the Trade to Turky has ever ſince lain under the ſame Difficulty, we ſhall only ſtate the Account thereof; and ſubmit the Whole to your Majeſty's Conſideration.

Exported by the Eaſt-India Company, as aforeſaid, in 12 Years, 65,123½ Broad Cloths;
Whereof 1,485½ for Mocho,
1,166½ for China, &c.
26,693 for the Coaſt and Bay,
28,316 for Surat and Bombay,
7,462½ for Perſia.

In all —— 65,123½ Cloths.

Of theſe, the Two laſt Articles, amounting to 35,778½ Cloths, are the Exports which the Levant Company aſſert are prejudicial to their Trade; the Medium whereof, for One Year, is Cloths 2,981½.

They compute, that about One-half Part of the Cloth ſent to Surat may proceed to Perſia; but, admitting the Whole to be carried thither, and that their Allegation is true, the Nation loſes the Export of 6,018½ Cloths per Annum; which, at a Time when that particular Manufacture lies under the greateſt Diſcouragement, the Exportation thereof being decreaſed, ſince the Year 1712, at leaſt One-fourth Part, ſeems to require an effectual Redreſs.

All which is moſt humbly ſubmitted.

PRAYERS.

A Petition of the poor inſolvent Debtors in his Majeſty's Gaol for the County of Derby, on behalf of themſelves, and many Thouſands more in the ſeveral Gaols in this Kingdom, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, by ſeveral Loſſes and Misfortunes, the Petitioners are brought into Confinement; where they ſuffer many unſpeakable Calamities and Miſeries, not only by their own diſtreſſed Circumſtances, but of their Families at home; who are in daily Danger of ſtarving; being deprived of the Aſſiſtance of the Petitioners in getting them a Maintenance: And praying ſuch Relief as to the Houſe ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill to appoint Commiſſioners to take, examine, ſtate, and determine, the Debts due to the Army: And that Mr. Craggs, and the Lord William Powlett, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Colonel Fane reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of ſeveral Deputy-Lieutenants, and Juſtices of the Peace, of the ſeveral Counties of Kent and Surrey, and other Gentlemen, Freeholders, and Inhabitants, of the ſaid Counties, living in or near the ſeveral Towns and Pariſhes lying in the Highways leading from the Stones End of Kent-ſtreet, in the Pariſh of Saint George's, Southwark, in the ſaid County of Surrey, to the Lime-kilns in Eaſt-Greenwich, near Blackheath, and to Lewiſham Church, being the Tunbridge Road, in the ſaid County of Kent; and alſo of ſeveral Graſiers, Farmers, Gardeners, Stage Coachmen, Carriers, Waggoners, Higlers, and others, who frequent and paſs the ſaid Highways, whoſe Names are thereunto ſubſcribed; was referred; the Matter, as it appeared to them; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered the Report in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, purſuant to the Order of the Houſe, of the Eighteenth of December laſt, have examined the Matter of the ſaid Petition; and find, upon the Examination of ſeveral Witneſſes, inhabiting in the ſaid ſeveral Pariſhes lying upon the ſaid Roads; viz.

By Mr. John Edwards, of the Pariſh of Saint George, Southwark; Mr. Tho. Alman, of Camberwell; Mr. Wm. Baker, of Deptford; Mr. John Parker, of Lewiſham; and Mr. Richard Mead, of Greenwich; That the ſaid Roads are, by reaſon of the many heavy Loads and Carriages of Goods, and the great Number of Stage and Hackney Coaches, Paſſengers, and Droves of Cattle, daily paſſing through the ſaid Roads, become ſo very founderous and ruinous, and, in many Parts thereof, ſo bad, that, in the Winter-ſeaſon, the ſame are very dangerous to all Perſons who have Occaſion to travel through the ſaid Roads; and particularly ſeveral Coaches, Waggons, and other Carriages, have been lately overturned, and ſtuck therein; to the great Damage of the Owners and Proprietors of the Goods and Cattle belonging thereto.

That it further appeared to the Committee, by the Examination of ſeveral other Witneſſes, of the ſaid ſeveral Pariſhes; viz.

By Mr. * Atkinſon, of the Pariſh of St. George, Southwark; Mr. Nicolas Baker, of Camberwell; Wm. Wright, of Deptford, Eſquire; Mr. John Parker, of Lewiſham; and Mr. George Wigſell, of Greenwich; That the Inhabitants of the ſaid ſeveral Pariſhes have, from time to time, been at great Expences in repairing and amending the ſaid Roads; yet the ſame are ſo very bad, that they are almoſt impaſſable; and cannot, by the Laws now now in Force, be effectually amended, and kept in good Repair, by the ſaid Pariſhes, without the Aid of an Act of Parliament for that Purpoſe:

For that the ſaid Pariſhes have not only done their Statute-work, but ſome of them much more than they were obliged to do; and alſo have raiſed Six Pence in the Pound beſides; and likewiſe other large Sums of Money have conſtantly been raiſed, and laid out in amending the ſaid Roads and Highways; but yet the ſame have fallen ſhort of what was neceſſary to repair the ſaid Highways.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for repairing the Highways leading from the Stones End of Kent-ſtreet, in the Pariſh of Saint George's, Southwark, in the County of Surrey, to the Lime-kilns in Eaſt Greenwich, near Blackheath, and to Lewiſham Church, being the Tunbridge Road, in the County of Kent: And that Colonel Fane, Sir Samuel Lennard, Mr. Windſor, Sir Robert Furneſe, and Mr. Gybbon, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, To-morrow Morning, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of the Supply granted to his Majeſty.

Mr. Hampden reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of Ferdinando Shimpton, Chriſtopher Ingby, John Chritchton, Robert Chritchton, Joſeph Weſt, Joſhua Morris, Charles Paynter, and William Hackwell, on behalf of themſelves, and great Numbers of other Wholeſale Traders and Dealers in Engliſh Bone-lace, was referred, the Matter, as it appeared to them; and which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered the Report in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, purſuant to the Order of this Houſe, of the 21th Inſtant, have taken the ſaid Petition into their Conſideration; and do find the Matter of Fact to be as follows; viz.

That, by the Examination of Richard Marriot, and others, the Manufacture of Engliſh Bone-lace hath, by the Induſtry of the Petitioners, and others, been greatly improved of late Years; whereby many Thouſands of poor Perſons have been, and are, employed; and thoſe of very tender Years are enabled to get their Livings:

That ſome of the Petitioners have been put to great Expences, and hindered from carrying on their Trades, and others are daily threatened to be diſturbed therein, by ſeveral Perſons, who have, of late, taken upon themſelves to proſecute and inform againſt them before ſome of his Majeſty's Juſtices of the Peace, on the Pretence that they ought to have Licences, according to an Act, of the 9th and 10th King William the Third, for licenſing Hawkers and Pedlars.

That it appears, upon reading the ſaid Act, That the ſaid Petitioners are not within the Meaning of the ſame, or liable to any the Penalties thereby to be inflicted; and ought not to be deemed Hawkers and Pedlars:

Which is farther made evident by a Reſolution of this Houſe, upon a Report, made the Sixth of April 1699, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of Edward Hooton, and others, Bone-lace-makers, was referred; viz. That the Workers of Bone-lace, his, her, or their, Children, Apprentices, Servants, or Agents, and all Wholeſale Dealers in the ſaid Manufacture, though they go from Shop to Shop to any their Cuſtomers who ſell the ſame again by Retail, ſhall not be deemed Hawkers and Pedlars by the Act made in the 9th and 10th King William the Third.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for Relief of the Wholeſale Traders and Dealers in Engliſh Bone-lace, by obviating ſeveral Doubts in the Act, of the Ninth and Tenth Years of the late King William, for licenſing Hawkers and Pedlars: And that Mr. Hampden, Mr. Lowndes, Mr. Denton, and Mr. Fletewode, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Ordered, That the Conſideration of the ſaid Petition be referred to a Committee: And that they do examine the Matter thereof; and report the ſame, with their Opinion thereupon, to the Houſe:

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for the more effectual preventing the clandeſtine Running of Goods: And that Mr. Heyſham, Mr. Comptroller, Sir John Ward, Mr. Erle, Mr. Harley, Mr. John Chetwynd, and Mr. Lowndes, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

The Houſe proceeded, according to Order, to take into Conſideration the Report from the Committee, to whom whom the Bill for the further preventing Robbery, Burglary, and other Felonies; and for the more effectual Tranſportation of Felons; was committed:

And the Amendments, made by the Committee, to the ſaid Bill, were once read throughout; and then a Second time, one by one; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

PRAYERS.

A Petition of the Merchants, Sergemakers, and others trading in Wool, and the Woollen Manufacture, within the Borough of Minehead, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That ſeveral good Laws have been made for Preventing of the Exportation of Wool into foreign Parts; yet large Quantities is exported into France clandeſtinely, and eſpecially from Ireland; whereby his Majeſty is greatly wronged of his Revenue in reſpect to the Duty which Wool pays in Ireland; and thereby neighbouring Nations are furniſhed with that Commodity at cheaper Rates than ourſelves, to the Ruin of the Woollen Manufacture: Another Inconvenience the Petitioners labour under is, the large Quantities of Iriſh Worſted Yarn imported by the Name of Bay Yarn, being no otherwiſe than Worſted; and is uſed for ſuch in makeing Serges, Stuffs, &c.: They give in Ireland but Six Pence for Spinning of Twenty-four Ounces; and we give Eight Pence for Eighteen Ounces: And praying ſuch Relief therein as to the Houſe ſhall ſeem meet.

That, upon the Examination of Charlwood Lawton Eſquire, Catharine Manning, and Thomas Duſt, it appeared to the Committee, That there are but Two little Conduits belonging to the major Part of the Town, both ſerved from One Spring, which is too ſmall to ſupply the neceſſary Wants of the Inhabitants with Water: That, at preſent, there are no Conduit pipes laid into the Houſes; ſo that they are forced to fetch Water for their Uſe in Buckets, at their great Expence and Trouble: That a Perſon has ſometimes been obliged to ſtay Two Hours for One Bucket of Water.

That, about Thirteen Years ago, no leſs than Seven or Eight Fires happened in the Space of Six or Seven Months; which were not extinguiſhed without great Difficulty, by reaſon of the Want of Water; which was certified to the Committee by the aforeſaid Catharine Manning and Thomas Duſt.

That the Committee, purſuant to the Order of the Houſe of the Seventeenth of January laſt, have examined the Matter of the ſaid Petition; and find, upon the Examination of ſeveral Witneſſes inhabiting in the ſeveral Pariſhes lying upon the ſaid Roads; viz.

By Mr. John Curtis, Mr. Simon Finch, Mr. Thomas Hollier, Mr. Neville Meriot; That the Roads leading from Reading to Shinfeild, and Reading to Heckfeild, are become ſo very ruinous and deep, that, in the Winter-ſeaſon, they are almoſt impaſſable; and are very dangerous to all Perſons, Coaches, Horſes, and Cattle, travelling through the ſame.

That it farther appeared to the Committee, That the ſeveral Pariſhioners have uſed their utmoſt Endeavours, in the Summer-ſeaſons, to repair and amend the ſaid Roads; but, for want of ſufficient Gravel, Stones, and other Conveniencies, lying near thereto, are not able, of themſelves, to effect the ſame; in reſpect of the great Charge required to fetch Gravel, Stones, and other Conveniencies, and the Quantities neceſſary for that Purpoſe; without the Aſſiſtance of this Honourable Houſe:

For that the ſaid Pariſhes have not only done their Statute-work, but much more than they were obliged to do; and alſo have raiſed Six Pence in the Pound beſides; and likewiſe other large Sums of Money have conſtantly been raiſed, and laid out, in amending the ſaid Roads and Highways; but yet the ſame have fallen ſhort of what was neceſſary to repair the ſaid Highways.

All which Evidence was confirmed by a Certificate under the Hands and Seals of Antony Blagrave and Clement Kent Eſquires, Two of his Majeſty's Juſtices of the Peace for the County of Berks, inhabiting near the Town of Reading aforeſaid.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill to repair and amend the Highways from Reading, in the County of Berks, by Shinfeild and Heckfeild, to Baſingſtoke, in the County of Southampton: And that Mr. Buckingham, the Lord William Powlett, Mr. Cadogan, and Mr. Gwidot, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

A Petition of the Miniſter, Churchwardens, and Inhabitants, of the Pariſh of Saint Michael, Cornhill, London, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, by an Order made in the Year 1704, by the then Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Biſhop of London, and Lord Mayor of London, the Tower of the ſaid Church was appointed to be rebuilt out of the Monies ariſing by the Duty on Coals, appropriated for Building of Parochial Churches by ſeveral Statutes; but the ſaid Petitioners could not get the ſaid Order complied with: That by another Order, in 1715, the ſaid Tower, being dangerous to the Neighbourhood, was taken down; and is rebuilt about Twenty Foot high; but the Monies ariſing on the ſaid Duty on Coals was ſo far expended in the other great Incumbrances on the ſaid Duty, that there was not Money ſufficient to go on with, and finiſh, the ſaid Tower: That in regard the ſaid Tower hath been, in part, rebuilt by the Monies ariſing out of the Fund given for that Purpoſe, and was intended to have been finiſhed thereby, and ought ſo to be, before the ſame Duty be applied to other new Uſes; and for that the Work is not carried up above halfway to the Roof of the Church; and will coſt Six thouſand Pounds to finiſh it: And praying, That Proviſion may be made for the finiſhing the ſaid Tower by the Duty granted by the Statute, of the 9th of the late Queen, for Building of Fifty new Churches.

Ordered, That the Conſideration of the ſaid Petition be referred to a Committee: And that they do examine the Matter thereof; and report the ſame, as it ſhall appear to them, to the Houſe:

And it is referred to Mr. Cowper, Sir John Ward, Mr. Farrer, Mr. Heyſham, Mr. Henley, Mr. Conyers, Mr. Hungerford, Mr. Godfrey, Sir Tho. Scawen, Mr. Craggs, Mr. Comptroller, Mr. Monſon, Mr. Clarke, Sir Wm. Clark, Mr. Boteler, Mr. Inge, Mr. Hutcheſon, Mr. England, Mr. Brodrick, Lord Stanhope, Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Treby, Mr. Smith, Mr. Bailie, Mr. Earl, Mr. Lade, Mr. Halſey, Mr. Freman, Mr. Wyld; and all that ſerve for the City of London: And they are to meet this Afternoon at Five a Clock, in the Speaker's Chamber: And have Power to ſend for Perſons, Papers, and Records.

A Petition of the Juſtices of the Peace, Grand Jury, and other Gentlemen and Freeholders, in the County of Glouceſter, aſſembled at the General Quarter-Seſſions of the Peace held for the ſaid County, the Fourteenth Day of January 1717; and alſo of the Grand Jury of the City of Glouceſter, at the General Quarter-Seſſions of the Peace held for the ſaid City, the Seventeenth of January 1717; was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, ſeveral Years paſt, great Quantities of Cyder and Perry have been made and brought into this and other Counties for Exportation into foreign Parts; to the great Advantage of the Petitioners; who have been thereby encouraged to increaſe their Plantations of thoſe Fruits: That the Exportation thereof is of great Advantage to the Nation, by improving the Trade and Navigation, and Increaſe of his Majeſty's Revenues; but hath been greatly diſcouraged by ſeveral Proſecutions lately commenced in the Court of Exchequer for a Duty of Four Shillings per Hogſhead, againſt the Exporters thereof: That the Diſcouragement to the Exportation of Cyder and Perry will be a great Prejudice and Loſs to the Petitioners, by leſſening the Value of their Eſtates, and the Revenues of his Majeſty: And praying ſuch Relief as to the Houſe ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for continuing the Duties on Malt, Mum, Cyder, and Perry, for the Service of the Year 1718, is committed.

Ordered, That the Conſideration of the ſaid Petition be referred to a Committee: And that they do examine the Matter thereof; and report the ſame, as it ſhall appear to them, to the Houſe:

A Petition and Repreſentation of the Mayor, Jurats, and principal Inhabitants, of the Town and Port of Dover, for repairing the ſaid Harbour, was alſo preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Parliament, in 1700, having had a true State laid before them of the then dangerous Condition of Dover Harbour, and of the great Uſefulneſs of it when in Repair, did paſs an Act for its Repair, by laying a ſmall Duty on Tonage, only on ſuch Ships as paſſed by, to, or from, the ſaid Harbour, as were capable of being ſecured by it: In few Years after, the Produce of the ſaid Act, made for Nine Years, was found to fall ſhort of what it was computed at; thereupon a ſubſequent Act was made, inlarging the Time Nine Years more; and although the Money ariſing by the ſaid Acts hath been conſtantly applied for the Care of Dover Harbour, yet the Wars have ſo conſiderably leſſened even the Sum propoſed as neceſſary, that the Money raiſed, and already expended towards making this a commodious Harbour, will be ſurely loſt, unleſs the ſaid Duties, which expire in May next, be further continued, or other Proviſion made for the Completing and Preſerving of it: And praying, That Leave may be given to bring in a Bill either to continue the preſent Duties, or otherwiſe to provide for the effectual Repair and Preſervation of a Harbour ſo neceſſary for the Security of Trade, and Benefit of the whole Kingdom.

and many Thouſands in and about the ſaid City employed in the Woollen Manufacture, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Woollen Manufacture is the principal Employment of the Petitioners, and others; and the only Support of the poorer Sort in and about the ſaid City: That by an Act, made in the Firſt Year of the Reign of their late Majeſties King William and Queen Mary, the Port of Exeter was left open, and free for the Importation of Iriſh Wool; but, by the Act of the Fourth and Fifth of their ſaid Majeſties Reign, the ſaid Port was ſhut up, and the Importation of Iriſh Wool confined to the Northern Ports; of which the neareſt to Exeter is diſtant Forty Miles from thence; by which means the Petitioners Trades are decayed, and the poorer Sort cannot live; all which Inconveniencies, the Petitioners humbly repreſent, will be remedied by opening again the ſaid Port of Exeter for the Importation of Iriſh Wool: And praying, That Leave may be given to bring in a Bill for opening the ſaid Port of Exeter.

Ordered, That the Report be received To-morrow Morning.

Mr. Farrer alſo acquainted the Houſe, That he was directed by the Committee to move, That they may have Leave to ſit again.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Friday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of Ways and Means for raiſing the Supply granted to his Majeſty.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Martis, 28° die Januarii;

Anno 4° Georgii Regis, 1717.

PRAYERS.

MR. Buckingham preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill for repairing the Highways from Crown-Corner, in the Town of Reading, leading by and through the ſeveral Pariſhes of Shinfeild and Heckfeild, in the ſeveral Counties of Berks, Wilts, and Southampton, to Baſingſtoke, in the County of Southampton: And the ſame was received; and read the Firſt time.

Reſolved, That the Bill be read a Second time.

A Petition of the Wardens and Community of the Shoemakers within the City of Hereford was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Duty upon Leather is of very pernicious Conſequence to the Manufacturers, and poor Workmen, who are in a deplorable Condition for want of Employ, and chiefly for want of Leather; it being bought up by the Merchants to ſend away; and, by reaſon of the Drawback, they have great Encouragement to ſend away great Quantities of Leather, which they pack up cloſe for Exportation; which commonly makes it weigh One-fifth Part more than when it is bought dry from the Tanner; ſo that the Drawback is a great Loſs to the King's Duty, and foreign Countries ſupplied with our beſt Leather at cheaper Rates than us: And praying, That the Drawback allowed upon Leather exported may be taken off, and Iriſh Hides and Calves-ſkins may be allowed to be brought in.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Juſtices of Peace, Gentlemen, Farmers, Maltſters, Graſiers, Owners of Hop-grounds, Shopkeepers, Stage Coachmen, Waggoners, Carters, Carriers, Fiſhermen, Higlers, and others, reſiding and inhabiting in that Part of the County of Suſſex lying and being in the Rapes of Pevenſey and Haſtings, whoſe Buſineſs and Affairs hourly and daily call and oblige them to go to the City of London; to which Place the neareſt Road lies through the ſeveral Towns and Pariſhes of Eaſt-Grinſtead, Godſtone, Croyden, Stretham, and Newington; whoſe Names are thereunto ſubſcribed; was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Petitioners underſtanding, that ſeveral Juſtices of the Peace, and Gentlemen of the Pariſhes in the County of Surry, near and adjoining to the ſaid City of London, have lately preſented a Petition to this Honourable Houſe, for the bringing in a Bill for the repairing and making good the Roads leading from thence to the ſaid Town of Croydon, and other adjoining Pariſhes and Towns: And praying, That they may be freed and exempted from any Charge that may be occaſioned thereby; and that they, with their Coaches, Waggons, Carts, Carriages, Horſes, Oxen, Sheep, Cattle, and other things, may have Liberty to paſs and repaſs, as uſual, to and from London.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Committee, to whom the Bill for amending the Roads from the City of London to the Town of Eaſt-Grinſtead, in the County of Suſſex; and to the Towns of Sutton and Kingſton, in the County of Surrey; is committed.

A Petition of the Portreeve, and other principal Inhabitants, of the Borough of Aſhburton, in the County of Devon, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, by reaſon of vaſt Quantities of Wool and Yarn continually run from Ireland to France; and alſo by reaſon of the continued Importation into thoſe Parts of great Quantities of Iriſh Worſted, under the Denomination of Bay Yarn, which is rendered at Four Pence a Pound cheaper than 'tis poſſible to be made by their poor Labourers; and will, in a little time, if not redreſſed, which, the Petitioners apprehend, will be, in a great meaſure, remedied by making the Port of Exon free and open for the Importation of Wool from Ireland, take away the beſt and chiefeſt Means they have of ſubſiſting their Poor: And praying to be relieved.

Ordered,

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Portreeve, and other Inhabitants, of the Borough of Saint Germans, in the County of Cornwall, is referred.

A Petition of the Stuffmakers, Clothworkers, &c. of the City of Briſtol, and Places adjacent thereunto, in behalf of themſelves, and many Thouſands in and about the City of Briſtol, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Petitioners have employed ſeveral Thouſand poor People in the Woollen Manufactory: That Wool hath been ſo ſcarce and dear, that they are rendered uncapable to purchaſe ſuch Quantities as is required to keep the Poor fully employed; which Evil is occaſioned by ſending Wool to France, &c. unwrought, from this Kingdom, as well as Ireland: And praying to be relieved.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Portreeve, and other Inhabitants, of the Borough of Saint Germans, in the County of Cornwall, is referred.

A Petition of the Weavers, and others, employed in the Woollen Manufactory, in and about the City of Briſtol, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That they have, for many Years paſt, maintained themſelves, and Families; but are now rendered uncapable, occaſioned by their Maſters not employing them as uſual; which, they ſay, is for want of Wool; great Quantities being ſent from this Kingdom, as well as Ireland: And praying to be relieved.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Portreeve, and other Inhabitants, of the Borough of St. Germans, in the County of Cornwall, is referred.

A Petition of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgeſſes, and alſo of the Merchants, and others, trading in the Woollen Manufactures, within the Borough of Barnſtaple, and Places adjacent, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That great Quantities both of Wool and Worſted have been clandeſtinely exported to France; but eſpecially from Ireland; ſo that our neighbouring Nations are furniſhed with Wool cheaper than ourſelves: That great Quantities of Iriſh Worſted is entered as Bay and Woollen Yarn; whereas 'tis really Worſted; ſo that, if a Stop be not put thereto, the Combers and Spinners in England will want Employment: And praying to be relieved.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Portreeve, and other Inhabitants, of the Borough of Saint Germans, in the County of Cornwall, is referred.

Mr. Booth reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Taylors, Buttonſellers, Throwſters, Twiſters, Dyers, Spinners, Buttonmakers, and others, living in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, Borough of Southwark, and Places adjacent, concerned in the Manufactures of raw Silk, and Mohair Yarn, in behalf of themſelves, and many Thouſands of others employed therein, was referred, the Matter, as it appeared to them, and the Reſolutions of the Committee thereupon; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe: And he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered the Report in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That by an Act, made in the Eighth Year of the Reign of her late Majeſty Queen Anne, for employing the Manufacturers of raw Silk, and Mohair Yarn, it is Enacted, That no Taylor, or other Perſon, within the Kingdom of Great Britain, ſhall make, ſell, or ſet on any Cloaths, or wearing Garments whatſoever, any Button or Button-holes made of Serge, Drugget, or any other Stuffs, of which Cloaths, or wearing Garments, are uſually made of, under the Forfeiture of Five Pounds for every Dozen of Button or Button-holes, ſo made, ſold, or ſet on; and in like Proportion for a leſſer Quantity; one Moiety to her Majeſty, the other to the Proſecutor; to be recovered by Action of Debt, Bill, Plaint, or Information; or upon Complaint to any Two Juſtices of the Peace, who are to ſummon and examine Witneſſes upon Oath.

That the Petitioners produced Witneſſes, to prove the Deficiency of the ſaid Act, and the Difficulties and Hardſhips they ſuffer thereby: And, firſt,

John Baker, an Attorney, ſaid, That he had been employed by the Buttonmakers in Eight ſeveral Actions againſt Taylors, for making Cloth, Serge, or other Buttons and Button-holes, contrary to the ſaid Act; but could never convict more than One Perſon; and then the Jury gave a Verdict but for Fifteen Pounds, though the Action was for One hundred Pounds; which was proved at the Tryal; and was often nonſuited for want of Witneſſes, who were either bought off, or abſconded; ſo as not to be found when the Cauſe ſhould be heard.

Mr. John Metcalf, Attorney, ſaid, He has been employed by the Buttonmakers in proſecuting ſeveral Offenders againſt the ſaid Act, before the Juſtices of the Peace; but could not get Two of them together; and very few care to act therein: That he applied himſelf to Mr. Juſtice Con's Clerk for a Warrant againſt an Offender, having his Witneſſes ready; and the Clerk ſaid, His Maſter would not grant his Warrant, nor act in Affairs of that Nature.

Mr. Newman, a Wholeſale Buttonſeller, ſaid, He attended Mr. Juſtice Hungerford and Mr. Juſtice Sanders Three or Four Months, in order to put the ſaid Act in Execution; and Mr. Hungerford offered his Aſſiſtance; yet he could not get the Two Juſtices together; and very few will act therein: That he has alſo proſecuted at Law upon the ſaid Act; but, before he could come to Tryal, his Witneſſes could not be found.

Then the Petitioners proceeded to prove the Loſs of their Trades.

Mr. Edward Keep, Buttonſeller, ſaid, That he had followed that Trade for 25 Years, and employed abundance of Perſons in Making of needle-wrought Buttons, and the Materials of Silk and Mohair wherewith they are made: That, for Two Years laſt paſt, he has not ſold Half the Quantity of Buttons he uſed to do; ſo that he has been forced to turn off Half the Work-folks he before employed; and can impute this Loſs of Trade to no other Cauſe than a Practice Taylors have newly taken up of making Cloth and Drugget Buttons and Button-holes, contrary to the ſaid Act.

Mr. Newman affirmed what Mr. Keep had ſaid.

And there were ſeveral other Buttonſellers, and Buttonmakers, attended the Committee, who gave the like Evidence.

Tho. Pickering, Taylor, ſaid, He has loſt near Half his Trade, becauſe he will not make Cloth and Drugget Button-holes, contrary to the ſaid Act; which others do privately: That he uſed to employ 16 or 20 Men about this time of the Year; and now Eight do his Work.

Laurence Anderton, Taylor, ſaid, That, in March laſt, he was ſo ill, that he could not follow his Buſineſs; and gave Orders to his Foreman not to make any Cloaths contrary to the ſaid Act; yet he made ſeveral Suits privately for himſelf, and thereby got many of Anderton's beſt Cuſtomers from him, though he paid him Wages at the ſame time.

Tho. Bolton, Taylor, ſaid, That, laſt Week, Cloth was fetched from his Houſe, becauſe he would not make Cloth Buttons; and that he ſaw the ſame on his Cuſtomer's Back with Cloth Buttons the next Day.

Edward Keep ſaid, That George Halſted and * Dixon, Taylors, have removed into the Fleet; and theſe carry on the Trade of making Cloaths with Cloth Buttons and Button-holes.

Peter Johnſon, Taylor, ſaid, That Benjamin Badger, a Taylor, now living in the Mint, told him, He kept 16 Men at Work; and ſome of Badger's Men, who have ſince wrought with Johnſon, told him, Badger's Work chiefly was in making Cloaths with Cloth Buttons and Button-holes.

That many other Taylors attended, who ſpeak to the like Purpoſe.

And, upon the whole Matter, the Committee came to the following Reſolutions; viz.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Petitioners have fully proved the Allegations of the ſaid Petition.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Houſe be moved, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for making more effectual an Act, made in the Eighth Year of the Reign of the late Queen Anne, intituled, An Act for employing the Manufacturers, by encouraging the Conſumption of raw Silk, and Mohair Yarn.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for making the ſaid Act more effectual: And that Mr. Booth, Sir George Warburton, Mr. Heyſham, Sir William Pole, and Mr. Strangwaies, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Sir Arthur Kay reported from the Committee, to whom the Bill to continue an Act, of the Twelfth Year of her late Majeſty, intituled, An Act for Preſerving of all ſuch Ships, and Goods thereof, which ſhall happen to be forced on ſhore, or ſtranded, upon the Coaſts of this Kingdom, or any other of her Majeſty's Dominions, was committed, That they had made ſome Amendments to the Bill; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered them in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were once read throughout; and then a Second time, one by one; and, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That the Bill, with the Amendments, be ingroſſed.

A Petition of the Mayor and Burgeſſes of the City of Glouceſter, in Council aſſembled, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, for ſeveral Years paſt, great Quantities of Cyder and Perry have been made and bought in this and other Cities and Counties for Exportation; to the great Advantage of the Petitioners, and the Nation in general, by improving the Trade and Navigation of this Kingdom: That the Exportation thereof hath been very much diſcouraged, by ſeveral Proſecutions lately commenced in the Court of Exchequer, for a Duty of Four Shillings per Hogſhead, againſt the Exporters thereof; the Diſcouragement to the Exportation is of great Prejudice to the Petitioners, as alſo to Trade and Navigation, as to his Majeſty's Revenues: And praying ſuch Relief as to the Houſe ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for continuing the Duties on Malt, Mum, Cyder, and Perry, for the Service of the Year 1718, is committed.

A Petition of the principal Inhabitants of the Borough of Tewkesbury, in the County of Glouceſter, in behalf of themſelves, and others concerned in the Malt-trade, in and about the ſaid Town, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Trade of that Town chiefly conſiſts in Malting; they have of late Years found a great Decay in their Buſineſs, by the Diſcouragement the Diſtilling of malted Corn lies under; French Brandy, and other foreign Spirits, being clandeſtinely run, and ſold ſo cheap, that it very much leſſens the Britiſh Diſtillery; whereby the Government is not only deprived of a large Revenue, but the Conſumption of the Product of our Land very much leſſened: And praying, That the Running of foreign Spirits may be prevented by ſuch Means as the Houſe ſhall think proper.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table until the Bill for preventing the clandeſtine Running of Goods be brought in.

A Petition of the Maltſters, Diſtillers, and other Tradeſmen, of the City of Glouceſter, in behalf of themſelves; and others of the ſame Buſineſs, as well as of the Occupiers of Lands in and about the ſaid City, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Engliſh Diſtillery raiſes a great Revenue to the Crown: That the Landed Intereſt is alſo very much advanced by the Conſumption of its Products, not only in Malt, but very great Quantities of Perry and Cyder, which would otherwiſe be of ſo little Value, that the Improvement by Planting would be very much neglected; but, of late Years, the Conſumption of them is conſiderably leſſened by the great Quantities of French Brandies, and other foreign Spirits, daily run, and ſold ſo very cheap, as to diſcourage this uſeful Manufacture; to the great Detriment of Trade and Huſbandry: And praying, That the Houſe will take the Premiſes into Conſideration, and prevent the growing Evil.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table until the Bill for preventing the clandeſtine Running of Goods be brought in.

A Petition of the Merchants, and other Traders, Inhabitants of the City of Briſtol, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Running of foreign Commodities is ſo much increaſed, that moſt Parts of the Kingdom are filled with ſeveral Species of them; theſe Practices, by reaſon of the high Duties upon almoſt every Commodity regularly imported, lay his Majeſty's Subjects under ſuch Diſproportion in Trade, that the fair Merchant and Tradeſman muſt inevitably be ruined: That the Smuggling-trade is, by Experience, found to drain the Kingdom of the Coin, and likewiſe hinders the Conſumption of the Product of our Lands: And praying ſuch Relief as to the Houſe ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table until the Bill for preventing the clandeſtine Running of Goods be brought in.

Mr. Comptroller acquainted the Houſe, That their Addreſs of Yeſterday, That a Report, made by the Lords Commiſſioners of Trade and Plantations, relating to Naval Stores imported from America, might be laid before this Houſe, hath been preſented to his Majeſty; and that his Majeſty hath been pleaſed to give Directions, That the ſame be done accordingly.

Mr. Farrer, according to Order, reported, from the Committee of the whole Houſe, who were to conſider further of Ways and Means for raiſing the Supply granted to his Majeſty, the Reſolutions they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered them in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were read; and are as follow; viz.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That all the forfeited Eſtates veſted in his Majeſty, by virtue of an Act, intituled, An Act for appointing Commiſſioners to inquire of the Eſtates of certain Traitors, and Popiſh Recuſants; and of Eſtates given to ſuperſtitious Uſes; in order to raiſe Money out of them ſeverally, for the Uſe of the Publick; after all Claims and Demands thereupon ſhall be determined, be ſold.

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the net Produce of the ſaid Eſtates, after Allowance and Satisfaction of all juſt and lawful Claims thereupon, be applied towards the Diſcharge of the publick Debts of the Nation.

The Firſt Reſolution being read a Second time;

Reſolved, That the Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, That all the forfeited Eſtates veſted in his Majeſty, by virtue of an Act, intituled, An Act for appointing Commiſſioners to inquire of the Eſtates of certain Traitors, and Popiſh Recuſants; and of Eſtates given to ſuperſtitious Uſes; in order to raiſe Money out of them ſeverally, for the Uſe of the Publick; after all Claims and Demands thereupon ſhall be determined, be ſold.

The Second Reſolution being read a Second time;

An

An Amendment was propoſed to be made thereunto, by adding, at the End thereof, theſe Words, " and to- " wards erecting Schools in the Highlands of Scotland:"

And the ſame was, upon the Queſtion put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Reſolved, That the Houſe doth agree with the Committee in the ſaid Reſolution, ſo amended, That the net Produce of the ſaid Eſtates, after Allowance and Satisfaction of all juſt and lawful Claims thereupon, be applied towards the Diſcharge of the publick Debts of the Nation, and towards erecting Schools in the Highlands of Scotland.

Ordered, That a Bill be brought in upon the ſaid Reſolutions: And that Mr. Farrer, the Lord William Powlett, Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Sollicitor-General, Mr. Carter, Mr. Treby, and Mr. Lowndes, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Mr. Morice reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of divers Merchants, and other Proprietors in the ſubſcribed Lottery-Annuities, and other Annuities eſtabliſhed by an Act of the laſt Seſſion of Parliament, was referred, the Matter, as it appeared to them; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, upon Examination of ſeveral Witneſſes, do find,

That the Transfer-books of the South-Sea Company have continued ſhut, to prepare for a Dividend, uſually Seven Weeks, but ſometime Eight:

That the Proprietors of that Stock are ſuppoſed to be above 6,000 to 7,000 Perſons:

That the Dividends on South-Sea Stock are made half-yearly:

That the Proprietors of Lottery-Annuity Stock are above 13,000 to 14,000 Perſons:

If therefore Seven Weeks are neceſſary for preparing the Dividend-Warrants on the South-Sea Stock, twice that time is neceſſary for that Purpoſe on the Lottery-Annuity Stock; ſo that no time at all remains for transferring, on this Suppoſition, if the Dividends continue to be made quarterly:

But, ſuppoſing it poſſible to prepare the Lottery-Annuity Warrants in Ten Weeks time, there will then remain but Three Weeks time in each Quarter for Transfers; which is exceeding ſhort, conſidering the great Number of Proprietors:

That the Proportion of Capital Stock, being the Produce of Tallies of Sol, which, when completed, will amount to upwards of 900,000 l. more; and alſo the Produce of the unſubſcribed Orders, amounting to upwards of 300,000 l. more; are not allowed for in the aforegoing Scheme; the ſaid Scheme being made only upon the Proportion of Capital, being the Produce of ſubſcribed Lottery-Orders, and Bankers Aſſignments.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for making the Dividend of ſubſcribed Lottery-Annuities, and other Annuities eſtabliſhed by an Act of the laſt Seſſion of Parliament, payable half-yearly, commencing from Chriſtmas laſt: And that Mr. Morice and Mr. Lowther do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Saturday Morning next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to take into Conſideration the ſeveral Reports laid before this Houſe by the Commiſſioners appointed to inquire into the Eſtates forfeited by the late Rebellion.

The Orders of the Day being read;

The Houſe reſolved itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, upon the Bill for taking off the Obligation and Encouragement for coining Guineas, for a certain time therein mentioned.

Mr. Speaker left the Chair.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the Chair.

The Houſe being informed, That there was a Difference in the Committee who ſhould take the Chair of the Committee;

Ordered, That Mr. Attorney-General do take the Chair of the Committee.

Mr. Speaker left the Chair.

Mr. Attorney-General took the Chair of the Committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the Chair.

Mr. Attorney-General reported from the Committee, That they had made ſome Progreſs in the Bill; and that they had directed him to move, That they may have Leave to ſit again.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Friday next, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider further of the ſaid Bill.

Reſolved, That this Houſe will, upon Friday next, at Twelve of the Clock, reſolve itſelf into a Committee of the whole Houſe, to conſider of Methods for preventing the Waſte of the Gold and Silver Coins of this Kingdom.

Ordered, That the Officers of the Mint do attend the ſaid Committee.

Ordered, That the Touch-warden of the Goldſmiths Company, and the Aſſay-maſter at Goldſmiths-hall, do attend the ſaid Committee.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

Mercurii, 29° die Januarii;

Reſolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That it will be for the general Good and Benefit of this Kingdom, that all Waggons, Carts, and Carriages, may be drawn with Six Horſes at Length, and no more; except up ſuch Hills in each County, as ſhall be reſpectively allowed by the Juſtices of Peace at their Quarter-Seſſions, and there entered.

Horſes for the Penalty, or uſe any Violence to the Party taking the ſame, as aboveſaid; or ſhall be aiding or aſſiſting in hindering the ſeizing a Horſe or Horſes, or in reſcuing ſuch Seizure when taken, or other Violence; ſhall forfeit Twenty Pounds; and be ſent to the Houſe of Correction for the Space of Three Months.

Mr. Broderick reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Miniſter, Churchwardens, and Inhabitants, of the Pariſh of Saint Michael's, Cornhill, London; and alſo to whom the Petition of Doctor William Baker, Rector, Henry Wright and Edward Liney, Churchwardens, as alſo of the Veſtry and Inhabitants, of the Pariſh of Saint Gyles's in the Feilds, in the County of Middleſex; were referred; the Matter, as it appeared to them; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which Reports he read in his Place; and afterwards delivered them in at the Clerk's Table: Where the Report, relating to Saint Michael's, Cornhill, was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, having taken into Conſideration the Allegations contained in the ſaid Petition, do find, That, by Order of the late Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and the preſent Biſhop of London, the Tower of the ſaid Pariſh-Church was appointed to be rebuilt out of the Monies ariſing by the Duty on Coals, appropriated for the Building of Parochial Churches by the Statutes of 22° of Car. 2*di*; and 1mo Jac. 2*di*; and 8 and 9 Willielmi 3°.

That the ſaid Tower, being dangerous to the Neighbourhood, hath been accordingly lately taken down, and rebuilt about Twenty Foot high, according to a Model thereof prepared for that Purpoſe; but the Monies ariſing on the ſaid Duty on Coals, which was appropriated for building the ſaid Parochial Churches, was ſo far expended in the other great Charges and Incumbrances upon the ſaid Duty, that there was not Money ſufficient to go on with and finiſh the ſaid Tower; and the Duty, given for that Purpoſe by the ſaid ſeveral Acts of Parliament, was, by an Act made in the Ninth Year of the late Queen Anne, granted and appropriated for building Fifty new Churches in and about London and Weſtminſter; and for other Uſes therein mentioned.

That it appeared alſo to the Committee, by the Teſtimony of the Reverend Mr. Baker, Rector of the ſaid Pariſh, and the Churchwardens, and other Inhabitants; as alſo of Mr. Bateman Receiver of the Duty on Coals, Mr. Dickenſon the Surveyor, and Mr. Strong the Maſter-maſon; That it is Two Years ſince the Tower was pulled down; and that the new Work is not carried above Halfway to the Roof of the Church; whereby the Church lies open, and is greatly expoſed to the Weather; and the whole Body of the Church, for want of being ſupported by the Tower, is ſhored up; and, if not ſpeedily helped, will be in Danger of falling:

That, by reaſon of the Scaffolding, the Pariſhioners have but Part of the Church left for Divine Service; nor have they Room to bury their Dead in the Church-yard; which is now intirely covered with the Stones and Rubbiſh which was taken from the old Tower:

That the Petitioners produced a Draught or Model of the Tower intended to be rebuilt; as alſo an Eſtimate of the Charge; which have been approved of by Sir Chriſtopher Wren; who hath certified, That the ſaid Eſtimate, amounting to the Sum of 6,126 l. 1 s. 5 d. is juſt and reaſonable.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill for finiſhing the Tower of the Pariſh-Church of Saint Michael's, Cornhill, out of the Duties ariſing purſuant to the Act, of the Ninth Year of the late Queen, for building Fifty new Churches in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, and the Suburbs thereof: And that Mr. Brodrick, Mr. Cowper, and Mr. Heyſham, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

The Report relating to Saint Gyles's Church, being read, is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, purſuant to the Order of this Houſe, have conſidered the Matters contained in the ſaid Petition; and, upon Examination of ſeveral of the Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh, it appeared to the Committee, by the Teſtimony of the Reverend Dr. Baker, Rector of the ſaid Pariſh-Church, John Milner Eſquire, One of his Majeſty's Juſtices of the Peace, Mr. Henry Joynes Surveyor, who was appointed by the Veſtry to take a View of the ſaid Church, and of other Inhabitants;

That

That the ſaid Church was built with Brick, and is now become very old and ruinous; and cannot be repaired under the Expence of Three thouſand Pounds at leaſt:

That the Ground whereon the ſaid Church doth ſtand lies about Seven or Eight Feet lower than the Street; which is very unwholſome to the Pariſhioners, by reaſon of the great Dampneſs which is occaſioned by the low Situation of the ſaid Church; and that this Inconvenience is no-ways to be remedied but by an intire new Building of it:

That, the ſaid Pariſh being very large and extenſive, the Charge of maintaining their Poor amounts, communibus annis, to Three thouſand Three hundred Pounds, and upwards; by reaſon whereof, and of other their Taxes, the Pariſhioners are in no Condition to rebuild their ſaid Church.

It likewiſe appeared to the Committee, That there is no Waſte-ground, or Site, within the ſaid Pariſh, to be purchaſed to build a new Church, without pulling down many Houſes; which will occaſion a very great Expence; and that the Commiſſioners have not contracted for any Site, or Ground, to build any other Church than what is now building; and that the ſaid Pariſh-Church, when rebuilt, together with the Church now building, will be ſufficient to contain all the Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh.

Ordered, That Leave be given to bring in a Bill to impower the Commiſſioners appointed to put in Execution the Acts, of the Ninth and Tenth Years of her late Majeſty's Reign, for building Fifty new Churches in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, and the Suburbs thereof, to direct the Pariſh-Church of Saint Gyles's in the Feilds to be rebuilt, inſtead of One of the ſaid Fifty new Churches: And that Mr. Broderick, Mr. Gwidot, Sir John Cope, Mr. Yonge, and Mr. Hucks, do prepare, and bring in, the ſame.

Sir William Pole reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of the Portreeve, and other Inhabitants, of the Borough of Saint German's, in the County of Cornwall; and ſeveral other Petitions, relating to the Importation of Iriſh Yarn; was referred; the Matter, as it appeared to them; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; which he read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That it appeared to the Committee, upon the Examination of ſeveral Witneſſes, That the Petitioners labour under the greateſt Difficulties, by reaſon of the continual Importation of very great Quantities of Iriſh Worſteds, which are entered in the Cuſtom-houſe Books under the Denomination of Bay-yarn; and thereby pays no further Duty than 9 s. 6 d. per Hundred Weight; the ſame being valued, in the Book of Rates, to be worth only 3 l. 6 s. 8 d.; whereas the Worſted, which is thus imported under the Denomination of Bay-yarn, is really worth from 11 l. to 16 l. per Hundred Weight; which Practices have already greatly impoveriſhed vaſt Numbers of poor Spinners, Woolcombers, and others employed in the Woollen Manufacture; ſince this Iriſh Worſted is, by this means, rendered 4 d. per Pound Weight cheaper than 'tis poſſible to be made by our poor Labourers here in England.

John Thomas, Woolcomber and Weaver, declared, That he has, for many Years, dealt in Iriſh Worſted; and hath known the ſame manufactured up into Stuffs of different Sorts; which Iriſh Worſted can and hath been ſold by the Importer at Briſtol, at leaſt, 4 d. per Pound Weight cheaper than Engliſh Worſted of the ſame Fineneſs can be afforded:

He produced Two Samples of Iriſh Worſted; one of which coſt 2 s. per Pound Weight, and the other 2 s. 11 d. per Pound Weight; and ſaid, That the former was bought cheaper by, at leaſt, 4 d. per Pound Weight, and the latter, being a finer Sort, by, at leaſt, 6 d. than Engliſh Worſted of the ſame Goodneſs can be bought:

Being asked what Difference there was between Iriſh Bay-yarn and Worſted, he anſwered, That the Worſted was made of the fine Wool combed, and the Bay-yarn of the Droſs of ſuch Wool carded; and that the Worſted was at Three times the Value of the Bay-yarn.

William Alford, Woolcomber and Weaver, declared, That he has been an Agent, or Factor, to receive great Quantities of Iriſh Worſted from on board ſeveral Ships, which have imported the ſame to Barnſtaple: That ſuch Worſted was worth from 2 s. to 3 s. per Pound Weight; and that the ſame was entered at the Cuſtom-houſe under the Denomination of Bay or Woollen Yarn, and paid Duties as ſuch; and that Bay or Woollen Yarn is worth but about One-third Part of the Value of Worſted; and that great Quantities of Iriſh Worſted are wrought up into Shalloons, and other Stuffs, without the leaſt Mixture of Bay or Woollen Yarn: That he has manufactured great Quantities of Engliſh Worſted; and aſſured the Committee, that it cannot be afforded ſo cheap as Iriſh Worſted of the ſame Goodneſs, by, at leaſt, 4 d. per Pound Weight for ſome, and 6 d. for the fineſt Sort.

That the Committee, being deſirous to be informed from the Commiſſioners of the Cuſtoms, what Quantities of Worſted, Bay and Woollen Yarn, had been imported for Three Years laſt paſt, ending at Michaelmas 1717, in order to compare the ſame with an Account in the Journals of this Houſe of the ſame Species of Goods imported in the Years 1706, 1707, and 1708, find, by the Commiſſioners Report to their Order, and comparing the ſame with the former Account, That the Importation of Woollen or Bay-yarn had increaſed exceedingly; inſomuch that, in the laſt Year, there is entered above double the Quantity that was imported in the Year 1706; which, in that Year, was only 696,565 Pounds Weight; and the laſt Year it roſe to 1,478,005 Pounds Weight; and it does not appear, that any Worſted has been entered at the Cuſtom-houſe by the ſaid Report; although it was made evident by ſeveral Witneſſes, that very great Quantities have been imported.

Ordered, That the ſaid Report be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, who are to conſider further of Ways and Means for raiſing the Supply granted to his Majeſty.

Mr. Morice preſented to the Houſe, according to Order, a Bill for making the Dividend of ſubſcribed Lottery-Annuities, and other Annuities, eſtabliſhed by an Act of the laſt Seſſion of Parliament, payable half-yearly, commencing from Chriſtmas laſt: And the ſame was received.

A Bill for repairing the Highways from Crown-Corner, in the Town of Reading, leading by and through the ſeveral Pariſhes of Shinfeild and Heckfeild, in the ſeveral Counties of Berks, Wilts, and Southampton, to Baſingſtoke, in the County of Southampton, was read a Second time.

That, upon Examination of the whole Matter, it fully appeared to the Committee, That the Road, from the Top of Stoaken-Church-hill to Anſlow-bridge, in the County of Oxon, is ſo very bad and ruinous in many Places thereof in the Winter-ſeaſon, that it is dangerous to Travellers; and that the ſame cannot be amended, and put into good Repair, and ſo kept, without the Aſſiſtance of an Act of Parliament.

The Orders of the Day being read;

The Names of the Members who made Default upon the laſt Call of the Houſe, and who were ordered to attend this Day, were called over; and One of them, viz. Mr. Fownes, was excuſed, upon account of Sickneſs; and the others appeared.

Mercurii, 5° die Februarii;

Prayers.

A Petition of the High Sheriff, Juſtices of the Peace, Gentlemen, and Grand Jury, met together at the Quarter-Seſſions holden for the County of Worceſter, the Fourteenth Day of January 1717, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, in this and divers other Counties, great Quantities of Cyder and Perry are made, proper for Exportation; and a coarſer Sort of the ſame Liquors is made from wild Fruit, and much uſed by Diſtillers in making Brandy; which is found to be a clean Spirit, fit for exporting to foreign Parts, eſpecially to the Northern Kingdoms; where great Quantities would vend, and contribute to pay for naval Stores, and prevent the Carrying out of our Silver, and purchaſe ſundry Merchandizes with the Produce; which would pay conſiderable Duties to his Majeſty, encourage Planting and Navigation, and find Employment for great Numbers of Hands in this Kingdom: That the Petitioners, and others, are kept from theſe deſirable Advantages, by reaſon of great Duties laid on Cyder, Perry, low Wines, and Spirits, or Brandy, without a Proviſion for a Drawback of the ſaid Duties upon Exportation; the Want of which diſcourageth our Merchants from buying, they being under-ſold in foreign Markets: And praying, That ſuch Debentures for the Exporting of Cyder may be allowed.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for continuing the Duties on Malt, Mum, Cyder, and Perry, for the Service of the Year 1718, is committed.

A Petition of the Tanners in Hereford, on behalf of themſelves, and others, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Exportation of Engliſh Bark is ſo prejudicial to Trade in Leather, that, unleſs a ſpeedy Courſe be taken to prevent it, the Engliſh Trade muſt be utterly loſt, and our Hides and Skins not worth the Tanning here in England; and, by the Statute of King James the Firſt, it was Enacted, That no Perſons ſhould engroſs any oaken Bark to ſell again; which ſaid Statute is now of little Uſe: And praying, That ſo much of the Statute as relates to Bark may be revived, and the Exportation of Bark be prevented.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Tanners of the Corporations of Macclesfeild and Congleton, in the County Palatine of Cheſter, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Exportation of Engliſh Bark is of ſo great Prejudice to the Tanning-trade, that, unleſs a ſpeedy Stop be put thereto, that Trade muſt inevitably be ruined; and, if the principal Ingredient for Tanning be exported into Countries where no Duty is paid for Leather, our Engliſh Hides and Skins will not be worth the Tanning in England; and a Law was made, in the Reign of King James the Firſt, againſt the Engroſſing of oaken Bark, and Felling of Timber-trees at unſeaſonable times of the Year; but is now made ineffectual: And praying, That the ſaid Statute may be revived, and the Exportation of Bark prohibited.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Tanners of the Borough of Wigan, in the County Palatine of Lancaſter, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Exportation of Engliſh Bark is of ſo great Prejudice to the Tanning-trade, that, unleſs a ſpeedy Stop be put thereto, that Trade muſt inevitably be ruined; if the principal Ingredient for Tanning be exported into Countries where no Duty is paid for Leather, our Hides and Skins will not be worth the Tanning in England; and, by a Law made in King James the Firſt's Reign, it was Enacted, That no Perſon ſhould engroſs any oaken Bark, nor fell any Timber-trees at unſeaſonable times of the Year; which Law is now made ineffectual: And praying, That the ſaid Statute may be revived, and the Exportation of Bark be prohibited.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition do lie upon the Table.

A Petition of the Mayor, Magiſtrates, Common-Council, and other the principal Inhabitants and Merchants, of the Borough of Plymouth, trading in Woollen Manufactures, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That, ſince the Prohibiting of the Importation of Iriſh Wool at this Port, the Petitioners have laboured under great Hardſhips in reſpect to the Woollen-trade, the ſole Liberty for Importation having been granted to Bideford, Barneſtaple, &c.; whereby, whatever Occaſions the Petitioners may have had for Iriſh Wool, which often happens, they have been conſtantly obliged to be at an extravagant Charge of Land-carriage from Biddeford, Barnſtaple, &c.; ſo that abundance of poor labouring Families can have no manner of Employment, for want of Iriſh Wool: And praying, That they may have the ſame Liberty in all reſpects granted them, for Importation of Iriſh Wool, as Exeter, or any other Port or Place whatever.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for opening the Port of Exeter, for the Importation of Wool from Ireland, is committed.

A Petition of the Mayor, Capital Burgeſſes, and Aſſiſtants, and Gentlemen, and of the Merchants, and other Traders in the Woollen Manufactures, within the Town and Pariſh of Tiverton, in the County of Devon, and Parts adjacent, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Petitioners having lately repreſented the Injury done to the Woollen Manufactury in England, by the Exporting of Wool and Yarn from Ireland to France; That One-half of the Wool of the Growth of Ireland is already clandeſtinely exported from thence to France, either in Wool or Yarn; to the great Decay of the Woollen Manufacture of this Kingdom, if the Port of Exon be ſuffered to receive Wool from Ireland: And praying, That ſuch Evils may be prevented, and the Woollen Manufactury may not be intirely prevented.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for opening the Port of Exeter, for the Importation of Wool from Ireland, is committed.

A Petition of the Merchants, Clothiers, Sergemakers, Fullers, Dyers, and other principal Inhabitants, of the Borough and Town of Taunton, in the County of Somerſet, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Staple Manufacture of that Town, and neighbouring Places, is the Making of Druggets, Cloth, Serges, &c. in which incredible Numbers of Hands are employed, and great Quantities made: That, notwithſtanding ſeveral Laws made to prevent the Exportation of Wool to France, eſpecially from Ireland; yet that clandeſtine Trade is carried on: That there are great Quantities of Worſted Yarn imported from Ireland, under the Notion of Bay Yarn, whereas it is no other than Worſted Yarn, and uſed as ſuch, and is bought much cheaper than it can poſſibly be made here; whereby the Manufacturers, who have not the Advantage of ſuch Worſted Yarn, labour under great Diſcouragements; and we obſerve how fatal and dangerous a Conſequence the opening the Port of Exeter will be for the Importation of Wool, in regard the Veſſels, on which ſuch Wool muſt be brought thither, will have all the favourable Opportunities, and lie under the inevitable Temptation, of running their Goods into France; ſo that, inſtead of its being a Service to the Weſtern Country, will really be a great Damage to Trade in general: And praying ſuch Relief as to the Houſe ſhall ſeem meet.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for opening the Port of Exeter, for the Importation of Wool from Ireland, is committed.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for opening the Port of Exeter, for the Importation of Wool from Ireland, is committed.

S. ſerved under the Command of Lieutenant-General Gorge, at the Siege of Alicant; and, after the Taking of that Town, in defending ſeveral important Paſſes, the Town and Caſtle of Denia, the Town of Satavia, and the Town of Alcoy, where the Petitioner, and his Regiment, were made Priſoners of War: That the Petitioner, and Regiment, being, without the leaſt Doubt, taken and accepted by all Perſons to be One of her Majeſty's Regiments, the Petitioner was induced, at his own Charge and Credit, to maintain and pay the ſaid Regiment, upon the Intreaties, and frequent Declarations, of the ſaid Earl, my Lord Galloway, General Richards, and other Engliſh Generals, that he would run no Riſque in ſo doing, in regard his ſaid Regiment was upon the Engliſh Eſtabliſhment: That, the Petitioner having hereby intirely exhauſted his own Fortunes, and engaged his Credit, his Family is reduced to the utmoſt Extremity: That, upon a Petition to his Majeſty, to be paid what was due to him, his Majeſty was pleaſed to refer the Petitioner's Caſe to the Conſideration of the Commiſſioners appointed to ſtate and determine the Debts due to the Army; recommending a ſpeedy Diſpatch therein: That the ſaid Commiſſioners, not finding the Petitioner's ſaid Regiment mentioned in the Liſt of thoſe who are upon the Engliſh Eſtabliſhment, that ſerved in Spain, are of Opinion, that they are not authorized, by the Powers now granted to them, to proceed to ſtate the Petitioner's Demand: That he humbly hopes the Honour of the Britiſh Nation will provide, that he be no Sufferer for what he has done for the Service of Great Britain: And praying, That in the Bill now brought in, and depending, for appointing Commiſſioners to take, ſtate, and determine, the Debts of the Army, a Clauſe may be inſerted to impower the ſaid Commiſſioners named to ſtate and adjuſt the Petitioner's Demand; and that he may be paid what ſhall thereupon appear to be juſtly due to him.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for opening the Port of Exeter, for the Importation of Wool from Ireland, is committed.

Ordered, That the ſaid Petition be referred to the Conſideration of the Committee of the whole Houſe, to whom the Bill for opening the Port of Exeter, for the Importation of Wool from Ireland, is committed.

A Petition of the Mayor, Aldermen, Merchants, Owners and Maſters of Ships, with other Traders and Inhabitants of the Town and Port of Biddeford, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the opening the Port of Exeter, for the Importation of Iriſh Wool, will expoſe the Ships and Cargoes to great Hazards in going round the Land, as well as Paſſing of this and the South Chanel, to the Dangers of being forced on the Coaſt of France; and ſo increaſe the preſent ill Practice of carrying over ſuch Wool thither: And praying, That the Port of Exeter may not be opened, for the Importation of Wool from Ireland.

A Petition of the Tanners in the ancient Borough of Newcaſtle under Line, in the County of Stafford, and the Parts adjacent, was preſented to the Houſe, and read; ſetting forth, That the Exportation of Engliſh Bark is of ſo great Prejudice to the Tanning-trade, that, unleſs a ſpeedy Stop be put thereto, that Trade muſt inevitably be ruined thereby; for, if the principal Ingredient for Tanning be exported into Countries where no Duty is paid for Leather, our Hides and Skins will not be worth the Tanning in England: A Law was made, in the Firſt Year of King James the Firſt, againſt the Engroſſing of Bark, and Felling of Timber-trees at unſeaſonable times of the Year; which Law is now made ineffectual: And praying, That the ſaid Statute may be revived, and the Exportation of Bark be prohibited.

So it was reſolved in the Affirmative:

And the ſaid Report was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee have, purſuant to the Order of the Houſe, examined the Matter of the ſaid Petitions; and find the ſame as followeth; viz.

Samuel Walton, of Dover, Carpenter, ſaid, That, ſince the Act of Parliament, of the Eleventh and Twelfth of King William, for the Repair of Dover Harbour, a new Croſs-wall has been built, and other Works done, for penning in the Water, and deepening the Harbour, which, at Niep-tides, is 14 or 15 Foot deep, and, at Spring-tides, 20 Foot from the Pier-head to the ſaid Croſs-wall; ſo that a Ship of Three hundred Tons, loaden, may come into the Harbour; and there is ſcarce a Storm but ſome Ship or other comes into the Harbour for Shelter:

And further ſaid, That, in ſtormy Weather, the Harbour hath been ſtopped up, but very rarely, with Beach; ſo that a Ship could not then enter; but that the ſame has been cleared by the Back-water the next Tide, or in 48 Hours after.

Captain Saunders ſaid, That many Ships have been ſaved in Dover Harbour ſince the ſaid Act of Parliament; and knows, that Ships of 300 or 400 Tons have entered in Streſs of Weather; but cannot ſay the Harbour is now better than it was 40 Years ſince; becauſe then Men of War uſed frequently to ride there; and the Harbour is now ſometimes choaked with Beach, which the Back-water clears very often the next Tide; yet if the Piers be not kept up, and the new Works carried on, the Harbour, and Two-thirds of the Town of Dover, will be utterly loſt, in a ſhort time, by Streſs of Weather.

Thomas Paſcall, of Dover, and Warden of Pilots, ſaid, That he has been a Pilot 37 Years, and carried many Ships into Dover Harbour, without Anchors or Cables, in great Storms, the Wind at N. N. E. where they have been ſaved; and that he carries in as large Ships now as formerly, the Water being deepened by the new Works; ſo that a Ship of 300 Tons may enter the ſaid Harbour, and ride in the Baſon; and Hundreds of Ships have been ſaved ſince the Baſon was made; and ſaid, That the Solebay, Deal-Caſtle, and Maidſtone, Men of War, have careened in the Baſon; and may do it in Winter or Summer; and the Harbour will be loſt, if the new Works be not continued.

John Huggett, Pilot of Dover, ſaid, That, on Monday laſt, he came from Dover, when there was in the Harbour 20 Ships from Ireland, from 100 Tons to a leſſer Burden; and alſo Two Ships for Hamburgh, of above 200 Tons each; and believes, that if more Money were laid out, and the Pier-heads further carried out into the Sea, it would be more uſeful for Navigation, though the Harbour is much better now than before the new Works made by the Acts of Parliament; there being 12 or 14 Foot Water in the Baſon, at Low-water: 50 Years ago, Men of War frequently uſed the ſaid Harbour.

Cuthbert Hodgſon, of Dover, Captain, ſaid, That about Ten Years ſince, in the time of the hard Froſt, above 40 Sail of Ships, from 20 to 160 or 200 Tons Burden, were ſaved in Dover Harbour; and ſeveral other Ships in Diſtreſs have been there ſaved, without Rudders; and ſaid, That the Harbour is much better now than Eleven Years ago, when he firſt came to Dover; and, if the new Works be not continued, the Harbour will be choaked up, and intirely loſt.

Sir Peter Eyton, of London, Merchant, ſaid, That he has known Dover Harbour 50 Years; and formerly there was no Beach there: That, in the Dutch Wars, 2 or 300 Ships were there ſaved; and many Ships have been ſaved by the ſaid Harbour, in great Storms, the Downes being no Place of Safety; and if a Mould, or Head, were carried out to the Weſtward of the South Head, it would very much prevent the Beach from ſtopping the Mouth of the Harbour; and that the Harbour will be utterly loſt, if nothing more be done.

Thomas Thompſon, of Yarmouth: That he was twice in Dover Harbour; once in the Solebay Man of War, where ſhe careened in King William's Reign; and the other time, being about Two Years ſince, in the Betty Gally, of 250 Tons, whereof he was Chief Mate: She put into Dover Harbour without Anchors or Cables, laden with Lead and Red-herrings, and drew between 14 and 15 Foot Water; and believes it is a very good Harbour for the Safety of Shipping.

Mr. Ogburne: That being recommended by Sir Henry Sheers to the Commiſſioners of Dover, to have the Direction of the Works, purſuant to Sir Henry Sheers' Project, he directed the Performance of the Traverſe-wall, projected by Sir Henry Sheers, in order to pen up the Water, that Ships might be afloat in the Baſon; and alſo by the Diſcharge of Four Sluices, to carry off the Beach, brought thither by South-weſt Winds: That the making a Jetty-head, or Turn-water, Weſtward of the South Pier-head, to Low-water-mark, was neceſſary to prevent the Beach from choaking the Mouth of the Harbour: That he thinks it neceſſary to keep the Works in Repair: That he was there about Two Years ſince, when the South Pier-head was repairing; believes the Methods then uſed to be very neceſſary; and that the Works already begun will want a conſiderable Sum of Money to complete them.

Alexander Kenton, of London, Captain, ſaith, That, about Eight-and-twenty Years ſince, being Maſter of the Ship Ruby, Burden 200 Tons and upwards, and being in the Downes, there happening a violent Storm, which drove ſeveral Ships from their Anchors; ſome being loſt on the Goodwyn Sands, and others drove on the Coaſt of France, where they were loſt; he ſaved his Ship in Dover Pier; where he refitted her, and proceeded on his Voyage to Italy:

And ſaith, That, about a Year ago, being at Dover, he viewed the Works there; and was of Opinion, if the ſame were carried on, and completed, it would make a good Harbour for One hundred and Fifty Ships; and believes it would coſt Ten or Twelve thouſand Pounds to finiſh it: That, in the late War, he ſaw 10 or 12 Ships, from 200 to 300 Tons, drawing from 13 to 14 Foot Water, loaden in the Harbour; and if the Jetty-head, or Break-water, which is begun, was carried out to Low-water-mark, it would greatly prevent the Beach from choaking the Harbour.

Peter Omer, of London, Captain, ſays, That the Harbour of Dover is for a publick Benefit, if the Works begun were completed; and knows, that, laſt Winter, 10 or 12 Sail of Ships, of 140 Tons, and under, came in at one Tide.

Thomas Rooth, Haven-maſter of Dover, produced to the Committee an Account of Merchant-Ships and Veſſels, excluſive of the Packets and Ships belonging to the Town of Dover, which daily came in, and ſailed out of that Harbour, in the Month of January laſt; viz. Came in 81; ſailed out 77: And alſo, another Liſt of Merchant-Ships, not belonging to Dover, but in the Harbour, the 31ſt of January laſt, in N° 17, from 20 to 150 Tons Burden.

Cornelius Smith, of Dover, Pilot: That Dover Harbour is a good Tide-harbour, and very uſeful for the Safety of Shipping; there being no other Harbour between Sheerneſs and the Iſle of Wight; and the Packet-boats can go out of the Pier and Harbour in the ſame Tide, as at Calais; which cannot be done from any other Harbour in Great Britain: The Victualing-Hoys alſo, which carry Proviſion to his Majeſty's Navy, when in the Downes, at any time, if the Weather permit to lay the Ships on board, can go out of Dover, and deliver, come back the next Tide, take in more, and go out again the ſame Tide:

That he ſaved a Ship, of above 500 Tons, loaden with Maſts and Deal, when the Water was up to her lower Deck, and nobody on board, and conducted her into the Pier of Dover; ſhe drawing 17 Foot Water:

That he alſo carried a Ship, of 150 Tons, bound to the Eaſt-Indies, Captain Peirſon Commander, to the upper Part of the Harbour:

In the Year 1708, ſeveral Tranſport-Ships, from 160 to 300 Tons, came into Dover Pier, to take in Horſes and Soldiers, to make a Deſcent in France:

That his Majeſty's Ship the Solebay was carried in there, and careened; and his Majeſty's Ship the Swift came very often in there to careen:

That, about Two Years ſince, an Eaſt-India Ship, of Two hundred Tons, John Scarlet, of Deal, being Pilot, parted from his Anchors and Cables, and ſaved the Ship, by coming into Dover Pier:

That a Ship, of about Two hundred Tons, Captain Ingle Commander, bound for the Streights, loſt his Maſts, and ſaved his Ship and Cargo, by coming into Dover Pier:

That the Harbour of Dover has ſaved many Ships of great Value, in the late War, from the Enemy; there being, on the Spring-Tide, 20 Foot Water; on the Niep, as the Wind is, 13, 14, and 15.

Mr. Samuel Walton, Overſeer of the Work, delivered to the Committee an Eſtimate, by which it appears, that there is ſtill wanting, to complete Sir Henry Sheers' Projection, 14,700 l.; and that he conceives there are ſeveral other Works very neceſſary to be added to the ſaid Scheme, for the Security of the ſaid Harbour; the Doing whereof will amount to 5,610 l. more.

Then the Merchants of London brought ſeveral Perſons, in Oppoſition to the aforeſaid Evidence.

Mr. Tobias Bowles, of London, Merchant, ſaid, That he has known Dover Harbour above 30 Years; and thinks it no better now than 20 or 30 Years ſince; for that when a ſtormy Wind at South-weſt happens, it raiſes ſuch a Bar of Beach, that Ships of ſmall Burden cannot get in or out of the Harbour; but there is a Back-water, which, in ſome time, clears the Beach again: That, about Ten Years ago, the Ship Jenny, of about 160 Tons, came, with the Wind at South-weſt, and beat on the Bar, could not get over: The Ship Recovery alſo, of 160 Tons Burden, ſtruck on the Bar, and was like to be loſt, becauſe there was not ſufficient Water to carry her over; and this was ſince the Baſon, and other new Works, have been made in the ſaid Harbour.

Captain

Captain Hide ſaid, That, when the Wind is at W. S. W. it throws ſuch a Bar of Beach into Dover Harbour, that it can never be made a good Harbour for Ships of any Burden in bad Weather; and, when the Wind is at Nore, no Ships can get in: That he has had an Intereſt in above 20 Ships uſing the Southern Trade; yet none of thoſe Ships ever entered Dover Harbour: And ſaith, That he had been at Dover about Forty times.

William Moverley ſaid, That he was at Dover Three Years ago; and that it is a good * [Tide] Harbour at Spring-tides, but at Low-water a Boat can hardly get in; and believes he could have walked croſs it; and that a Hoy cannot ſometimes get in at High-water, until the Sluices are opened.

GEORGE R.

HIS Majeſty, being at preſent engaged in ſeveral Negotiations of the uttermoſt Concern to the Welfare of theſe Kingdoms, and the Tranquillity of Europe; and having lately received Information from abroad, which makes him judge, that it will give Weight to his Endeavours, if a Naval Force be employed where it ſhall be neceſſary; does think fit to acquaint this Houſe therewith; not doubting but that, in caſe he ſhould be obliged, at this critical Juncture, to exceed the Number of Men granted this Year for the Sea-ſervice, the Houſe will, at their next Meeting, provide for ſuch Exceeding.

Reſolved, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, to return his Majeſty the Thanks of this Houſe, for his unwearied Endeavours to promote the Welfare of his Kingdoms, and to preſerve the Tranquillity of Europe; and to aſſure his Majeſty, That this Houſe will make good ſuch Exceedings of Men for the Sea-ſervice of the Year 1718, as his Majeſty, in his Royal Wiſdom, ſhall find neceſſary to obtain thoſe deſirable Ends.

The ſaid Amendments, being ſeverally read a Second time, were, upon the Queſtion ſeverally put thereupon, agreed unto by the Houſe.

Ordered, That Mr. Joſeph Erle do carry the Bill to the Lords, and acquaint them, That this Houſe hath agreed to the ſaid Amendments.

Mr. Comptroller acquainted the Houſe, That their Addreſs of Yeſterday had been preſented to his Majeſty; and that he was commanded by his Majeſty to return his Majeſty's hearty Thanks to this Houſe; and to aſſure them, That his Majeſty ſhall think himſelf obliged, in Return to the great Confidence they have repoſed in him, not only to uſe the utmoſt Oeconomy, that ſhall be conſiſtent with the real Intereſt of his Subjects, for this enſuing Year, but likewiſe to apply his moſt earneſt Endeavours to prevent future Burdens to his People, by eſtabliſhing a ſettled and laſting Peace and Tranquillity.

Mr. Sollicitor-General reported from the Committee, who were appointed to draw up Reaſons, to be offered to the Lords at a Conference, for diſagreeing to ſome of the Amendments, made by their Lordſhips, to the Bill, intituled, An Act for the further preventing Robbery, Burglary, and other Felonies; and for the more effectual Tranſportation of Felons, and unlawful Exporters of Wool; That they had drawn up Reaſons accordingly; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered them in at the Clerk's Table: Where they were read, Paragraph by Paragraph; and, with an Amendment, agreed unto by the Houſe; and are as follow; viz.

That the Commons agree to all the Amendments, made by your Lordſhips, to the ſaid Bill, except the Clauſe B, and the Word "Deer-ſtealers," in the Title of the Bill: To which the Commons diſagree;

1ſt, Becauſe they conceive, That unlawful Hunting or Courſing of Deer in Foreſts, Chaces, Purlieus, &c. or being aiding or aſſiſting therein, is very uncertain, as well with regard to the Nature of the Offence, as to the Place where it may be ſuppoſed to be committed; whereby innocent Perſons may be liable to Proſecutions upon frivolous Pretences:

2d, The Power of Conviction and Tranſportation being given to a Quarter-Seſſions of the Peace, there is too much Reaſon to apprehend, that an ill Uſe may be made of ſuch a Power upon ſome Emergencies, where there are Animoſities and Diviſions in the Country:

3d, They diſagree to the Word "Deer-ſtealers," in the Title of the Bill; it being only the Conſequence of that Amendment, to which the Commons diſagree.

Ordered, That Mr. Carteret do go to the Lords; and deſire a Conference with their Lordſhips upon the Subject-matter of their Lordſhips Amendments to the ſaid Bill.

Sir Richard Steele reported, from the Committee, to whom the Petition of Colonel Joſeph Marti was referred, the Matter, as it appeared to them; which they had directed him to report to the Houſe; and he read the ſame in his Place; and afterwards delivered the Report in at the Clerk's Table; Where the ſame was read; and is as follows; viz.

That the Committee, upon the Examination of the Allegations in the ſaid Petition, do find, That Colonel Marti, in the Beginning of the Year 1706, N. S. did raiſe, and form, a Regiment of Foot, upon the Promiſe and Encouragement of the Earl of Peterborough, to be upon the Engliſh Eſtabliſhment and Pay; and that, upon the like Declarations and Promiſes from my Lord Galoway, and General Richards, he paid, and maintained, the ſaid Regiment of Foot from the Fourth Day of February 1706, N. S. to the Eleventh Day of January 1708:

That the Committee cannot but obſerve, as it appeared to them, That the ſaid Colonel Marti uſed ſo much Induſtry, that he raiſed, and completely formed, this Regiment of Foot in the Space of Ten Days; and immediately marched againſt the Enemy:

That the Committee find, by Teſtimonials, Certificates, and Letters, from the Engliſh Generals, and the Magiſtrates and Inhabitants of Catalonia and Valentia, That the ſaid Marti behaved himſelf, on all Occaſions, with great Zeal, Fidelity, and Bravery, in the Service:

That Colonel Marti laid before the Committee an Account, and Demand, for his Regiment of Foot, conſiſting of Two hundred Men; whereof he was conſtituted Colonel, as his Petition ſets forth; and which, upon his own Credit, he has paid and ſatisfied for Two Years, amounting to the Sum of 15,096 l. 18 s. 10 d.; in Part whereof he has received 1,257 l.; ſo that, upon the Balance, there remains due to him, according to this Account, 13,839 l. 18 s. 10 d.:

And, to make out this Account, having loſt his original Receipts and Vouchers when he was taken Priſoner by the Enemy, he produced to the Committee the Receipts of the ſeveral Captains in his Regiment, atteſting and acknowleging their Receipt of the full Pay for themſelves, and their reſpective Companies, from the Fourth of February 1706 to the Eleventh of January 1708.

Reſolved, That an humble Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, That he would be graciouſly pleaſed to take the Services and Sufferings of Colonel Joſeph Marti into his Royal Conſideration.

Ordered, That the ſaid Addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty by ſuch Members of this Houſe as are of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy-Council.

Mr. Carteret reported, That he having, according to Order, been at the Lords, to deſire a Conference with their Lordſhips, their Lordſhips do agree to a Conference; and appoint the ſame immediately, in the Painted Chamber.

Ordered, That the Committee, who were appointed to draw up Reaſons to be offered to the Lords at the ſaid Conference, do manage the ſaid Conference.

And the Managers went to the Conference.

And, being returned;

Mr. Sollicitor-General reported, That the Managers had attended the Conference; and given the Reaſons directed by the Houſe; and left the Bill, and Amendments, with their Lordſhips.

And then the Houſe adjourned till To-morrow Morning, Nine of the Clock.

PRAYERS.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing a Citizen to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the City of Litchfeild, in the room of Walter Chetwynd Eſquire; who, ſince his Election for the ſaid City, hath accepted the Office of Paymaſter of divers annual Bounties and Penſions.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his Warrant to the Clerk of the Crown, to make out a new Writ, for the electing a Burgeſs to ſerve in this preſent Parliament for the Borough of Wareham, in the County of Dorſet, in the room of the Right Honourable Thomas Erle Eſquire; who, ſince his Election for the ſaid Borough, hath accepted of a Penſion from the Crown during Pleaſure.

A Meſſage from the Lords, by Mr. Dormer and Mr. Browning:

Mr. Speaker,

We are commanded by the Lords to acquaint this Houſe, That the Lords do deſire a Conference with this Houſe this Day, at Two of the Clock, in the Painted Chamber, upon the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference.

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

Reſolved, That this Houſe doth agree to meet the Lords at a Conference, as is deſired by their Lordſhips.

And the Meſſengers were called in again; and Mr. Speaker acquainted them therewith.

Ordered, That the Managers who managed the laſt Conference do manage this Conference.

And the Managers went to the Conference.

And, being returned;

Mr. Sollicitor-General reported, That they had met the Lords at a Conference; and that it was managed on the Part of the Lords by the Earl of Stamford; who acquainted the Managers, That the Lords do inſiſt upon the Amendments to the Bill, intituled, An Act for the further preventing Robbery, Burglary, and other Felonies; and and for the more effectual Tranſportation of Felons, and unlawful Exporters of Wool; which this Houſe had diſagreed unto; for which the Lords gave their Reaſons; which Mr. Sollicitor-General read in his Place; and afterwards delivered the ſame, with the Bill, and Amendments, in at the Clerk's Table: Where the ſaid Reaſons were read; and are as follow; viz.

The Lords having taken into Conſideration the Reaſons given by the Commons, at the laſt Conference, for their diſagreeing with the Amendments, made by their Lordſhips to the Bill for the further preventing Robbery, Burglary, and other Felonies; and the more effectual Tranſportation of Felons, and unlawful Exporters of Wool; which relate to Deer-ſtealers; their Lordſhips do inſiſt on thoſe Amendments:

Becauſe the Crime of Deer-ſtealing is, of late, very greatly increaſed, and carried on by Force and Numbers, in divers Parts of the Kingdom; to the great Terror of private Families, and of thoſe entruſted in the Keeping of Deer; and to the apparent Hazard of the Lives of many of his Majeſty's Subjects; for the Preventing of which, the Laws already in being are found to be ineffectual: The Lords cannot but obſerve, That, though the Commons diſagree to the whole Clauſe; yet their Objection ſeems only to relate to Part thereof; viz. to the Uncertainty of the Words Foreſts, Chaces, and Purlieus; which Words their Lordſhips find uſed in the Act, of the Third and Fourth of King William and Queen Mary, intituled, An Act for the more effectual Diſcovery and Puniſhment of Deer-ſtealers; although the Conviction, by that Act, is much eaſier, being to be before One or more Juſtices of Peace; whereas, by the Clauſe now in queſtion, ſuch Conviction muſt be by Indictment, which neceſſarily requires Two Juries: And therefore, as well for that the Boundaries are, as their Lordſhips conceive, ſufficiently certain, as for that theſe Words have ſtood ſo long in the afore-mentioned Act, their Lordſhips conceive it proper to uſe the ſame Words, they relating to the ſame Offence; though the Clauſe in queſtion is to enact a further Puniſhment.

Reſolved, That this Houſe doth inſiſt upon their Diſagreement with the Lords to the ſaid Amendments.

Reſolved, That a free Conference be deſired with the Lords, upon the Subject-matter of the laſt Conference.

Ordered, That Mr. Yonge do go to the Lords, and deſire the ſaid free Conference.

Mr. Speaker,

The Lords have agreed to the Bill, intituled, An Act for continuing the Duties on Malt, Mum, Cyder, and Perry, for the Service of the Year 1718; and for making forth Duplicates for Exchequer-Bills, Lottery-Tickets, and Orders, loſt, burnt, or deſtroyed; and for appropriating the Supplies granted in this Seſſion of Parliament; without any Amendment. And alſo,

The Lords have agreed to the Bill, intituled, An Act for making the Dividend of ſubſcribed Lottery-Annuities, and other Annuities, eſtabliſhed by ſeveral Acts of Parliament, payable half-yearly, at the Bank of England, without any Amendment. And alſo,

And then the Meſſengers withdrew.

Mr. Yonge reported, That he having, according to Order, been at the Lords, to deſire a free Conference, the Lords do agree to a free Conference; and appoint the ſame to be To-morrow, at Two of the Clock, in the Painted Chamber.
